Yes, pool will open on time

Facility set to start season May 26 although Splash Pad, drop-down slide will have to wait for a few days

BY BOB FENSKE
editor@nhtrib.com

Getting the New Hampton Municipal Pool ready for any season can be challenging, but this year, very well make the proverbial cake.

Not only did Mother Nature not cooperate whatsoever — remember all that snow in April? — but there's also that little $725,000 renovation project workers are rushing to complete.

But by golly, just as the New Hampton Parks and Recreation Department promised, is going to open on time.

"We're going to be open a week from Saturday," Department Director Rick Kramer said Wednesday morning, "and after the spring we've had, that's saying something."

There are couple of caveats, however. The new Splash Pad and the drop-down slide won't open until June 1, although the slide will be installed this week.

"They need a little extra time on the Splash Pad," Kramer said, "and we can't get an inspector here for the drop-down slide. But otherwise, we're good to go. The new pool toys are ready,

Dollars for Scholars and others hand out more than $220,000

New Hampton Dollars for Scholars Co-President Dustin Lewis put it concisely Tuesday night.

"We're giving students a heck of a start on their educations," he said.

Indeed, that's exactly what Dollars for Scholars did, as the local chapter handed out more than $216,000 in scholarships Tuesday night during Senior Awards Night.

Commencements set for Sunday

New Hampton and Turkey Valley will hold their commencement ceremonies on Sunday afternoon.

Turkey Valley's begins at 1 p.m. while New Hampton's will commence at 2:30 p.m.

Both ceremonies will be held in the school's respective gymnasiums.

Throw in the non-Dollars for Scholars awards, and the seniors who will graduate on Sunday walked out of the New Hampton Middle School Auditorium with more than a $225,000 they can use at their respective schools.

It's one last pen pal party for instructor

BY MIRA SCHMITT-CASH
news@nhtrib.com

When Kim Hennessy started her signature pen pal program between her first-graders and those taught by her twin sister, Kris Lewis in Osage, 25 years ago, their classes were the only ones to participate.

Then, word spread. "Everyone said it looked like fun and jumped on board," Hennessy said. She is retiring at the end of the year after 34 years teaching, all in New Hampton.

Usually at the beginning of the year the New Hampton students travel to Osage, meet their future pen pals, play games and read together.

HEARTFELT FAREWELL

DOZENS OF FAMILIES
TURN OUT AT MERCY TO HONOR RETIRING DOCTOR

BY BOB FENSKE
editor@nhtrib.com

Dr. Stephen Thorn walked around the Mercy Medical Center-New Hampton nurse's station Tuesday morning, looked up, smiled, and then cried.

Maybe the man who has touched so many lives during his 40-year career didn't want this kind of turnout, this much fuss over a retirement, but he was undeniably stirred.

And, so too, were those who left work and got their kids out of school to say two simple words, thank you, to the man who has, they feel, given them life.

He has delivered more than 7,000 babies since he began practicing as an obstetrician and gynecologist in his native California, but his work with parents who are dealing with infertility issues is the stuff of legend, as, too, is his bedside manner.

"God placed you in our lives to give us hope and be the answer to our prayers," said Heather

Pecinovsky, who helped organize the surprise reception for Thorn. “Your thoughtfulness, kindness and love will be what lives on in our hearts and the hearts of our children forever.”

As she talked, Thorn fought — and lost — fighting back the tears.

“As you can see, I don’t do well with this,” he said. “My kids when I went to some of their meetings would say, ‘Dad, do us a favor, don’t cry.’ I’m very emotional, and I’ve been very blessed over the many years I’ve been doing this ... with wonderful nurses, wonderful backup and wonderful patients.”

Anyone in that lobby who doubted

Thorn’s impact on the people in the room only had to watch the next hour to see how wrong they were.

Moms, dads, kids and even former nurses came up and gave the doctor long heartfelt hugs.

“I don’t know how to explain it, except to say he always has time for you,” said New Hampton resident Miranda Eichenberger. “Never — and I mean never — did we feel rushed at an appointment with Dr. Thorn.”

Eichenberger had an appointment with the OB/GYN at 11 Wednesday morning, and she admitted it was hard to keep the secret that was going to be unveiled 45 minutes later.

