Supervisors get 28E rough draft

Proposal would give county, cities ways to opt out of publicly-owned ambulance

By BOB FENSKE
editor@nhtrib.com

Chickasaw County Attorney David Laudner wanted to make one thing abundantly clear Monday morning before he presented his rough draft of what 28E agreements dealing with a publicly-owned ambulance service with each of the county's cities would look like.

In short, Laudner said that ultimately, the final decision will rest with the five members of the Board of Supervisors.

"The public perception might be that I'm putting my finger on the scale here, and I'm trying not to do that," Laudner said before presenting a two-page summary of the 10-page 28E rough draft to the supervisors. "My opinion is this is a public policy question ... and I think that's up to you guys to decide, not for me to decide. ... My only job is to help you figure out the legal part of it and to put together the contract however you guys see fit."

His rough draft — or as he called it "skeleton sketch" — covered a variety of issues. They ranged from the length of the agreement to how much each city would initially pay the county to the financial risks for both the county and cities to the adjustment to payment amounts to how a city or the county could "terminate" the agreement during its initial term.

Start with the length of the agreement, which Laudner's draft has set at five years, and the payments each city would have to make during 2023. Those payments were based on a $1.2

million budget — the amount of expenses a consultant hired by the Ambulance Council said a publicly-owned ambulance service would

Linda Koeningsfeld wanted to make one thing perfectly clear as she the Freedom Strippers chapter members gave her talk about Quilts of Valor during a ceremony in which 18 veterans received awards.

Yes, awards.
"It is not a charity quilt. ... It is not a birthday present or a Christmas gift," she said. "It is an award ... for your service, for what you did to defend our country."

And that's the point of every single Quilts of Valor ceremony, the latest of which took place on a beautiful — albeit windy — summer day at Mikkelson Park on Sunday afternoon.

Patrick Dirks and his fellow employees at the Chickasaw County ISU Extension office have had a busy couple of weeks; after all, they're in the process of moving offices from downtown New Hampton to the old Farm Bureau building on West Milwaukee Street.

And, oh yeah, the Chickasaw County 4-H and FFA Achievement Show starts next week.

One of the new events at Nashua's Water Over the Dam Days this year was a unique "family friendly" triathlon, which included bikers riding through Cedar View Park last Friday evening.

Addition to Nashua's biggest party is big hit

Participants say they have a blast at Water Over the Dam Days 'family-friendly' triathlon

By LYDIA GESSNER
Of the Tribune

Families, friends and local residents lined the shore of Cedar Lake, shouting encouragement, lifting a poster and pointing the way, as bike riders came down their final stretch where kayakers awaited.

Those in bike helmets helped their teammates push off, or got ready to row on their own, after carrying colorful kayakers down the sandy hill to the beach. The silver blue lake shimmered as paddles broke the surface of the water.

Sarah Sudol looked out at the dots of kayakers spread out across the horizon, and explained what first ignited the idea for a Water Over the Dam Days Triathlon.

Sudol and her cousins, Brittany Theilen and Nikki Stumme, came up with the idea when watching a similar triathlon at the festival in Fairbanks, Iowa last year.

Volunteers seek Quilts of Valor nominations

QUILTS OF VALOR: FROM 1

“When we were holding the quilts up there, I was a little afraid that we’d blow right away with the quilt,” said Freedom Strippers member Linda Kapler, who added with a laugh, “and for a minute or two I thought we might have a Mary Poppins moment. But it all worked out, and we’re always appreciative of the support we’ve received.”

During her talk, Koeningsfeld talked about the history of the Quilt of Valor program and pointed out that the mission of the program remains the same almost 20 years after it was founded in 2003.

“We want these quilts to represent healing and a comfort to those who have done so much for our freedoms,” she said.

Koeningsfeld said that each veteran receives only one quilt and that it should never have to be bought and that it should never be sold.

The local chapter, meanwhile, has awarded hundreds of quilts — Kapler said since 2017, for example, Freedom Strippers has handed out more than 300 quilts — to veterans.

And Kapler said that the group’s volunteers are always looking for nominations of veterans that have yet to receive a Quilt of Valor.

Those that know a veteran that has not received a quilt can fill out nomination forms that are available at Quilter’s Window and Addicted 2 Stichin’ or they can contact any Quilt of Valor volunteer by calling Linda Kapler at 641-330-6661.

The veterans who received a Quilt of Valor on Sunday included:

- Army Sgt. Marvin Schumacher.
- Navy Sr. Chief Quartermaster Irvin Nystel.
- Army Staff Sgt. Tom Cronin.
- Navy E4 Frank Peters.
- Navy RM 3rd Class Tom

Government, Tribune offices closed, but pool will be open on the Fourth

The Chickasaw County Courthouse, other county offices and New Hampton City Hall will be closed this coming Monday in observance of the Independence Day holiday.

The county’s Board of Supervisors and area city councils, including New Hampton’s, that normally meet on the first Monday of the month will meet on Tuesday night.

The New Hampton Municipal Pool, though, will be open on Monday with adult swim from noon to 1:30 p.m. and open swimming from 1:30 to 5 p.m., although the pool is scheduled to be closed on Sunday because of a lack of lifeguards.

The Tribune’s office will also be closed on Monday for the holiday, but those who need immediate assistance can email editor@nhtrib.com, and Editor Bob Fenske will respond as soon as possible.

New Horizons-Chamber has temporary summer hours in place

With the departure of New Horizons-Chamber Director Jason Speltz, the organization has new temporary office hours this summer.

The office located at 15 W. Main St., will be open on Mondays and Tuesdays from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. and Wednesdays and Thursdays from 8 a.m. to noon. The office will be closed on Fridays.

Speltz resigned earlier this month, and Chamber officials say they are actively looking for his replacement.

Life is so much brighter when we FOCUS On what truly matters!

The family of the late Flo Thronsdon gathers for a group photo during a picnic this past Saturday to celebrate the 10th anniversary of Project Flo.

It's hope that makes Project Flo special

The Facebook post says it all when it comes to Project Flo. 10 years flies by in a blink of an eye! 19,105 volunteer hours 55 days 455 gallons of paint Over 7,000 shingles. Our favorite part is this here. Family, friends, fellowship and fun!

As I drove through Mikkelson Park Saturday evening and saw the Thronsdon family celebrating 10 years of goodness, I'll be honest, a few tears welled up in the old man's eyes.

Three words came to my mind. What a legacy. I'm one of several reporters who have documented the work Project Flo has completed over the past 10 years, and every time I go to a "job site," I am struck by the same thought. This is one heck of a family.

The children and grandchildren of Florence "Flo" Thronsdon have done well, not only remembering their mother, grandmother, aunt, great aunt and more but doing so in a meaningful way.

Her kids — who aren't kids anymore but instead are grandparents themselves — began the non-profit in 2012, a year after their mother had passed away at the age of 82.

Bob Fenske has been the editor of the New Hampton Tribune since 2009, and he can be reached by email at editor@nhtrib.com.

Flo lived a remarkable life, one in which she and her husband, Irvin, raised 15 children, which is an accomplishment in itself, don't you think, but what made her life so special are these words from her obituary: "She opened her heart and home to many others, young and old."

The obituary goes on to say that Flo "was an inspiration and perfect example of God's love for her children and grandchildren."

And they have followed that example exceedingly well.

The Project Flo website tells us what the Thronsdons learned from the family matriarch.

- All good things come from God.
- God has entrusted each person with unique gifts.
- We are stewards of the gifts during our lifetimes.
- A faithful steward honors God by sharing the gifts with others.
- We are to share the gifts entrusted to us through a life of Christian service to all.

So to honor Flo, one week a year they gather together and go to work. As the website puts it, they do so "to serve others in a meaningful way." Project Flo invites others to "share the gifts to them through service to others."

After all, Flo — even for those who never had the chance to meet her — taught us that "all contributions are equally important."

Over the past 10 years, Project Flo has painted, caulked, installed replacement windows, laid new or enhanced flooring, provided general cleanup, installed drywall, remodeled bathrooms, repaired floors, replaced cabinets and done general repairs at homes throughout our area.

I wish I had met Flo, I really do, because remarkable doesn't seem to do her justice. She must have been an amazing woman to inspire her family and her friends to do the things they have done over the course of the last decade.

For 10 years, Project Flo has improved communities by restoring homes and building hope.

This old reporter's favorite word in the English language may be the last word in that previous sentence.

Hope. At times, I know, it is a wildly misunderstood word because the definition of it, according to my dictionary, is "the feeling that what is wanted can be had or that events will turn out for the best."

For hope to become reality, though, takes work. You can't just "feel" something into being. The world doesn't work that way, but I think hope is the one thing all of us need no matter how good or bad our life is.

There is a line from one of my favorite movies, "The Shawshank Redemption," in which Andy Dufrense tells his friend, Red, that "hope is a good thing, maybe the best of things and no good thing ever dies."

