City ballot ends up a little light

November election will produce write-in winners in Ward 4 and on Park Board

By BOB FENSKE

Two New Hampton City Council members will not seek re-election this fall; in fact, one of them will be replaced by a write-in candidate.

Chickasaw County's largest city won't have a contested race on the ballot when voters head to the polls on Nov. 2, and after the filing deadline for nomination papers passed on Thursday, New Hampton has two seats that have no declared candidates.

Ward 2 Councilman Scott Perkins and Ward 4 Councilman Bruce Diiro both decided against seeking re-election, and while Diiro's seat had one candidate, Mindy Casterton-Humpal, file nomination papers, Perkins' seat that covers the northwestern quadrant of the city, will be decided by write-in votes.

The New Hampton Park Board will also have one seat open to a write-in candidate as incumbents Connie Boyd and Sarah Dungey elected to seek re-election while incumbent Eric Robinson announced he would not seek another term.

New Hampton also won't have any contested races for its School Board. Incumbent Tim Denner was the lone incumbent to file nomination papers, and although neither Board President Joe Rosonke nor Board Vice President

Damian Baltes filed candidate papers, two other residents — Adam Schwickerath and Bob Ayers, who served the district for years as its

Hall of Fame will induct a trio Friday

Flansche, Huegel, Rasing will be honored before homecoming tilt

By BOB FENSKE
editor@nhtrib.com

New Hampton High School's Athletic Hall of Fame will welcome three new members before the Chickasaws' football team plays Crestwood in the annual homecoming game this Friday.

Those being inducted include Blake Flansche, the only New Hampton athlete to win two state titles in the same event; Kristi Huegel, an all-state basketball and softball player who led the Chickasaws to state tournaments in both sports; and Blake Rasing, a state heavyweight champion who went on to win a Big 10 title for the Iowa Hawkeyes.

Each year the Chickasaw Booster Club coordinates the Athletic Hall of Fame induction ceremony for the New Hampton Community School District.

The Hall of Fame was initiated in 1995 and, with the addition of the Class of 2021, the hall will have 126 members.

Individuals may be inducted for their success as an athlete, coach or in the area of service as a patron and supporter of the New Hampton athletic programs.

The 2021 Hall of Fame inductees who will be honored Friday night include:

Blake Flansche

Blake Flansche was the model of consistency when it came to his favorite race, the 110-meter high hurdles, a race he dominated for much of his career as a Chickasaw.

Flansche has nine of the top 10 times ever recorded by a Chickasaw in the event, he was a four-time Drake Relays qualifier and he won state titles in both 1999 and 2000 in the event. His time of 14.52 seconds was the best time recorded in any class during the 2000 state meet, and his school record time of 14.25 seconds has stood for 21 years.

Yet, his fondest memory of his New Hampton athletic career wasn't track or football, a sport in which he was part of New Hampton's 1999 state championship team.

Instead, it was getting the chance to excel as a Chickasaw.

"The opportunity that was placed in front of me to excel and be great is my fond attachment to New Hampton High School," he said, "and the teachers and coaches that gave me that motivation to be the best is what I'll always remember."

Today, Flansche, a former captain in the U.S. Coast Guard, owns and operates Fleetwood Bass Fishing, where he has a fleet of young fishing guides and designs unique baits.

He is engaged to Taylor Valdes, has a 1 1/2-year-old daughter Olsen Bloom and an 8-year-old stepson Nixon.

He won't be able to attend Friday's ceremony because as he put it,

"I'm in Florida raising a family and fishing,"

TriMark employees work inside the company's plant that is located on New Hampton's west side. TriMark has come a long way since its founding in 1971 as a small tool and die company, and in a special section published in today's Tribune, we look back on the remarkable journey the company has taken as it celebrates its 50th anniversary.

AN AMERICAN SUCCESS STORY

TRI-MARK HAS ENJOYED A REMARKABLE RUN SINCE IT OPENED ITS DOORS 50 YEARS AGO

By BOB FENSKE
editor@nhtrib.com

Paul Braithwaite went to work for Lynor Engineering back in 1975.

The name changed to TriMark a few years later, the company became an employee-owned company — or as TriMark employees like to say, an ESOP in 1989 — and the New Hampton-based manufacturer opened a plant in the United Kingdom in the 1990s and another facility in China in the 2000s.

Four years before Braithwaite came to work, Lynor opened in a building that encompassed less than 5,000 square feet and the number of employees was under 10. Forty-six years after Braithwaite came to work, the company has almost 500 employees spread around the globe and its New Hampton facility in the city's westside Industrial Park has grown to 144,000 square feet.

Yet, as it celebrates its 50th anniversary, company officials say the key to its growth and success over the last half-century hasn't changed.

Chickasaw County reports another 30 positive tests of COVID-19

MercyOne New Hampton officials say battle against virus not over, ‘we must continue to keep our communities and each other safe’

By BOB FENSKE
editor@nhtrib.com

Chickasaw County recorded the highest number of positive COVID-19 tests in more than eight months last week and the county’s lone hospital released a statement asking residents to help keep their family, friends and neighbors safe.

According to Public Health and Homecare Services Administrator Lisa Welter’s weekly report, 30 residents tested positive for the Coronavirus during the seven-day period that ended on Friday. That’s the most positive tests in the county since Welter reported 31 positive tests in the seven-day period that ended Friday, Jan. 8.

MercyOne Public Relations and Development Manager Jennifer Monteith said the recent surge — the county has reported double-digit positive tests in each of the last six weeks — has raised the concern of hospital officials.

“Our battle against COVID-19 is not over and we must continue to keep our communities and each other safe. We cannot risk peoples lives by being complacent,” hospital officials said in a statement released Friday afternoon. “If you have any symptoms of COVID, please get tested and stay home if you are sick.

“MercyOne continues to encourage all who are eligible to get vaccinated for COVID-19, it’s the best tool we have to protect ourselves and our families. Vaccines are highly protective against severe infection, hospitalizations, and death.”

Welter’s report showed that last week’s positive tests came from a variety of age groups — eight residents in the ages 0-17 group, eight in the 18-49 group, nine in the 41 to 60 group and five in the 61-80 group.

Seven of the positive tests were found in people who had been fully vaccinated while three were found in people who are not eligible to obtain the vaccine.

“I would say we have to be mindful,” Welter said, “of what we do and our actions to prevent the spread. I will say it again, but we have to do all those little things — washing our hands, staying home when we’re sick — that prevent the spread of any illnesses.”

She said Public Health is partnering with Dr. Lucas Brinkman and the Fredericksburg Family Clinic, which now gives county residents four “in-county” locations — the others, in addition to Public Health are MercyOne New Hampton Family Clinic and Bennett Phamarcy — to get the vaccine.

Public Health announces dates for flu-shot clinics

Chickasaw County Public Health and Homecare Services will kick off its annual flu clinics this Wednesday when it will distribute flu shots at the Chickasaw County Community Services Building in New Hampton from 7 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The cost of the vaccines are $40 for a regular flu shot and $65 for high dose that is geared to residents 65 and older and “Flu Blok” which is for residents ages 18 to 65.

Insurance cards or payments are needed at the time of vaccination, and officials say most insurance plans are accepted.

Other flu clinics include:

- Thursday: Fredericksburg Municipal Hall from 9 to 11 a.m.
- Tuesday, Sept. 28: United Methodist Church in Nashua from 9 to 11 a.m.
- Thursday, Sept. 30: Lawler City Hall Community Room from 9 to 11 a.m.
- Monday, Oct. 4: Ionia Community Library from 1 to 3 p.m.
- Friday, Oct. 8: Zion Lutheran Church in Alta Vista from 9 to 11 a.m.
- Tuesday, Oct. 12: Chickasaw Community Service Building in New Hampton from 7 a.m. to 5 p.m.

A tasty kind of traffic jam for the Fall Festival!

Holy Family Parish members rush to and fro to fill food orders during the church’s annual Fall Festival, that was held as a drive-up event on Sunday in New Hampton.

Church members like Stephanie Mashek (left) took orders on one street and customers then entered one of three drive-up lanes to pick up their food.

The annual event is Holy Family’s largest fundraiser of the year, and Father Brian Dellaert said he and his parish were appreciative of the support it received on Sunday.

National Eagle Program Avian Specialist Tiffany Ploehn laughs as Latch checks to make sure the kids taking part in a New Hampton Public Library program last week are going to stay away from his snack.

Library director likes being ‘back in business’

Visit from National Eagle Center makes first program sponsored by library since pancemic started

By Bob Fenske
editor@nhtrib.com

It had been too long — way, way too long — since Carrie Becker and her New Hampton Public Library staff had been able to welcome kids to an “in-person” program.

The wait ended last Thursday, and those who attended a program put on a program by the National Eagle Center’s Tiffany Ploehn loved almost every minute of it.

Granted Ploehn wasn’t really the star of this program; instead, Latch, a 5-year-old bald eagle stole the show.

“It was just so fascinating, and to see the kids so fixated was just awesome,” said Becker, the director of the New Hampton Public Library who hasn’t hosted a program outside the library since the COVID-19 pandemic began in the spring of 2020. “I think we just need some normalcy, some fun, and that’s what this was all about. And if we can learn a thing or two, that’s a pretty nice bonus.”

Trust us, we learned.

Kids, their parents and, yes, a few adults learned a lot about eagles, thanks to Ploehn and her trusty sidekick.

Ploehn works at the National Eagle Center in Wabasha, Minnesota, which is located near the Mississippi River.

So what did we learn?

- Female eagles are much bigger than their male counterparts.
- It takes a while for a bald eagle to become, well, bald.

Ploehn shared that eagles heads don’t completely whiten until they’re about 6 or 7 years old. “If you come up and see Latch in a year or two, he’ll be completely bald,” she said.

- Eagles nests are a continuous work in progress. Eagles add to their nests every year, and Ploehn said she has seen nests that are 8 to 9 feet deep and weigh up to 2,000 pounds.

