A CENTURY IN THE MAKING

AS IT HAS FOR 100 YEARS, CUSTOMER SERVICE REMAINS TOP PRIORITY AT SCHUETH ACE HARDWARE

By BOB FENSKE

The year was 1922. “Silent Cal” Coolidge was in the White House, archeologists discovered the tomb of King Tut in Egypt, the Lincoln Memorial was dedicated in Washington, D.C., the New York Giants won the World Series and the Canton Bulldogs reigned as the champions of a fledgling group of football teams that made up the National Football League.

In Iowa, Gov. Nathan E. Kendall, a Republican on Albia, easily won re-election, a loaf of bread could be had for a nickel and the University of Iowa football team capped its second straight undefeated season under head coach Howard Jones with a 37-3 win over Northwestern.

And in New Hampton, a small city in Chickasaw County founded in 1855, J.G. Schueth purchased an existing hardware store and renamed it Schueth Hardware.

Fast forward 100 years to 2022. Over the course of the last century, the store

Little Sprouts Daycare director grateful to many for new facility

Amy Ameling admits that when the ribbon was cut last Thursday, the emotions got the best of her.

Instead of crying, though, the Little Sprouts Daycare director threw her arms up to signal a victory for New Hampton.

“I am beyond excited,” she said, “because it shows you just how much New Hampton cares for working families and children. ... We’re going to be able to provide daycare for almost 50 more families. To me, that’s such a huge win, such a huge statement about our community.”

And this morning (Thursday), when Little Sprouts opens its new center in the former

Former soldier who fought in Afghanistan shares the story of how Retrieving Freedom helped him

By BOB FENSKE

As Trent Dirks told his incredible story — one that started years ago as a seventh-grader in Grundy Center — his service dog nestled against the back of his friend’s legs.

Dirks told the large crowd gathered for New Hampton’s annual Memorial Day observance about the paper he wrote for a social studies class, one that urged residents of his hometown to donate their time and money to the building of a veterans memorial.

He shared how he grew up and became a soldier and how he and his unit were deployed to Afghanistan during the War on Terrorism.

He remembered his friends, his fellow soldiers, who fell in battle.

“It is an absolute terrible feeling,” he said, “when you know that your friend is not going home.”

And then he told the story of how he and many of his fellow soldiers came home filled with depression, anxiety and post-traumatic stress disorder.

Remembering the reason for Memorial Day

Moving flag re-dedication highlights program at Chickasaw County Veterans Memorial

By BOB FENSKE
editor@nhtrib.com

As the veterans, joined by a young man who leaves for boot camp this coming Sunday, folded the flag on Monday morning, retired Marine Master Sgt. Clark Budweg shared a verse from the Bible with those attending New Hampton’s annual Memorial Day program.

“Greater love has no one than this: To lay down one’s life for one’s friends,” Budweg said, reciting Jesus’ words written in John 15:13.

On a day in which Americans paused to remember the more than 1.3 million Americans who have made the ultimate sacrifice in defense of their country, the verse struck a chord with those gathered at the Chickasaw County Veterans Memorial Monday morning, especially the family members of John G. Heiselman, the first Chickasaw County resident to make the “ultimate sacrifice” during the Vietnam War.

Little Sprouts Daycare Director Amy Ameling throws her hands in the air after New Hampton business and city leaders held a ribbon cutting for the new, expanded daycare that will open this week in the former educational wing of the First United Methodist Church.

Capacity of daycare will almost double

education wing of the First United Methodist Church, the dream of a larger, more-modern daycare for New Hampton and area residents will officially become a reality.

First, though, community leaders and daycare proponents celebrated the completion of the project last week. Gone is Great Plays Daycare, capacity 54; in it's place is Little Sprouts, capacity 99.

And Ameling said there were so many people to thank that she was worried she'd leave someone out.

There was the church, which "had a mission to help kids." There was Brian Carolan, the New Hampton resident that Ameling called "the money man." There was New Hampton Economic Development Director Tammy Robinson, whom Ameling dubbed the "get-it-done girl." There were the countless donors who contributed to the project. There were the residents who lobbied long and hard for New Hampton to get a federal daycare grant that helped fund a project that cost north of $1 million.

The benefits, though, can be seen in those capacity numbers.

Just ask Kayla Wood and her three daughters — Emberley, Nicolette and Ayla. The Woods had been on the Great Plays "waiting list" for five years, but the three girls will walk into the new facility today as Little Sprouts.

"That's what this is all about," Ameling said, "and to know so many people contributed to this project — time, money, getting the word out — it still gets me. It still makes me emotional."

The increase in the daycare's capacity also means Ameling will direct a larger staff. Great Plays had 14 employees, and that number will grow to 23 when Little Sprouts opens its doors.

For Robinson, whose office has made a larger daycare a priority for years, last week's ribbon cutting was also emotional.

"I just think of all the people who contributed to this in some way or another," she said, "and it makes you realize what a special place New Hampton is."

Alta Vista is set to celebrate its 'Friendly Town' Saturday

By Irene Frantzen
For the Tribune

The annual Alta Vista Day celebration is scheduled for this Saturday beginning with an 11:30 a.m. parade. Immediately after the parade a special ribbon cutting ceremony will be held at Linden Park downtown.

Linden Park was first established by the Alta Vista Garden Club in the late 1930s. At that time, residents planted flowers, including petunias (which they named the town flower) and Linden trees, thus the name for the park.

With the recent addition, the community pays tribute and acknowledges those that were before us in caring for Linden Park.

A group of citizens erected a gazebo, beginning last year, and recently added flowers, bushes, trees, and more. It is a beautiful area for all to enjoy.

Following the ceremony, the public is invited to Municipal Park for a full day of activities for the young and not so young.

Scheduled events include an Old Timers Softball game, Hayrack Challenge, traditional and progressive Bingo, 50/50 raffle, Paddlewheel, and a live auction. Kids events include StoryTime, bouncy houses, waterball, and kids pedal tractor pull. There will be music in the park all day and into the evening, as well as food concessions and beer garden.

"The Friendly Town" invites you to join them for a fun-filled Alta Vista Day.

Flag re-dedication sums up meaning of Memorial Day

MEMORIAL DAY: FROM 1

“We must remember,” Budweg said, “that for our Gold Star families, Memorial Day is not limited to 24 hours once a year. ... It’s with them forever.”

Budweg stepped away from the microphone, and American Legion Fae Stine Post 38 Commander Brian Quirk recounted Specialist John G. Heiselman’s story — the oldest of 10 children who was killed in action on March 6, 1968, in Gia Dinh Province in South Vietnam.

As Quirk spoke, Budweg and fellow American Legion member Don Dixon solemnly finished folding the flag. When they were done, Dixon saluted Budweg, who then presented the flag to one of John’s younger brothers, Dan.

For a moment, all was still, all was quiet.

This was Memorial Day in one reflective, moving snapshot. And it was a reminder that the holiday we celebrated on Monday wasn’t about the unofficial start of summer, the cookouts or the end of a three-day weekend.

As the Rev. Kevin Frey of Trinity Lutheran Church so eloquently put it during his invocation, Memorial Day is about “lives lost forever and lives forever changed.”

And no moment on a beautiful Monday morning represented Memorial Day better than when Budweg presented the re-dedicated flag to Dan Heiselman.

“It meant a lot to us,” the younger brother of the fallen soldier said, “and we’re very appreciative that they did this for us. ... You know, John was the brother I didn’t really get to know. I was 7 when he died, but I’m thankful, I think we’re all thankful, that he’s still remembered for what he did.”

Memorial Day programs always pull on the heartstrings. From the laying of the wreaths to the firing of the guns to the playing of “Taps,” it’s a chance for those who enjoy freedom to say thank you to those who fought for it and died for it.

And on Monday, the veterans who came home took a moment to say thank you to the men like John Heiselman and the families they left behind.

In other words, they did Memorial Day right.

Bob Fenske/Tribune

Tracer gives veteran his life back

RETRIEVING FREEDOM: FROM 1

“Twenty-two veterans a day commit suicide,” he said and then paused for a moment to let that number sink in. “You heard me right, 22 veterans a day.”

Since coming home from the Middle East in 2011, he knows first hand the pain that comes with those suicides. Dirks talked about Doc Hutchinson and Ryan Witt — friends and fellow soldiers that ended their lives. He talked about the tragic deaths of Carlos Puente and Lindsey Stupp, and he shared that he was at the point where he, too, thought about ending his own life.

“I was at the point where I was self-medicating and ... honestly ... I thought about taking my hands off the wheel,” he said.

And then Tracer stepped in.

His service dog, provided by Retrieving Freedom, was with him on that fateful day. He jumped into the front seat, put his paw on one of Dirks’ hands and the eyes of dog and master met.

“Those eyes looked deep into my soul,” Dirks said during his keynote address at the Memorial Day program, “and told me, I needed to get help.”

On that day, that beautiful labrador knew his friend was at a proverbial T in his life. One turn would have taken Dirks to suicide; the other, the one he took, was a chance at life again.

Tracer, Dirks said, helped him make the correct turn.

The former soldier went through an intensive four-month treatment program and began rebuilding his life. Tracer, he said, was at his side the entire time.