“I’m so happy for him, but I’m so sad for all of us. There are a lot of good doctors in the world, but then there is Dr. Thorn. He truly is something special.”

Ann Satre and Jeannie Boyer, two nurses who worked with Thorn when he practiced in Albert Lea, Minn., agreed, which made making the 90-minute drive to see their former co-worker a no-brainer.

“He has a gift,” Satre said. “It’s not that he’s just an incredible doctor; he’s an even better person.”

Thorn, though, said the real heroes in the lobby Tuesday were his soon-to-be former co-workers and his patients.

As he fought back tears, he put it simply.

“You say I’m a gift to you, but you really are a gift to me.”

Auxiliary selling poppies

Each year, the American Legion and Auxiliary members raise funds through the distribution of the symbolic red poppies to support active-duty military, veterans, and their families.

New Hampton’s Poppy Day will be today [Friday], and various Auxiliary and Legion members will be at Klunder’s, Kwik Star East and West, Theisen’s, and Fareway.

Don Dixon will be contacting bank, post office, and court-house personnel; he will also be on Main Street. Joy Hall and Andrea Strottmann will be working with Melissa Sinnwell and her sixth-grade social studies students in the afternoon.

The red poppy has become a nationally recognized symbol of sacrifice worn by Americans since World War I to honor those who served and died for our country in all wars. Many veterans made the ultimate sacrifice while protecting our freedoms.

Volunteers do not sell poppies — they “distribute” them, with a request that the person receive we’ll start filling it this week and our new chlorine system will get installed.”

Parks and Recreation Program Manager Tara Hackman said season passes have moved briskly, and although the “early-bird” special ended Thursday, family passes are still available.

The passes are being sold at the Parks and Recreation office and are $145 for families, $70 for individuals and $60 for senior citizens.

Daily ticket prices will be $2 for children under 3, $4 for senior citizens (65 and older), $5 for ages 3-17 and $6 for adults.

Hackman said that workers will be completing the Splash Pad during the first week the pool is open, “but we’re going to make sure we have fencing up and we’re taking every safety precaution.”

She also wanted to remind parents who haven’t signed up their children for swim lessons that time is running short. The deadline for registering for lessons is next Wednesday.

“And our evening and 11:10 [a.m.] sessions are really filling up,” she said.

Just getting the pool open on time, though, has been a win for the department, and Kramer said the unsung heroes are the contractors who couldn’t get to work in April because of the winter weather.

“The folks from Henkel [Construction] and Quality Concrete deserve some big recognition,” he said. “When it was snowing back on [April 17], I had my doubts,” he said, “but they’ve done a great job getting us to this point and there’s a light at the end of the tunnel.”

to big, and many were given in memory of loved ones.

Dollars for Scholars alone handed out thousands of dollars in both academic and so-called “work” scholarships that students earn by volunteering their time at school and in the community.

And the students were, to say the least, appreciative.

As they received their certificates, virtually every one of them expressed their gratitude and thanks to those who are making that first year of school beyond New Hampton High affordable.

And as always, there were touching moments throughout the ceremony. Maybe the most stirring occurred late in the program when the Class of 2018 officers — Aden Zwanziger, Jordan Holthaus, Shane Birk, Isabel Leichtman and Kaelyn Ambrose presented the first-ever Daisy Rodriguez Memorial Scholarship to their classmate, Hannah Schwickerath.

Rodriguez lost her life three years ago in a car accident in Minnesota, and this year’s senior class not only remembered her with the scholarship but also by having the daisy serve as its class flower.

“It’s always a special night,” Lewis said, “and I hope our kids appreciate that they live in a community that values them so much that it’s willing to give them a great start on their future.”

Teacher hopes another will run pen pal program when she retires

PEN PALS: FROM 1

They continue the friendship in pen pal form by writing letters.

One time Hennessy's students Skyped and played a game with their pen pals.

Hennessy met a student at an elementary carnival whose pen pal traveled from Osage for the event. Even if they don't get quite that close, the students often keep track of their pen pals when they play them in sports.

To teach them to write, Hennessy or the other teachers usually give students a topic, such as "What was your favorite part of the visit to Osage?"; "What did you do for Christmas?" or "What are your favorite things?"