Just to show how big a nest can be, Ploehn showed a picture of a bear hibernating in one.

- Eagles have great vision — from the air, they can see a rabbit on the ground from three miles away — but they don’t have peripheral vision.
- Eagles don’t just like fish; instead, they’ll eat almost anything. Case in point: Latch snacked on rat while Ploehn held him while sharing a host of eagle facts with those who attended the program at the New Hampton Community Center.

“He’s kind of a messy eater,” Ploehn said with a laugh, “but that’s because he uses his talons to get to his food and so, yeah, he’s going to drop a few pieces here and there.”

She laughed and looked to Becker in the back of the room.

“I promise we’ll clean up,” she added.

But Ploehn and Becker were impressed with how the youngsters in the room followed directions.

Because of Latch’s lack of peripheral vision, Ploehn asked children to use their “indoor voice” when she removed him from his cage, and if they were graded on following directions, the kids would have received straight A’s on Thursday evening.

“They did so well,” Becker said, “and I think they were just as excited to have a program as I was so they were going to follow all the directions.”

Becker said the eagle program was another sign that the library is, as she put it, getting back to normal.

She said the library’s weekly story time that is held each Wednesday morning at 10 has been drawing a number of families each week.

“We’re getting back in business,” she said. “We did very well during the pandemic ... I think we learned how much people love their library, but to have just a normal program, that was fun.”

ROUTINE MAINTENANCE

WORSHIPING GOD WITH HIS PEOPLE IS VITAL FOR ALL OF US

Yesterday my wife and I were in Charles City for a few errands. I noticed that her car was due for an oil change. It was a nuisance to take the time to go to the oil change place and wait for them to get the job done, but I didn't really mind because it's part of keeping her car at its best over the long haul.

I don't like routine maintenance. Once I have something, I just want it to work. I want to drive away from the dealership ready to just drive the car when I need to go somewhere. I don't want to spend time in oil change facilities, tire shops or parts stores. I just want to drive.

But, unless I want to scrap a car every two or three years, I have to make those side trips, sit in the waiting areas, then pay for maintenance.

My car needs routine oil changes. The oil gets dirty and gritty over time, and it will wear our the key parts of the engine if it isn't drained and replaced regularly.

Why do Christians make such a fuss over worship attendance? If you just show up once in a while, when the mood is right, haven't you done enough to establish or maintain your legitimacy as a Christian? Well, if the point is to keep your name on the "active member" roll, sure.

But as we go about our business in the world, we all pick up the grit of sin and worldliness, and as it mixes into us, it begins to wear away at our faith, our obedience, our consistency. One of the functions of weekly worship is a regular changing of the oil of our souls. We need the reminder that Jesus is Lord and savior. We need the strength of uniting in prayer. We need the reinforcement of preaching and teaching from the Word of God. We need a focal point for our giving back to God. We need the participation in the family meal of communion.

God, in creation, established a weekly cycle of life, six days of work and routine, and one for worship, family, rest and reflection.

You may not expect a pastor to say this, but I don't much care if you go to church or not. What I care about is that you worship God with His people regularly. You and I need that weekly oil change, that weekly cleansing, that weekly refocusing, so that we can be effective carriers of Christ into the world.

Pastor Doug Harvey serves Harvest Church in New Hampton and for more information about Harvey's church, go online to www.harvestcares.com

You're surrounded by churches that are open for worship every Sunday. Their weekly worship isn't a way to keep the institution running, it's a gift of God for your spiritual strength and health. Receive the gift by being with the worshiping people of God this Sunday and every Sunday.

they will not turn from it.

Are Your Loved Ones Prepared to Be Caregivers?

Once you're retired and your children are grown, they are likely "off the books," as far as your financial responsibility for them is concerned. Yet, you're probably still prepared to do anything to help them – but are they ready to take care of you if the need arises?

Consider this: Almost half of retirees say that the ideal role in retirement is providing support to family and other loved ones, according to the Edward Jones/ Age Wave study titled Four Pillars of the New Retirement: What a Difference a Year Makes – and a slightly earlier version of the same study found that 72% of retirees say one of their biggest fears is becoming a burden on their family members.

So, if you are recently retired or plan to retire in the next few years, you may need to reconcile your desire to help your adult children or other close relatives with your concern that you could become dependent on them. You'll need to consider whether your loved ones can handle caregiving responsibilities, which frequently include financial assistance. If they did have to provide some caregiving services for you, could they afford it? About 80% of caregivers now pay for some caregiving costs out of their own pockets – and one in five caregivers experience significant financial strain because of caregiving, according to a recent AARP report.

One way to help your family members is to protect yourself from the enormous expense of long-term care. The average cost for a private room in a nursing home is now over $100,000 a year, according to the insurance company Genworth. Medicare won't pay much, if any, of these costs, so you may want to consult with a financial advisor, who can suggest possible ways of addressing long-term care expenses.

Even if you don't require a long stay in a nursing home, you still might need some assistance in the future, especially if your health or mental capacities decline. So, start talking to your loved ones about their possible roles if you should ever need caregiving. You may want to create a caregiving arrangement that specifies payment for caregiving services and outlines the expenses to be reimbursed if paid out of pocket by a caregiver. Also, you may want to create the appropriate legal documents, such as a durable power of attorney for health care, which enables someone to make medical decisions on your behalf should you become incapacitated, and a durable power of attorney for finances, which allows you to name someone to make your financial decisions if you become unable to do so yourself. A legal professional can help you make these arrangements and incorporate them into your overall estate plan. A financial advisor can suggest ways of preparing for the costs involved with caregiving and can direct you to relevant resources, such as social services provided by your city or county.

Clearly, there's much you can do to help shield your family from the financial strain of caregiving. But you are not alone: By drawing on other resources and outside help, you can ease the burden on your loved ones. And everyone will feel more secure when you have your arrangements in place.

A proposed map shows proposed Iowa House districts that would move move Chickasaw County into a district that includes all of Howard County and the southern two-thirds of Floyd County.

Lawmakers get first redistricting proposal

By JAMES GROB
jgrob@charlescitypress.com

It looks like Todd Prichard might be spending a little more time in Howard County, if he chooses to run again and is re-elected.

He said he's OK with that, as he knows the area well. His in-laws live there and it's where his wife, Ann, grew up.

"I do a lot of business there, too," Prichard said.

Prichard, a Democrat and attorney from Charles City, has been a representative since 2013 and currently represents Iowa House District 52, covering Floyd, Chickasaw and part of Cerro Gordo county.

That region will change, if the Iowa legislature approves the new district maps that were first released to the public on Thursday.

"Really the only difference for someone from this area that I can see from these state maps is the state House district," Prichard said. "That's my district, and it's about a 33 percent change. Two-thirds of it will be the same as before."

If the maps are approved, Prichard would be in House district 56, which would include all of Howard and Chickasaw Counties, and the southern two-thirds of Floyd County, including the cities of Charles City, New Hampton and Cresco.

House District 52 would now include the eastern half of Cerro Gordo County, while District 55 would include the northern third of Floyd County, all of Mitchell and Worth Counties and the northwest corner of Cerro Gordo County.

There was little change in the Iowa Senate districts. Senate District 28 would include all of Floyd, Chickasaw, Howard, Mitchell and Worth Counties and the northwest corner of Cerro Gordo County.

The district lines are redrawn every 10 years. In the U.S. House, Iowa's four congressional districts would include two that lean heavily toward Republicans, one that favors Democrats and one that both parties would have a chance at winning under proposed redistricting maps released Thursday by a nonpartisan agency.

The Legislative Services Agency has redrawn Iowa's political dividing lines to create a southeastern Iowa 1st Congressional District likely to favor Democrats by placing Linn, Johnson and Scott counties in one district. In south-central Iowa, the 3rd District would slightly lean Democratic thanks to the inclusion of Polk County, the state's large population base.

The new 4th District would grow even larger, increasing from 39 counties to 44 counties, and still include Chickasaw County. It has long been a Republican stronghold and could be even more conservative under the new map.

In northeast Iowa, the proposed 26-county 2nd District would gain Story County, home to Ames, and lean more toward Republicans.

Iowa currently has one Democratic representative and three Republicans.

By state law, the nonpartisan Legislative Services Agency is responsible for following detailed guidelines to ensure population balance among Iowa's congressional districts and to prevent political influence in the initial drafting of changes.

The agency's report said the ideal congressional district population is 797,592 and each of the new districts are close to that, with the 1st District having 63 more people, the 2nd District 36 under, the 3rd eight people under, and the 4th 18 under.

Now that the first map is provided to the Legislature and the public, a five-member Iowa Temporary Redistricting Advisory Commission has 14 days to hold public hearings to gather comment and prepare a report for the Legislature.

The commission has scheduled virtual hearings for this week, and the Legislature is scheduled to meet in special session beginning Oct. 5 to consider the first proposal.

Republicans hold a majority in the Legislature so they will have the power to approve or reject the first set of maps.

Prichard said the map was non-partisan, and did not receive any political input at all.

"I tend to support the map, as opposed to letting the political process influence it," Prichard said. "I think it's the most fair map we can get."

He said that Iowa has a good reputation for drawing up districts and hasn't fallen prey to the gerrymandering that often occurs in other states.

"We've had this system in place for 40 years, and it's a non-partisan group that draws the map," Prichard said. "They're beholden to no one other than to drawing districts that fit the law."

Prichard said he will definitely take the new territory into consideration as he considers whether to run for a House seat again.

"We're a long way out from the next election, I'm not even halfway through this term yet," he said. "Time will tell what I decide to do."

Nashua man dies in two-vehicle crash

A Nashua man died in a two-vehicle accident that occurred last Wednesday afternoon at the intersection of Highway 63 and Highway 18 south of New Hampton.

The Iowa State Patrol says the collision occurred near the off ramp that connects Highway 63 with Highways 18 and 346.