Maybe that's why I feel such an affinity for Project Flo. More than anything, it's about hope.

So happy birthday, Project Flo, and thanks for reminding all of us that hope is the best of things.

know," said Dirks, who serves as the county's youth coordinator, "and obviously, the timing isn't great but at the same time, we've had a great amount of support from everyone in the community and we're ready for the show."

That's good, because it kicks off a six-day run beginning Tuesday at the Big 4 Fairgrounds in Nashua, where the annual static — i.e., non-livestock projects that range from photographs to sewing to cooking to woodworking projects to more — judging takes place between 4 and 7 p.m.

But for Dirks, the annual 4-H and FFA Achievement Show is a chance to shine the spotlight on the youth of the county.

"What makes the fair special is that it gives kids lifelong skills," he said. "There's nothing like watching the progress these kids make from the first time they bring a project to the fair to the last time they're going to. The confidence, the work ethic, the talent ... to me, that's what we should be celebrating at the fair."

Fair officials, meanwhile, are excited to offer some new items to this year's Achievement Show. They range from hav-

I said this last year, but we want people to see what our kids are doing and how much work they put into their projects. For people who haven't been here before, I think they're going to be really surprised at just what our kids do."

The crowning of the fair queen on Saturday, July 9, will once again be a part of a "fun night" that will include the Family BBQ put on by the Chickasaw County Cattlemen's Association. Tickets for the BBQ are $7.50 and available from the Extension Office or any 4-H member or leader.

"We don't want this to be just a 4-H and FFA event," Dirks said. "We want our whole county to be part of what I think is a really good celebration of our kids, their animals and their projects. So please, come out. Enjoy it."

on Saturday evening after the crowning of the Chickasaw County Fair Queen.

The importance of letters

Peter's letters overflow with blessings for the followers of Jesus

*“Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ! According to his great mercy, He has caused us to be born again to a living hope through the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, to an inheritance that is imperishable, undefiled, and unfading,
kept in heaven for you,
who by God’s power are being guarded through faith for a salvation ready to be revealed in the last time.” (1 Peter 1:3-5)*

Years ago as a college student, I took a course on 1st and 2nd Peter from our chaplain at Waldorf College. The first five or six class sessions were discussions of the above three verses of 1 Peter, chapter 3.

At the time many of us in the class were wondering if we were ever going to move on to the rest of the chapters of the two letters from Peter. As we did, I found out that there is a lot of “meat” in the letters.

You can feel the joyful confidence brimming from St. Peter’s words, from the heart of a man who knows Jesus.

He was there when Jesus conducted His earthly ministry. He was there during the events of Holy Week, feeling the shame of his own weakness under pressure, even as his Lord passed the test. He was there on the first day of the week as a witness of Jesus’ resurrection. He heard Jesus’ words of forgiveness for his denial and his reinstatement in the days that followed – “Feed my sheep...”
“Follow me” (John 21:17, 19).

He saw King Jesus ascend into glory. And Peter was there when the Holy Spirit descended on the apostles and empowered them to be Jesus’ witnesses (Acts

2).

Peter, by the power of the Spirit and from personal experience, knows with certainty how good Jesus is, and he is brimming with hope.

And he writes to encourage hope in Jesus’ church, wherever it might be found. We see what it looks like to live with joy-filled confidence, even in difficulty.

We discover what it means to live out our callings as a “royal priesthood” and a “holy nation.” We look at God’s design for families.

And we even touch on God’s plan for the end of time. I invite you to pick up your Bibles this summer and read 1 & 2

Peter.

Together, these letters only comprise eight chapters, but they overflow with blessing for followers of Jesus.

God bless your sum-

seeing you in church

some needed time away
for rest and renewal.

Take steps towards financial freedom

Next week, we observe Independence Day, an opportunity to celebrate all the liberties we enjoy in this country. Of course, there are different types of freedoms – such as financial freedom, which can open the doors to many other opportunities. What steps can you take to gain your financial independence?

Here are a few suggestions:

- Save, invest ... and repeat. There's really no shortcut to achieving financial freedom – you do have to save and invest for many years. And that means you should take full advantage of the opportunities available to you. If you have a 401(k) or similar retirement plan at work, try to put in as much as you can afford each year, and when your salary goes up, increase your contributions. Even if you have a 401(k), you may also be eligible to fund an IRA. Both a 401(k) and an IRA offer tax benefits and an array of investment options, so they are powerful retirement savings vehicles.
- Invest for growth. How much you invest is obviously a key factor in reaching your financial freedom. But how you invest is also important. If you're going to accumulate the resources you need to retire comfortably and meet your other financial goals, you will need to devote a reasonable percentage of your investment dollars to growth-oriented vehicles, including stocks and stock-based mutual funds. Of course, these investments will fluctuate in value, so you'll need to be prepared to accept a certain level of risk. Your individual risk tolerance will help determine how much of your portfolio should be devoted to growth investments.
- Put financial windfalls to work. Whenever you receive a financial windfall, such as a bonus from your employer, a tax refund or even an inheritance, consider putting some of it to work in your investment portfolio. Over time, these windfalls can add up.

- Reduce your debts. It may be easier said than done, but try to reduce, or eliminate, as many debts as you can. The less money you have to pay each month on your debts, the more you'll have available to save and invest. Of course, some debts, such as your mortgage, can't be easily erased, but if you can find ways to cut down on spending, you may be surprised at how much progress you can make toward debt reduction.
- Prepare for the unexpected. Life is unpredictable – and some unforeseen events could threaten your ability to achieve, and maintain, your financial independence. For example, if you were unable to work for a while due to illness or injury, you might be forced to dip into your savings and long-term investments just to help meet your cost of living. You can help protect yourself from this risk by building an emergency fund containing several months' worth of living expenses, with the money kept in a liquid, low-risk account. And you may want to consult with a financial professional to learn about other protection strategies.

It will take a concerted effort to reach your financial independence – but, like all freedoms, it offers immense benefits.

Civil War comes to life in Nashua

By DOROTHY HUBER
dorhubernews@gmail.com

The crew of five gathered around their cannon before the Civil War reenactment at Nashua Sunday. They were laughing and giving each other a hard time, like friends do.

A half-hour later no one was left. They all "died."

An estimated 620,000 men lost their lives in the war, which was roughly two percent of the United States population at that time.

While the actors take their roles seriously, they also approach the reenactments – that group travels to four or five a year – with relish.

"It's like going camping with some of your best friends," said Brandon Franksain of Albert Lea. "It's like a big family reunion every time we get together."

Another man on the cannon crew gave his name, which seemed suspect, but if he was fibbing, he never let on.

"My name is Al Cannon," said the Mason City man. "I'm literally A. Cannon. My wife's name is also Al Cannon."

The cannon the crew was manning actually belonged to his wife.

"I got it for her for a present," said Cannon. "Most women want diamonds, my wife wanted a cannon." The female Cannon, he explained, has been part of the reenactment for years. "She started as a powder monkey when she was nine."

The cannon's name was Sally Ann, and she had a "sister" also on the field – Rebecca Ann.

"You need to name your cannon," said Aaron Hurlbet – who goes by Jingles during the reenactment. "It's just like a boat." They are "sisters" since the replicas were made at the same time.

The battle started with a pair of very loud cannon blasts. Dick Pohorsky knew they were coming, that's why he removed his hearing aids.

"I love it, I've been doing reenactments for 30 years," he said. Which might have something to do with the fact he needs hearing aids.

A history major at UNI, Pohorsky just became a narrator around five years ago, but the facts that came forth during the time the actors were on the field flowed like he had been in the actual battle himself. He is a former commander of the Iowa Sons of Confederate Veterans.

Both the narrator and actors seem addicted to the action, the smell of gunpowder. The cannon crew said they almost always play the role of confederates.

One man in particular took that role to heart.

"We've been Confederates so long, it burns like hell to put on blue."

Teacher gets to keep passion for kids with a Tot Lot summer

By LYDIA GESSNER
Of the Tribune

The wooden picnic tables were covered with craft supplies - paint pallets and paint brushes, pipe cleaners and coffee filters, and plastic jars and decorative foam.

"Are you guys having fun?" Tot Lot Director Amber Junk asked the kids, as her daughter, Kylee, moved between children, offering assistance with different activities.

"It's just fun to see how creative [they are]; if you just give kids materials, just to see what they come up with," Amber said last week, and Kylee later commented on this fact as well.

Nearby, little feet bounded across the grass around the park shelter, searching between blades for any signs of insect life.

"And it's kind of nice, like Tot Lot wise, not to be structured ... like school, and we can kind of just have fun and do ... you know, bug hunts and stuff like that," Amber added.

Amber is a K-4 Literacy Interventionist at the elementary school and her passion for educating and uplifting children extends beyond the classroom. She taking over Tot Lot this summer after long-time director Donna Kramer stepped down.

"I'm a teacher at the school, and kids have always been a passion of mine," Junk said, "and it just was a good opportunity. Something extra to do in the summer, since I have the summers off."

