Off-year election interest is high

Absentee voting runs through Monday; rest of us go to the polls Tuesday

By Bob Fenske
editor@nhtrib.com

Let's put it this way: The employees of the Chickasaw County Auditor's Office aren't lacking for company these days.

And they can thank a so-called off-year election — i.e., no presidential race — that has generated plenty of interest among county voters.

Three contested county races on tap.

"We've been pretty busy pretty much since the first day of absentee balloting," said Laura Wickham, the county's deputy commissioner of elections. "It's always steady; it's rare not to have someone at the counter, let's put it that way."

Absentee balloting for Tuesday's election began on Oct. 19 and runs through this Monday. For those who like to vote on Election Day, polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Tuesday.

Wickham emphasized a relatively new law in Iowa that requires all ballots — even those returned by mail — to be in the Auditor's Office by the time polls close on Tuesday.

"Anything that comes in after 8, even 8:01, we can't count," she said. "So if you have any doubts and you want your ballot to count, we're reminding people to make sure they return them to our office."

Although there is no race for the White House this year, Iowa will elect a governor, a senator and all four of its U.S. House of Representatives members on

County gets slew of apps for ambulance

Chickasaw County EMS receives 20 applicants, gets OK to seek part-time, on-call applications

By Bob Fenske
editor@nhtrib.com

The Chickasaw County Board of Supervisors learned on Monday that the new ambulance service the county will start up on Jan. 1 has plenty of interest from potential employees.

Board Chairman Matt Kuhn told his fellow board members that by his count, Chickasaw County EMS received 20 applications by last Friday's deadline. He said two were for drivers who are CPR certified, one from a driver who is EMR certified, 14 from EMTs and three from paramedics, and that number doesn't include the service's director, Joel Knutson, who is a critical-care paramedic.

There had been concern about how many applications the service would receive, but as County Attorney David Laudner put it, "From what I heard this morning, the bottom line is you anticipate you're going to have enough staff to

EMS 'Recruitment Night' set for this evening

Chickasaw County EMS will hold a "Recruitment Night" this evening (Thursday) in an effort to reach out to those who would like to work in EMS but have little or no experience in the field.

The event will begin at 6:30 p.m. and be held at the Chickasaw Event Center in New Hampton.

The service has full-time, part-time and on-call positions available, and those putting on the event emphasize that residents can learn what kind of training can be provided to get EMT or CPR certifications.

Children and their families check out the yard decorations at the North Linn Avenue home of Bo and Kalee Gaudineer as they trick-or-treat on Monday night in New Hampton.

Halloween done right

New Hampton family goes 'big' to celebrate Halloween

By Bob Fenske
editor@nhtrib.com

Bo Gaudineer has always been into Halloween; his wife, Kalee, has always enjoyed decorating.

Put the two together, and folks, you had one heck of a "Halloween yard" on North Linn Avenue, and you also had maybe the most popular spot to trick-or-treat in all of New Hampton on Monday night.

"It was crazy, it was like a party in our yard all night," Gaudineer said Tuesday morning as he headed to his job as a paramedic in Waterloo. "I mean it was just so much fun, and really the whole family got into it."

The story behind the decorated yard started with what Gaudineer called a "minimal display" in past years, but when he and his wife purchased the lot just north of their home, they decided to go big. And we mean really big.

"I just said, 'Kalee, what do you think?' and luckily she puts up with me and my ideas," he said with a laugh. "So we went to work and that's what we came up with."

Gaudineer said the couple's three children — 9-year-old Willow, 4-year-old Ivy and 2-year-old Bode — got into the spirit and loved showing off their yard to anyone at any time.

"Seriously, it was like a fun family activity," he said. "It may have been a lot of work, but it

Unique club still going strong

By Dorothy Huber

When Joyce Lukes mentions to someone she just came from her KKK meeting, her husband "shushes" her.

Not to fear, this isn't some hate group, in fact, it's quite the opposite. Members of the Kountry Kitchen Klub have been meeting for 60 years this month, enjoying kamaraderie, konversation and koffee.

Three of the original members — Ann Webster, Shirley Sabelka and Edna Jirak — are still in the club, which started as a way for farm wives to socialize in the Saude-Protivin-Jerico area.

was a lot of fun work."

Some ideas were incorporated into the display later rather than sooner. Take the garage on the west side of the Gaudineer property, where an old pickup was parked with a couple of skeletons inside while strobe lights were going on and off.

"It's kind of one of those things where if it hits you, you try it," he said with a laugh, "and that thing turned out awesome."