A Hyundai Accent driven by 68-year-old Thomas Kolodziej was turning off Highway 63 at the exit but failed to yield at the stop sign and was struck broadside by a KW eastbound semi-tractor driven by 50-year-old Jason Woodring of Fredericksburg, that was eastbound on 18. Kolodziej died from his injuries suffered in the wreck.

The Chickasaw County Sheriff's Office, Chickasaw County Rescue Squad, Fredericksburg Fire Department and Iowa Motor Vehicle Enforcement also assisted at the site.

The incident remains under investigation.

Upper Iowa dean's list

Upper Iowa University has announced its dean's list for the 2021 Summer Session.

To be honored, a student must have earned a minimum 3.50 grade point average and be enrolled as a full-time student. Among the honorees were:

- New Hampton: Taylor Perkins, a nursing major.
- Nashua: Amber Iriarte, a business administration major.
- Sumner: Kelsey Pagel, a health services administration major.

TriMARK: FROM 1

It's all about the people.

"TriMark has supported me and my family for 46 years," Braithwaite said, "and for that, I am very grateful."

And, so too, is New Hampton. The company throughout its history has been a big supporter of both community and school activities.

In short, this is an American success story, one that the Tribune is sharing in a special section in this week's edition.

From humble beginnings to worldwide innovator, TriMark has taken giant strides throughout its 50-year history.

"When I started, Sara Lee and [John Deere] were the places to work," said David Kerkove, a TriMark employee for 36 years.

"TriMark at the time was not even thought of by many to have much of a future. Boy, were they wrong."

Yes, they were, and for much more on the history of New Hampton's largest employer, we invite our readers to go back down memory lane and see just how far TriMark has come in 50

A very Special Thank You for all the cards and Good wishes on our 50th Anniversary. To our family, friends and neighbors you made it a weekend to treasure.

Thanks again one and all.

Our online readers are split when it comes to who will win the NFC North this season as 43 percent picked the Minnesota Vikings, 33 percent went with the Green Bay Packers, 18 percent cast their lot with the Chicago Bears and 8 percent said this is the year for the Detroit Lions.

This week we're asking our readers if they are for or against Iowa's state law that says individual schools can't on their own have mask mandates?

Father Dellaert and the staff at Holy Family Catholic Church were immeasurably caring and supportive and the Lau family's music made Mark's memorial Mass especially moving and beautiful. Pocketful of Posies provided extraordinary support with floral arrangements and the staff at the Pinicon managed the Celebration of Life for Mark with efficiency and kindness.

It was especially comforting to the family that so many friends and relatives came to celebrate Mark's life - some from great distances.

Inge A. Ott, 83

Inge Ott

Inge A. Ott, age 83 of New Hampton, died Friday evening, Sept. 10, 2021, at her home.

A family graveside service will be held at the New Hampton City Cemetery.

Hugeback-Johnson Funeral Home & Crematory in New Hampton is in charge of arrangements.

Inge A. Ott was born Nov. 21, 1937, in Pforzheim, Germany, the daughter of Richard and Lydia (Dettinger) Walther. She grew up in Pforzheim, a city in southwestern Germany that is known as the "Gateway to the Black Forest."

The resiliency and strength Inge showed throughout her life was instilled in her at an early age, and she grew up in a loving family that included three brothers and one sister. After completing her education, she went to work in a jewelry factory repairing watches.

In the late 1950s, she spent a day at a public swimming pool, where she met an American Airman who was on leave while stationed in Germany. It was a meeting that would change her life, for she began dating Jerome Ott. They fell in love and were married on Aug. 29, 1959, in Germany.

Jerome was from Little Turkey, and when he received his discharge, the couple moved to Iowa and Inge and her growing family made their home in New Hampton. The Ott's six children — Raynold, Patricia, Susan, Martin, Karen and Christina — had a mother who taught them to be strong, yet giving, people.

Inge worked for several years at what was then St. Joseph's Hospital in New Hampton, but shortly after Sara Lee opened its plant in New Hampton, she went to work for the bakery on its production line and remained there until the plant closed in 2000.

But family — both her Iowa and Germany ones — were always the most important part of Inge's life. She was an excellent seamstress who made clothes for her children, she was exceptionally crafty and made a variety of gifts for family members throughout her years and she loved to quilt. She liked to attend card parties and family reunions and made numerous trips to Germany throughout the years and always looked forward to her German relatives visiting her in Iowa.

The Ott family always had a big garden, and they fondly recall that their mother loved to share her favorite German meals on holidays.

It was important to Inge that her children be connected with her family back in Germany, and her six children wrote at least one letter a month to their oma and opa in Europe. They also have many wonderful memories of the trip they took as a family in 1976 to see their

Donald "Don" Eugene Riley, age 91, of Orlando, Florida, died Tuesday, Aug. 3, 2021, in Orlando, Florida.

Funeral services will be held at 11 a.m. Friday, Sept. 24, 2021, at the Hugeback-Johnson Funeral Home & Crematory in New Hampton, Iowa. A Masonic ceremony will precede the service starting at 10:45 a.m.

Friends may greet the family from 9:30 to 11 a.m. on Friday, Sept. 24, 2021, at Hugeback-Johnson Funeral Home & Crematory in New Hampton prior to the service.

Interment will immediately follow the service at the New Hampton City Cemetery.

Don was born on Sept. 24, 1929, to Alvin L. and Eva L. (Nesfield) Riley in New Hampton. Don fondly recalled growing up in New Hampton with summers spent in Clear Lake and Knife River, Minnesota. He was a 1948 graduate of New Hampton High School.

After graduation, Don attended Iowa State University. During this time his summers were spent in Waterloo, Iowa where he enjoyed living with his grandmother, Jessie Riley, while interning at John Deere Company. It was there that he met his future wife, Patricia (Pat) Alexander, a lifeguard at the local YMCA.

After a brief courtship, they were married on March 14, 1953. They enjoyed a lengthy two-month honeymoon camping and exploring in Florida. Eventually, the draft board caught up with Don, he was drafted and spent two years in the Army as an instructor during the Korean War.

Don and Pat loved adventure and new experiences and over their married life they lived in nine states — from Virginia to California to Louisiana to many in between. They explored each and raised children Ann, Susan, and Sally across the United States.

Don had a successful career. After receiving degrees in mechanical and electrical engineering from the University of Iowa and completing all Ph.D. level coursework, he taught at numerous universities and worked at various high-tech companies focusing on the development of analog and digital computers.

His accomplishments included: Group Team member conceiving the first hybrid computer to guide the Atlas missile (1957); Team leader of the Atomic Energy Commission's hybrid computer (1963); Technical Advisor for NASA's hybrid computer (1966) to reduce data received from the moon in support of the first moon landing in 1969; Inventor of Chrysler's emissions-control computer. He acquired five patents.

Despite these accomplishments, when asked his profession, Don always pointed out his real passion saying he was an "old college professor."

Don's favorite pastimes were being with his family, traveling, mother's native country.

As much as she loved her children, she absolutely adored her grandchildren and great-grandchildren, and the love she felt for them was reciprocated many times over.

Inge lived a unique life. Born near the beginning of the outbreak of World War II, she moved to a new country in her 20s, and she built a wonderful life in America while never forgetting her family and roots across the ocean. Long distance telephone service in her younger days was a godsend, and later in life, she talked with her sister on an almost daily basis. She was the healthiest person one would ever meet, and a baby aspirin was all she needed if she ever had an ache or a pain.

Those who knew and loved her will miss her deeply, but the legacy of being strong and caring will remain with them for the rest of their days.

Survivors include her six children, Raynold Ott of Fredericksburg, Patricia Ott and Susan (Dennis) Richter, both of New Hampton, Martin Ott of Richland Hills, Texas, Karen Ott of Oelwein, and Christina (Hans) Cordes of Moncks Corner, South Carolina; seven grandchildren, Catie Ott, R.J. Ott, Christopher Lange, Serina Hovden, Nicolas Ott, Daniella Ott and Roxane Kaske; seven great-grandchildren; one brother, Gerhard (Roswitha) Walther of Germany; and one sister, Renate Frobel of Germany.

She was preceded in death by her parents, her husband, Jerome on Oct. 5, 2006; grandson, James Cordes; great-grandson, Otto Kaske IV; and two brothers, Dieter Walther and Richard Walther.

and sailing. During his lifetime he was fortunate to have sailed in nearly every body of water that touched the continental United States.

Don had a long life and was genuinely thankful for all the blessings he received. He fondly remembered his loving, silly relationship with his mother and the support he received from his father.

Pat was the love of his life, and he continued to think of her daily during the 13 years he was without her. His daughters were his support, and he loved sharing stories about them with everyone he met.

He loved each of his grandchildren dearly; they will miss all his "stories", and he was overjoyed to finally get those great-grandchildren he was fond of asking for.

Don often thought of his "Big Brother" Al and his "Baby Sister" Jane and loved to reminisce about his many nephews, nieces, and their families. Don touched the lives of many - from the students and employees who he mentored to those whose lives he touched daily with a joke and a kind smile.

Don is survived by daughters, Ann (John) Riley-Gawura of East Lansing, Michigan, Susan (David) Jesse of Orlando, Florida, and Sally (David) Bennett of Concord, North Carolina; seven grandchildren, Katherine (James) Browning, Kristin (Jeb) Geesey, Nicholas Gawura, Allison Gawura, Elizabeth Bennett, Jessica Bennett, and Abigail Bennett; and three great-grandchildren.

Don was preceded in death by his parents and his wife Patricia on Nov. 13, 2008.

News Bits From Our Past

Week of Sept. 19 1946 (75 years ago)

- One of the most important post-war programs set up recently in New Hampton has been the formation of the New Hampton Youth Foundation.

The whole purpose of this organization is to foster wholesome recreation for the youth of New Hampton, develop clean morals and generate activities that will promote better citizens among amongst our growing boys and girls. This becomes an important step with the laxity that usually develops following wars. The group is comprised of representatives of local groups and lodges.