Today, he serves as the resource development director for Retrieving Freedom and is based in Waverly. He said Tracer has not only helped his depression, anxiety and PTSD but he has also given him a chance to be “a good father to my son” and a productive member of society, one who takes great pride in raising funds so that the organization can provide service dogs to veterans like himself.

Following the program, he was asked about speaking in front of hundreds of people.

“If you had told me I’d be doing this six, seven years ago,” he said, “trust me, I would have thought you were certifiable.”

He paused for a moment, looked down at Tracer and smiled.

“He’s the reason I’m here,” he said, “and he’s the reason I will continue to tell my story. He gave me my life back, and I want other veterans going through the same pain I went through to have that same chance.”

Veterans fire the “salute” during Monday’s Memorial Day program in New Hampton.

And when the day of Pentecost was fully come, they were all with one accord in one place. And suddenly there came a sound from heaven as of a rushing mighty wind, and it filled all the house where they were sitting.

Acts 2:1-2

Different kind of harvest

Christians believe just as Jesus went into heaven, so will they

If you go back and read the Old Testament, you will discover that Pentecost was one of the Jewish feast days. Only they didn't call it Pentecost. That's the Greek name.

The Jews called it the Feast of Harvest or the Feast of Weeks. It is mentioned five places in the first five books — in Exodus 23, Exodus 24, Leviticus 16, Numbers 28, and Deuteronomy 16.

What is the Origin of Pentecost?

Pentecost was the celebration of the beginning of the early weeks of harvest. In Palestine, there were two harvests each year.

The early harvest came during the months of May and June; the final harvest came in the Fall.

Pentecost was the celebration of the beginning of the early wheat harvest, which meant that Pentecost always fell sometime during the middle of the month of May or sometimes in early June.

There were several festivals, celebrations, or observances that took place before Pentecost. There was Passover, there was Unleavened Bread, and there was the Feast of Firstfruits. The Feast of Firstfruits was the celebration of the beginning of the barley harvest. Here's the way you figured out the date of Pentecost.

According to the Old Testament, you would go to the day of the celebration of Firstfruits, and beginning with that day, you would count off 50 days. The fiftieth day would be the Day of Pentecost. So Firstfruits is the beginning of the barley harvest and Pentecost the celebration of the beginning of the wheat harvest.

Since it was always 50 days after Firstfruits, and since 50 days equals seven weeks, it always came a "week of weeks" later. Therefore, they either called it the Feast of Harvest or the Feast of Weeks.

When Is Pentecost Sunday This Year?

This year, Pentecost will be on Sunday, June 5, 2022, observed on the seventh Sunday after Easter, which was held on April 17 this year.

Why Is Pentecost Important to Christianity?

Modern Christians observe Pentecost as a holiday, not to celebrate a wheat harvest, but to remember when the Holy Spirit invaded the Church in Acts 2.

1. On Pentecost Sunday, the Holy Spirit filled the Church with power and added 3,000 new believers. The account in Act 2 reports that, after Jesus ascended into heaven, Jesus' followers were gathered together for the Feast of Harvest (aka Pentecost), and the Holy Spirit "filled the whole house where they were sitting" (Acts 2:2). "All of them were filled with the Holy Spirit and began to speak in other tongues as the Spirit enabled them" (Acts 2:4).

This strange occurrence drew a large crowd, and Peter stood up to speak to them about repentance and the gospel of Christ (Acts 2:14). By the end of the day that the Holy Spirit came, the Church grew by 3,000 people (Acts 2:41). This is why Christians still celebrate Pentecost.

John Gill expresses the significance in his commentary:

"Through this baptism of the Holy Ghost and fire, the apostles became more knowing, and had a greater understanding of the mysteries of the Gospel, and were more qualified to preach it to people of all nations and languages."

2. The Holy Spirit was prophesied in the Old Testament and promised by Jesus. Jesus promised the Holy Spirit in John 14:26, who would be the Helper for his people.

"But the Helper, the Holy Spirit, whom the Father will send in My name, He will teach you all things, and bring to your remembrance all that I said to you."

This New Testament event is also significant because it fulfills an Old Testament prophecy in Joel 2:28-29.

"And afterward, I will pour out my Spirit on all people. Your sons and daughters will prophesy, your old men will dream dreams, your young men will see visions. Even on my servants, both men and women, I will pour out my Spirit in those days."

The Significance of Pentecost

Today

In a video for Christianity.com, Phillip Nation explains why Pentecost is significant for Christians today, read the transcript of that interview below:

The significance of Pentecost to the church is something that we need to walk through carefully, and we shouldn't ignore, because Pentecost was a Jewish celebration. And so in our modern day of the New Testament church, we don't celebrate Pentecost in the way that the Old Testament Hebrews did.

But Pentecost was the moment in history after Christ had ascended. And he had promised during the gospel narratives, during his earthly ministry, that he would leave, but that he would send the comforter, he would send the holy spirit. And it was at that moment in Pentecost where the spirit came, and he empowered the early believers, specifically the apostles that were left, and Peter, who is almost a comedic personality in the gospel narra-

He is the one who constantly puts his foot in his mouth, constantly is having to be corrected by Jesus, but is in the inner circle.

And because of grace and mercy, he is chosen to be the one who stands up in front of this throng, probably thousands, maybe tens of thousands of people to proclaim the gospel, there in the midst of a Hebrew celebration that was intended to remind the Hebrews of how God had always protected them.

And here Peter stands up and says, "And let me tell you about the Messiah, who is the eternal protection for all of humanity. Let me tell you who he is." And so Pentecost becomes this marker in history to really what many people would say, "And that's the moment that church is born."

That is when thousands come into the faith. And it goes from this little sect of believers who followed a Jewish rabbi from Nazareth who died and rose again, and suddenly the church breaks forth into the culture. Suddenly it is that unstoppable force that no one can really deny any longer. Pentecost has taken on a new significance for us. It, at one point, is just a historical memory. Now it is the living reality of the moment that the spirit of God seemingly burst forth.

3 Historical Insights into Pentecost

There are three things you need to know about Pentecost that will help you understand Acts 2.

1. Pentecost was a pilgrim festival. That meant that according to Jewish Law, all the adult Jewish men would come from wherever they were living to Jerusalem and personally be in attendance during this celebration.

2. Pentecost was a holiday. No servile work was to be done. School was out. The shops were closed. It was party time.

3. There were certain celebrations and sacrifices and offerings which were prescribed in the Law for the day of Pentecost. On Pentecost, the High Priest was to take two loaves of freshly baked wheat bread and offer them before the Lord. The wheat bread was made from the newly harvested wheat.

In short, Pentecost in the time of the Apostles was a great and grand harvest celebration.

The streets of Jerusalem were clogged with thousands of pilgrims who had come from every point of the compass to celebrate the goodness of God and the bringing in of the wheat harvest.

What Investors Can – And Can’t – Control

As an investor, you can easily feel frustrated to see short-term drops in your investment statements. But while you cannot control the market, you may find it helpful to review the factors you can control.

Many forces affect the financial markets, including geopolitical events, corporate profits and interest rate movements – forces beyond the control of most individual investors. In any case, it’s important to focus on the things you can control, such as these:

- Your ability to define your goals – One area in which you have total control is your ability to define your goals. Like most people, you probably have short-term goals – such as saving for a new car or a dream vacation – and long-term ones, such as a comfortable retirement. Once you identify your goals and estimate how much they will cost, you can create an investment strategy to help achieve them. Over time, some of your personal circumstances will likely change, so you’ll want to review your time horizon and risk tolerance on a regular basis, adjusting your strategy when appropriate. And the same is true for your goals – they may evolve over time, requiring new responses from you in how you invest.
- Your response to market downturns – When the market drops and the value of your investments declines, you might be tempted to take immediate action in an effort to stop the losses. This is understandable – after all, your investment results can have a big impact on your future. However, acting hastily could work against you – for example, you could sell investments that still have solid fundamentals and are still appropriate for your needs. If you can avoid decisions based on short-term events, you may help yourself in the long run.
- Your commitment to investing – The financial markets are almost always in flux, and their movements are hard to predict.

MAKING SENSE OF INVESTING

If you can continue investing in all markets – good, bad or sideways – you will likely make much better progress toward your goals than if you periodically were to take a “time out.” Many people head to the investment sidelines when the market tumbles, only to miss out on the beginnings of the next rally. And by steadily investing, you will increase the number of shares you own in your investments – and the larger your ownership stake, the greater your opportunities for building wealth.

• Your portfolio’s level of diversification – While diversification itself can’t guarantee profits or protect against all losses, it can help greatly reduce the impact of market volatility on your portfolio. Just how you diversify your investments depends on several factors, but the general principle of maintaining a diversified portfolio should govern your approach to investing. It’s a good idea to periodically review your portfolio to ensure it’s still properly diversified.

The world will always be filled with unpredictable, uncontrollable events, and many of them will affect the financial markets to one degree or another. But within your own investment world, you always have a great deal of control – and with it, you have the power to keep moving toward all your important financial objectives.

Ambulance Council explores funding public EMS

Members know costs will go up, at least initially, say they need to take it back to their respective cities

By KELLY TERPSTRA
sports@nhtrib.com

City representatives plan on providing their respective City Councils with adjusted contribution numbers to potentially fund a public-owned ambulance service.