Lucas Johanns of Osage remembered that his pen pal, Cade Orr of New Hampton, likes popcorn because Lucas likes popcorn, too. Other common interests include playing soccer and wrestling at home with older brothers or cousins.

Students walked from the elementary building downtown out to Mikkelson Park on Tuesday for a day to picnic and play, so they had a chance to make conversation with their pen pals. Still many were stumped about what their pal enjoyed.

They write four times a year, Hennessy said.

Rylee Ferch and Natalie Grace Flanscha, both of New Hampton, when they got to choose which New Hampton postcard to send their pen pals, both sent one with a photo of the swimming pool. Rylee writes to Lexi and Natalie to Zoey.

"It's so fun being with the kids," Hennessy said looking back on her time teaching. "Through the years we've kept the pen pal thing going."

Looking ahead to Lewis and herself both being retired, she's not sure if the program will continue, but she hopes someone will take up the torch — or the pencil and paper — for the next leg of the marathon.

Beginning at age 6, Agatha attended St. Mary's School, Festina. During summers, she helped her aunt and uncle, and sometimes grandparents and friends, with housecleaning, painting, butchering, moving or when someone was ill, until she was 17. and seeing places in Iowa.

About four months before entering St. Rose Convent, Agatha took a job at St. Joseph's Home, La Crosse. She was undecided about entering the convent until the morning she left home, Jan. 20, 1946.

Agatha was received into the novitiate on Aug. 12, 1946, and was given the name Sister Phyllis Ann. She made first profession of vows on Aug. 12, 1948, and final vows on Aug. 9, 1954.

Beginning her active ministry as a homemaker, Sister Phyllis Ann served her sisters in convent homes in Guam, Idaho, Utah, Wisconsin and Washington.

Sister Phyllis Ann earned a bachelor's degree from Viterbo College (University) in dietetics, with a minor in home economics. After earning her dietetics degree, she became a dietary supervisor at Milbank, S.D. and Hillsboro, Wis. Sister Phyllis Ann felt called to serve in the pastoral care ministry and became a clinical pastoral educator. She eventually became certified as a chaplain.

From 1980 to 1993, Sister Phyllis Ann was employed as a chaplain at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Belleville, Ill.

Her last nine years of active ministry were at St. Joseph's Parish, New Hampton, serving as pastoral associate. While serving in New Hampton, she started a food pantry and also worked in hospice. She retired to St. Rose Convent in 2002. She moved to Villa St. Joseph in 2017.

Community members, family and friends will remember Sister Phyllis Ann as someone who enjoyed being around people and helping them. Family and friends were an integral part of her life. While she was in Belleville, she not only served in pastoral care at the hospital, but was active in St. Luke's Parish and volunteered at hospice during her free time. Sister Phyllis Ann learned how to play guitar and would play and sing gospel music at nursing homes. She had a courageous spirit that led her to explore any adventurous opportunity that presented itself.

Sister Phyllis Ann is survived by her religious community; two sisters: Lucille Kruse, Ossian and Phyllis (Duane) Einwalter, Fort Atkinson; two brothers: Paul (Betty) Hackman, Calmar and Norbert (Mary) Hackman, Fort Atkinson and nieces and nephews.

She was preceded in death by her parents, her brother Othmar and her sisters, Sister Marcella Hackman, FSPA, Irene Shatek and Rita Shatek.

When the polka music started, so did Alice McGovern's clapping. The enthusiasm of the Janesville resident, who is recuperating at Linn Haven Rehabilitation and Healthcare, soon affected her entire table.

Soon George Harms from the Britt area, Jeanette Garbes from Nashua, and Dan Barth from Greene began to clap to the tunes spun by Tim "the Music Man" Howland of Protivin at his program on Tuesday.