The display garnered regional media coverage as the NBC affiliate out of Waterloo, KWWL-TV, came up to New Hampton to do a story that ran on Halloween.

And trust us, this is not a one-and-done proposition.

"We've already talked about next year," Gaudineer said, "and how we can make it bigger and better."

Food Bank to distribute Nov. 17

The Northeast Iowa Mobile Food Bank will make its monthly distribution in Chickasaw County on Thursday, Nov. 17, at Trinity Lutheran Church in New Hampton.

Food will be distributed from 4 to 5:30 p.m., and those who would like to help should report to the church at 3:30.

Voters can cast ballots this Saturday

ELECTION: FROM 1

Tuesday. Locally, there are several contested state and county offices on the ballot, and New Hampton voters will also weigh in on how the city can spend its Local Option Sales Tax (LOST) funds.

City leaders are asking residents to allow New Hampton to use its LOST funds to help pay for ambulance services.

Whatever the reason, one thing is for sure: Absentee balloting has been brisk.

Wickham said, as of Monday, the Auditor's Office had given out 1,587 ballots and that about 80 percent of them had been returned either by mail or voters casting ballots at the Courthouse.

She reminded voters that if they vote at the Courthouse or at the polls on Tuesday, they must have a valid ID.

The Auditor's Office is open between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. for those who want to cast ballots, but it will remain open until 5 p.m. this Friday and will also be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday.

For those who want to vote on Election Day, here are Chickasaw County's precincts and voting locations:

When it's autumn in Iowa, Sunday isn't always a "day of rest" as one farmer unloads corn just north of the New Hampton Municipal Airport this past weekend.

Area farmers make hay on harvest

While growers are bringing in excellent yields, concern growing over drought conditions

It's going to take a little work to find an unharvested soybean field in Northeast Iowa, at least according to the USDA's National Agricultural Statistics Service weekly Crop Progress and Condition Report.

The report that was released on Monday showed that 97 percent of soybeans in Northeast Iowa had been harvested while 58 percent of corn has been harvested by the district's farmers.

And those numbers undoubtedly went up as the work week started with almost perfect weather conditions.

Not that a little rain couldn't be used; in fact, all of Iowa is suffering through drought conditions, according to the latest report from the U.S. Drought Monitor.

The latest report showed that all of Chickasaw County is experiencing moderate drought, and the Crop Progress and Condition report stated that 13 percent of Northeast Iowa farmland was "very short" of topsoil moisture and 48 percent "short" while subsoil moisture profiles in the district showed 11 percent "very short" and 50 percent "short."

That's the bad news, but the good news is that farmers are reporting excellent yields with both soybeans and corn.

Salvation Army to begin Red Kettle campaign, needs bell ringers

The Chickasaw County unit of the Salvation Army will begin its annual Red Kettle campaign on Wednesday, Nov. 16, and bell ringers are needed for the fundraising drive that runs through Christmas Eve.

The kettle will once again be at Fareway, and those who want to volunteer to ring the bell can do so by calling Liz Markham at 641-229-0113.

Funds raised during the campaign are used to help county residents navigate emergencies and tragedies, and Kris Markham said that "the more volunteers we have, the more we can help people."

Lynch Family Companies to hold Veterans Day celebration Nov. 11

It's become a Veterans Day tradition, and 2022 is no exception as the annual Lynch Family Companies Veterans Day celebration is set for a week from this Friday.

The event will be held at the Waucoma Events Center and run from 4 to 6 p.m. It is open to all area veterans, active military, National Guard and Reserve members and their families.

A free barbecue supper will be served, and the event will also include giveaways totaling $20,000.

There will be 20 $1,000 drawings at 6:15 p.m., and each veteran or active military service member will get to decide which non-profit, military-based group that the funds will be donated to. Winners need not be present but must attend the event to have their names in the drawing.

There will also be a drawing for a flag that will be flown over the U.S. Capitol building in honor of that veteran.

Lynch officials are asking that those who are coming to the event to RSVP by either calling 563-776-3046 or emailing James.Schmitt@lynchfamilycompanies.com.

Avoid becoming 'burden' on grown children

MAKING SENSE OF INVESTING

Here's an interesting statistic: Some 72% of retirees say one of their biggest fears is becoming a burden on their families, according to a 2021 survey by Age Wave and Edward Jones. Both before and during retirement, what steps can you take to avoid burdening your loved ones in the future?