That’s the latest development after the Chickasaw County Ambulance Council met Tuesday evening.

It’s an encouraging step forward by the county and the various cities within its border in an attempt to extend emergency medical services after the current private contract with the Chickasaw County Ambulance Service runs out at the end of the year on Dec. 31.

The owner of that privately-run ambulance service, Jeremy McGrath, said he is not interested in extending the current contract with Chickasaw County, but said he would sell the 3,000-square foot building that houses three ambulance. The price tag is $1.725 million and that cost does not include operational expense such as dispatch service and a benefits package for staffing.

“I’m done with the politics part of this,” McGrath said during a Board of Supervisors meeting on Tuesday morning. “That’s why I gave a hard stop date.”

The county currently foots 40 percent of the bill for the EMS and the cities combine to pay 60 percent of that total. A public, county-owned EMS is expected to lose $650,000 in its first year of operation according to estimated figures provided to the Council.

“The first couple years will be rough. Any startup is,” said Ionia Mayor Randy Taylor. “But I think if everybody sticks together, after those first years – numbers start staying together. It will probably end up costing less than it does now.”

NOW FIVE AMBULANCE Council representatives that represent the cities within the county – New Hampton, Alta Vista, Bassett, Fredericksburg, Ionia, Lawler, Nashua and North Washington – will adjust financial numbers to bring forth to their City Councils to possibly amend their budgets that could signal a new service could possibly be up and running at the start of the year.

For instance, if Lawler contributed $20,000 yearly to the EMS in a proposed contract, that figure would have to be inflated three-fold to $60,000 with the new estimates for cost according to some city representatives in attendance.

That increased city contribution would of course require a vote by each City Council to approve the new amended totals that could extend service.

“I think the only way this works in this time frame is to purchase the current provider out,” said Fredericksburg Mayor Jimmy Mitchell.

“The projected cost of this thing is a lot bigger than what we’re probably allowed to commit to. Not only that, we have the question of funding 28E. That all needs to be answered.”

CHICKASAW COUNTY ATTORNEY David Laudner let the Council and those in attendance know that the deadline for any city to back out of the current 28E Agreement that binds both city and county to the current contract with McGrath’s ambulance service has since passed. There needs to be a 180-day notice before the start of a fiscal year if an entity wants to back out of the 28E.

“The 28E is going to stay in place until something happens to it. Anybody that wants out has to give 180 days notice before July 1 (2022),” said Laudner. “The bottom line, anybody that wants out can not get out until July 1, 2023.”

Laudner said there are what he termed “escape hatches” to the 28E. One such instance is to exceed the budget cap, which is $250,000 for the fiscal year that ends June 30 and then per the agreement, can go up 5 percent each following year. That means the cap, under the current agreement at least, is $262,500 for the fiscal year that begins July 1.

“The other way you can get out is if everybody wants out,” said Laudner, who said EMS is not an essential service like fire.

That means the city or county is not obligated to provide its citizens with an EMS.

“We need to start moving. Otherwise we’re just kicking the can down the road like we have been for how many years?” said Taylor.

Supervisors may have erred in approving new elevator

County attorney brings up concerns; board members also discuss potential of selling Heritage property

By BOB FENSKE
editor@nhtrib.com

The item – “amend the motion made on May 16th, 2022, for the purchase of an elevator for the courthouse” – on the Chickasaw County Board of Supervisors’ agenda Tuesday morning seemed pretty straightforward.

Last month, on a 4-1 vote, supervisors had approved spending a little more than $207,000 to put in a new elevator at the courthouse because of maintenance concerns about the current elevator, which led to concerns that if parts couldn’t be obtained for it, the courthouse would not be compliant with the Americans with Disabilities Act.

But because one of the payments for the new elevator needed to occur before the fiscal year ends on June 30, supervisors on Tuesday considered using American Recovery Plan Act funds for the almost $52,000 that Schumacher Elevator required before starting the installation.

Not so fast, said County Attorney David Laudner, who pointed out that the supervisors, according to state law, should have put out bids for a new elevator.

“Anything north of $100,00 needs to be bid out,” Laudner said.

Supervisor Jason Byrne, though, said it was his understanding that Schumacher is the only elevator in company in Iowa, but Laudner said his interpretation of the code is that is not one of the extenuating circumstances that allows government entities to not go through a bidding process for a project of the elevator’s scope.

Board members discussed the situation, and while Board Chairman Matt Kuhn expressed concerns because “we have a signed contract with Schumacher,” he said he would contact the company to see if the county could put the project on hold.

Supervisors then voted 4-0 – with Jake Hackman, who voted against the May 16 resolution, casting a “present” vote – to “rescind” the resolution to purchase the new elevator.

Also on Tuesday, board members learned that Inspiring Lives, which has leased the county’s Heritage Property just south of the New Hampton city limits for the past nine years, will vacate the property by June 30, which would meet a deadline set by supervisors after the county and the mental-health organization could not reach an agreement on a new lease.

Kuhn said the county has been contacted by a party that is interested in purchasing the property. “The party did not disclose a price, it was just an expression of interest,” he said, “and I said I would bring it to the board’s attention.”

Kuhn added that he told the potential buyer that the farm ground that is connected to the Heritage property is not for sale.

But the rest of the board had a number of concerns – ranging from the pioneer cemetery on the grounds to if the county would want to keep the cold-storage building on the site.

Hackman said he felt that the property should be surveyed and first suggested breaking the property into three parcels – the farmland, the Heritage building and the area around the cold-storage building.

Laudner told supervisors they had a couple of options if they want to move forward with the sale – one, finding out the price from the interested party and then holding a public hearing or two, publish it for sale and accept closed bids. He pointed out that just because the county put up the property for sale did not mean that the supervisors would have to accept any of the bids.

Board members then returned to how many parcels should the property be divided into, and after discussion about the difficulties in obtaining easements for the cold storage building, they decided to have it broken into two parcels – the farmland and the rest of the property.

And while they didn’t indicate how interested they were when it came to selling the Heritage property, minus the farmland, they did agree that an easement would be needed to allow the Pioneer Cemetery Commission to maintain the cemetery.

Ace will have special guest for its party

Ace Cares for Kids All-Star will be on hand when Schueths celebrate 100th birthday of hardware store

Special to the Tribune

When Schueth Ace Hardware in New Hampton celebrates its 100th birthday next week, it's going to be an all-star affair.

That's because young Nile Kron will be on hand.

Last fall, the 4-year-old from Iowa City was named by The Ace Hardware Foundation as the organization's ninth Ace Cares for Kids All-Star, and the foundation, University of Iowa Stead Family Children's Hospital and Iowa football coach Kirk Ferentz of the University of Iowa surprised Nile and his family with an event to welcome them into the Ace community.

Kron and his family will attend a lunch Schueth co-owners Doug Schueth and Jackie Perkins and the store's employees will have for its customers from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. next Wednesday.

As Ace's ninth Ace Cares for Kids All-Star, Nile will serve as national ambassador for the Ace Foundation, raising awareness for the excellent work that is done at local Children's Miracle Network (CMN) Hospitals across the country.

Through the support of Ace's vendor partner Duracell, the Ace Cares for Kids program enables Ace stores to raise funds for their local CMN Hospital using Nile's incredible story as inspiration.

From the moment Nile Kron was born, he has been a patient at University of Iowa Stead Family Children's Hospital. Nile was born at 32 weeks 4 days on Feb. 21, 2017.

He spent 51 days in the NICU — not only because Nile was pre-mature but because he was born with a bilateral cleft lip and palate, scoliosis, absent right ear, Coloboma of his left eye, and a tethered cord.

On Oct. 10, 2017, Nile had his first of many surgeries. This procedure was to fix his cleft lip and palate at UI Stead Family Children's Hospital.

Nile's next surgery was to separate his spinal cord from his vertebrae. This complex and invasive procedure brought on a long road of recovery for Nile.

He went on to have cleft lip and palate surgery plus another surgery to close off his left inner ear canal to prohibit infection, extensive oral surgeries, and a hernia removal surgery. In June of 2020, Nile had two rods placed in his back to fix his congenital scoliosis rods that must be adjusted every three months at UI Stead Family Children's Hospital until Nile is done growing.

One of Nile's most exciting surgeries was the placement of his cochlear implants, tools that will help Nile hear and verbally communicate.

Nile loves being around people and thrives when he is around others thanks to the specialized treatment he received at the University of Iowa Stead Family Children's Hospital.

"He lights up any room that he is in and is positive despite the challenges he experiences on a day-to-day basis. Even though Nile is only 4 years old, he is always determined to succeed. He has worn everything from a mouthpiece, to back braces, to foot braces," said Brittany, Nile's mom. "There will be nothing that stops him no matter his size."

"We are excited to welcome Nile into the Ace All-Star family," said Kane Calamari, President of the Ace Hardware Foundation.

"Nile and his family will join Ace in raising awareness for CMN Hospitals and generating essential funding for other children facing illness. His story of bravery, perseverance and hope is one that we know will inspire our Ace community and beyond."

Nile was selected by the Ace Foundation following a nationwide campaign that gave every Children's Miracle Network Hospital an opportunity to nominate a deserving patient. As the ninth All-Star for the Ace Cares for Kids Program, a $10,000 donation from Duracell will be made to University of Iowa Stead Family Children's Hospital in Nile's honor.