Junk also teaches at Miss Emma's Dance Studio downtown, and said she knows many of the kids in Tot Lot from either school or the studio.

But in this endeavor, she has her daughter, Kylee, who will be turning 15, beside her. This is Kylee's first job, and while she doesn't think she'll go into teaching like her mom, she enjoys being with the kids.

Amber said that it's been fun for them to do Tot Lot together.

"It was a great opportunity for the both of us... to have something to do this summer as well as it's allowing me to teach her work ethics ... She's always been great around kids!"

Amber said her background in teaching has helped her decide how to arrange each session of the morning. She said that the younger kids usually need a little bit more structure than the older kids, but with all three sections of the program she tries to incorporate some of the same elements.

"I just make sure we have like some kinds of hands on activity to do, we do some kind of craft, and some kind of, like with the bugs jars and stuff, I try to do some kind of science. And for the older kids we're going to do some STEM activities," she said.

On Tuesday of last week, the activities included blocks that she set up on a quilt, making a colorful butterfly from a painted coffee filter and pipe cleaners and then decorating the bug jar and using it to collect some insect friends.

The Junks have three Tot Lot sections each morning, Monday through Thursday, that run for an hour a piece starting at 8 a.m. The first is section is first through third grade, the next is TK and kindergarten and the final section is preschool, which is the biggest.

There are two sessions of Tot Lot, with one lasting the first two weeks of June and the other being the last two weeks in June. Families can sign up for one or both of them. Amber said her first session of preschool had 18 kids, but the second has only about 10 to 12 kids.

"... This is a nice number to have for the second group," she said with a laugh.

When it comes to Amber's favorite activity, she said she enjoyed it when they crafted their own "concoctions" of bubbles and made their own bubble blowers the first week of Tot Lot. When asked during last week's heat wave, some of the kids seemed to enjoy the sweet, and cool, treats the best.

Everly Wegner said she has enjoyed "the park and I love to have popsicles." Another child also chimed in and said they enjoyed the popsicles as well.

Between pushing swings, handed out popicles and overseeing craft projects, Amber and Kylee are staying busy through the month of June. But watching creative minds, and sticky fingers, at work, has made some of the best memories for this mother-daughter team.

A session of Water Tots is about to wrap up as instructors lead participants in a few final instructions before it's time to leave.

Friends greeted the family from 4 to 7 p.m. Tuesday, June 28, 2022, at Hugeback-Johnson Funeral Home & Crematory in New Hampton. Visitation continued an hour prior to the service on Wednesday at the church.

Online condolences for the Tierney family may be left at hugebackfuneralhome.com.

Lois was born on April 22, 1941, to Henry and Viola (Vaala) Robinson in New Hampton, and a lifetime of faith began when she was baptized at Jerico Lutheran Church, where she was also later confirmed.

Lois grew up with her older brother Veryl and younger sister Fern on a farm near Jerico and attended country school before completing her education at New Hampton High School, where she was a member of the Class of 1959. As a child, she loved the family vacations that the Robinsons took to Clear Lake each year.

After graduation, she moved to Waterloo, where she worked first at Bishop's Cafe and then at Allen Hospital.

Lois met Joseph "Arnie" Tierney when he was picking up milk from her parents' home, and the two met up again at a dance and the rest is history. They began dating, fell in love and were married on June 3, 1961, at St. Joseph Catholic Church.

The couple settled in New Hampton, and their family grew to include Barb, Brian "Butch", Brenda and Brad, who had a mother who loved them with all of her heart. Oh, Lois could be stubborn and she could be set in her ways — Monday was always "roast night," for example, and when she told you to clean your room, you cleaned it. The Tierney children knew their mom was always there for them.

Lois loved her holidays and enjoyed decorating her home during them. She had a sweet tooth and loved her cookies, pies and ice cream. She and Arnie in their younger days loved to go out dancing, and their home on West Spring Street — where she cooked and he grilled — was the "hub of the neighborhood."

She was also very close to her sister, and Lois and Fern enjoyed many wonderful Saturdays taking day trips and going out to eat. In her later years, she loved her "girls weekends" in Minneapolis and Rochester.

For many years, Lois ran a daycare in her home, and she touched the lives of scores of children over the years. She

Robert ‘Bob’ Ross, 85

Bob Ross

Robert “Bob” Ross, age 85 of Fredericksburg, died Tuesday, June 21, 2022, at MercyOne North Iowa Medical Center in Mason City.

A funeral service was held at 10:30 a.m. Monday, June 27, 2022, at St. Paul’s Lutheran Church in Fredericksburg, with the Rev. Ronnie Koch presiding.

Interment followed at Rose Hill Cemetery in Fredericksburg, with Holly Bousselet, Kory Ross, Kayla Wesdorf, Kari Borchert, Tyler Henn, Brady Henn, Preston Ross, and Lauren Ross serving as pallbearers.

Friends greeted the family from 3 to 6 p.m. on Sunday, June 26, 2022, at Hugelback-Johnson Funeral Home & Crematory in Fredericksburg. Visitation continued an hour prior to the service on Monday at the church.

Online condolences for the Ross family may be left at hugebackfuneralhome.com.

Bob’s life began on Oct. 22, 1936, when his parents, Hans and Elsie (Griesert) Ross welcomed their second of five children to the world in Fredericksburg. Bob grew up on a farm near Fredericksburg, helped his parents on the farm where he learned the value of a great work ethic and attended country school before going to Fredericksburg High School, where he was a standout athlete in baseball and basketball and a member of the Class of 1954.

Major League Baseball scouts liked what they saw in Bob, a lefty pitcher, first baseman and outfielder who had a chance to play professional baseball after graduating, but he was a farmer at heart and decided to work the land and raise livestock.

He was smitten with a young to the old Met Stadium to watch the Minnesota Twins and going fishing with Dad.

Bob loved to snowmobile, play cards and attend his children’s and grandchildren’s events. He was a big fan of both the Chicago Cubs and the Iowa Hawkeyes. He also gave back to his community and church. Bob was the president of the Fredericksburg School Board for a number of years, served on the St. Paul’s Lutheran Church Council, and was a member of the Driftrunners, a local snowmobile club.

His heart, though, belonged to his family and the land he farmed. He loved having the grandchildren visit him on the farm and taking them on tractor rides, and his smile lit up the room when he was with his great-grandchildren.

Bob touched the lives of so many — including his wife of 66 years, his three children, his grandchildren, his “greats” and the rest of his family and friends — and he will be dearly missed by all those who knew him, but the memories he helped create will last a lifetime.

Bob is survived by his wife, Pat Ross of Fredericksburg; two sons, Mark (Chandie) Ross of Bettendorf, and Gary (Diane) Ross of Urbandale; one daughter, Jo (Greg) Henn of Nashua; eight grandchildren; six great-grandchildren; two brothers, Carl Ross of Charles City, and Harold (Sheryl) Ross of Fredericksburg; and one sister, Margaret (Art) Roberts of Dunkerton.

He was preceded in death by his parents; one brother John (Leitha) Ross; one sister-in-law Ann Ross.

Supervisors to let bids on new elevator Aug. 1

SUPERVISORS: FROM 1

Inspiring Lives, a mental-health organization, has leased the property for almost a decade, but when supervisors and the non-profit could not reach a lease agreement earlier this year, Inspiring Lives decided to move out of the facility.

During numerous meetings, supervisors have discussed possible uses for the site that also has served as storage areas for a number of county departments. In recent weeks, several individuals and entities have approached different board members about possibly purchasing the building.

“The cost of the building and the maintenance will kill us,” Supervisor Steve Breitbach said, “and I think it’s in our best interest to sell it.”

At least two other supervisors — Board Chairman Matt Kuhn and Jason Byrne — agreed with Breitbach, and while Supervisor Jake Hackman said he wasn’t necessarily opposed to selling the building and grounds around it, he cautioned his fellow board members that the county would in all likelihood need to either rent another building or construct a new one for storage.

“If you’re going to take $400,000 for it, it might cost us $400,000 to $500,000 to build another building,” Hackman said. “I just want us to understand that.”

Hackman wondered aloud if the county wouldn’t be better served by also selling its other buildings it owns in New Hampton and constructing a “one-stop-shop” for county services.

“It’s an idea, and maybe something we should look at,” he said. “Instead of having these offices all over New Hampton, would it make more sense to have one place for our residents to go?”

Board members didn’t make a final decision on what to do with the Heritage building and grounds, but they said they will study their options and come to a decision in the near future.

Also on Monday, the board moved ahead with replacing the elevator in the Chickasaw County Courthouse.

The board members in May approved paying a little more than $207,000 to replace the aging elevator, but rescinded the motion a month later after County Attorney David Laudner pointed out that because the cost exceeded $100,000, the county was required by state law to go through a bidding process.

On Monday, board members approved the bid documents and specifications for a new elevator and will hold a public hearing and a bid letting on Aug. 1 to complete the project.