- Some robbers aren't fussy about who their victims are. The person that raided the clothesline at Deputy Sheriff Ray Sisson's house took at least one complete outfit of flimsy garments that belonged to his wife and a pair of nylons.

With the scarcity of the items and the fact that he is a guardian of the home makes it difficult to explain to his wife. Several kind-hearted merchants undoubtedly will help solve the problem by selling him replacement items.

1971 (50 years ago)

- On Sale at Ben Franklin: Chair Pads, $1.86 each; Potting Soil, 5 Qt., 57 cents; Knitting Worsted, 99 cents per skein; Spray Enamel, Many Colors, 77 cents; Facial Tissues, 3 Boxes for 87 cents; Crest Toothpaste Family Size, 58 cents; Vaporizer/Humidifier, $6.94; One-Size Panty Hose, 2 pr. for $1.00; Live Baby Turtles, 37 cents each.
- Area residents awoke Monday morning to brisk fall weather and the lowest temperature to date for the season, with the morning low of 33 degrees.

In addition to the cool readings, rainfall for the weekend totaled .55 of an inch. The high reading for the week was 74 degrees on Tuesday.

- Two former New Hampton Community High graders are listed on the Waldorf College football roster, and both are seen as strong prospects for playing important roles in the Warrior season.

Duane Wickman, a sophomore at Waldorf, lettered a year ago, but saw little action because of a broken wrist. This year he is in good health and at 6-3 and 240 pounds, reportedly has a good chance of nailing down a tackle spot on offense or defense. Dennis Whalen, all-loop in the Northeast Iowa Conference as a New Hampton prep last year, is seen as a good bet to start at offensive tackle. Whalen is listed at 6-1, 200 pounds.

1996 (25 years ago)

- The 1995-96 New Hampton Community School District Board of Directors met for their final session on Sept. 16 in the high school cafeteria. This meeting was adjourned following the approval of minutes, monthly financial reports and bills.

The 1996-97 board then convened for an organizational meeting. The official canvass of the Sept. 10 results was accepted. The oath of office was administered to Deb Riley and Virgil Pickar by board secretary Janet Westendorf. Todd Becker was re-elected president of the board and George Feazell was elected as vice president.

- The name of what was known as Wartburg Prairie one mile east of Alta Vista has been changed to Joachim Prairie by the Chickasaw County Conservation Department.

The Joachim family several years ago donated the plot to Wartburg College in Waverly, who last year turned it back to the Conservation Department. The college requested the name change.

2011 (10 years ago)

- The Friends of Chickasaw County Conservation held a fundraiser at Twin Ponds where Nature Center Triple H Ranch was on hand with a variety of farm animals and even a monkey.

The event which included concessions and carnival games was attended by nearly 600 children and their families. The group uses the funds for educational programming. The event marked the fifth year that Triple H Ranch, located west of Nashua, brought its animals to share.

- The New Hampton Chickasaws rolled over Denver 41-21 in the Class 2A, District 3 opener for both teams. Led by Brandon Tenge's 262 yards on 24 carries, New Hampton rushed for 316 yards.

Quarterback Mitch Frerichs went 6-for-11 passing for 156 yards and two touchdowns. The defense, after a slow start, settled down and played solidly over the final three quarters.

2016 (5 years ago)

- A new program at New Hampton High School offers a non-traditional education for the students. The Iowa BIG North program is located in a building recently known as the Boos and Straw Insurance Agency.

The Iowa BIG program is a new initiative uniting businesses and students. The program is new to four school districts in North Iowa. The school districts were awarded a Stem Best Grant in the amount of $25,000.

Director of Strategic Partnerships and New Hampton High School industrial technology teacher Mike Kuennen said this is just one more opportunity for students to learn and get more out of their school.

- Torrential rainfalls led to a third round of major flooding in the area. In a 24-hour period that ended at 7 a.m. on Thursday, Sept. 22, the National Weather Service reported the 3.62 inches of rain had fallen on New Hampton. Ionia received 6.24 inches and Nashua had more than 7.5 inches during the same period. Classes at New Hampton Community Schools were canceled and sporting events were postponed.

The latest round of flooding comes after major weather events that took place on Aug. 23-24 and Sept. 9. More rain was expected later in the day Thursday and storms are likely over the weekend.

2020 (1 year ago)

- The bills and money that residents dropped into the red kettle during the 2019 holiday season is helping local school districts in the fight against the COVID-19 pandemic.

The Chickasaw County unit of the Salvation Army, which is based out of Conway-Markham Funeral Home, recently donated $6,000 to five districts to help with accommodations and sanitation supplies schools have had to put in place since the pandemic arrived last winter. New Hampton Community Schools received a check for $2,000. St. Joseph Community School, Turkey Valley, Sumner-Fredericksburg and Nashua-Planfield received checks for $1,000.

CATTLE SHOW IS ABOUT MUCH MORE THAN THE COWS!

FOR ONE AREA FAMILY, THE PLAQUE IS NICE BUT THE REAL PRIZE IS IN THE MEMORIES MADE

By BOB FENSKE
editor@nhtrib.com

As Jada Goddard and her family headed to the Big 4 Fairgrounds in Nashua on the Saturday of Labor Day weekend, she did so with just a little nervousness.

The Goddard family that also included her husband Mat, their two sons, Kash and Nilan, and their daughter Cadi — were off to compete in the fair’s Beef Cattle Show and she fretted about behavior.

“Would the kids behave? I thought about it, but I figured they’d be just fine,” she said before adding with a laugh, “but I worried about the cattle. Sometimes when they get in a show ring, well, they can get a little stubborn.”

“So even if the boys can lead them around the acreage all day long, they can be a little different animal when they get in front of all those people.”

Here’s the good news: The boys behaved beautifully. And so, too, did the cattle.

This isn’t a story about kids or cattle being mindful, though. This is the story about fairs and families, and how the former brings the latter together in such a cool way.

JADA GODDARD WAS a 4-H all-star, if you will.

Growing up in Fredericksburg, she was a member of the local 4-H club and the Sumner-Fredericksburg FFA. The current Chickasaw County ISU Extension and Outreach director loved showing cattle at the annual 4-H and Achievement Show, and she will tell you that she is the person she is today in large part because of that farm, 4-H and FFA background.

In addition to her work with Extension, she and her husband run Goddard Livestock, a farm that includes cattle, hogs, a goat, a couple of sheep and chickens.

“We’re kind of into our animals,” she said with a laugh, “and I’d love for the kids to be excited about cattle as I was when I was growing up so we thought, this, going to show at the fair, would be a great family activity.”

Then again, showing or anything livestock related is a family affair.

“Mat and his sister built a lot of memories prepping for shows and going to shows,” she said. “I remember my cousin got an opportunity to do a livestock lending program with me one summer and it was a fun summer, I remember going to pick out cattle with my Dad every fall, too ... these memories that we created, doing everyday things, are what I want my kids to remember, because I know Mat and I talk about them, the memories, good, bad and crazy, almost every day.”

THAT SHOW ON Sept. 4 was the latest memory for Jada Goddard.

The pictures on this page really do tell a tale of a 1,000 words.

The boys worked hard and had fun. Mom and dad worked hard and had fun. And little 3-year-old Cadi?

“She had fun,” Jada said with a laugh. “But in all seriousness, I think the best part of being at a fair and showing again was just realizing how much it meant to me way back when. The values I picked up, they’ll be with me for the rest of my life.”

And it’s why she is passionate when her friends ask her about hiring a farm kid even if they don’t have any experience in the position that is open.

“I tell them you can’t go wrong,” Goddard said.

“They know what it’s like to persevere, they’re used to hard work, they’re dedicated, they’ve gotten up early in the morning or in the middle of the night, they’ve worked until the sun has been down for hours. I know I’m partial, but farm kids — or at least most of the ones I’ve known — have that work ethic we’re all searching for.”

THE GODDARDS HAD a good show — a great show, really.

They won the champion in the cow/calf division on a day in which Chickasaw County farmers dominated as Heartland Cattle’s Kirk and Mary Lynch had the top bull, Ryder Hana took home top honors in breeding cattle and Trinity Brincks was named to champion in showmanship.

But what Jada Goddard will one day appreciate the most isn’t the plaque or the ribbons but the memories that she will one day share with Mat, Kash, Nilan and Cadi.

“I think the part of showing I remember the most is the people,” she said. “I made my best, longest-lasting friendships in 4-H and FFA, and to be able to share that experience with my husband and my kids, that to me was the most special part of the Big 4 Fair this year.”

A LITTLE CATTLE SHOW DOMINANCE BY CHICKASAW COUNTY!

REMEMBERING BUTCH

WITH PHOTO, APRON AND SHOT, FOOD STAND REMEMBERS BUTCH

By BOB FENSKE

Someone was missing at this year's Big 4 Fair, but the folks at the St. Michael's Catholic Church Food Stand made sure that Butch Hillesheim was there at least in spirit.

Hillesheim was the "egg man" at the food stand for years, but the longtime Nashua resident passed away at the age of 78 on July 3, 2020.

Because the Big 4 Fair wasn't held a year ago, this year's fair marked the first in 42 years that Butch didn't don his apron and work the church's food stand.

He was there, however, as the church members who worked the stand displayed a photo of him next to the apron he wore for years while he cooked and chatted up friends and strangers alike.

"It was hard going there," said Nancy Hillesheim, his wife of 33 years who has served as the fair board secretary for years, "but it was also really one of those things that meant a lot to him. He was one of a kind, and as much as I love our little fair, not having him here for the first time ... well, that was hard — really hard."

The good folks at St. Michael's remembered Butch in one other way.

Before each shift, workers gathered and had a shot of blackberry brandy.