Throughout the year, Nile will make special appearances and will be treated to exciting surprises from Ace Hardware.

As a supporter of CMN Hospitals, Ace Hardware is dedicated to raising funds for children's hospitals across the country, including University of Iowa Stead Family Children's Hospital.

Over the past 30 years, the Ace Foundation has raised more than $160 million for Children's Miracle Network Hospitals.

Three generations bring store to the century mark

AGE: FROM 1

J.G. Schueth purchased less than four years after World War I ended, has seen many changes.

Located where New Hampton's Lucky Bamboo Chinese restaurant now sits, it expanded in 1946. Almost a quarter of a century later, in 1970, the store moved into a brand-new building, and in 1997, it purchased a building at its current location, 6 W. Main St., and expanded to the west. And in 2005, it opened a store in Charles City.

During the last century, Schueth Ace Hardware has remained a family affair. After moving to New Hampton, J.G. met Irene Westemeier, and the two were married in 1925. For years, the Schueth couple worked side by side in the store.

Ownership of the store passed from J.G. and Irene to their two sons — Jim and Don — in the 1950s and 1960s. When Jim retired in 1991, Don's son, Doug, came on as a partner, and when Don retired in 2000, his daughter, Jackie Perkins, became the second third-generation Schueth to run the business.

But you see, the locations and the owners may have changed over the last 100 years, but there has been one constant — a commitment to customer service — at the hardware store over the last century.

"It started with Grandpa, no question about it," Doug Schueth said, "and our dad and uncle carried on that tradition that we're always going to do our best for our customers. We're not going to oversell, but we're going to sell what you need, and we're going to stand by what we sell. It's been the way we've done business for 100 years, and it's the way we're going to continue to do business."

As he talked, his sister nodded her head in agreement.

"We had very good teachers when it came to putting customers first," she said, "and over the years — from Grandpa to us — we've also been blessed with a lot of wonderful employees. This isn't the story of just the Schueth family; it's the story of employees working together to do right by our customers."

SCHUETH ACE HARDWARE has had some "big weeks" over the last 100 years, but next week may be the biggest ever.

When a family-owned business hits triple digits and turns 100, the party should be huge.

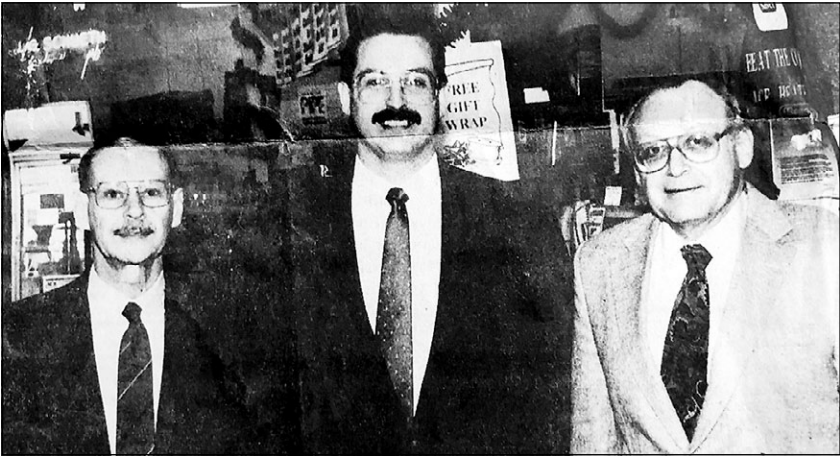

In addition to a variety of specials and giveaways that will take place at its stores in New Hampton and Charles City, Schueth Ace Hardware will serve free-will donation lunches in New Hampton from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Wednesday and from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. in Charles City on Thursday, and all proceeds will benefit local food pantries.

On Friday, the Charles City store will close at 4 p.m. and the New Hampton store will close at 5 p.m. so that employees can participate in the Heartland Days Parade, which will be led by Grand Marshals Doug Schueth and Jackie Perkins.

And after the parade, as the advertisement in this week's Tribune states, the stores' owners are asking residents to "put your dancing shoes on and boogie with" The Dweebs, the fun, family-orientated band that will take the Mikkelson Park band shell stage from 7:30 to 11:30 p.m. at New Hampton's biggest celebration of the year.

A century in business made choosing this year's parade grand marshals an easy one, but New Horizons-Chamber Director Jason Speltz said more went into the decision than marking a milestone.

"What you have with Jackie and Doug is what makes businesses in small cities like ours stand out," Speltz said. "Go into Ace, and I guarantee you that Doug, Jackie and their employees are always going to give you that proverbial 110 percent. I don't know how many times I've heard people say that their customer service is the best, but it's true. They go that extra mile, every single time."

Doug Schueth (above) is flanked by his uncle, Jim, and his father, Don, in the early 1990s in the Schueth Ace Hardware store (right) in which shoppers browse shortly after the store moved into its new building.

IT ALL BEGAN, of course, in 1922.

That's when J.G. Schueth purchased an existing hardware store in Chickasaw County's largest city.

New Hampton that year was home to about 2,500 residents, and although cars had become the main mode of transportation for most, it wasn't uncommon for people to get here and there by horse. While the wonders of electricity had come to many area cities, most, if not all farm homes were not equipped with it or even with indoor plumbing.

J.G. went to work to build a store that sold quality products and provided outstanding customer service, and Irene had the same core values as her husband.

Over the years, the hardware store grew despite being in a competitive market and despite challenges like the Great Depression.

"Grandpa honestly carried some people for a lot of years," Doug Schueth said. "As long as you worked with him, he'd work with you. I've seen the records, the books, and there were people that would pay a little each month and Grandpa was fine with that. He kept a lot of people in business during some really lean years."

In 1946, the store's success led to the Schueths purchasing the building just to the east of its store for expansion.

"I think of how hard they had to work," Perkins said, "and how meticulous they were. They always had a plan, and that store and their family, that was their life."

IN 1952, THE FIRST of the Schueth brothers returned home from the service, and Jim went into business with his father at the hardware store.

Seven years later, Don became a partner in the store with his older brother.

Over the years, hardware competitors came and went, but Schueth Ace Hardware remained.

The Schueth brothers followed in their parents' footsteps — not only with their hard work in their store but also by raising their families and being very involved in New Hampton.

In 1969, they purchased the old Forkenbrock Hardware building on West Main Street, tore it down and built a brand-new store.

"I was just a kid, but I can still remember that building going up," Doug said. "We were all pretty excited, but when I look back on it now, I realize dad and our uncle were really making an investment in our community."

His sister agreed. "They loved New Hampton," Jackie said, "and they believed in it."

Jim and his wife, Sue, had three children — Steven, Peter and Tony — while Don and his wife, Sandra also raised their children — Doug, Jackie, Lon and Jodee — in the City of Expanding Horizons.

As hard as the brothers worked in the store, they also gave back to their community. Jim served 16 years on the Chickasaw County Board of Supervisors while Don was a member of the New Hampton City Council for 22 years.

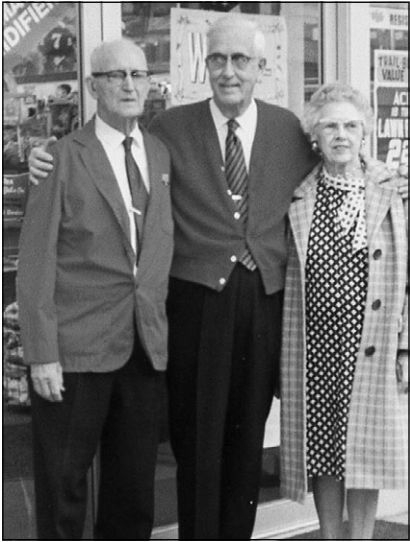

"Giving back, being involved, supporting your clubs and organizations," Jackie said, "that was a big thing for our store since Grandpa first came to New Hampton. Dad and Jim picked up the mantle from our grandparents and hopefully, Doug and I have done the same."

HARDWARE HAS BEEN a mainstay throughout its 100 years in business, but throughout its history, it has offered other products.

At one time, Schueth Ace Hardware sold appliances, and it also at one time had a large gun department. Those days are gone, but during its history, its gift department has grown, and it remains a key component of the business.

For the store's current owners, it wasn't a given that either would follow in their grandparents' or parents' footsteps.

Doug worked for a number of years as a salesman in the Chicago area while Jackie found her calling in the grocery business — eventually becoming the first female store manager for SuperValu, working first for Wendal Liddle and then for Matt Anderson in the store located across the street from New Hampton Elementary School.

Schueth Hardware (left) was operated for years by J.G. Schueth and his wife, Irene (above), pictured with Phil Jacobson of the Iowa Hardware Retailer Association in 1970 when the store moved to its current location.

Doug returned to the fold first. After his uncle retired in 1991, he returned to New Hampton and went into business with his father.

"I wasn't sure, honestly," he said when he was asked if the plan was always for him to end up being a third-generation owner. "We lived up here when we were kids, and you know, I guess at first I thought I'd want to try something different. But there was something about New Hampton, that small-town feeling, that drew me back."

For much of the 1990s, dad and son worked side by side, and they knew they were running out of room.