News Bits From Our Past

Week of June 26 1947 (75 years ago)
• Earl Drewelow, who operates a turkey ranch near Boyd, suffered a second loss last week during the heavy rainstorm. During the May 23rd snowstorm he lost 200 birds a little less than 3 months old and last week about 100 birds of the same age.

He estimates his loss at about $2.00 per bird. Mr. Drewelow expects to raise at least 8,000 turkeys, as he now has 3,700 in the field to be ready for the market by September 1 and 4,500 in the brooder house for the Thanksgiving market.

• Farmers who have been fortunate enough to sell grain, livestock and other products at current high prices are being reminded of the “boom and bust” which followed World War I and a campaign is on now to encourage them to save their money and invest it safely in United States savings bonds.

1972 (50 years ago)
• National FFA President Tim Burke of New Hampton spent a rare few days last week at the farm home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Burke.

Tim is competing the last few months of his term as president of the 432,000 member organization and has already traveled some 100,000 miles. He has a map that is marked with every city he has visited during his eight months in office. The Iowa FFA also presented Tim with a two foot long gavel.

1997 (25 years ago)
• Turkey Valley’s varsity baseball team carved three more victory notches in their bat handles with superb pitching. Loren Kriener pitched a masterpiece against Wapsie Valley.

He allowed only two hits, he was shooting for a no-hitter until the sixth inning. He struck out 10 batters and walked only three. The Trojans won 7-0. Jerry Winter struck out thirteen batters on his way to his 4-o shutout. Kriener pitched another exceptional game against Riceville. He totaled eight strikeouts before he was relieved in the seventh. Jerry then retired the side with two strikeouts of his own. The Trojans won the battle 1-0.

• The University of Northern Iowa’s athletic department will honor one of their greatest student-athletes, Duane “Josie” Josephson, by creating an endowed scholarship in his name.

A native of New Hampton, Josephson died Jan. 30, 1997. A three-sport athlete from 1960-1965, Josephson excelled in baseball and was named All-American following the 1964 season.

He played professional baseball with the Chicago White Sox and the Boston Red Sox, finishing his big league career with a .258 batting average, 23 home runs and 164 runs batted in. In 1987, Josephson was inducted into the UNI Hall of Fame. After his major league career he returned to New Hampton and became very active in youth sports. He served as assistant basketball coach at New Hampton’s 3A boys basketball state championship in 1993. The Duane Josephson Endowed Scholarship will be awarded to a student-athlete from Northeast Iowa.

2012 (10 years ago)
• The first-ever Mud Run was a kickoff to Nashua’s Water Over the Dam Days, where hundreds of runners turned out to take on cancer by running through the mud and muck during a fundraiser for the American Cancer Society.

Runners completed a 2.5 mile course that included plenty of obstacles, including running through creeks to climbing over hay bales, the reward at the end of the run was a nice dive into a Slip-N-Slide. The event will raise about $2,500 for the American Cancer Society.

• Mercy Medical Center in New Hampton held a unique birthday party. The party was held at Runion Park, where all 39 babies born in 2011 at Mercy were invited to attend.

After being closed for 4 1/2 years, Mercy’s Birthing Center reopened in January 2011. Years ago, the hospital held a 3-year-old birthday party for those born in New Hampton.

2017 (5 years ago)
• After five years, the New Hampton Industrial Color Run is about to close the books. The event will be held on Friday, Aug. 4, along the trail that surrounds New Hampton’s west-side Industrial Park.

The date has been moved up a few weeks and moved to a Friday in effort to attract more people for this year’s Color Run, which will benefit the improvements that will be made to the New Hampton Municipal Pool.

• Heavy rains hit New

Hampton once again on Wednesday, and some residents on the west side of the city reported having close to four inches of precipitation in their rain gauges, although the National Weather Service officially reported a little more than three inches of rain. That led to some minor street and park flooding as several intersections along North Pleasant Avenue had to be closed for a short time due to water over the roadway. More rain may be on the way as there is a chance of storms in the forecast each day through the Fourth of July holiday.

2021 (1 year ago)
The New Hampton School Board wants to give all of its high school students, not just athletes, a chance to work with an athletic trainer in an effort to improve their physical fitness. Thanks to federal COVID-19 dollars, the school will begin doing this beginning at the start of the 2021-22 school year.

Ayes – McDonald, Speltz, Daly, Denner, Fisher. Nays – None. Absent – Humpal. Resolution adopted. Imperial Roof Systems has requested a partial payment on the Community Center roofing project. Ayes – McDonald, Speltz, Daly, Denner, Fisher. Nays – None. Absent – Humpal. Resolution adopted. Police Chief Zach Nosbisch shared with the council a revision to the City Code regarding the use of UTV/ATV’s in the city of New Hampton. Recently, the Governor signed into law several changes to the State Law which overrides the city ordinance. Moved by Denner, seconded by McDonald; That the proposed ordinance AN ORDINANCE APPROVING AMENDMENTS TO THE ATV/UTV REGULATIONS receives its first consideration. Ayes – McDonald, Speltz, Daly, Denner, Fisher. Nays – None. Absent – Humpal. The Mayor requested the proposed ordinance be placed on the July 5, 2022 regular council meeting agenda for its second consideration. City staff is requesting council direction on changing the ‘no right turn on red’ designation at the intersection of Main Street and Linn Avenue. This designation was initially implemented when Linn Ave was also Hwy 63. The Iowa Department of Transportation was contacted and they do not regulate this type of traffic regulation. NHCSD Superintendent, Jay Jurrens, was also contacted and he did make a request to keep the ‘no right turn on red’ designation from 7:00 am – 9:00 am and 2:00 to 4:00 pm on school days. Moved by McDonald, seconded by Denner; to direct the Street Department to install new signs at the intersection of Main Street and Linn Avenue to read: “No Turn on Red: Monday – Friday: 7:00 am – 9:00 am; 2:00pm – 4:00 pm”, be approved. Ayes – Five. Nays – None. Absent – Humpal. Motion carried. Public Works Director Casey Mai presented a notification letter from the Iowa DNR regarding “lead service lines (water)”. This letter is a result of the EPA requiring all community water suppliers to develop an inventory of water lines which distributes water to every customer/resident. Mai explained that this inventory will require a house by house inspection.
--	---

PWD Mai would also like to include three other inspections during this inventory process: 1. Record water meter type and install a tracer wire, 2. Review sump pump connections and 3. Locate the water shut off location. This project will be time consuming and Mai is asking for council direction on how to best accomplish this inventory project since we do not have extra staff. This inventory is due to the state by October 16, 2024. Mai is requesting to have a plan in place by 1/1/2023 to avoid a delay in completing the project. Mai will research other options to staff this project and report back to the council. In November 2012, the Iowa Department of Natural Resources (IDNR) created the Iowa Nutrient Removal Strategy, which was revised in May 2013 and October 2014. The city was required to submit a Nutrient Reduction Feasibility Study in April 2016. That study (revised in April 2017) concluded that nutrient reduction was not currently feasible, and the city should plan to replace the wastewater treatment plant and incorporate nutrient reduction within the next 20 years. The City’s current National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System permit requires the city to submit new Nutrient Reduction Feasibility Study by July 1, 2022. The capital cost opinion for implementing these options ranges from $26.5 to $34.3 million. This would have a significant impact on annual costs, at an estimated $2,493,000 per year including debt service on the new facilities and operation and maintenance costs. Due to the high cost and additional needs at the facility, implementing additional nutrient removal is not currently feasible without significant grants or loan forgiveness. The city should consider implementing fee increases to be able to fund the required improvements, as well as apply for available grants and loan forgiveness funding opportunities. Given the age and condition of the existing plant, the city should plan to replace the existing facilities within the next 15 years and incorporate additional nutrient removal into the new facilities at that time. The City will submit the Facility Plan to IDNR before the start of 2023 in attempt to meet the nutrient reduction strategy by 2036. Moved by McDonald, seconded by Daly; THAT Resolution No 6528 A RESOLUTION TO ALLOW FOX STRAND ASSOCIATES TO SUBMIT THE NUTRIENT REDUCTION FEASIBILITY REPORT LETTER TO THE IOWA DEPARTMENT OF NATURAL RESOURCES BY JULY 1, 2022, BE APPROVED. Ayes – McDonald, Speltz, Daly, Denner, Fisher. Nays – None. Absent – Humpal. Resolution adopted. Public Works Director Mai is requesting approval of an emergency repair to the west well pump. The well is currently shut down and needs repairs immediately. Since this is an emergency situation and although not required by code, Mai received two quotes: 1. Northway Well & Pump $90,000 (will not exceed) 2. Layne Christensen Company a.$102,700 with new pump b. $ 92,545 with rebuilt pump Mai is recommending the quote from Northway based on price and availability of equipment. Moved by McDonald, seconded by Fisher; To accept the quote of Northway Well & Pump for repairs on the west well in the amount not to exceed $90,000.00, be approved. Ayes – Five. Nays – None. Absent – Humpal. Motion carried. Mai reported that the variance request for Dustin Lechtenberg was approved. Moved by Denner, seconded by Fisher; That the application for Tax exemption under the City of New Hampton, Iowa Urban Revitalization Plan for Jill Samec, be approved. Ayes – Five. Nays – None. Absent – Humpal. Motion carried. Mayor Schwickerath reported on a recent meeting he attended as a member of the Chickasaw County Ambulance Council (CCAC). It was decided at this joint meeting of the CCAC and the Board of Supervisors (BOS) that if the BOS approves the use of ARPA for the equipment purchases, each city will develop a 28E agreement with the BOS. The council discussed their available options of financing the City of New Hampton’s per capita share of approximately $362,300.00. There are two ways of paying for the ambulance. The Council can approve, based on the appropriate number of residents signatures, to follow Iowa Code section 357G and create an emergency medical district which could	be taxed up to $1.00 per $1,000 property valuation. The 357G process is lengthy and does need a 60% voter approval. The Council can also request to have the voters change the use of the Local Option Sales Tax (LOST) funds. Currently the funds are used for infrastructure but if voters approved, the funds could be used for the ambulance expenses and any remaining amounts will continue to be used for infrastructure. This also requires a 60% voter approval. If either of these two options is not approved, the city will not have funds to pay the ambulance expenses. After a lengthy discussion, it was moved by Fisher, seconded by Daly; To direct the City Clerk to finalize the procedures needed to have either option on the ballot for voter approval and report to the council at the July 5th, 2022 city council meeting. Ayes – Five. Nays – None. Water Over the Dam Days Parade Grand Marshal Nancy Hillesheim waves to the crowd on Saturday, the second day of Nashua's big two-day celebration.