"It was dad's favorite, and it was a really neat way to remember him," said his daughter, New Hampton resident Becky Babcock, who added with a laugh, "even if most of us can't stand the stuff. How he liked that stuff is a great question."

Babcock paused, fighting back the same emotions that overtook her step-mother.

"But the picture, the apron, even the shot, it meant the world to us," she said. "It meant a lot to us that people remember our dad so fondly. ... He loved working at the fair, and I think he would have really enjoyed the tribute they gave him."

GRANDSTAND DRAWS!

CHUCKWAGON RACES MAY BE GONE BUT BIG CROWDS CERTAINLY AREN'T

By BOB FENSKE
editor@nhtrib.com

Nancy Hillesheim had two big worries as the Big 4 Fair approached its annual Labor Day run this year.

One, the weather, was a perennial one. Two, the grandstand shows that draw the crowds, was a new one.

She needn't have fretted.

Well, save for opening night, Mother Nature delivered a dang near perfect weekend.

And despite not having the always popular chuckwagon races on the schedule, the fair's grandstand shows all packed the stands. From the circle-eight races on Saturday to the Tough Truck Races Sunday afternoon to the Bulls and Barrels Rodeo Show Sunday night to the Masters of Disaster Demo Derby on Monday afternoon, the fair's grandstands were packed throughout the weekend.

"Oh my goodness, it was good and way beyond our expectations," Big 4 Fair Board Secretary Nancy Hillesheim said after the four-day fair wrapped up its run on Labor Day. "The weather was perfect, the crowds were great, the grandstand shows were fun ... we couldn't have asked for much more."

The only downside was the rain, mist and fog on Friday, which forced the fair to cancel the Lovik Sled Company Truck and Tractor Pull.

"I think people were ready to do something, and I think people realized they could come out to a good fair and have a grand time," Hillesheim said, "and they did."

Maybe the most gratifying part of the 2021 edition, though, was the sheer size of the crowds for the grandstand events.

In 2019, the Big 4 Fair held its last chuckwagon races because the association

Kelly Terpstra/Tribune

that was putting them on was, quite simply, running out of competitors. For years, the chuckwagons had drawn capacity crowds to the fairgrounds so Hillesheim had reason to worry.

She figured she'd find out in 2020 what a chuckwagon-free fair would be like, but the Fair Board canceled last year's Labor Day extravaganza because of the pandemic.

"We were worried about that because if you can get the crowds to the fair, a lot of those folks are going to stick around after the shows," Hillesheim said.

"We thought we had some good shows and it was fun to see some of them involve the little kids, too. That kids demolition derby was about the cutest thing you're ever going to see. ... To see the grandstand full of people, I guess maybe I didn't have to worry as much as I did."

It's great to be a kid at the Big Four Fair

Let's face it, is there anything better than being a kid at a fair? We're guessing this young girl pointing to someone in the stands during the Mini Demolition Day would say no.

Maci Johnson (above) has this "no-hands" driving down to a tee on the midway while Soren Cole (right) plays with a baby shark won at the carnival.

Evan Myers and Jackson Mahan (above) ride a roller coaster, and we're guessing if Myers has a look like this on one of the smaller rides, he might want to take a few years before he gets on the Black Hole (left), which has at least one rider, in a word, terrified.

Two nights before helping her team to a triangular sweep, New Hampton sophomore Marissa Cahoy puts down a kill in the Chickasaws' win over Crestwood.

Chickasaws take two at triangular, match '20 win total

New Hampton coach likes improvement she sees sweep past Jesup, host Huskies

By KELLY TERPSTRA
sports@nhtrib.com

Sweet 16 came a lot earlier than last year for the New Hampton Chickasaws.

NH, ranked 15th in Class 3A, won for the 11th time in its last 12 tries after sweeping Jesup and Nashua-Plainfield at the Huskies volleyball triangular on Thursday.

In the process, the Chickasaws recorded win No. 16 on the season with plenty of season left before regional play begins. That win total matches last season's number of victories. New Hampton played to a 16-12 mark in 2020.

NH head coach Jess Geerts was more pleased with Thursday's performance than her Chickasaws' listless effort against Crestwood on Tuesday, Sept. 14. While she said NH played better, she'd like them to be a little more vocal on the court. Whether that's calling out plays, helping teammates on defense or just amping up the energy on the floor - every little bit counts when you're striving to reach an elite level.

"We're just a really quiet team," said Geerts. "I'm just afraid down the road when we play tougher teams - you don't have room for errors with things that kids can control, like their enthusiasm.

Those tough teams are just around the bend as New Hampton squares off against league rival Decorah tonight (Tuesday) and plays in a triangular at Janesville along with seventh-ranked Wapsie Valley on Thursday.

NH swept N-P by scores of 25-18 and 25-17. Jesup was downed by the Chickasaws, 25-15, 25-18.

NH outside hitter Marissa Cahoy was able to tally 18 kills in the two matches. Molly Wegner, a sophomore, recorded 19 assists in each two-set match. Alivya Wisner led NH in digs with seven against N-P and Chloe Geerts' six digs paced the defensive attack versus Jesup.

"You don't see too many quiet teams at the state tournament," said Geerts. "The girls know this. It's just something that they have to take out of their comfort zone. They have to want to put themselves in a situation that maybe they don't necessarily love or they're not comfortable with."

New Hampton is 16-3 overall and 2-0 in league play. Decorah is 12-2 on the season and 1-1 in the Northeast Iowa Conference.

"I'm hoping that tough matches - like Tuesday and Thursday this week - we'll see a totally different team," said Geerts. "But we also talked about how you have to play that way all the time."

It's Monday morning of a double homecoming week, and I'm woefully behind.

In less than 30 minutes, I need to get into my car, drive to Nashua and take photos of the Nashua-Plainfield High School homecoming king and queen candidates.

I'm kicking myself for not staying later Sunday night. Or maybe I'm cursing myself because when I left the office sometime around 10 last night, I did not follow the plan I had made for myself. Go home, grab a quick bite, go to bed.

Instead, I watched the end of the Ravens-Chiefs Sunday Night Football game, but I still had a chance to get some decent sleep.

I took the first step: I turned off the television.

I took the second step: I made my way down the hallway of my mobile home to my bedroom.

Heck, I even took the third two-process step: I turned off the light and crawled into bed.

It was the fourth step that got me. I did not plug my phone in to the charge; instead, I thought to myself, I have a few minutes to unwind and reach my "daily reading goal," or at least what my iPhone believes is my daily reading goal.

My iPhone makes the goal really easy: If I read for five minutes, a little message pops up.

"Congratulations, you have met your daily reading goal. Would you like to reset your daily goal?"

It always makes me laugh because in a life in which most days I don't feel all that accomplished, I appreciate an easy goal. So instead of recalibrating my goal, I keep it at five minutes so that most days, I can feel like I actually accomplished something.

The issue for me is this: Five minutes is never enough time for me when I'm reading a really good book.

Instead, I read for one hour and 22 minutes. By the time I finally put my book, I mean my phone, down, it was past midnight and the first alarm was set for 5:55 a.m.

The second alarm was set for 6 a.m., the third for 6:05 a.m., the fourth for 6:10 a.m. and just to prove that I can mix it up, the fifth was set for 6:13 a.m.

The upset of this Monday morning is this: I actually was up before the third alarm went off, but that's another story for another day.

But I'm not sure there is enough coffee in the world to get me through today, or at least this column.

When I finally put the book down early this morning, I was exhausted yet sleepless.

That's what a good book will do to a guy like me. It gets me thinking, and I swear I tossed and turned for at least 90 minutes before Mr. Sandman finally arrived.

I'm not complaining, mind you, but I am starting to wonder if I'm somewhat of a masochist.

I'm somewhat of a hit-and-miss reader. There are times I've gone weeks without picking up a book. Oh, I'll read newspaper and magazine articles, but to me, it's just not the same.

But here's the catch: When I really get into a really good book, oh my gosh, it takes all the willpower I have to put it down.

Sometimes I succeed; oftentimes, I don't.

There have been times in my life when I have literally stayed up through the night to finish a book.

The masochistic part is this: I only seem to get into really good books when I'm at my absolute busiest in life - either at home or here at work.

So what happens? I stay up way too late and then spend half the morning trying to find the right jolt to get me going on the things I absolutely must get completed.

(And trust me, I think my publisher would tell you that getting this paper, or any paper for that matter, out on time is one of those "absolute musts.")

The fact that I spent way too much time on Saturday watching college football isn't helping my cause here, but then again, neither is "Fall and Rise: The Story of 9/11," the book that has kept me up way too late the past three nights.

But here's the deal: A good book - a really good story - is always worth the exhaustion, the tiredness, the lack of energy.

Some of my non-reader friends call me a "nerd" when my voice rises with excitement over the latest book I'm reading. Trust me, I've seen the look, I know it by heart, in fact.

Readers, though, get it. They know that the best high in the world is getting into a book that you just can't put down.

And the high carries you through the fatigue that inevitably follows.

Or at least that's what I'm telling myself today.

So laugh all you want, non-readers, because when I get this column completed and when I return home from Nashua later this morning, I'm going home - not for a nap but to recapture the high you only get when you can't put down a great book.

Iowa Bankers Association takes stand against Biden reporting plan

The Biden administration is proposing a sweeping expansion of tax information reporting aimed at raising revenue to help offset the cost of additional spending programs in the American Families Plan.

If enacted, the proposal would require financial institutions to report to the IRS detailed information on the inflows and outflows of every customer account above $600. Every Iowan should be concerned with this significant expansion of government data collection and abuse of consumer privacy.

This proposal would create a dragnet - collecting the financial information of nearly every American and every business. It would require significant resources to build, police and maintain.

Policymakers must consider how account holder data would be protected, and whether a program of this scale and scope infringes on the American people's reasonable expectation of privacy.

The IRS experiences 1.4 billion cyberattacks annually, has had multiple data breaches and continues to deal with the fallout of identity theft and false tax returns. Adding an entirely new set of data will likely compound the IRS's systemic problem and expose even more taxpayer data.