So in 1997, like J.G. and Irene had done more than 40 years before with their original store, they expanded — purchasing the building to the west and almost doubling the store's space.

Two years later, Don was ready for retirement, and the question was asked to Jackie: Would you be interested?

"That was a really tough one for me," she said, "because I really loved the grocery business. It was me, and I wasn't quite sure. But the challenge of owning a business with Doug, the pride I had in our family's business, that was enough for me to take the plunge."

BUT SCHUETH ACE Hardware wasn't quite done expanding.

In 2005, the third-generation owners of the business decided to open a store in Charles City, and while their store's roots were planted in New Hampton, the owners emphasize that this is as much a celebration for their "new" store as it is for their "old" one.

There were growing pains, of course, but today, they feel as much a part of the Charles City community as they do their hometown.

"I think, you know, there was some, 'OK, who are these out-of-town people?' But we were committed to providing the same hometown service that we had given New Hampton all those years," Jackie said and then added with a smile as she referred to the school colors of Charles City and New Hampton. "So we added orange and black to our red and black."

Her brother believes one of the "turning points" for the Charles City store came in 2008 during the historic floods that ravaged the Floyd County city.

"We were able to find some generators, we ordered them, we had to drive and go get them," he said, "but we didn't mark them up. We sold them for the same price we would have if we had had them in stock. I think that showed people that we were a part of the community."

ANYONE WHO HAS shopped at Schueth Ace Hardware — either in New Hampton or Charles City — has their stories.

There's the time a resident bought a new gas grill and couldn't figure out how to start it. He called the store, and not only got an answer, but a few minutes later, one of the store employees showed up at his house to make sure the gas was flowing.

There's the countless times someone has come in to the store trying to figure out a solution to a problem, and Doug, Jackie or one of their employees will quickly grasp what they're asking and present the answer.

There's the even more countless times that the store employees will match a certain shade of paint in a matter of seconds.

"We love our customers," Jackie said, "and they're like family to us. You do nice things for your family, right? So why wouldn't we do it for our customers?"

Over the year's the store has won numerous awards from Ace, which is really a cooperative of thousands of stores. What that means is this: Ace stores are owned locally and those owners are not tied to a corporation coming in and telling them what to do.

"We get a lot of help from Ace, don't get us wrong," Doug said, "but it's our store, our decisions, and that I think is important."

ONE HUNDRED YEARS. It's a huge milestone obviously.

The list of stores that have come and gone in New Hampton since 1922 is almost infinite, yet, the Schueths are still here — selling hardware and gifts, running their rental business and getting an "A-plus" when it comes to treating their customers right.

SEE ACE, 9

Schueth Ace Hardware has carried many different product lines — including guns and televisions (above) — during its century in business, but one of its biggest moves came when the store constructed a new building (right) that it moved into in 1970.

Schueth Ace Hardware owners Doug Schueth and Jackie Perkins will be the first to tell you that one of the keys to the success of the family-owned business the past 100 years has been its dedicated employees.

Store’s philosophy won’t change

ACE: FROM 8

They will celebrate with their family, friends and customers next week, their owners will lead New Hampton’s big parade Friday evening and the store will sponsor that Dweebs concert later that night. More family gatherings will be held during the weekend, but the store will be open.

This isn’t supposed to be a story about just the Schueth family, for scores of residents over the past century have contributed to the success of the store.

“They’re family, too,” Jackie said, “and there’s no way, our grandpa, our dad, our uncle or Doug and I could have done what we’ve done without them. We’re so grateful for them. We’re so thankful to what they bring to our store. For Doug and me, it’s important that they know family comes first and the job comes second.”

The owners are looking forward to celebrating their store’s milestone with their children and grandchildren. Doug has two children — D.J., who is married to Emily, and Christina, who is married to Aaron — and four grandchildren, McKenna, Donny, Maci Jo and Bodhi.

Jackie, too, has two children — Tara, who is married to Corey — and Ryan, who is married to Leann — and has five grandchildren, Maycen, Myles, Shay, Harper and Ellie.

Both say that their spouses — Doug is married to Stephanie and Jackie is married to Chris, who works at the store — are critical to their careers.

“When you own your own business, you’re pretty much always on call,” Doug said, “and to have spouses that understand that, it’s just a must.”

When the Heartland Days celebration comes to an end, Schueth Ace Hardware will enter its second century of business, and the siblings were asked how they envisioned the future of the store their grandparents started so long ago?

“I think one of the key things for the stores is we’ve been able to ... I don’t know how to quite put it ... but we’ve been able to roll with the times,” Doug said. “But honestly, I guess the answer about what’s next is probably this: We’re going to do what we’ve done for 100 years. Sell good products, stand by them and treat our customers the way they should be treated. That’s really it. That’s been the secret for all these years so why not keep doing it?”

Grand Dairyman couple comes full circle

Laure and Daryl Bouska have a long history with both Dairy Days and dairy farming

By DOROTHY HUBER
dorhubernews@gmail.com

Both Laure and Daryl Bouska recall going to Dairy Days as kids.

As they grew a little older they had a chance to show calves and all the things young folks do at the annual event. A few decades, a marriage and two daughters later, they've been volunteering to help at Dairy Day and both their daughters have competed for Little Miss Squirt and Dairy Princess.

This year, in a way, they've come full circle, for at the 98th annual Dairy Day, the couple will be "part of the fun" as they have been selected to wear the title of Grand Dairyman.

DARYL AND LAURE both grew up on dairy farms in Chickasaw County and started doing chores and feeding calves by middle school.

Daryl graduated from Fredericksburg and Laure from New Hampton, an Alta Vista native.

"In 1982 a girl friend of mine wanted to run for Fredericksburg dairy princess, so I agreed to as well so she wouldn't be alone," Laure said.

Nine girls ran that year, and Laure won first runner up. "Back then the Fredericksburg FFA boys escorted the candidates. Daryl was an escort, but not mine....we didn't meet til eight years later."

The two married in 1991, started dairying on Daryl's parents farm northeast of Fredericksburg and eventually bought the farm from them. They milked 43 cows, raised heifers and fed out steers for many, many years, but sold the herd in March 2021.

"We had done this for 30 years and the industry has changed so much with all the "fake" milk like oat and almond milk and the grocery store aisles full of drinks," said Laure. "We had a severe hail storm July 10, 2020 that left us with hardly any feed and no cornstalks for bedding. So that helped make the decision."

Still, it was tough making that change, in not only a career but a way of life.

"We found a dairy farmer in western Iowa that needed some heifers and some of our cows went to a nearby dairy, so that helped. We were lost for a few weeks at 5 p.m. because that was chore time."

Some of the animals were particularly hard to part with.

"We all had our favorites, especially the calves that the kids showed at fair and were tame as cows in the dairy herd. Daryl liked the Brown Swiss and I liked the Red Holsteins." Most of the herd, however, was Holsteins of the black and white variety.

Dairy farming, as most know, has a brutal, unforgiving schedule. Cows have to be milked twice a day, no matter what. And on the Bouska farm, that happened at 5 a.m. and 5 p.m.

"We were lucky and have had people we could rely on to milk for a few days in the summers, so we were able to get away for a few days to Lake Superior," Laure said.

While the change of lifestyle might have made the couple feel "lost" for a time, they've found ways of filling their time. "It is nice now that the girls have both graduated from Iowa State and live by Des Moines, we can visit longer than a couple hours between chores."

DURING THOSE 30 years in the business, Laure and Daryl have been engaged in the many aspects of the dairy industry.

"When we were younger we were involved in the Wisconsin Dairies Young Farmer program, promoting dairy by participating in parades in other communities and visiting pre-schools. Daryl was on the Chickasaw Co. DHIA [Dairy Herd Improvement

IT'S DAIRY MONTH

Dairy Days kicks off its two-day run on Tuesday

After two days packed with a variety of entertainment and programs, Dairy Days will come to an end next Wednesday night with the crowning of Miss Fredericksburg and its "Little Squirts" and the annual cow milking contest.

The annual celebration will begin on Tuesday when the midway opens and among activities that day will be a kick-ball tournament at 4 p.m., the Street Sports program for children ages 13 and under that starts at 7 p.m. and a fireworks show that is set for 10 p.m.

Wednesday activities include two parades — one at 10:30 a.m. and the other at 7 p.m. — as well as the coronation of the royalty and the milking contest that starts at 8 p.m.

Here are short bios of the candidates for Miss Fredericksburg:

Blair Berends

Parents: Theresa Boleyn and Scott Boleyn.

Favorite dairy products: Frozen yogurt, milk.

School and community activities: FFA and 4-H.

Favorite part about Fredericksburg: The railroad bridge by the trail; the cement bridge on the trail!

Carmen Schmidt

Parents: Nicole Stahl and Donald Schmidt.

Favorite dairy products: Ice cream, yogurt and cheese curds, but I just so happen to be lactose intolerant.

School and community activities: Cross country and track.

Favorite part about Fredericksburg: Having a small community where it's more of a family rather than just people you know.

Claire Sorensen

Parents: Tracy Schultz and

Matt Sorensen.

Favorite dairy products: Cheese and ice cream!

School and community activities: Junior class vice president, FFA secretary, volleyball manager, Bremer County Pork Queen and multiple activities through church.