Being Disciplined

“Discipline” is a word that is pregnant with meaning. We can use the expression “being disciplined” to mean that one shows self-restraint and has regulated his or her life in such a way that there is order and that one’s life is productive. We can also talk of “being disciplined” to mean that one is being punished by external forces or agents. Parents discipline their children in an attempt to help them develop that self-restraint or discipline which is necessary for them to function well. In a spiritual context, discipline is likewise pregnant with meaning. There are a variety of practices which might be termed “disciplines,” such as fasting, praying, and obedience, which deepen our spiritual lives and help us develop the proper self-restraint in the spiritual realm. Self-restraint is such an important character trait that without it life becomes chaotic. People who cannot restrain themselves find themselves addicted to drugs, incarcerated, and without the material resources to sustain their own lives. The religious disciplines are helpful in training people to be autonomous, self-restrained members of society, but many of us have forgotten how to do these things, which is why having a spiritual mentor or guide is important. Over the coming weeks, we will examine a variety of spiritual disciplines, including meditation, fasting, praying, and study, as well as simplicity, service and submission. Reflect on areas of your own life where you need to be more disciplined. – Christopher Simon

Desk purchased for dispatch under sheriff's office remodel

Laptops Ok'd for board of health

By MIRA SCHMITT-CASH
news@nhtrib.com

Chickasaw County 911 coordinator Austen Seely has been researching a new dispatch desk since last April, he told Board of Supervisors on Monday. The current desk dates from the 1970s and is crammed into a 12-by-10-foot room.

There are supposed to be two positions at the desk. "Essentially right now one (position) is functional where a dispatcher can sit... The second one is so discombobulated and it can't be modified really with the current desk," Seely said. Communications supplier RaCom through Evans

Furniture delivered a quote for a vertically adjustable custom desk for dispatch consoles one and two, at $46,542. Seely said the desk would be removable if a new sheriff's building were built.

"It's the only desk in county that's staffed 24/7," Seely said.

There was a $438 savings if county staff removes abandoned equipment, which Seely advocated doing.

"The dispatch space we're working in is so small that this is a custom desk," he said.

Seely reached out to a few companies after a local contractor said the project was beyond his scope. One company had insufficiently sturdy desks, he said. Another quote, for two desks, would have caused the dispatchers' chairs to collide when they backed up in the small room, he said.

"Show me what we're getting for (the price)," Supervisor Dan Carolan said. Seely showed him the documents.

"Ten thousand for a setup fee?" Carolan said, shaking his head at the $10,345 estimated for "installation and freight."

Seely said the brand of desk was used in Fayette, Bremer and Howard counties and that he had received good reports from other purchasers.

"I've been working with the dispatchers and this is what they want," Seely said.

There was sufficient funding in the 911 budget to cover the entire quote, but the desk was not expected to be ready until fall. Board members suggested paying part of the price now and part on delivery as allowed by the company.

"The other reason I believe why we have to move on this, if we move on this, is the remodel is in this year's budget," Board of Supervisors Chairman Jacob Hackman said. "(The sheriff) did not budget it for next year."

A motion to approve purchasing the dispatch desk from Evans Furniture at $46,542 from the capital projects fund passed without contest.

To purchase six Surface Pro laptops for about $11,722 from the data processing budget, to be used for the Board of Health, was approved by the Chickasaw County Board of Supervisors on Monday. This year's data processing budget includes the funds to pay for it, said Ray Armel, who handles data processing. The budget covers hardware, software and service contracts. Software is expected to arrive in early June. The plan is to have the machines in use for a June training session.

Some of the oldest computers in the courthouse are in the process of being replaced, as budgeted. When complete, there will be two replacement computers in the assessor's office, two in the recorder's office, and one in the treasurer's office, he said.

The Chickasaw County Board of Supervisors accepted three resignations on Monday.

Jail administrator Keri Stepan resigned effective May 22 to take a job in the Fayette County Treasurer's Office, citing changes to the county family health insurance coverage.

"While the decision to leave the Sheriff's Office has been one of the hardest I have faced, the upcoming changes to our family health insurance coverage has made the decision a bit easier. It is my hope that the Board of Supervisors will realize that these changes are not in the best interest of the people who serve Chickasaw County," Stepan wrote.

Diana Nath, a home health aide, resigned effective May 31. She said her spouse accepted a job out of state. The Board of Health has posted the position on its website.

A partial resignation of the county Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA) compliance officer "effective immediately" came with a May 7 letter. "I feel I ...only can handle my department for (HIPAA) compliance," Public Health Administrator Kathy Babcock wrote. "This position (requires to) devote ...more time than I have available to fill the needs of compliance with training and education."