It is also questionable whether the new reporting requirements would improve the IRS's ability to identify the high-income tax evaders the administration is apparently targeting.

Instead, the proposal appears to capture millions of consumers and small businesses, needlessly increasing their tax preparation costs.

The Iowa Bankers Association believes the IRS should instead focus on better utilizing the significant information it already receives and targeting those it believes are engaging in tax avoidance.

In addition to the challenges associated with protecting this new data, policymakers should consider the potential unintended consequences of leveraging bank relationships to execute such a large-scale and detailed reporting regime.

Privacy concerns are already cited as one of the top reasons that individuals choose not to open bank accounts.

A reporting regime of this magnitude would potentially undermine our local banks' efforts to reach populations that are suspicious of working with regulated financial institutions and would push those households on the cusp of banking services back into the unbanked and underbanked population.

The Biden administration proposal would put customer privacy and data security at risk, increase compliance costs to individuals and small businesses, and work against important efforts to bring more Americans into the banking system.

Congress should say no to this unprecedented invasion of privacy.

John Sorensen is president and CEO of the Iowa Bankers Association.

Slow start proves costly as New Hampton frosh fall

Garner-Hayfield-Ventura returned the opening kickoff for a touchdown Friday and the Cardinals never looked back as they rolled to a 44-8 win over New Hampton in a freshman football game.

"We did not play our best game tonight," New Hampton coach Dennis Pagel said. "Coach [Terry] Sittig and I felt we were somewhat passive during warmups. ... We know this team is capable of playing better so our focus as we move on to the second of our season will be to improve each day."

New Hampton did get on the board late in the game when quarterback Reid Rausch scored on a 1-yard run and Jaxon Eckley added an extra point.

Eckley led the Chickasaws with 48 yards on 19 carries while Rausch was 6-of-11 passing for 52 yards. Tate Schwickerath led the receiving corps with four catches for 41 yards.

Bryar Usher led the defense with 10 tackles while Logan Thiele added five. Ryan Willadsen also had a fumble recovery for the Chickasaws.

New Hampton fell to 2-1 and will play a home game against Crestwood this Friday.

but he also wanted to say "thank you New Hampton, you are never forgotten."

Kristi Huegel

She was a member of the Red Army and a dang good one, too.

Ask Kristi Huegel her fondest memories of her time at New Hampton High School and she has two answers - softball bus rides and playing in the state basketball tournament at Veterans Memorial Auditorium.

"We were the 'Red Army,'" she said, "and had a lot of fun on those bus rides," she said when asked about the memories that stand out. "Also, playing at the Barn for state basketball my senior year. Both teams worked extremely hard but also had a lot of fun."

As a softball player, Huegel helped the Chickasaws to a fourth-place finish at the state tournament in her junior year and was a three-time all-Northeast Iowa Conference selection and named to the all-state third-team as both a junior and a senior.

In basketball, she was also a three-time all-NEIC selection and was both a first-team all-state and academic all-state selection during her senior year.

The 2001 graduate went on to excel in two sports at the University of St. Thomas in St. Paul, Minn., where she helped the Tommies to back-to-back national titles in softball. She was all-conference in both sports and was an all-American selection in softball her senior year.

Today, Kristi is married to her wife, Melissa, and the couple has two foster sons, Silas and Dana. She is a risk manager at U.S. Bank.

Blake Rasing

Blake Rasing turned disappointment into glory.

A year after finishing as the heavyweight runner-up at the Class 2A state tournament, Rasing capped a brilliant senior season, one in which he went unbeaten, with the 285-pound state title.

"I think reaching the finals as a junior just made him believe it was possible for him to be a state champion," said former New Hampton wrestling coach Bill Glenn. "He didn't let the disappointment get to him; instead, that loss motivated him. That whole senior year he looked like a man on a mission and honestly, I don't remember hardly any close matches."

The state title capped an impressive career for Rasing, who was also a part of New Hampton's 2005 team that won the Class 2A state duals and a member of New Hampton's 2004 conference title winning team.

The 2007 graduate was also a standout football player for the Chickasaws, twice earning first-team all-district honors and an all-state lineman his senior year.

After graduation, he attended the University of Iowa, where he was a member of three teams that won both Big Ten and national titles three straight years. In 2010, he won the Big Ten championship and he was a perennial member of the academic all-Big Ten team as an accounting and finance major.

He was recently promoted to senior manager at Grant Thornton, an accounting firm based in Chicago, and he is married to Stephanie. Asked about his "recent accomplishments," and his answer came quickly.

"New dad," he said, referring to his son, Henry.

Friday's Hall of Fame induction will be part of a busy homecoming day for members of the Chickasaw Athletic Booster Club.

Before the induction ceremony, booster club members will host a tailgating event near the entry gate of the football stadium.

Brats, hot dogs and chips will be available for a freewill donation from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m.

Money raised during the event will be used to support New Hampton's sports programs and Chickasaw student-athletes.

FARM DAY SAFETY CAMP

Dorothy Huber/Tribune

It may look like all fun and games, but this particular demonstration — that Turkey Valley's Kinzey Rausch is trying and Aisha Ouena is watching — demonstrates how many pounds a person is capable of hoisting. In only 1 foot of corn it would take 170 pounds to pull a person out and in six feet 900 pounds would be needed to free a trapped person. Though some of those attending came close to the first figure, no one came close to the second mark.

The Big 4 Fairgrounds was the Friday site of Farm Safety Day, sponsored by the Chickasaw Co. Extension service.

Let's all be safe as we head out to harvest

Tractor accidents, grain entrapment and injuries from ornery livestock are just some of the dangers agricultural workers face every day. In fact, the National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health says agriculture is one of the most hazardous industries in the United States.

In 2016, the agricultural industry had a rate of 21.4 deaths per 100,000 workers, and each day agricultural workers experienced 100 non-fatal, lost-work-time injuries.

Agricultural dangers are not limited to North America.

In Ireland, farm accidents have increased by 13 percent in the last five years and by 31 percent in the last decade, according to a national survey of farm accidents conducted by the Teagasc National Farm Survey.

Furthermore, 97 percent of all farm accident victims required medical treatment.

Farms are dangerous places, and while carelessness can and does contribute to many incidents, accidents also take place during routine, seemingly safe activities. These farm safety guidelines can help lower the risk of injuries.

• Know farm equipment. Read and follow all instructions in the equipment operation manuals. In addition, attend local farm safety workshops to learn more about specific equipment and products.

• Conduct routine safety checks. Look around buildings and grounds for obvious hazards, such as fire hazards and hazardous materials, including farm chemicals that are not stored correctly.

• Practice cleanliness. Maintain clean and neat work areas with tools stored properly and out of the way after use.

• Be mindful of your clothing and hair. Many accidents involve a power take-off system, or PTO, which is a common component of large rotary mowers, tractors and forage choppers.

Clothing can easily get caught in an engaged but unguarded PTO stub. It's easy for laces or coveralls to become wrapped around a spinning stub shaft. The PTO driveline and other protrusion points also can be dangerous if people do not pay attention.

• Use rollover protec- tion structures. ROPS can be used on tractors and other equipment to prevent injuries. In addition, wear seat belts and employ other safety equipment as advised.

• Avoid extra passengers. It can be tempting to take the kids for a spin, but do not allow additional passengers to ride on agricultural equipment.

• Exercise caution when handling chemicals. Take extra precautions when handling any chemicals, including pesticides.

• Wear protective gear. Wear appropriate gear and equipment as outlined by NIOSH or the Mine Safety and Health Administration. Make sure the skin, feet, ears, eyes, and hands are protected at all times.

• Employ lock out/tag out control. This is a process where one can work on equipment only after every energy source has been controlled, such as hydraulic, pneumatic, mechanical, and electrical, according to Rural Mutual Insurance Company. Turning off equipment and using certain controls or locks on devices can prevent equipment from restarting before it is safe to do so.

Anhydrous ammonia is one of the more dangerous chemicals handled on the farm. Should you have an accidental exposure to anhydrous ammonia, MercyOne New Hampton encourages you to do the following before coming to the emergency room. If skin has been exposed, the victim needs to be moved to a safe area and the skin exposed needs to be flushed immediately with clean water for at least 15 minutes. Do this at home before coming to the emergency room! Remove contaminated clothing as soon as possible. Call MercyOne New Hampton prior to your arrival and the victim will be met outside the ER.

Calvin Bodensteiner (left) and Marcus Herold zero in on Riceville's Isaac Kuhn on Friday night in Jackson Junction. Turkey Valley moved to 4-0 on the season and 2-0 in district play after downing the Wildcats, 44-8. The Trojans' defense has allowed just a single score in each its last two games.

Turkey Valley holds a pass-happy Riceville to zero yards rushing

call or not, we just got to stay disciplined. We gotta adjust to what they're gonna call," said TV junior running back Carson Busta. "You gotta move on."

That the Trojans did for the most part and set up a big showdown with No. 7 Janesville this Friday night on the road. Both teams sport records of 4-0 and the clash between the two high-scoring attacks could be one of the better games this fall in 8-Man.

"They're missing a couple pieces they had last year. They're good - don't get me wrong," said Scott. "I think we can play with them. Now what happens, happens."

Turkey Valley (4-0, 2-0) is knocking on the door of the 8-Man rankings - at least the ratings released by the Associated Press. TV is rated by other media publications.

The Trojans are looking to bounce back from a 3-5 campaign a season ago. TV cracked the state semifinals in 2019.

"Now people know we're good," said Busta. "Now people are after us."

No difference if TV makes a top-10 list of best teams or not - the Trojans sport plenty of firepower.

That big-play-making capability can come from offense or defense.

"The big thing about our defense, I feel, is we have guys that don't have to play both sides of the ball," said TV junior defensive end Ryan Franzen. "They come in fresh, hot and ready to go. They're completely locked in on one thing. They don't have to think about two things. That really helps."