Favorite part about Fredericksburg: The people and their willingness to help neighbors in need.

Emma Speicher

Parents: Adam and Shelby Speicher.

Favorite dairy products: Ice cream, milkshakes, queso dip, cheese and chocolate milk.

School and community activities: Girls wrestling, softball, football cheerleader, wrestling cheerleader, volleyball, choir, show choir, FCCLA and Get-a-Grip.

Favorite part about Fredericksburg: I like how "homey" Fredericksburg feels. I love that we are able to know everyone in the town and that we are all there for one another whenever we need it. There is a great sense of community within our little town, and that is something you do not come by often.

JayLynn Suckow

Parents: Travis and Jeannie Suckow.

Favorite dairy products: Ice cream.

School and community activities: 4-H, FFA, band, youth group, 4-H County Council, volleyball, basketball and golf.

Favorite part about Fredericksburg: My favorite part about Fredericksburg is the family base atmosphere. We have lots of great places and things to enjoy as a family, such as the library, pool, trails and, of course, Dairy Days!

Bouska family has been involved with celebration for years

GRAND DAIRYMAN: FROM 12

Association] board. We have hosted Fun in the Sun [a daycare and pre-school in Fredericksburg] classes on field trips to our dairy farm and had vacation bible study [VBS] campouts overnight on the farm."

They've also been involved in non-dairy activities.

"We have volunteered for our community... our family helped with the Relay for Life team Allens Angels for 10 years, we helped at the community VBS for many years." Laure was also a co-leader of the Sumner-Fredericksburg Lucky Clovers 4-H group for over 10 years.

And those days in early June were particularly busy.

"Our whole family has been involved in Dairy Day over the years...showing calves at the dairy show, leading calves and cows in the parade, working at the music booster food stand, working at the FFA dairy trailer, running the 4-H food stand at the dairy show and both girls ran for dairy princess and Little Miss Squirt."

Bringing up their daughters on a dairy farm was, in Laure's opinion, a big advantage. "Raising the girls and us being our own boss was the best aspect of dairy farming."

The girls — Bridget now resides in Des Moines and Lindsey in Ankeny — may have had an advantage when going into the work field. "They were taught good work ethic and learned a lot being involved in ag. Bridget works for the DNR water quality bureau and knew all the terms they used and Lindsey is a food scientist for HyVee. She got involved in that in FFA in high school."

While Daryl and Laure still crop farm corn, soybeans and alfalfa and have a few steers, they will be able to enjoy the upcoming festivities.

"We are looking forward to the parade, the fireworks, meeting up with old friends who come back to Dairy Day and are excited for the new ideas the Dairy Day board has for this year's celebration," said Laure. "We're happy the tradition continues for other families and are honored to be a part of the fun this year."

We'd like to thank you for everything you do, the hours that you put in, & the dedication you bring to the Dairy Industry.

Schmitt, Franzen compete in state-qualifying meets

Turkey Valley senior Tess Franzen closed out her high school career in the Class 1A Regional Final meet held on Wednesday, May 18 at Town & Country Club in Grundy Center. Franzen finished with a 122.

“Her subpar performance does not take away from all her stellar accomplishments over the course of her high school eligibility,” said TV head coach John Reicks.

Trojan sophomore Oliver Schmitt tied for 43rd place out of 69 golfers at the district meet held on Tuesday, May 17 at Pheasant Ridge Golf Course in Cedar Falls with a 95.

“Outside of a couple of wayward tee shots and two tricky four-putt greens, he really did a nice job of maintaining his composure in a stressful environment,” said Reicks.

TV takes on tough competition to start 2022

By KELLY TERPSTRA sports@nhtrib.com

It's usually just a matter of time before victories start coming down the shoot if baseball teams pitch and field well.

Once the Turkey Valley Trojans' bats heat up, those victories should start piling up for Dan Stepan's nine.

“We gotta find a way to do all three phases,” said Stepan. “We were really good in two today. We pitched well and played good defense. Then the bats came late. You do that early, then that puts on the pressure.”

Turkey Valley polished off a busy week at the New Hampton Invite on Saturday afternoon. While the Trojans haven't garnered a win yet in five tries, TV was competitive against some top-notch teams in its first week of play to start 2022.

Turkey Valley (0-5) struck first with a run in the first inning of Game 1 over the weekend against host and area rival New Hampton. Then the Chickasaws plated six runs in the bottom half of the inning to roll to a 9-3 triumph. TV also plated a run in the top of the opening frame against Class 4A's Waterloo East on Saturday. TV's rally in the seventh fell short, though, as the same-named Trojans won 6-4.

Trojan sophomore hurler Russell Nieman came into pitch against the Chickasaws and allowed four earned runs and six hits to the 2021 state tournament team in five-plus innings of work.

“He threw well. He kept them off-balance. He threw a lot of pitches, He's got the capability. He's still a pup,” said

Kelly Terpstra/Tribune

Turkey Valley's Calvin Bodensteiner slides back to first at the New Hampton Invite on Saturday.

Stepan. “That was good to see. That's what we're looking for – guys that can keep people off-balance.”

TV opened the season at top-ranked Kee High last week Tuesday. The defending state runner-up in Class 1A topped TV by scores of 6-0 and 7-3. Then a quality North Fayette Valley squad rallied back from a 6-0 deficit to TV in the Trojans' third game of the season on Thursday, May 26 to win going away, 18-8.

“We were up 6-0 and they rattle off 17 hits over the last four innings. They just raked everything that day,” said Stepan. “We threw strikes, so we weren't super disappointed with that. That's not going to happen everyday.”

Against Waterloo East five different Trojans had two hits apiece in Noah Hanson, Carson Busta, Dylan Reicks, Oliver Schmitt and Garrett Dietzenbach.

NOTICE OF HEARING BEFORE THE BOARD OF ADJUSTMENT OF THE CITY OF NEW HAMPTON, IOWA IN THE MATTER OF THE VARIANCE APPLICATION OF KIMBERLY K. VOSS TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

You are hereby notified that the Board of Adjustment of the City of New Hampton, Iowa, will hold a public hearing at 5:30 p.m. on the 6th day of June, 2022 in the City Hall of the City of New Hampton, Iowa, in the matter of the appeal of Kimberly K. Voss from the denial of her application for the issuance of a building permit for a variance for a reduction in rear yard and side yard setback in order to place a 12 x 16 storage shed on the property. The property is located at 265 South Broadway Avenue, and is legally described as follows:

Commencing at the Southeast Corner of Lot 34 of the Irregular Survey of the Southeast Quarter of the Southeast Quarter of Section 12, Township 95 North, Range 13 West of the 5th P.M. in the City of New Hampton, Iowa thence West 132 feet, thence North 77 feet, thence East 132 feet, thence South 77 feet to the point of beginning. Subject to easements, restrictions, covenants, ordinances, and limited access provisions of record.

This request for a building permit was denied because it does not meet the rear yard and side yard setback requirements under the zoning ordinance. This appeal is a request for a variance from the provisions of the zoning ordinance of the City of New Hampton.

You are, therefore, notified that the hearing will be before the Board of Adjustment at the time, date, and place set forth above and that you may appear and make known to the Board any objections that you have to granting the requested variance from the terms of the zoning ordinance of the City of New Hampton, Iowa.

for third.

Meanwhile, Kayla Holschlag continued her standout shoot- ing — winning the overall girls title in three of last week's four meets. The senior finished with a 97 in the meet against South Winneshiek to beat teammate Josie Fuerstenberg by three shots. Two days later, Holschlag's 91 edged fellow Chickasaw Tori Bearman by a shot, and on Memorial Day, Holschlag fired an 87 in the wind to win the girls title by seven shots over Bearman.

New Hampton's squads also had a solid final week of the regular season.

Red led a sweep of the top four places against South Winneshiek and then won a meet against Waverly-Shell Rock by two shots over the Go-Hawks' Black Squad.

New Hampton will shoot at the Cedar Falls Gun Club next Friday and then return to the Cedar Valley on Sunday for any shootoffs and the awards ceremony that will also include the announcement of the final E-League standings.

The last meet that E-League scores can be used was the Charles City meet that was held on Monday.