Thousands greet Clarksville 'idol' in streets

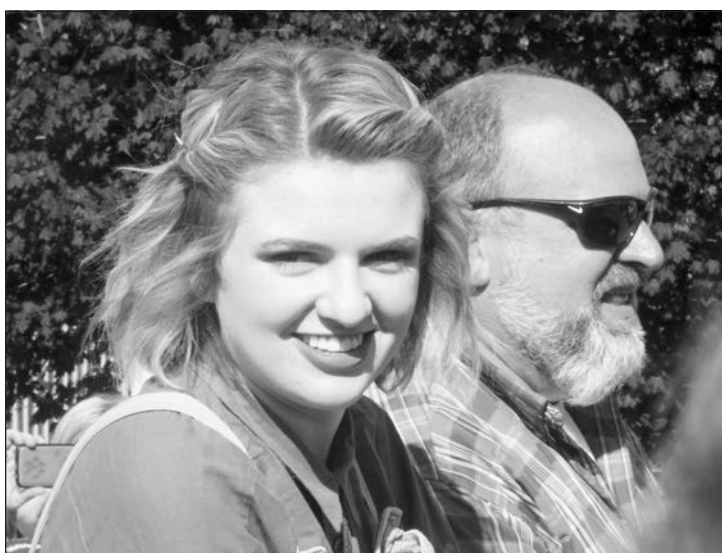

By JAMES GROBB
jgrob@charlescitypress.com

Thousands of fans lined the streets of Clarksville late Tuesday afternoon as hometown girl Maddie Poppe led a parade in her honor. The 20-year old from made the final three on "American Idol" last Sunday, and was back in Clarksville for the parade, followed by a free concert in at the Butler County Fairgrounds in Allison. An "American Idol" video crew filmed the parade and concert for Sunday's episode of the show.

Poppe rode the parade route in a convertible, with her parents in a convertible directly behind. Her grandparents followed that car in a limousine.

The "American Idol" face-off performances are on ABC-TV on Sunday, beginning at 7 p.m. The winner will be announced in the season finale on Monday, May 21 at 7 p.m.

Grob writes for the Tribune's sister paper, the Charles City Press, and shared this story.

Top girls to compete at Garner Monday

NH Girls Golf: From 14

with a 40 and 42.

“Morgan played real solid. Those girls, sometimes I just get out of their way and let them do their thing. Morgan and Allison are used to playing Waterloo junior golf and they’re not allowed to have adults follow them around, they’re on their own. Emma’s got experience with that, too.”

After qualifying for state in the high jump last week Marcy Uglum joined the team and finished with a 101. Olson had mentioned that his fourth golfer needed to get closer to that magic 100 mark for his Chickasaws to be a more solid team.

Other Chickasaws and their career-low scores were Barbara Schwickerath and Regan Gebel, both with a 105. The Nuss sisters and Ewert were all in the top six, but of course all will be competing as a team in the next round of regionals.

In a meet to be hosted by Garner, the Class 2A Chickasaw 3B region will take on the top three teams from a 3A region, which includes Okoboji — which won the region with a 365 — Emmetsburg (395) and Garner-Hayfield-Ventura (409).

Only two teams will advance from the second round of regionals to the state tourney, along with the top eight individuals — and those tied for eighth place — regardless if they are on a qualifying team or not.

Four of the top five Class 2A individual girls will be at the tourney, including top-ranked Bailee Frayne of Garner-Hayfield-Ventura; Allison Nuss, ranked third; Weber (No. 4) and Morgan Nuss (No. 5).

As a team, the Chickasaws are first and Okoboji is fourth.

“We were prepared for the first round and we’ll be prepared for Garner,” said Olson. “We’re sitting pretty good average-wise, we play next week like we played Monday and the Monday before that we’ll be OK.”

TEAM SCORES

1. New Hampton 341, 2. Dike-New Hartford 387, 3. West Marshall 392, 4. East Marshall 417, 5. Osage 418, 6. Hampton-Dumont 422, 7. Aplington-Parkersburg 434, 8. South Hardin 440.

Medalist - Morgan Weber (D-NH)

NEW HAMPTON SCORES

Allison Nuss 35-42 77, Morgan Nuss 42-39 81, Emma Ewert 40-42 82, Marcy Uglum 51-50 101, Barbara Schwickerath 50-55 105, Regan Gebel 56-49 105.