Franzen - who is 6-5 and has seen a lot more playing time since when he was a sophomore in 2020 - helped get to the Riceville quarterback and stop a Wildcat offense that is heavy on the pass. Riceville (1-3, 1-1) threw the rock 40 times and Franzen managed 1.5 sacks to slow down the Wildcats' shotgun looks.

"I feel like this year we all took a lot of time in the offseason to work together and really build ourselves as a team," said Franzen. "We formed a lot of better bonds and we know what to do more so. Last year we made a lot of young guy mistakes."

TV generated over 400 yards of total offense and produced many of those jaunts down the field in exciting fashion. The Trojans possess quick-strike potential and struck first in their second possession after a 27-yard pass to Calvin Bodensteiner helped TV enter Riceville territory. That would lead to a Garrett Kurtenbach 10-yard TD pass from Noah Hanson. An ensuing two-point rush by Marcus Herold lifted the score to 8-0 in favor of the Trojans.

After another Trojan drive faltered in two of their first three series, TV cashed in yet again on a 1-yard TD plunge by Hanson. TV also converted on the two-play - which Bodensteiner caught to stretch the lead to 16-0.

A side-arm throw by Hanson went awry with 5:29 left in the half. Lawson Losee would pick that pass off and he would end up with another interception in the fourth quarter.

That first turnover created by Losee helped energize the Wildcat offense, which marched 45 yards down the field to make the contest a one-score game. A 38-yard pass to Andrew Beran highlighted the drive. Riceville quarterback Theo Klaes scored on a 1-yard keeper and also threw a successful two-point conversion.

That would be all the scoring the Wildcats would muster on this evening. Riceville threw for 150 yards but TV locked down the rushing game as the Wildcats gained zero yards on 16 carries.

Busta said the mantra all night was "bend, but don't break."

"All three of our front guys - they don't let you mess around back there. They get after it," said Scott, about the defensive pressure.

Hanson's kickoff return of over 40 yards set up TV's final score of the first half. Hanson would cap the scoring drive with what looked like a delayed draw from seven yards out that found paydirt.

TV continued to put the clamps down on defense and broke open the game in the final two periods of play.

Dylan Reicks would score on a 23-yard pass from Hanson. Hanson lofted the majestic, high-arching ball in exactly the right spot and Reicks easily strolled into the end zone to up the score to 30-8 after the two-point play was converted.

Herold and sophomore Oliver Schmitt each scored on nine-yard rushing touchdowns to put a bow on this victory.

"We're a lot better than we were last year. We're a year older and we're a year bigger and a year stronger," said Scott.

trimming time off. I don't get beat up looking at times meet to meet. There are still things you can take away from a meet without running a season-best time," said Bakula.

Dale Schwamman, a senior, ran 21:00 in the JV boys race. That was good for 19th place.

"Just like the rest of the seniors, Dale is definitely looked up to by everyone on the team. He comes to practice and puts in effort day after day, which can be seen through his progression of the season thus far," said Bakula.

Hailey Elsbernd, another senior, finished in 51st place in the JV girls race for TV. Bode Balk, a sophomore, placed 119th in a time of 27:22 in the JV boys meet. That was over three minutes faster than his time at the opening meet held at Charles City.

Turkey Valley sophomore Lucas Hanson competes at the All-American meet at Luther College in Decorah earlier this season.

TV competes at Waukon today (Tuesday).

TV VOLLEYBALL: FROM 21

"After having the week off it was nice to get onto the court to get to play. The girls had a great weekend. They really came together with fire under their belts. It was nice to see them bring to the court what we needed to tweak from last weekend," Vrzak said.

TV topped Kee High for the second time this season, Crestwood in three games and North Crawford, a squad from across the Mississippi River in Wisconsin, to accumulate its three-win total on Saturday.

TV sophomore Adriana Tiedt recorded 13 kills against Dunkerton and Josie Weber led the team in assists with 22. Trojan sophomore Halle Weber notched 18 digs and was 14-14 serving. Brianna Busta tallied 12 kills in the four matches.

"Josie did a good job of utilizing all hitters and our back row played a stellar defensive game to give us great rallies. Brianna Busta stepped up her middle position and really showed what she can do. It's fun to see the girls work together as a team and be able to complement each other during play," said Vrzak.

TV gets back to action in Upper Iowa Conference play at West Central tonight (Tuesday) and then hosts Clayton Ridge on Thursday. The Trojans compete in the Dunkerton Tournament on Saturday.

and then scored on a two-point run to pull New Hampton into a 14-14 tie.

But the fireworks were just getting started.

The Cardinals answered in a mere one minute, 22 seconds, as Drew Briston came up with a catch despite the fact that it appeared two Chickasaws tipped the ball and raced 63 yards.

“It was tough because we came in wanting to stop their fullback and he had 28 yards on 10 carries,” Frerichs said, “but they score on two tipped passes and get another touchdown on a broken play. To our guys’ credit, they responded.”

Down 21-14, New Hampton answered when McShane took a screen pass from Lane, cut first to his right and then broke back across the field for a 56-yard touchdown. And the sophomore running back’s two-point conversion run gave New Hampton a 22-21 advantage with 1:47 left in the third quarter.

But the fourth quarter was, to put it succinctly, wild and wacky.

New Hampton pushed the lead to 28-21 when Wemark went higher than two Cardinals in the end zone to snare a 26-yard touchdown pass from Lane.

“Mason threw a really good ball there, one that he knew only Drake was going to catch,” Frerichs said of his senior quarterback who was 8-for-14 passing for 222 yards, “and I think Mason really managed the game well and did a lot of nice things for us. He showed his toughness on the option and he threw some really good passes.”

But the Cardinals had yet another answer when Owen Pueggel turned a broken play — the GHV running back slipped before he could take the hand-off — into a 47-yard scoring jaunt that tied the game at 28 with 6:26 left.

“We have to make plays, I know that,” Wemark said, “but there was also that kind of you’ve-got-to-be-kidding-me feeling, too, with some of their touchdowns. We just had to move on and keep scoring.”

And New Hampton did as Lane lofted a perfect pass to a streaking Wemark for a 67-yard score and after Evan Knowlton alertly recovered an errant kick-off, the Chickasaws got a 7-yard scoring run from Isaac Howe to take a 42-28 lead with just 3 1/2

Two-game point barrage is Chickasaws’ best in eight years

New Hampton’s football team has kept scoreboard operators busy the past two weeks — piling up 92 points in wins over Oelwein and Garner-Hayfield-Ventura.

After Friday’s win in Garner, Chickasaw senior Drake Wemark wondered aloud when was the last time New Hampton had put together a two-run offensive run like that?

So we looked it up.

During the 2013 season, a year in which New Hampton went 11-1 and advanced to the state playoff quarterfinals, New Hampton beat Waterloo Columbus 48-7 on Sept. 27, and then eight days later — after thunderstorms forced a one-day postponement — routed Central Springs 61-0.

And just for fun, we looked at who scored those 109 points in two games, and the list includes Connor Frerichs, Tanner Rentschler, Anthony Sweitzer, Tanner Knowlton, Kyle Smith, Bryan Hauser, Alex Lukes, Michael Kramer, Trevor Ambrose and Jamey Kuehn.

GHV, though, cut the deficit to seven and got the ball back with 1:30 left before McShane came up with a game-sealing interception.

“I don’t think any of us were going to be comfortable until the clock had all zeros on it,” Frerichs said with a laugh. “Yeah, it was a great game for fans, but trust me, it was tough on us coaches.”

New Hampton’s defense was led by its linebacking corps of Ben Tenge, Howe and McShane. Tenge had nine tackles, Howe chipped in with 7.5 and McShane added six. Jacob Burgart finished with five tackles, including 1.5 for losses and helped keep the Chickasaw linebackers free from blockers.

And after spending three of the first four weeks on the road, New Hampton will only have to hit the road for one of its final four games. The Chickasaws host Crestwood Friday night for homecoming, plays host to Osage the following week, travels to Forest City in the regular season’s penultimate game and hosts Clear Lake in its regular season finale.

Frerichs was asked about a district that produced three one-possession victories — Clear Lake beat Osage 39-32 and Crestwood beat Forest City 21-14 on Friday night — and he didn’t take the bait.

“Right now, all I’m looking at is Crestwood,” he said. “What we as coaches have really appreciated about this group is not only are they having fun and staying together, but they’ve gotten better each week. And that’s got to be our focus. Improve every single week.”

Chickasaws’ Nosbisch takes second at Osage

McMorris. “We’re going to use this win to keep pushing us to drive harder for the big meets.”

McMorris ran across the tape in the 18th slot at Osage in a time of 19:14. He’s fueling his passion to run by raising the bar each and every meet as well as lowering his times.

McMorris loved the feeling of improvement, both personally and team-wise. It’s that all-around committee approach to running where everyone plays a part that has New Hampton climbing the ladder of success.

“We’re all like family. We all stick together and we all live to see each other improve. We have our own personal victories and we support each other in that,” McMorris added.

The Chickasaws’ fast-moving feet are pounding the pavement and creating plenty of noise for all to hear that is leaving opponents in the dust. That’s an exciting development for McMorris and all his inspired teammates.

“We actually have a chance. We can be heard, like we have a shot,” said McMorris.

New Hampton — which out-scored 11th-ranked Mason City Newman, 66 to 85, to claim first place — is led by senior Dylan Usher and freshman Natalie Nosbisch.

Usher placed third overall and racked up another top-five finish with that stellar run in a time of 17:44. Riley Witt of St. Ansgar won the meet in 16:50 and Joey Hovinga of Forest City placed runner-up in 17:12.

Nosbisch finished runner-up to Katelyn Johnston of Osage in a time of 21:09. Johnston tamed her home course to a first-place tune of 20:01.

Usher is now ranked 17th in the Class 2A rankings after not being rated to start the season. Nosbisch entered the rankings for the first time in the 26th position.