NOT A BAD WAY TO GO OUT!

WATER OVER THE DAM DAYS PARADE GRAND MARSHAL READY FOR RETIREMENT

By BOB FENSKE
editor@nhtrib.com

Nancy Hillesheim's first reaction to being told that she would be the grand marshal for Nashua's annual Water Over the Dam Days Parade?

"I'm going to be honest, I was absolutely floored," said the longtime Five Star Coop employee and the secretary of the Big Fair Board. "We have so many deserving people, I was so surprised. I'm not sure I should be the one, but it's a very nice honor."

Hillesheim led the parade that began at 10:30 a.m. Saturday and was one of the crowning events of the annual celebration that kicked off its two-day run last Friday with a triathlon, the crowning of the Water Over the Dam Days queen, live music and more.

And the grand marshal duties came less than a week before Hillesheim was to retire from her job at the coop, where she has worked since 1978.

She said she also thinks its a tribute to her late husband, Butch, who passed away two summers ago.

"We always loved our community and the people here," she said, "and I know Butch was right next to me during the parade, at least in spirit."

Nashua Park Board member Nate Sinnwell said Hillesheim was a perfect choice to serve as the grand marshal, and he said festival organizers also thought it would not only be a fitting honor for Hillesheim but also a nice tribute to her husband.

"When you think of Nancy and all the people she's touched working at the co-op and at the Big Four Fair, she really deserves this day," Sinnwell said. "And Butch, too, did a lot for our community so when people saw Nancy in the parade, I hope they remembered him, too."

As for retirement, Hillesheim said she's going to miss both her co-workers and the legions of customers she has known since first going to work at the co-op 44 years ago.

"I've met a lot of great people, from those I've worked with to the farmers," she said, "so it was kind of hard to say goodbye. But they always say you know when it's time, so I'm ready."

She paused and laughed.

"At least I think I am ready."

But Hillesheim said she will continue to serve on the fair board and is already looking forward to the annual four-day event that is held over the Labor Day weekend every year.

"I think the fair might be one of those lifetime contracts," she said with a laugh, "but I really do love our little fair and being involved with it."

Triathlon may become annual part of Nashua's celebration

TRIATHLON: FROM 1

"We had seen it happen in another community and so we just decided, it's my two cousins and I, and we thought 'oh this would be fun, something fun for Water Over the Dam Days,'" Sudol said, "so we started planning it back in January and that's kind of where it started."

"So we just implemented it and we tried the, the route was just a ..., "Theilen said, and paused to think of the right words.

"A learning experience," her sister Stumme jumped in and added.

"Learning experience, the route of least resistance. I mean avoid this hill at all costs on a bike," Theilen said and motioned toward the hill behind her in the campground.

"We don't want kids flying down on that."

"Especially with speed bumps," Nikki added.

"Oh gosh, yeah. Taking off on that would just be brutal," Brittany said with a laugh. They had the riders start off down the hill toward the public beach instead.

When they were planning, Sudol said that they tried to keep the distances of the route shorter so that families and kids would be able to participate.

They decided on three miles of biking, one mile of kayaking and one mile of running.

"The easiest was bike. The run was ok, but the kayak, that was hard," the winner, Mike Caswell, said after Friday's triathlon. "Something different that I haven't trained for."

Caswell, a Nashua native, has run "quite a few triathlons and half Iron Mans" before Friday's competition, but still admitted the WODD event wasn't easy. But when asked if he would do it again, he was quick to answer.

"Oh, yes," he said. "My son did it with me too so that was even better." He and his son Jace were two of four individuals that Sudol said competed on their own alongside 13 teams who split up the events between participants.

The team who came in second and Brad Theilen, who came in third, thought the run was better than the bike, but they agreed with Caswell that kayaking in Friday's wind, was in a word "tough."

"The kayaking was very difficult," Brad said, "did not expect that. It was fun though."

"Yes, the mile on the water felt a lot longer than I thought it would have," said Callie Masters, whose group also included Chloe Matthews and Ike Sinnwell. "Yeah I knew who we had to catch so I just had my eye on the first team/group and I went after it."

Once Masters hit the shoreline, her sister, Matthews, was off and running, literally, on the last leg of the race.

"And then really honestly mine was just the easiest part I thought, just run the mile. I mean I think they had the hardest part, but Callie really caught us up, so from there it was just run," said Matthews, who was a successful track and cross country runner for Nashua-Plainfield high school. "Compared to running, you know three miles like we used to, so a mile's nothing."

The first leg of their relay was Sinnwell, who was a multi-sport athlete at Nashua-Plainfield and graduated a year before Matthews, in 2020. He took off on wheels at the start of the race.

"Biking was a lot harder than I thought," he said. "I felt like I was pedaling as fast as I could but it didn't go as good as I thought it would and then Callie kind of kicked butt."

And now that they've officially competed in the WODD triathlon, Matthews, Masters and Sinnwell agreed on one thing - they'll be back.

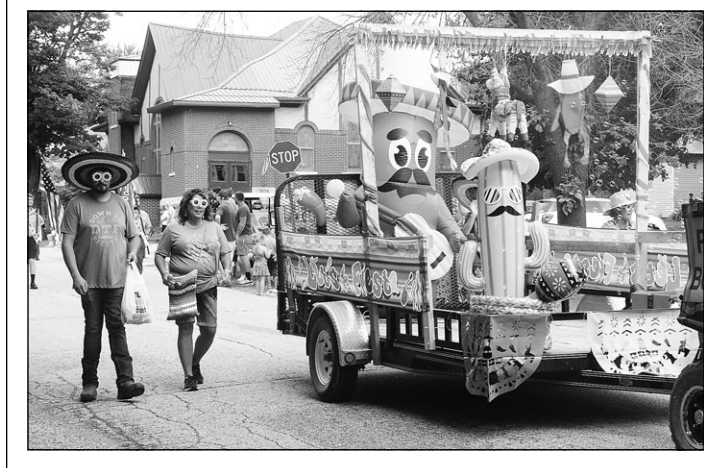

"We've learned what we're gonna fix," Matthews said and Sinnwell added that they hope to beat their time of 35:42 next year. "So we'll be back next year..." Matthews added.

Fun times in Nashua!

Water Over the Dam Days once again hit all the right notes, and even Mother Nature, for the most part, cooperated with Nashua's annual town celebration, where 2022 Queen Makenzie Foelske and her predecessor, Chloe Matthews (above), share a laugh Friday evening while members of the Nashua Park Board (below), which took over heading up Water Over the Dam Days this year, walk along with their thematic fiesta float in the parade Saturday morning.

The good news for them is, the organizers said that too.

And like the Matthews, Masters and Sinnwell team, they've already taken some notes on what to fix for next year.

"Maybe the kayak won't be as long," Brittany said with a laugh.

The wind and the heat may have made portions of the triathlon harder in certain aspects, but overall the organizers were happy with the weather.

Brad and Caswell agreed.

"The wind was the only thing, it was a little windy, but you gotta expect that around here. But it was, like I said, couldn't ask for a better day - it's mid 80s, nice breeze," Brad said.

"The weather is beautiful out today," said Caswell. "You can't ask for anything better."

Caswell also said he was pleased with the support and the turnout.