Bob Fenske/Tribune

Scoring in the No. 3 spot for the Chickasaws was Hunter Pesek as the sophomore put up a score of 89 in the Northeast Iowa Conference meet Monday.

NH boys eye the bigger prize

NH Boys Golf: From 14

85. Hunter Pesek added an 89 while Wyatt Stochl shot a 91 to round out New Hampton’s scorers.

And while Zwanziger repeated his top-five finish of a year ago, even that came with a healthy dose of frustration.

Zwanziger finished two shots behind Decorah’s Tom Knoke, who won medalist honors, but for the longest time, it looked like the New Hampton senior was going to win the individual title. But late in his round, he took a triple bogey.

“He was pretty down, but hey, he did give us a 79,” Glenn said. “I get it, when you’re that close, it’s really tough to take, but I know Aden, he’ll bounce back for us.”

Anderson’s chances to repeat as conference medalist were dashed by an opening-nine 46, but the junior responded to close out his round with a 39 on his second nine.

Pesek, meanwhile, put together one of his best rounds of golf of the season, and Glenn said the sophomore has come “miles” this year.

“He opened with a 47 and if he does that last year, it’s a 52, 53 or higher on the second nine,” the coach said. “But he comes back with a 42. He’s maturing, learning how to just move on.”

But maybe the biggest reason for optimism today is how New Hampton played during a practice round at Dike the day after the conference meet.

“We played great there, and as frustrated as they were on Monday, you can tell they’re not looking back but focused on the district meet,” he said.

Asked about what his Chickasaws need to shoot at a district meet that may not have a power team but is deep with good teams, he quickly threw out a number.

“We’re capable of shooting a 320,” he said. “You know, we do that, we put a 320 up there, and don’t make it, I’m going to be OK because I’ll know we played the way we can.”

TEAM STANDINGS

Decorah 331, Charles City 341, New Hampton 344, Waverly-Shell Rock 351, Waukon 371, Oelwein 386, Crestwood 409.

Nashua residents want city’s Welcome Center to stay open

Gateway to Northeast Iowa Welcome Center is facing troubled times but has plenty of support

By JENNIFER LANTZ

For the Tribune

Area residents took a famous quote from John F. Kennedy during a special City Council meeting to discuss the financial situation at the Gateway to Northeast Iowa Welcome Center.

Basically, they said, “Ask not what Nashua can do for you, ask what you can do for Nashua.”

Many area residents and vendors turned out to discuss the city of Nashua’s challenges last few years facing multiple deficits in various departments.

Mayor Butch Betsinger announced a public meeting during last week’s regular City Council meeting regarding the center looking for information and input.

Betsinger started the public meeting by telling those in the audience the Council is looking for “information to see how to keep the Welcome Center open.”

Questions and concerns from the public were heard by the Council after City Clerk Rhonda Dean went through the revenue and expense report from the center.

The report showed figures from 2013 to present day and in this report it shows how the center has been losing money every year. Currently the center has revenues of $42,128, expenses of $62,229 with a total of $20,101 in the red for this fiscal year which will end on June 30.

Lyn Hites suggested the Council should reconsider the speed camera option for the Nashua Police Department so the cameras could pay for the Welcome Center.

A few residents even admitted they did not want the center when it was built and thought it was a bad idea for Nashua and even signed the petition to stop the center from being built.

These same residents are now hoping there is a way to save the center since it is a tornado shelter for campers at the park and residents of the trailer park.

“I was against this from the beginning” admitted Dawn Garbes who now shops at the center for gifts. “But we need to figure out what to do to save the center. It’s worth saving.”

Nashua Area Chamber of Commerce President Terry Hinrichs agreed there is a need for “attitude changes in this community.”

He went on to point out the ceiling tiles laid in the basement of the center for seven years before he volunteered to assemble them and put in the ceiling. He challenged everyone to volunteer and see what can be done to make Nashua better. He added that no one wants to be part of a community where everyone is fighting.

Hinrichs also questioned why the crafters expenses and revenues were not adding up. Dean admitted she noticed the problem also but reminded him she has only been here since November.

After the numerous ideas the audience gave the Council, Harold Kellnher III reminded the residents “we are employed by you and I appreciate the input. We’re not going to make any decision without you.”