Here are a few suggestions:

• Build your retirement savings. The greater your financial resources, the less likely it becomes that you'd ever have to count on your grown children for financial support. You may have access to a 401(k) or similar retirement plan at work, so take advantage of it. Even with an employer-sponsored plan, you also may be eligible to contribute to an IRA. In addition to offering a variety of investment options, a 401(k) and IRA provide potential tax advantages. And once you do retire, be careful about how much you withdraw each year from your retirement plans and other investments.

• Plan for health care costs. Once you are retired, health care costs will be a significant expense. You may have Medicare, but you'll also want to consider your need for supplemental health insurance to cover traditional medical costs. And you'll want to consider another potential health-related expense: long-term care. You may never need the services of a home health aide or a stay in a nursing home, but no one can predict the future.

Medicare does not cover most costs for long-term care, which can be quite high. In 2021, the annual national median cost for a private room in a nursing home was over $108,000, while the median cost for a full-time home health aide was nearly $62,000, according to a survey by Genworth, an insurance company. You may want to consult with a financial professional on strategies for protecting yourself from these costs.

• Create necessary legal documents. If something were to happen to you, and you didn't have the appropriate legal documents in place, your loved ones could be placed in a bind, both financially and emotionally. That's why it's a good idea to create documents such as a durable financial power of attorney, which lets you name someone to manage your finances if you became incapacitated, and a durable power of attorney for health care, which allows someone to make medical decisions on your behalf if you can't make them yourself. You'll want to work with a legal professional to develop the documents appropriate for your needs.

• Evaluate your housing needs. As you enter retirement, you may want to evaluate your living situation. Could you downsize to a smaller home, or perhaps a condominium or apartment? Not only might you save money with such a move, but you could also end up relieving your grown children of the responsibilities and hassles involved in clearing out and selling your home should you become unable to do so yourself during the later years of your retirement.

By taking these measures, along with others, you can go a long way toward maintaining your independence and putting yourself in a place where you won't burden your grown children. And that's a good place to be.

County voters have some choices to make

Election features contested races on tap for recorder, treasurer and one supervisor district

By Bob Fenske
editor@nhtrib.com

If there is a common thread between the candidates running for contested Chickasaw County offices, it is this: All of them — Democrats, Republicans and even a write-in candidate say they want to serve a county that has done much for them.

Half of this year's county races are uncontested as incumbent David Laudner is the lone candidate for county attorney, Scott Cerwinske is the only candidate on the ballot for Supervisor District 2 and incumbent Sheila Shekleton is the lone resident seeking the auditor's office.

All three are Republicans; Laudner and Shekleton were both appointed to their positions after their predecessors resigned while Cerwinske knocked off three-term incumbent Tim Zoll in the GOP primary this past summer.

That leaves three races where votes have a choice to make come Tuesday.

START WITH the county treasurer, the lone contested race without an incumbent as longtime Treasurer Sue Breitbach did not seek re-election.

Keith Hoey, the deputy county assessor, ran unopposed in the Democratic primary, while banker Matthew Ysbrand topped Bremer County Deputy Treasurer Jackie Bohr by just 18 votes, 446-428, in the Republican primary.

Bohr, though, has mounted a write-in candidacy because, as she put it, "it was so close, and I think I would have kicked myself if I hadn't tried."

Both Hoey and Ysbrand say while they may not have "treasurer" experience, their jobs both make them ideal candidates to replace Breitbach.

"I work with the treasurer and the auditor a lot in what we do," Hoey said, "and I think I'm a good people person. I'd love the opportunity to serve the residents of Chickasaw County."

Ysbrand, who has worked at Bank Iowa for the past 10 years, said his experience as both a mortgage lender and in compliance gives him the depth to understand the issues he'll tackle if he's elected.

"I've thought about running for political office before," he said, "but with Sue retiring, I felt this was the right time. With a financial background, I believe I can really make a difference in county government."

Bohr, meanwhile, said she's become adept at giving lessons in "write-in voting."

"I've had a lot of people ask me, 'OK, how do I do this?' ... But I've worked in the treasurer's office in Bremer County for more than 20 years," she said, "so I think that's one big positive in my favor. I understand the job, I've done the job for a long time."

DISTRICT 5, which includes the cities of Lawler and Fredericksburg, will see a race between incumbent Democrat Jason Byrne and Fredericksburg resident Travis Suckow, who ran unopposed in the Republican primary.

Byrne is seeking a third term in office. The owner of the Brite Spot in Lawler was first elected in 2010 but was beaten by Dan Carolan in 2014 before returning the favor and claiming back his seat in 2018.