Chickasaws battle before taking second

NH GIRLS GOLF: FROM 20

That 18-stroke swing was aided by the fantastic play of freshman phenom Chloe Bolte – who earned meet medalist honors for the Cougars. “That’s them coming out and playing really good,” said Olson, who has guided New Hampton to five-straight state meets. Bolte outlasted Waterloo Columbus’ Molly Fereday in a sudden-death playoff to break the individual medalist tie. Each golfer scored a two-day total of 149. Bolte parred and Fereday, a senior, bogeyed on the sudden-death playoff Hole No. 18 – which was chosen in advance. Bolte eagled her second-to-last hole on Friday – No. 17. “Chloe – they’re number 1 – she’s a hammer,” said Olson. “To their credit – Sumner-Fred won it. We didn’t lose it. They won it. They went out and flipped the script.” Needless to say, it was a banner day for Chickasaw County – where each school resides. Northeast Iowa represented well as Dike-New Hartford placed third in the team standings with a 730. New Hampton – which now sports three state runner-up finishes in school history – carded a final total of 712 and was led by senior Sanja Noehl’s 171. “We said if you got right around 700, that was gonna win it. They’re right around 700,” said Olson. “That’s what they needed to do. We battled, we played hard. I’m proud of all six of them. They persevered. It wasn’t the result we wanted, but there’s 78 other teams that would trade places with us right now.” Noehl played on three NH state teams and was a freshman on the NH squad that won it all in 2019. She fired an 85 on Thursday and finished off her last prep golf match on Friday with an 86. She just missed out on becoming a back-to-back all-stater as she tied for 11th place individually. “I’m not disappointed at all,” said Noehl. “I think that we fought really hard and remained pretty consistent.” To put in perspective what the Chickasaws have accomplished over the course of the last seven seasons – not counting the COVID 2020 season that was wiped out – makes it fairly easy to discern that New Hampton has been one of the best teams in the state – regardless of class. Rewind to when Olson first took over the program over a decade ago and the bar has since been raised substantially. “Ten years ago where the program was, they weren’t even thinking about going to state. They were trying to not finish last in conference,” said Olson. “The expectation now is this is where your season ends at the state tournament.” The temperature was almost pristine golf weather on Friday – sunny and in the low 70s with little to no breeze. That was in stark contrast to Thursday’s first round-play, which featured temps in the 50s with an overcast sky. That meant the greens dried up and chip shots that stuck on Thursday, were rolling off on Friday and making for more challenging shots. “The greens were faster today. It’s the same for everybody,” said Olson. “Maybe a little bit of our youth came out in facing adversity and trying to fight through it.” NH junior Lydia Olson, one of just two varsity returnees from a season ago along with Noehl – tied with Chickasaw freshman Lauren Nuss for 14th place. Each finished their round on Friday with a collective two-day total of 173. “People would kill to be in our position,” said Lydia Olson. “There’s so many teams that would want to be where we’re at, so there’s no reason really to hang our head. Second in the state – put that in perspective. You’re second in the whole entire state.” Kinsli Dahl, a sophomore, carded a 198. Chickasaw freshman Maycen Hackman (203) and sophomore Molly Wegner (218) were New Hampton’s remaining scores. S-F placed second overall at a triangular held at the New Hampton Country Club in early May. The Cougars shot a 380 – 22 strokes back of New Hampton’s first place total of 358. Different course, different day. “We had four girls that had little or no varsity golf experience. We got second in the state,” said Olson. “We were probably a little tight today. That just comes with experience. Sanja was as loose as I’ve seen her.” S-F senior Morgan Brandt carded an 85 on her final round 18-hole score on Friday. Her two-day total ended up being 178 as she came into the clubhouse with a 93 on Day 1. Brandt recorded a 114 in 18 holes of play at the New Hampton triangular. “The Sumner-Fred girls made every shot they needed to make today to win,” said Olson. “That’s to their credit. We didn’t play as good as we played yesterday.” NH’s lone senior was Noehl. Outside of Noehl’s graduation, the Chickasaws will return their entire roster next season in an effort to get back to state once more for a sixth-consecutive time and bring home state title No. 2. “Obviously it’s going to be incredibly difficult to replace Sanja,” said Olson. TEAM SCORES Sumner-Fredericksburg 357-346-703, New Hampton 348-364-712, Dike-New Hartford 370-360-730, Williamsburg 361-376-737, Roland-Story 368-379-747, Van Meter 372-385-757, Treynor 382-380-762, Garner-Hayfield-Ventura 391-391-782, Anamosa 394-398-792, Mid-Prairie 403-392-795. Medalist - Chloe Botle, Sumner-Fredericksburg 75-74-149 (won one-hole playoff over Molly Fereday (Waterloo Columbus) 73-76-149). New Hampton scores – T11. Sanja Noehl 85-86-171, T14. Lauren Nuss 85-88-173, T14. Lydia Olson 82-91-173, T36. Kinsli Dahl 99-99-198, 42. Maycen Hackman 96-107-203, T61. 105-113-218.

NH takes on CC tonight in suspended doubleheader

that led to East unearned runs. “You gotta start strong and you gotta make the plays right out of the gate,” said New Hampton senior Mason Lane. “In previous games we’ve worked past those when we’ve had one. It’s not a big deal. I don’t know if we just hung our head a bit on a couple or what the deal was? That’s definitely not our team. That’s not normal.” Lane, in his first action of the season on the hill, pitched well enough to win in his five innings of work despite surrendering eight runs – most of them unearned. “We’re very happy with what we saw with Mason. He’s going to be another strong arm for us on a team that has some really solid pitchers,” said McDonald. Lane – one of just two seniors for McDonald’s squad alongside Drake Wemark – talked about the task at hand in 2022. That’s getting back to Carroll. “We’re ready to put our heads down and work. All of us want to win and keep winning,” said Lane. “This first week’s been fun. It’s been a blast.” New Hampton banged out 14 hits against NFV last Friday. NH sophomore Braden McShane blasted a home run, doubled and scored four runs. Lane also collected three hits like McShane in the blowout victory and scored four runs. New Hampton scored six runs in the first inning versus Turkey Valley after the Trojans had staked claim to an early 1-0 lead. McDonald used three pitchers in the game – freshmen Jaxon Eckley and Tate Schwickerath, to go along with sophomore Ty Robinson. “That was a good solid win. We used multiple pitchers in that first game and it worked out really well,” said McDonald. “We saw a lot of things – pitching-staff wise – this past week that are really promising and that we’re excited about.” East and NH had to deal with a 40-mile-an-hour wind on Saturday. That meant catching popups or chasing down balls in the outfield was an adventure. Several batted balls by New Hampton that would have dropped on the grass of the outfield were either caught or blown foul. “A lot of those fly balls hit a wall up top,” said Lane. “On a calm day those are probably one to two-hopping the fence.” New Hampton sophomore Kael Meyers roped a home run in last week Tuesday’s 12-2 offensive onslaught of A-P. McShane looked superb on the hill in the opener versus Charles City. He fanned 10 and did not walk a batter. Wemark came into the seventh to relieve McShane and was able to lock the game down for the save. Lane had this to say about the start to the season after the East setback. “We’ve had the start we pretty much expected. About the only thing we can say about this one (East game) is we didn’t come into it like we should of,” said Lane. “About the only thing we can do is squash it and keep doing what we’ve been doing – making plays, pitching strikes, hittin’ and scoring runs.” NH BASEBALL: FROM 20 AP 101 000 0 - 2 NH 073 020 x - 12 Pitching - Gannon Shekleton 4 2/3 IP, 3 H, 2 R, 1 ER, 7 BB, 7 K, Drake Wemark 1/3 IP, 0 H, 0 R, 0 ER, 0 BB, 1 K. 2B - Wemark, Aiden Roberson. RAA-Running annual average IDSE-Initial Distribution System Evaluation SGL-Single Sample Result TCR-Total Coliform Rule GENERAL INFORMATION Drinking water, including bottled water, may reasonably be expected to contain at least small amounts of some contaminants. The presence of contaminants does not necessarily indicate that water posed a health risk. More information about contaminants or potential health effects can be obtained by calling the Environmental Protection Agency’s Safe Drinking Water Hotline (800) 426-4791 Some people may be more vulnerable to contaminants in drinking water than the general population. Immuno-compromised persons such as persons with cancer undergoing chemotherapy, persons who have undergone organ transplants, people with HIV/AIDS or other innnue system disorders, some elderly, and infants can be particularly at risk from infections. These people should seek advice about drinking water from their health care providers. EPA/CDC guidelines on appropriate means to lessen the risk of infection by Cryptosporidium and other microbial contaminants are available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline (800) 426-4791 The City of New Hampton obtains its water from the Cambrian-Ordovician aquifer. The aquifer was determined to be low susceptibility to contamination because the characteristics of the aquifer and overlying materials prevent easy access of contamination to the aquifer. The City wells will not be susceptible to most contamination sources except through pathways to the aquifer such as abandoned or poorly maintained wells. A detailed evaluation of your source water was completed by the DNR and is available from City Hall at 641-394-5906. 112 E. Spring ST. New Hampton 50659 Violations NONE Customers with questions or concerns about the sample or other water problems, should contact Jerry Heying Water Supt. At 641-394-4894 OTHER INFORMATION Infants and young children are typically more vulnerable to lead in drinking water than the general population. It is possible that lead levels at your home may be higher than at other homes in the community as a result of materials used in your homes plumbing. If you are concerned about elevated lead levels in your homes water, you may wish to have your water tested and flush your tap for 30 sec. to 2 minutes before using the tap water. Additional information is available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline(800-426-4791) CONTACT INFORMATION A copy of the 2021 CCR report may be picked up at City Hall between the hours of 7 AM to 5PM daily Monday thru Friday. For questions regarding this information, please contact: Jerry Heying at 394-4894 during the following hours: 7am-4pm Monday thru Friday weekly. Decisions regarding the water system are made at the Council meetings held on The first and third Monday of the month at 7 p.m. at City Hall at 112 East Spring Street and are open to the public. We are proud that our drinking water meets or exceeds all Federal and State requirements. We have learned that our monitoring and testing has detected some constituents. The EPA has determined that your drinking water is safe to drink at these levels.