"Awesome, awesome. For the first time, I think it'll grow."

That's what the organizers are hoping.

"So yeah we do want it to be something that we can you know continue to do and hopefully grow every year and get bigger every year!" Sudol said.

"... It looks like everybody's enjoying themselves," Brittany said, "so we're just excited to bring a new event to Water Over the Dam Days and hopefully it continues. I have no plans of this being a one and done."

County attorney's 28E draft includes 'exit fee' for cities

incur in its first year of operation.

The payments range from $4,608 for the city's smallest city, Bassett, to the $356,904 that the county's largest city, New Hampton, would pay.

Proponents of the publicly-owned service point out that the $1.2 million budget is based on staffing levels that, at least at the start, aren't realistic and does not include revenue the service will receive.

Launders said his draft also states that city's annual payments would be capped at the initial 2023 rates plus automatic 5 percent annual increases, and that cities could not be charged any more than that additional 5 percent "even if losses exceed initial guidance."

"You guys can never come back to them with your hat in hand and say hey we need more," he said. "They have very fixed costs that you're taking the risk that you can run it for $1.2 million."

Launder's draft also states that beginning in 2025, the third year of the agreements, the Board of Supervisors has the right to adjust future annual payments downward, and he also has a clause in the agreements that supervisors can waive any payment amounts, which he said would generally be a quarterly amount.

His draft also allows for a city to opt out of the agreement, but even though a city can leave the agreement with no notice, they must pay what he called an "exit fee," which would be all of the anticipated annual payments from the city during the entire initial term of the agreement.

As for the county, its "opt-out" would be that it could provide a one-year notice to discontinue the county-owned EMS business.

And Laudner's agreement also does allow that after the initial five-year agreements, either party may terminate the agreement with no exit fee but must provide written notice to the other party by Sept. 30 and that the termination would not be effective until the following July 1.

"This is a draft only," he said. "The bottom line is all this can be changed, all this can be gutted, all this can be restarted."

The county attorney also said that he based his draft on what he heard during a June 15 joint meeting between the Chickasaw County Ambulance Council and the Board of Supervisors. Thus, it does not create what he called a "separate entity" and the publicly-owned service would not have an advisory council; instead, the Board of Supervisors will have the exclusive right to manage the finances of the county-owned EMS

"This is going to come down to trust," he said. "I'm sorry, it just is. If it's going to work, they are going to have to trust you the guys or the members in your seats are going to make the right decisions [for the betterment of everyone in the county], but they know what their obligations are capped at."

Earlier in Monday's meeting, Bassett Mayor Jim Ashley said he felt that the cities not having a "voice" would be a major sticking point, but after Laudner's summarized his draft, Supervisor Jason Byrne took issue with Ashley's contention.

"I thought it was pretty clear when [Fredericksburg Mayor] Jimmy Mitchell made that statement, 'He goes we're going to write you a check and wash our hands of it,'" Byrne said, "that this is the path the cities want."

Board Chairman Matt Kuhn, who also serves on the Ambulance Council, agreed.

"That's exactly what I heard, too."

After Laudner finished his presentation, supervisors discussed how they would fund the county's portion of the publicly-owned service, which would amount to $480,000 in 2023, and their attorney said he didn't believe how the county — or the cities, for that matter — come up with the money for the service should be in the agreements with the cities.

"It's not germane to the 28E," he said. "You don't [care] how they fund theirs. If they use some of their LOST or if they put a user fee on all their water bills ... that's not your business, no more is it how you fund it is their business."

After a relatively lengthy discussion, board members said they would look through both the summary and the actual 10-page draft of the agreement and meet this morning (Thursday) to discuss possible changes so that Laudner can complete the draft before it is sent to the cities.

Launders said his draft also

Upper Iowa University has announced the dean's list for the 2022 spring semester. To be honored, a student must have earned a minimum 3.50 grade point average for the semester and be enrolled as a full-time student.

which leads the Vikings' class. "He's first-team all-conference. He's going to be first team all-district and probably going to be all-state," said McDonald about Tyler. "Decorah has a solid team and we proved tonight that we are a solid team – not by talking about it. But our boys went out there and they did it." The parade of runners that crossed the plate in a first inning that seemed wouldn't end amounted to seven hits in the opening frame. NH strung together four-consecutive hits by Lane, Braden McShane, Gannon Shekleton and Talyn Bohaty. Shekleton's two-RBI single found a hole on the left side that gave New Hampton the lead for good, up 3-2, after trailing by a two-run deficit after one-half inning. "If anybody would have guessed against an all-state pitcher, that we would tag 13 in the first inning on Senior Night – if they were to make a bet on that, they probably would have lost that bet," said McDonald. New Hampton batted around twice in that monster inning and saw Wemark step up to the plate three times. "You saw what we can do when we play a good clean game," said Wemark. "We have the potential to put up 13 runs on any team like we did in the first game. We just got to put that all together in one game." Lane doubled and banded out three hits at the plate. He was relieved on the hill by sophomore Kael Meyers in the fourth inning. Lane walked seven and struck out one in his final start at home. Meyers held Decorah to just a single hit the rest of the way. McShane and Shekleton each amassed three RBI. "Drake, me and Mac and (Jordan) Rommes had a meeting Friday after we got off the bus and we talked about everything is really starting to fall into place right now," said Lane. The split with Decorah comes fresh off the heels of 13-1 and 11-0 sweeps over Crestwood (1-23, 1-19) last Friday night in Cresco. New Hampton lost a non-conference game to Osage on the road, 8-6, last week Thursday. Still, it appears that New Hampton may have righted the ship after somewhat of a mid-season swoon after a 9-1 start. NH played its final regular season game at Wapsie Valley Wednesday night. The Chickasaws will open up Class 2A District play on Tuesday, July 5 against the winner between North Fayette Valley and Oelwein. "This has the feel of the 2019, 2021. We're starting to see some things that we need to see. We're excited about where we're at right now," said McDonald. New Hampton will have to be on top of its game if it looks to continue a winning tradition under McDonald that is only seeming to get stronger when the postseason rolls around. "We're seeing the pieces come together again when it matters the most" said McDonald. "Drake and Mason have led this team this year to a 14th-straight winning record. Decorah can't claim that. They are the one that has this great tradition – which they do. Our streak is longer." Decorah's Kaden Alstad hit one over the fence in the second game, a solo shot that came in the fourth inning. The Vikings posses seven hitters in their starting lineup that bat over .300. "That's the best hitting team we'll see," said Wemark.

"We are in some pretty select company in the entire state. I want Drake and Mason to know how proud we are of the them for carrying the torch for another year of our winning tradition here at New Hampton baseball," said McDonald. New Hampton rallies against Waukon

sports@nhtrib.com

New Hampton plated six runs in the seventh inning to shock Waukon, 10-9, in a Northeast Iowa Conference varsity contest last Friday evening in Allamakee County.

The Chickasaws utilized a three-run homer from senior third baseman Chloe Reicherts in the exciting win and held off the Indians in the bottom of the seventh to pull out the NEIC victory.

New Hampton was down 8-4 headed into the final frame.

“The big message to the girls was just to relax and battle – one hit at a time and one run at a time. The girls were staying patient at the plate and looking for their pitch and something to drive,” said NH head coach Tate Hofmeister.

NH swept the season series with the Indians, as the Chickasaws dominated the first two contests at Mikkelson Park by a score of 12-0 and 14-2.

Charles City swept NH on Tuesday, June 21 by scores of 12-0 and 9-3. The Comets won a wild, barnburner in the first meeting, 12-11.

Jenna Heeren, a sophomore shortstop for New Hampton, doubled against the Comets and knocked in two.

“For the first game of the Charles City doubleheader, we just came out flat and we didn’t do a very good job of communicating, which you can’t have against a team like Charles City. The second game I thought we did a better job of coming out right away and communicating,” said Hofmeister.

Central City (28-6), ranked 15th in Class 1A, took care of business early over the Chickasaws this past Monday by a score of 14-2 in four innings.

to play in on Saturday got canceled due to rain and field conditions.

New Hampton (8-12, 4-8) plays North Fayette Valley tonight (Thursday) at home and finishes the regular season on the road in a twin bill against Crestwood this Friday.

The Chickasaws will turn right back around and play the Cadets in the opening round of Class 3A, Region 7 postseason play on Wednesday, July 6 in Cresco.

Weber, a senior, also picked up the win inside the circle against NFV (9-14, 9-3) in the two team’s first game. She did not issue a free pass and struck out two.

Olivia Drilling, another senior for Junior Hackman’s squad, collected three hits in the NFV nightcap. Maici Weber, just an eighth-grader, also generated plenty of offense for the Trojans with three hits as well. Clare Courtney, Drilling and Halle Weber each knocked in two runs apiece.

coach Hackman give them all a hug.

“Kara and Josie, when I started they were eighth-graders,” he said. “And OD [Drilling], she hasn’t been on varsity all five years but for three years she’s been contributing. It was nice to see her drive a big hit [a double] to left center tonight.”