In the Survivors’ lap at the 2017 American Cancer Society Relay for Life of Chickasaw County, a team of horses pulls a relay team including cancer survivors.

American Cancer Society Relay, Classic Night team up to ‘drive out’ cancer

This year’s American Cancer Society Relay For Life of Chickasaw County will take place on Thursday, May 31 from 5 to 9 p.m. on Walnut Street between Main and Prospect streets in New Hampton.

Relay For Life is partnering with Classic Night to Drive Out Cancer. The entire community is encouraged to turn out to this family-friendly event featuring a meal, music, silent auction, classic cars, tractors and motorcycles, quilt raffle, basket raffle, kids activities, walking path around the block, and a chance to honor our cancer survivors and remember those lost.

Local cancer survivors will be honored at the annual event throughout the evening and following the opening ceremonies at 5:45 p.m. with a horse drawn wagon ride. Anyone who has ever been diagnosed with cancer may participate. The community is encouraged to cheer them on in a demonstration of support and celebration.

Luminaria line the sidewalk at the 2017 ACS Relay for Life. The lighted bags are decorated in honor of someone who battled cancer.

Cancer patients, survivors, and caregivers are honored and recognized in a special way for their brave fight at the relay.

Any cancer survivor who would like to be a part of Relay For Life, please check-in at the tent at Relay For Life on May 31.

Luminaria bags are available for those wishing to have them decorated for the Relay For Life. Luminaria are done “In Honor Of” someone who has battled cancer, “In Memory Of” someone who has lost their battle with cancer, or “In Appreciation Of” for caregivers.

Bags and forms are available for pick up at First Citizens Bank or by calling Barb Havlik at 641-330-6329. The bags will also be available the night of relay.

The luminaria ceremony and reading of the names will be at 7 p.m.

“I encourage all Chickasaw County residents to join in on the activities at the Relay,” American Cancer Society volunteer, Lacy Carolan says.

“As a former caregiver of a cancer patient, I find it inspiring to see people at the event, and it is fun for all ages. I think that it shows the survivors they are being thought about and we are working on trying to find a world without cancer,” she said.

This year, an estimated 1.3 million people in the U.S. will participate in more than 2,000 events to help the American Cancer Society attack cancer in dozens of ways, each of them critical to achieving a world without cancer – from developing breakthrough therapies to building supportive communities, from providing empowering resources to deploying activists to raise awareness. Funds raised support the American Cancer Society 24/7 cancer help line and free rides to chemo.

For more information on how to take part in the Relay For Life event, visit relayforlife.org/chickasawcountytia or call Lacy Carolan at 641-330-6790.

Turkey Valley girls end golf season at regional first round

By DOROTHY HUBER
sports@nhtrib.com

Though it wasn't a very long season, the 2018 campaign came to an end for the Turkey Valley girls' golf team at the first round of regional competition Monday.

The girls struggled, and trailed the field of eight in a meet hosted by South Winn and held at Silver Springs Golf Course near Ossian.

Turkey Valley turned in a 492. "Although the course was a little soggy, overall it was in great shape," said coach John Reicks. "The South Winneshiek coaching staff and administration did an excellent job of hosting."

The Trojan girls were led by senior Nicole Panos with a 112, playing rounds of 60 and 52. "Just five strokes away from advancing to the next round," Reicks said. "Her putting was better today, but just not quite good enough for her to advance."

Savannah Schmitt (64-58; 122) was next, followed by senior Jenna Schmitt (59-69; 128). Rachelle Smith carded a (63-67; 130), and senior Kaci Rausch (71-66; 137) and sophomore Marisa Muetherthies (79 -75; 154) rounded out the TV scorecard.

"Despite losing over half of our meets this year due to weather, the girls remained positive and upbeat," the coach said. "I am going to miss my four-year letterwinners Jenna Schmitt and Kaci Rausch. They really helped develop our program and showed the younger girls how to play the game the right way. Senior newcomer Nicole Panos was a great addition to our team this season and was our overall low scorer on the year."

Hopefully the weather will cooperate better during the 2019 season.

"If the sophomores, freshmen, and junior high kids can find a way to spend some of their extra free time on the golf course this summer, we should be much improved when the 2019 season rolls around."