TV trapshooting coach hoping for best as state meet nears

Trojans concluded regular season Saturday

By DOROTHY HUBER
dorhubernews@gmail.com

The final regular season meets are in the book for Turkey Valley's trapshooting squad, as they finished with a meet against South Winn Thursday and went to the South Winn invitational Saturday.

Now is the wait for state week, which starts June 7. The seventh and eighth graders, who have been giving the varsity a run for their money as of late — TV Pink shot a 223 to win the intermediate division of the South Winn invite — will compete Tuesday and Wednesday, June 7 and 8. Thursday is the start of doubles and handicap, with the 200 shoot day for the Trojans on Sunday.

"There's more kids than ever out for trapshooting so they had to add an extra day," said coach Kurt Klimesh. "Our kids shoot on Tuesday and if they do well they'll have to go back on Wednesday so we hope we'll have to go back. That eighth grade squad, there's not many tournaments they didn't win."

As far as the varsity shooters last week, well, Klimesh was hoping for better. "If they're saving it for state, I'll be happy," he said. "I know they can shoot good, they just have to do it."

Brady Barta with a 48 and Tanner Tlusty's 47 were among the top scores Thursday. They were on a TV Red squad that shot well but were one athlete short as Klimesh had a last-minute cancellation.

"That was probably the best they shot together as a team all season, it was just too late to go into the system and sub in another kid."

Hailey Elsbernd's 42 and a 41 by both Ashley Fischer and Cadyn Huber were the best girls' scores on yet another windy and cold day for the Trojans.

The Trojans were blanked of top honors at the South Winn invite — held at Boyd — as a 233 by a Charles City squad topped the competition, well above TV Red's 213.

Chickasaws' offense starts season strong

NH SOFTBALL: FROM 19

Mason City in the first inning. Russler, a junior, amassed three runs knocked in.

New Hampton senior third baseman Chloe Reicherts also collected two hits in the season opener versus the Bulldogs and senior designated hitter Abigail Holschlag tripled.

"Being positive and confident when you walk up to the batter's box is a big deal and gets you thinking in the right way. I just want the girls to continue to be aggressive when it comes to hitting, but also be smart at the same time," said Hofmeister.

Hailee Pesek, a sophomore, is still trying to find her mark inside the pitcher's circle. Pesek, an all-state performer in track and field, encountered a wild spell against MFL as she walked 14 batters. She only surrendered 2 hits in three-plus innings of work.

"Hailee hasn't been able to pitch as often as some of the girls. She's still finding her groove, but I'm very confident in her and I know she'll come around and be more consistent. Even after an inning like we had, all of the girls stayed the course and remained positive," said Hofmeister.

New Hampton wins wild one in debut before falling on the road to Mason City

By KELLY TERPSTRA
sports@nhtrib.com

First-year head New Hampton softball coach Tate Hofmeister wants his Chickasaws to respect their opponents, but fear no one.

That confident approach, coupled with a positive mindset, should reel in quite a few victories this season for Hofmeister and his Northeast Iowa squad that is looking to make a statement this season.

One thing is for certain through just two games this season for the Chickasaws – hitting the ball should not be a problem.

New Hampton opened the season last week Tuesday at home with a wild 11-9 win over MFL-Mar-Mac. Then the Mason City Mohawks were able to pile on the runs in New Hampton’s first road game of the season last Friday. The Mohawks ended up winning that non-conference battle, 14-2.

“One of the main things that I’ve been telling the girls this year is to always try and stay positive and keep your head up no matter what happens,” said Hofmeister.

Chickasaw all-state first baseman Ali Russler and all-conference sophomore shortstop Jenna Heeren led the way in the hitting department for New Hampton. Heeren and Russler each rapped out two hits apiece in the MFL contest and ripped back-to-back solo homers over the fence against

Trojans give Decorah a battle before falling

By KELLY TERPSTRA
sports@nhtrib.com

You can’t say Turkey Valley and Decorah don’t have a flair for the dramatic the last two times the teams have squared off.

The problem this go-round was that didn’t work in the Trojans’ favor last week Thursday.

Decorah scored a pair of runs in the bottom of the seventh inning to stun Junior Hackman’s softball squad in walk-off fashion in a non-conference area softball clash. The Vikings won the contest, 4-3, after managing three hits in the final inning – the last two coming with two outs.

“We just couldn’t get to them,” said Hackman.

This exciting contest comes just a year removed from when Trojan Jalyssa Blazek ripped a walk-off home run in the 10th inning to beat the Vikings last year by a score of 5-4.

“Yes, they got us this year. They are a good program and I always expect good competition from them,” Hackman added.

TV senior hurler Josie Weber struck out six and walked two inside the circle. She was one of four Trojans that got a hit against Decorah. The other batters who reached base via single for TV were Kara Reicks, Aubrey Hoffert and Olivia Drilling. Drilling also knocked in a run.

“It was a good softball game. We put together a couple hits with a couple walks to score two runs in the top of the first. We added another run in the fifth without a hit due to some aggressive base running from Kara,” said Hackman.

TV does not play until Monday, June 6 in a doubleheader at MFL-Mar-Mac. That means a week with no game for the Trojans.

“Up until last week we thought we were playing in the NFV Tournament this Friday and Saturday. It’s not ideal, but we’ll have a couple intra-squad scrimmages and make do,” said Hackman.

New Hampton shooters aim for state

Chickasaws wrap up regular season with busy week on the range

By BOB FENSKE

Now comes the rest period, and members of the New Hampton trapshooting squad might be able to use it.

The Chickasaws ended their regular season with a flurry of shooting with three 100-round shoots and one 50-round invitational this past week, but New Hampton’s coaching staff believes its team is ready for the state trapshooting tournament that begins next Friday in Cedar Falls.

“Shooting a 100 is good for our kids,” New Hampton coach Jay Matthews said earlier this season, “because it really does get them ready for state. You’re going to shoot two 100-shot rounds in the same day there so we don’t shy away from having regular season meets like these. Shooting a hundred, it’s mentally and, yes, physically taxing so the more experience we get with them, the better.”

And New Hampton had plenty of highlights during the final week of the regular season. Start with Layne Nehl, who fired a perfect 100 in a meet against South Winneshiek last week, which was good enough for a one-shot victory over teammate Ethan Swehla. Two more Chickasaws — Gavin Rings and Nick Brincks — finished with 97s to finish in a tie

Chickasaws' run falls just short

Sumner-Fredericksburg rallies to top New Hampton at state girls golf meet

BY KELLY TERPSTRA
sports@nhtrib.com

There aren't many teams, if any, that have done what the New Hampton Chickasaws have been able to accomplish on the biggest stage possible over the course of the last seven seasons.

It almost boggles the mind. Eric Olson and his talented New Hampton girls golf squad once again earned some serious hardware that they brought back to Chickasaw County after a state-runner-up finish at Pheasant Ridge Golf Course in Cedar Falls on Friday.

New Hampton — gunning for its second state title in the last three seasons — fell short of its ultimate goal as nearby Sumner-Fredericksburg rallied on the second day at the Class 2A state meet to claim its second state title in school history.

The Cougars, whose school is just a 35-minute drive southeast from New Hampton — cut into New Hampton's nine-stroke lead after day one to finish with a 36-hole total of 703 to best the Chickasaws by nine strokes.

"Our girls persevered. We had some rough holes. We had some down looks. They all kind of rallied and kept it together," said Olson. "It gave us a chance."

Chickasaws get first NEIC baseball win before storms arrive

New Hampton goes 3-1 in non-league tilts before beginning conference play

BY KELLY TERPSTRA
sports@nhtrib.com

The winding road back to Carroll can be a treacherous path for squads that look to play at state later this summer.

There's often safe passages and periodic pit stops along the way that can strengthen or derail a team's quest to be considered one of the best in Iowa.

New Hampton navigated that rough and rocky route last year after a tremendous run allowed the Chickasaws to travel out west to play in Carroll — the new site of the Class 2A State Tournament.

Cory McDonald and his Chickasaw nine are off to a good start so far in 2022.

After Monday's Memorial Day 3-1 victory over Charles City, New Hampton improved to 5-1 overall. The conclusion to the NEIC doubleheader opener was halted because of lightning in the fourth inning and New Hampton up 2-0. The suspended nightcap of the twinbill versus the Comets will be completed tonight (Thursday). That's after NH hosted Crestwood in a doubleheader this past Tuesday.

The Chickasaws' lone blemish so far? That would be a 9-0 setback at the hands of Waterloo East and Trojan ace pitcher Justin Thomas in the finale of the New Hampton Invite on Saturday afternoon. NH won the first game of the invite over Turkey Valley, 9-3.

"I'm very happy about where we're at. If you look past this game (Waterloo East)...our first game was errorless. Our second game we had one error. The second game after that I think we just had another one-error game," said McDonald. "I think we're solid defensively. Obviously, we had a bad game defensively. That's not us. I focus on that we're 4-1."

Thomas handcuffed New Hampton as he tossed a three-hit shutout and struck out nine. The East junior was able to slow down a New Hampton squad that averaged over 11 runs a contest in its first four victories over Clayton Ridge, Aplington-Parkersburg, North Fayette Valley and TV.

"We faced a good pitcher. Credit to him," said McDonald about Thomas.

While New Hampton's bats went silent, the Chickasaws defense uncharacteristically committed several errors