If the Trojans were able to wrap up their UIC engagements with wins over Clayton Ridge in games that were to be played Wednesday, they would still need help from South Winn to win the conference outright, as, if the Warriors were able to take a game from Kee, the Trojans would edge the Hawks for the title.

“I’m hoping for a worse-case scenario of conference co-champs,” Hackman said, “but we co-champed with them last year so an outright title would be nice. Then we play West Central in the regionals on Friday, and we can’t take them for granted, anything can happen.”

The TV girls, at 15-6 overall prior to the Clayton Ridge doubleheader and a Thursday game at Sumner-Fredericksburg, will play the regional first round at home against the 5-18 Blue Devils at 7 p.m.

TV loses by a single run to Clayton Ridge

By KELLY TERPSTRA
sports@nhtrib.com

Eight was not a lucky number for Turkey Valley last week Tuesday.

After Clayton Ridge slid past Turkey Valley, 4-3, in Upper Iowa Conference baseball play – it marked the eighth loss in a row for Dan Stepan’s bunch.

That didn’t mean the Trojans played all that poorly against the Eagles – which managed to sweep the season series over Turkey Valley with the hard-fought win.

“It was great effort by the guys, but we just came up a little short,” said Stepan.

CR’s run in the top of the sixth inning proved to be the game-winner for the Eagles, which improved to 5-18 overall and 5-11 in UIC play.

TV junior Calvin Bodensteiner pitched a complete-game and struck out four. He walked two batters, gave up eight hits and surrendered three earned runs.

Caleb Kurtenbach, a sophomore, smacked an RBI double in the fifth inning for the Trojans.

CR starter Max Nuehring, along with relievers Colton Hoeger and Braxton Bormann, combined to limit TV to just three hits and one earned run.

CR won the first two games in Guttenberg by scores of 7-0 and 10-6.

TV’s games with Clarion-Goldfield-Dows on Thursday and Sumner-Fredericksburg on Friday, June 24 of last week were each cancelled.

The Trojans are 7-17 overall and 4-12 in the UIC. They will start their postseason Saturday in a game against Nashua-Plainfield, at 5 p.m. in Calmar.

Green Devils outlast Chickasaws, 8-6

Osage scored five runs in the second inning after trailing 3-0 and was able to come up with an 8-6 non-conference win over New Hampton last week Thursday.

NH junior Gannon Shekleton pitched five innings and struck out four, but walked seven batters. He allowed four earned runs.

Braden McShane and Jaxon Eckley each rapped out doubles. Eckley, just a freshman, scored two runs, collected two hits and knocked in two runs at the plate.

The Chickasaws committed six errors in the contest.

Three Chickasaws earn IHSGCA all-state recognition

The New Hampton Chickasaw girls golf team was well represented on the Iowa High School Golf Coaches Association all-state squads that were recently released.

Chickasaw senior Sanja Noehl, freshman Lauren Nuss and junior Lydia Olson were all selected on the first-team Class 2A girls squad. Noehl was a second-team all-tournament selection as she placed 11th overall on the individual leaderboard at Pheasant Ridge Golf Course in Cedar Falls.

New Hampton placed runner-up at the Class 2A State Tournament last spring and has qualified for the state meet for five years in a row.

sport of track and field – tallied 4,371 points at the Nike Outdoors.

Her highest placing came in the Ancient Greek undertaking that Iowa High School athletes can’t compete in – the javelin. Rochford’s throw of 103-10 earned her a fifth-place finish amongst 16 other competitors that hailed from states like Florida, Texas, Colorado and Montana.

Rochford also placed fifth in the high jump (5-2) – an event she has medaled in each of her past two state track meets. She was fourth this past May at state in the high jump in Class 2A with a leap of 5-6 – the current school record at NH.

Shaina Zinger of East Bethel, Minnesota won the heptathlon with 5,122 points.

Well-rounded athletes also compete in six other events outside of the javelin – 100 hurdles, high jump, long jump, shot put, 200 dash and 800 run.

Rochford was eighth in the long jump (17 feet), 14th place in the 100 hurdles (15.82) and 15th in the 200 dash (27.3). She also recorded a 16th-place result in the shot put (29-1.75) and was 10th overall in the 800 run (2:33.37).

Rochford said the 800 run is one of the toughest events she under took and that was the last race in the two-day event for her while she and her family enjoyed their short stay in Oregon.

“The 800’s just a mind game,” said Rochford. “The 800’s hard, but at the same time it’s not. You just gotta get your mind in the right spot for it.”

Her father, Joel, competed in field events (shot put, discus) in college so Rochford said she’s confident she can do better in those arenas once she trains more.

“It’s definitely a good experience. Everyone’s good out there so you just have to compete. That’s like the biggest thing. You have to understand that everyone’s going to be good and take in the experience, but also do your best at the same time,” said Rochford.

Rochford just won the heptathlon at Grandview University in Des Moines on Thursday and Friday of last week. Amazingly she scored the same number of points she did over in Eugene – 4,371.

“It’s frustrating, but you’re also not going downhill. You also know there’s room for improvement,” said Rochford. “I’m a competitor. Everyone knows that, so I’m going to go out there and I’m going to compete with everyone.”

That top finish in Des Moines earned her an invitation to the AAU Junior Olympic Games, which will be held in Greensboro, North Carolina from late July into early August.

Clear Lake’s Reese Brownlee, who won the Class 2A state long jump, also competed in Eugene alongside Rochford. Brown lee won the open 400 and placed fourth in the long jump.

“Number one in the USA is out there for most events. It just makes me better because I have that much experience under my belt now that I have competed against the best. Going to smaller meets back in northeast Iowa probably won’t faze me that much anymore because I can control my nerves more,” said Rochford.

Rochford said it’s her goal to compete in the heptathlon in college.

“It’s a lot of technique. You actually have to be pretty good at everything,” said Rochford.

Turkey Valley eighth grader Maici Weber slides home in the fourth inning of game one against South Winn Monday, and although she was safe she had a sore ankle to deal with the rest of the doubleheader. Turkey Valley won both ends of the battle, 2-0 and 6-2.

Closer to a title

Two wins over Warriors leave Trojans in a good spot

By DOROTHY HUBER
dorhubernews@gmail.com

Josie Weber was getting a little rest in between games of a Turkey Valley softball doubleheader Monday. Weber, who had been nursing a sore shoulder in recent weeks, had just pitched a 2-0 Trojan win over South Winneshiek in which she struck out 13.

“My shoulder is a lot better, I’ve been going to physical therapy,” she said. “I’m going to start this next game and see how long I’ll last.”

Not only did she finish game two — a 6-2 Turkey Valley win — but she K’d another 13 batters, including the final three in the seventh inning.

The double sweep put the TV girls at 12-2 in the conference, tied for the lead in the Upper Iowa with Kee High.

South Winn came into the night with a 9-3 UIC record, just one game behind the Trojans.

“We knew we’d have to play well to win,” coach Junior Hackman stated after the games. He added with a grin and shrug, “If I was going to be greedy, I’d say we could’ve hit better.”

But the mark of a good team is to win any way possible, and, in the fourth inning Turkey’s Aubrey Hoffert, who had doubled earlier in the game, reached on an error, took second on a passed ball and advanced on a Maici Weber single. Olivia Drilling earned the only RBI of the game when she hit a sacrifice fly to center to score Hoffert and Weber followed a short time later, scoring on a passed ball.

But the 13 strikeouts, no walks and only three hits by Weber — plus a Trojan defense that only committed one error — made those two runs enough for the win.

The tone for the nitecap was set early, as Kara Reicks took the second pitch of the game and ripped a triple, scoring moments later on a passed ball. Josie Weber also laced the first of her two doubles for the game, this one hit the top of the fence and bounced back into the field, prompting a comment from a parent in the crowd about just “one more Wheatie and it would have gone over.”

Turkey Valley put three more runners on base without the benefit of a hit before Drilling RBI’d again, knocking in the final run of the inning and giving the Trojans a 4-0 lead.

South Winn pitcher Eryn Luzum would settle in somewhat after that and would only allow two more runs. Halle Weber singled and scored on sister Josie’s double in the second frame, and Maici Weber was hit by a pitch and courtesy runner Mariah Thronson advance around the bases and scored on passed balls.

Maici Weber is a pretty tough eighth grader. The leading hitter in the conference — she currently sports a .527 batting average — injured an ankle while scoring in the first game and was still limping from that when she was hit in the arm by a pitch. But she continued as the battery mate for her senior sister on the mound in both games.

“That’s a highlight for me, being able to play with both my sisters,” said Josie after the first win. “I think we’re probably one of the only teams in the state with three sisters on one team. We play club ball with Kara so we’re all pretty close to one another since we spend so much time together.”