Byrne said he decided to seek re-election so that he could see "the ambulance through" and also to continue to help foster better morale among county employees.

"I've worked on the ambulance for what seems like forever," he said, "and I want to help get it off the ground and be a benefit for our county."

He added that party affiliation means little to him.

"When you sit in that board room, it doesn't matter if you're a D or a R," he said, "or at least it shouldn't because you're there to make the best decision for the people who live in this county."

Suckow, reached at work Tuesday, said he's "excited to work for the people in my district and I hope they'll give me the opportunity."

THE RECORDER'S race features two current office holders as Democrat incumbent Shirley Troyna is taking on current District 2 Supervisor Tim Zoll, who was nominated for the office by a special convention this past summer.

Troyna has been a longtime fixture in her office, serving as former Recorder Cindy Messersmith's deputy for 20 years before being appointed interim recorder when Messersmith resigned in 2018. That fall she won election to the post.

"I think the big thing is that I have a lot of experience here," she said. "I love my job, I'm a people person and I love helping residents in my office. It's a lot to learn, and I feel like we have a very good team in place right now. I've always been committed to doing the best for our county and the people who live here."

Zoll, meanwhile, said he accepted the GOP nomination because he wants to continue to serve the county.

He touted his work experience, saying that he understands county government and has plenty of management experience.

"I feel like I have more to offer," he said. "I know it would be different than what I do now as a supervisor, but I think I can bring some new ideas to the office and I'd enjoy it."

County pledges funds to help with TRIBE Trail grant

The Chickasaw County Board of Supervisors unanimously agreed to pledge $5,000 to Phase III of the TRIBE Trail project after committee members Megan Baltes and Tara Hackman told county leaders that one of the grants that they are seeking requires both city and county contributions.

Baltes told the board that the grant could provide $118,000 in funding for the trail, but it would be useless to apply for it if the county wasn't on board.

One supervisor said he wasn't in favor of using money out of the County Betterment Fund for a city project.

"The past six years I've been a very stickler on the County Betterment Fund to be used in the unincorporated areas of the county," Jake Hackman said. "That was what the question was back in the 90s. That's just where I stand on the County Betterment Fund."

But once Hackman learned that part of the third and final phase of the trail was located outside the city limits, he said he would support the pledge.

County gets state grant to update stop signs in rural areas

The Chickasaw County Board of Supervisors agreed to enter an agreement with the county to provide up to $90,000 to place a number of flashing LED stop signs where hard-surface roads meet.

County Engineer Roman Lensing said that the county would use the money to update signs at up to 18 locations in the county.

"This all originated from a concerned citizen about the South Linn intersection down by L&S," Lensing said, "basically saying that she had seen a few people go through that stop sign so I then looked into it and figured why not try to update most of those locations in the county."

Lensing told the board he's hopeful that the county can let the project sometime next summer, although, according to the agreement, the deadline for the letting of the project isn't until Oct. 1, 2025.

Thank You
We would like to thank the New Hampton Fire Department, Kevin Bill & Colin and Joel Rochford for the wonderful help putting out the fire in our drying bin.
Thanks again for everyone's help and support.

GET UP-TO-DATE ELECTION

Neighborly love

As God's children, we are to love Him and love our neighbors, too

As I looked at the calendar and noticed the daytime getting shorter with darkness earlier and earlier, I was reminded about time … which, of course, led me to the third chapter of Ecclesiastes.

I won't write the whole scripture but it starts "There is a time for everything, and a season for every activity under the heavens: a time to be born and a time to die, and time to plant and a time to uproot …"

Harvest time is in full swing with most fields of beans already reduced to stubble and the corn fields are close behind.

The deer are running across the roads. The leaves are falling off the trees and blowing around the yard. The last of the garden is dried up, brown, and ready to be pulled out. Pumpkins are starting to appear on the steps leading up to houses and fall harvest dinners are being scheduled.

Soon it will be Thanksgiving, one of the times we celebrate how grateful we are and thank God for all we have. And, that God claims us.

As God's children, we are to love God and love our neighbors.

Loving our neighbors includes treating someone else the way we want to be treated. Like being ethical, fair, kind, peaceful, and generous – enough to share the last brownie. If there is one brownie left on the plate, do you take it, eat it, and enjoy it or do you cut it in half and share the other half with someone else?

Loving our neighbors includes making sure another person's needs and desires are met along with ours.

It means we treat our neighbors with honesty and respect and help others do the same. And, sometimes it might mean we share the last brownie with them.