NH junior Hayden Hauser keeps lowering his times and ran to a 10th place finish to earn a medal. His time was 18:41. Hayden said his best time last year as a sophomore was 19:25.

He’s running his way into possible contention to crack that aforementioned meet at Fort Dodge if he runs to his capability at the district meet.

“Right now I might have a chance at qualifying for state, maybe,” said Hauser.

What’s the best thing he likes about running cross country?

“Just seeing how far I can go,” said Hauser.

Chickasaw junior P.J. Anderson is another runner that is really making strides. Anderson was just out of the money for a medal. He ran to a 12th-place finish in 18:48.

NH junior Treyce Orr finished 23rd in 19:34 and sophomore Jack Shawver ran the course in 20:01, good for 29th place.

NH senior Emily Jackson — who is splitting time on the cross country course and also plays for the Chickasaw volleyball team — ran in her second race of the season and also medaled with an eighth-place showing (22:12).

NH junior Campbelle Kolbet — like McMorris and Hauser — has also found her niche at cross country and is seeing tremendous results. Kolbet first started running cross country as a freshman. She has put in the mileage in the offseason and the positive gains speak for themselves.

“It definitely makes a difference,” said Kolbet. “I’m looking forward to what the season brings.”

Kolbet finished in 11th place with a time of 23:21.

Bailey Cox, a junior, cut another minute off her time from her last race. She placed 30th in 25:12.

McMorris tries to take down each and every cross country course with the same approach. It’s what Ohrt has taught him and the mantra seems to be working.

“The first mile in cross country is to run with your head. The second is with your legs and the third one is with your heart,” said McMorris. “Most runners can resonate with that — that’s pretty much what it is.”

New Hampton not satisfied despite earning NEIC sweep

NH VOLLEYBALL: FROM 22

Saturday, both Geerts and Wegner thought the team may have been a bit lackadaisical in its approach to the match.

“We were a step behind all night,” said Geerts. “They were able to score while we were still transitioning. We should have had more offense.

“And if we count earning a point versus getting a point on account of a Crestwood error — I don’t know, we got a lot of points because of their errors. We need to earn our points. We talk about that in practice.”

With Chloe Geerts at the serving line and a hard kill by Marissa Cahoy, the Chickasaws put the first set in the books, 25-19.

A Hailee Pesek kill gave New Hampton a 5-point lead in the second set, 10-5, before the Cadets inched their way back to within a point, 16-15. Tips by Kandice Eggerichs and Geerts, a Claire Geerts ace and a kill by Carlee Rochford helped put the second game away with a 25-19 win.

There was even more of a Chickasaw lead in the third set as the visitors were up by nine points at different times, but the Cadets again came back, the score was 23-21, New Hampton, before a Cahoy kill ended the match with a 25-22 win.

Cahoy’s 14 kills led the team, so did Chloe Geerts’ 18 digs and Rochford was 16-for-16 at the serving line with three aces.

New Hampton retained its No. 15 spot in the recent poll, released last Thursday.

“Sometimes being rated, there’s kind of a stigma,” said Geerts. “We have some big matches ahead, we gotta take this and run with it!”

Wegner added, “We just have to start realizing if we’re going to be a ranked team we have to start playing like it. We have what it takes to get there, we just have to show it.”

Trojans solid on ‘short rest’

Turkey Valley’s Blazek takes second at Starmont Invitational

By KELLY TERPSTRA

Legs get tired. That’s why many cross country teams often only race once a week the majority of the fall sports season. Of course there are always exceptions, but fresh limbs to stretch across the finish line come postseason time are a must if one is to achieve maximum success. Turkey Valley competed in two meets recently in a relatively short amount of time. The Trojans had a break of just three days in between when it last ran at the Luther College All-American meet in Decorah and then a week ago this past Tuesday at Starmont. So for Jalyssa Blazek to post similar times at each meet, it’s saying something. Blazek finished fifth at the All-American meet on Saturday, Sept. 11 in 19:14. The meet held at Decorah is one of the most competitive prep races in the state of Iowa and featured over 200 runners in the girls varsity race on a very challenging course. Blazek came back on Tuesday at Starmont and ran a similar time of 19:16 to place runner-up to Ellie Rathe of Union, La Porte City. “Jalyssa is in a great place physically and mentally. She has gone into each race with confidence and willing to step up to have some really good performances thus far,” said TV head coach Sarah Bakula. “To run a very comparable time at Starmont from Luther shows the strength she has. It’s hard to come back and run two 5ks with three days between each other.” Blazek has finished in third place at state in back-to-back seasons. “Right now we are looking to run faster than her personal best of 18:54 and see where that gets us in the end,” Bakula added. Cambree Kruse, like Blazek, is a senior and finished in 24th place in a time of 21:59. Kruse ran 23:21 at Luther. “Cambree is in a great place. She is Trojans use week off well before taking three of four at tournament in Waukon

A week off seemed to be just what the Turkey Valley volleyball squad needed on Saturday. After having not played since Saturday, Sept. 11 at the Crestwood Tournament, the Trojans waited until another weekend invite to take a step forward in the 2021 season. TV, now 6-7 on the year, won three out of four matches over in Waukon and took seventh-ranked Dunkerton to three games before succumbing 18-21, 23-21, 15-10. The three wins and taking the seventh-ranked team in Class 1A to the brink had TV head coach Tammy Vrzak signing praise about her inexperienced, but talented team.

Turkey Valley routs Riceville before preparing for district showdown against Janesville

Yellow hankies permeated the football field at Jackson Junction Friday night. The problem was, nobody was blowing their noses. That’s because plenty of the referees’ laundry — in the form of penalties — was tossed from their pockets. Some were warranted; others, at least to Turkey Valley fans, were not so much. TV head coach Mark Scott called them “self-inflicted wounds.” Whatever you want to call those mistakes and mental errors that moved TV back down the field, instead of up it — was part of the reason a 44-8 win by the Trojans didn’t grow to a more substantial advantage early on in the 8-Man district contest.

Turkey Valley is good. there’s no questioning that fact. What any team — regardless of talent — is going to have a hard time overcoming is 17 penalties for 145 yards. That’s a lot of yellow flags and the yards add up - even on an 80-yard field. “Regardless of what the refs are going to

Chickasaw boys claim 'monumental' team title

New Hampton runners say they will use win to push them to 'drive harder'

BY KELLY TERPSTRA
sports@nhtrib.com

Forgive the mosquitos and countless other arthropods for buzzing around the cross country course at Osage last Tuesday and just generally wreaking havoc on runners competing at the Mitchell County Nature Center.

Those insects are just doing what nature intended them to do.

The New Hampton Chickasaws can deal with it and overcame those pesky critters in what turned out to be a monumental evening for Jamie Ohrt's fast rising harriers.

"It was a good night. The bugs were terrible," smiled Ohrt. "They're able to step up. They're not folding under pressure. That's been pretty cool this season to see."

The New Hampton boys team claimed gold at the Osage Invite and brought home a first-place trophy in what may be the first time ever under the direction of Ohrt – who is in her ninth season of guiding the Chickasaws.

Ohrt isn't 100 percent sure as to whether it's the first time her boys team has won a meet while she's coached them. She recalled a Crestwood meet that her Chickasaws might have also conquered some years back.

Regardless of how clear a picture the annals of Chickasaw cross country lore are – the win was sweet for a team that has a whole host of runners that are improving on a daily basis.

"She was smiling from ear to ear, for sure," said NH sophomore runner Cam McMorris. "She was very, very proud of us."

McMorris is just one of several New Hampton runners that have broken through and reached what is somewhat of a pinnacle performance, although there is plenty of mountain left to climb in the regular season before the Chickasaws possibly achieve their ultimate goal.

That is of course to qualify as a team for the state tournament held in Fort Dodge. New Hampton was ranked 19th in the Week Two rankings released by the Iowa Association of Track Coaches (IATC). While the Chickasaws fell out of this past week's ratings, they may climb back in after this top-notch achievement at Osage.

"We were all pretty excited," said

WILD AND WACKY WIN

Bob Fenske/Tribune

New Hampton's Drake Wemark gets behind the Garner-Hayfield-Ventura defense as Mason Lane's pass is in the air during Friday night's game.

BIG SECOND HALF LIFTS CHICKASAWS TO 42-35

DISTRICT VICTORY

BY BOB FENSKE
editor@nhtrib.com

Drake Wemark's advice to his teammate Mason Lane is pretty simple.

"I always tell Mason if you get it to me, I'll catch it," Wemark said, "and he got it to me a lot [tonight]."

The two seniors hooked up for two touchdown passes Friday night as New Hampton survived a rough first half and some magical or lucky – depending on what side of the field you were on – Garner-Hayfield-Ventura scoring plays to pull out a 42-35 win in the Class 2A, District 3 opener.

"We talked a lot at halftime about how we had to play hard for four quarters and how we had to put what was a little shaky first half behind us," New Hampton coach Scott Frerichs said after his team improved to 2-2. "I think one of the things we've seen with these boys is that they are resilient, they don't let a play here or a play there get them down. They just don't pack it in."

New Hampton took the early lead on its second drive of the game as Lane found Wemark for a 24-yard gain and a 30-yard halfback pass from Braden McShane to Wemark set up McShane's 5-yard scoring run.

But GHV used the first of two "tipped" touchdown passes and a 1-yard run by Own Pueggel as time expired to take a 14-7 lead into the break.

"One of the big differences between our first game and now is we're getting experience," Wemark said. "We've got a lot of guys who are playing varsity for the first time this year ... and so maybe a few weeks ago, we're down going into halftime but now, it's like it's just one score, right?"

And for the fourth straight game, New Hampton took the second half kickoff and marched down the field, driving 80 yards on 11 plays. McShane, who finished the night with 134 yards on 31 carries, capped the drive with an 8-yard touchdown run.