It was senior night at the school. As Olivia Drilling, Kara Reicks and Josie Weber were honored in between the Trojans’ sweep of South Winn,

Trojan boys sweep Postville

By DOROTHY HUBER
dorhubernews@gmail.com

Both Turkey Valley baseball games against Postville Monday featured many, many Trojan baserunners making many, many trips around the diamond.

While game one had highlights, like a Chase Hayek home run, a 3-for-3 effort by Carson Busta with a double and four RBI and more doubles by Dylan Reicks, Calvin Bodensteiner and Noah Hanson, game two only had two hits by the winners.

Game one was lopsided, an 18-2 Trojan win, but game two was also decided quickly as the TV boys won 16-0.

“We scored some runs and had double-digit hits, which is a good sign,” coach Dan Stepan said of game one.

Bodensteiner pitched three innings of the first win with two earned runs and four strikeouts and in the final inning Busta whiffed two of the three batters he faced with no hits or runs.

The homer by Hayek drove in three runs and was the first career homer for the junior.

“It felt good coming off the bat,” he said, “but I didn’t know for sure if it would go out.”

Hayek scored twice, the first time he went from second to home on the same wild pitch.

“I saw the pitcher wasn’t covering the plate and I knew I was fast enough to get there. I might not try that all the time, most pitchers would be covering home.”

The Trojans used a variety of walks, hit pitches and errors in game two — along with hits by Bodensteiner and Hayek — to score 16 runs.

“It was a good way to end senior night, every player got into the ball game,” Stepan said.

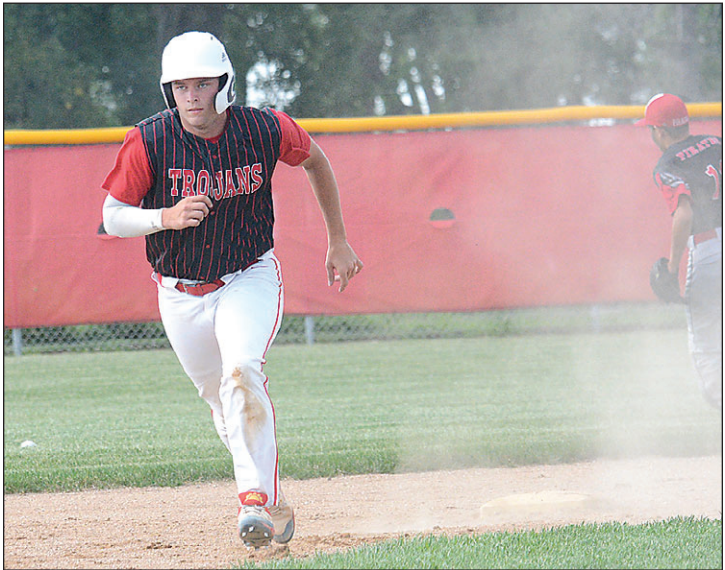

Garrett Kurtenbach went the distance on the mound — albeit only four innings — allowing no runs or hits with one walk and six down on strikes.

“Garrett has been in our lineup for five years. We will miss his bat in the middle of our lineup and he’s played defensively at second base as well as I’ve ever had at that position,” noted his coach.

He went on to talk about the other seniors — players and support staff — that were honored Monday night.

“Dylan Reicks has had a great senior year of sports. He is a lead-by-example player that I will definitely miss coaching every day.

“Rolin Schmitt joined

the squad last year and has improved every day. He loves to challenge himself and get better at the game of baseball. He’s out for the love the sport and the chance to play and that is all you can ever ask as a coach.

“Logan Manderfield has been my stat guy for the last five years. He’s seen as much Turkey Valley baseball as I have in the last five years. He will be hard to replace, I know his stats are accurate and I can send them off to the newspapers right after the game. Good help is hard to come by.

“Lance Schmitt played for four years and has an injury that wouldn’t allow him to play this summer, but he has helped out with our pitch count charts all year. I trust him with numbers way more than I trust myself so I know I have the right guy for the job. “We will miss all five of these guys, they have been entrenched in this program for many years, and they will all be hard to replace.”

ROCHFORD PLACES EIGHTH IN HEPTATHLON AT ELITE NIKE OUTDOOR NATIONALS

Nestled among the towering Douglas-fir trees that dot the scenic landscape in the Pacific Northwest state of Oregon – sits a stadium that track and field enthusiasts know all too well.

Hayward Stadium.

The world-class facility – recently renovated in 2020 – just got done hosting the U.S. Track and Field Outdoor Championships last weekend and will be the proud guest of the World Championships next month.

New Hampton's Carlee Rochford just recently competed at this historic venue that underwent a $270 million upgrade.

That's testament alone to her athletic ability, let alone her eighth-place finish in the heptathlon at the Nike Outdoor Nationals 18-and-under AAU event in Eugene, Oregon that brings the nation's elite talent to one of the most sacred spots in America when it comes to track and field.

"It's amazing. Going there, you're like, 'oh my God, I'm running here,'" said Rochford, a soon-to-be senior at New Hampton High School. "It was super fun. You can tell track's a big deal out there. It's called Track Town USA for a reason."

Most of the United State's most decorated track athletes – like Steve Prefontaine, Edwin Moses, Carl Lewis and Jackie Joyner-Kersey – have all put their stamp on the track that has hosted six Olympic trials and is located on the campus of the University of Oregon.

"Actually one of my first reactions was 'there's no way this track is 400 meters,'" said Rochford. "It is."

Rochford competed in the heptathlon – a grueling test of speed, power and agility where athletes try to master seven different events. She first trained for the heptathlon four years ago the summer before she entered high school as ninth-grader. Rochford – the school record holder in numerous events for the Chickasaws in the

New Hampton powers to sweep over Cadets, gets split with Decorah to end NEIC at 12-8

It may sound like a broken record, but this is a track that Cory McDonald and his Chickasaws would let play all night long if they could.

The vinyl was poppin' at Mikkelson Park on Monday night against Decorah.

It was another Senior Night for the New Hampton nine in a critical conference tilt against a power-packed Viking lineup at the Chickasaws' beautiful home ball park.

And once again the Chickasaws – like they'd done on countless occasions under the tutelage of McDonald over the course of his decades-plus tenure at New Hampton – produced another magical moment.

And of course it came on a night – once again – to honor McDonald's seniors.

"I'm gonna call it Senior Night magic again – again," said McDonald. "It's not a sequel.

It's not Part Three. It's not Part Four. It's like every year."

Mason Lane and Drake Wemark played their final games as Chickasaws at Mikkelson Park – voted Diamond of the Year by the Iowa High School Baseball Coaches Association this year.

And what a way it was to go out for the talented duo that helped fuel an eye-popping 13-run first inning to stun and take down Decorah in a wild, 13-7 opener. New Hampton played well for the most part in the second game, but fell 6-1 to the Vikings – which feature one of the most potent batting orders in all of Class 3A.

NH (17-13, 12-8) lit up senior Viking starter Keenan Tyler with 13 runs over his brief stint on the mound – which lasted one-third of an inning. Tyler pitched a complete-game four-hitter the first time the two teams met in early June – a twin bill Decorah swept.

Not this time around.

Tyler – who leads Class 3A with a .528 batting clip – is a key piece to Decorah's puzzle. The Vikings (20-9, 15-5) blasted nine – count them, nine – home runs in a doubleheader sweep over Waukon last Friday. Decorah – which needed a sweep over New Hampton to potentially tie Waverly-Shell Rock for the Northeast Iowa Conference title – have blasted 20 home runs in Class 3A. That's second to Independence's 22,

Go-Hawks storm back to sweep New Hampton

Chickasaws never quit in marathon NEIC DH

In a marathon doubleheader that seemed like it would go on forever, the Waverly-Shell Rock Go-Hawks and the New Hampton Chickasaws proved one thing on Tuesday evening at Mikkelson Park.

Never give up.

In what finally ended up as a five-and-a-half hour double dip for the two Northeast Iowa Conference rivals, the Go-Hawks overcame many obstacles and outlasted Tate Hofmeister's Chickasaw squad with a crazy 7-5 win in the opener that lasted nine innings. Then lightning struck – literally – near the ball diamond and that created a delay of around 50 minutes before the nightcap would begin.

Waverly-Shell Rock took that game as well in a slugfest –20-10.

The twinbill did not end until a little before 11 p.m. after a 5:30 p.m. start.

New Hampton honored three of its seniors – Abigail Holschlag, Emily Jackson and Chloe Reicherts.

The Senior Night tussle that went back and forth and essentially became a war of attrition between the two squads saw W-SR storm back from a 3-0 deficit in the opener to plate four runs in the top of the sixth to take a 5-4 lead. NH would answer with a run of its own in the bottom half of the frame to tie the game at 5-5.

In the bottom of the seventh of Game 1, long fly balls to right by Ali Russler and Jenna Heeren were pushed back by a substantial wind from the south. Those deep fly outs could well have left the yard had Mother Nature not intervened.

New Hampton had the bases loaded in the ensuing eighth with two outs, but did not score.