Minus seniors, Chickasaws still win NH Black takes top squad honor at first of three meets at Cedar Falls

Tuesday's trapshooting meet was a coming attraction, if you will, of next year's Chickasaws. Because of the senior banquet and awards night, none of the seniors competed against the Tigers.

And while those seniors will surely be missed next year, the remaining team members still did quite well. New Hampton Black won the top squad score with a 233, led by a 49 by Adrian Rings and followed by Tanner Lane (48), Cole Orthauss (46), Katie Holschlag (45) and Kyle Kuehn (45).

Rings was the top girl, the only girl in the six-school meet with a 49. That was also the top score for the boys, but the best for the Chickasaws was a 48, hit by Tanner Lane and Tristen Schmidt. Those three shooters finished their competition with a perfect round of 25.

The 48 by Lane was his season high, as was a 47 by Connor Croell.

The road to Cedar Falls will be well traveled by the Chickasaws this week. New Hampton competes in the Waverly-Shell Rock Invitational at Cedar Falls Saturday and on Tuesday they are at Cedar Falls again.

TV shooters win top individual awards against South Winn

The winning individual girl and the winning individual boy had the same scores as the Turkey Valley trapshooters hosted South Winn Monday.

And both were Turkey Valley shooters. Both Shaylee Brincks and Ethan Leibold hit 49 of 50 targets, both shot on a TV Gold squad that finished with a 224, second to South Winn Red, which finished at 231.

Across the board the Trojans had some good squad scores, with four over the 200 mark. Even a "track boys" group — with only four shooters — had a better score than a complete squad of Warriors.

Brincks and Leibold weren't the only Trojans to pick up awards, as Braeden Baumler was second for the boys with a 48 and both Shayla Kuennen and Kaylie Klimesh tied for third among the girls with a 44.

The Trojans will compete at Cedar Falls — the site for the June state meet — both Saturday and next Tuesday.

Chickasaw boys struggle, settle for third at NEIC

Zwanziger finishes third, Anderson is ninth to earn all-conference honors

By Bob Fenske
editor@nhtrib.com

The goal for the New Hampton boys golf team was a second straight Northeast Iowa Conference championship so a third-place finish at Monday's meet in Oelwein can be summed up in one word. "Disappointing," coach Bill Glenn said. "We just didn't play well. There's not much else to say."

But if there is a consolation prize, it is this: The Chickasaws have a shot at redemption today [Friday], when they travel to Dike for the Class 2A district tournament.

"I told our guys as disappointing as Monday was, if we had to pick between conference or district, we'll take district," he said. "We wanted both, but if we could only have one, going to state should be at the top of our list."

Decorah won the meet with a 331, 10 shots better than runner-up Charles City while New Hampton carded a 344.

Aden Zwanziger led the way for New Hampton with a 79 to finish third in the medalist standings while Ryan Anderson also made the all-conference field by finishing ninth with an

NEW HAMPTON GIRLS WIN FIRST ROUND OF REGIONAL BY 46 STROKES

By Dorothy Huber

Most of New Hampton's golfers put up career-best 18-hole scores as the Chickasaw girls were in the process of winning their regional first round Monday.

With a 341, the margin of victory over their Dike-New Hartford hosts was by 46 strokes. Since the host team was one of the top two teams, there will be three teams advancing to the second round of regionals, with West Marshall joining the Chickasaws and Dike-New Hartford.

For the first time this season, neither

Allison or Morgan Nuss was the medalist as Dike's Morgan Weber edged Allison by two strokes, 75-77.

The 77 was one short of the school record, owned by the Chickasaw. "Allison was cruising, about the best I've seen her play," said coach Eric Olson. "Until she got to that one hole."

Nuss started the meet off with a double bogey, but with an eagle and two birdies included in the rest of the front nine, she finished with a one under par 35. Had this been only a nine-hole meet, the 35 would have set a new school record, beating her old record of 36.

In the second nine she was playing two over par until she hit hole No. 16 — a par 5 — and she turned in a 9 on the hole.

"She just pulled it and landed in the water a couple of times, but she bounced back and parred the last two holes."

With a 42 on the back nine, Allison finished with a 77, the only golfer without a career high.

Morgan landed an 81, never going higher than a par or bogey her entire 18 holes and finished the second nine with a birdie for a 39. Emma Ewert played an 82,