David Dean Drewelow, 75

David Dean Drewelow, age 75 of New Hampton, died Saturday, Oct. 22, 2022, at his home.

Funeral service will be held at 10 a.m. Friday, Nov. 4, 2022, at Hugeback-Johnson Funeral Home & Crematory in New Hampton with the Rev. Kevin Frey presiding.

Interment will follow at New Hampton City Cemetery.

Friends may greet the family from 8 to 10 a.m. at the funeral home on Friday, Nov. 4, 2022.

David was born to parents Francis and Beverly (Watts) Drewelow and raised on a farm east of New Hampton. He was one of seven children.

He attended New Hampton Community School, until graduation in 1966.

Shortly after graduation, David enlisted in the United States Army, completing his basic training at Fort Bliss, Texas, and his Advanced Individual Training (AIT) at Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri, where he trained as a heavy equipment operator.

When he deployed to Vietnam, he was put in infantry, then in the 35th Land Clearing Team (LCT), where his job was to clear mine fields with a bulldozer. He served in Vietnam from 1967-1968. He has received many military awards and honors, including the Purple Heart when he lost his right hand after hitting a 500-pound bomb with his dozer while crossing over the border to Laos. He was specialist 4th class.

When he came home from Vietnam, he married Becky Hagemeier, and became stepfather to Danae and Theresa Hagemeier. Their son, Stephen Richard Drewelow, was born in 1975. The couple later divorced.

David then met Linda Keeler in 1985, who he was with for many years and officially married on Feb. 2, 2015, until her recent passing in 2020.

David had a green thumb, known for his beautiful yard full of flowers and his mowing and snow removal business. In addition to gardening, other hobbies included playing cards, cribbage, and chess, as well as looking for antiques.

David Drewelow

He enjoyed spending as much time as possible with all his family. He had many friends, some yet from childhood, and a faithful dog, Duke. He loved to joke and tease, and the children and grandchildren will always remember Grandpa for being playful and loving.

David was greatly loved and will be dearly missed.

David is survived by his son Stephen (Valerie) of Golden, Colorado; one stepson Jim (Tammy) Keeler of Gladbrook; six grandchildren, Abigail (Tyler) Adams of Wichita, Kansas, Isabella (William) Hoy of Topeka, Kansas, Noah Drewelow and Annabelle Drewelow of Golden, Colordo, and Danelle Keeler and Ethan Keeler of Gladbrook; one brother Vern (Megan) Drewelow of New Hampton; four sisters, Shirley Roethler, of Charles City, Karen (Rod) Kane of Oran, Rita (Darwin) Fisher of New Hampton, and Barbara (Andrew) Kottke of Fredericksburg; and many nieces, nephews, other family members, and friends.

He was preceded in death by his wife, Linda Drewelow; his parents Francis and Beverly Drewelow; one sister, Peggy Drewelow; and two brothers-in-law, Dan Peine and Ronald Roethler.

In lieu of flowers, the family would be grateful for donations made in David's name to the Chickasaw County Veterans Memorial Park in New Hampton, IA, or the Lawler Area Veterans Monument in Lawler, IA, both on which David is listed and honored for his service to his country.

Theresa Diane Weinberg, 59

Theresa Diane Weinberg, age 59 of Plainfield, died Saturday, Oct. 29, 2022, at Mayo Clinic Hospital, Methodist Campus, in Rochester, Minnesota.

Funeral services will be held at 11 a.m. Friday, Nov. 4, 2022, at First United Church of Christ - Pleasant Valley, rural Clarksville, with the Rev. Peter Wenzel officiating.

Interment will be held at First United Church of Christ - Pleasant Valley Church Cemetery.

Friends may greet the family from 4 to 7 p.m. on Thursday, Nov. 3, 2022, at Hugeback-Johnson Funeral Home & Crematory/ Olson Chapel in Nashua. Visitation continues an hour prior to the service at the church on Friday.

Donald Etter, age 84 of Ionia, died Monday, Oct. 24, 2022, at his home.

The family hosted a memorial gathering from 5 to 7 p.m. on Wednesday, Nov. 2, 2022, at the Borlaug Center in Nashua.

Anna Magdalene Halverson, 77

Anna Magdalene Halverson, age 77 of New Hampton, passed away peacefully, surrounded by her family, on Thursday, Oct. 27, 2022, at her home.

A private family service will take place at a later date.

Hugeback-Johnson Funeral Home & Crematory in New Hampton has been entrusted with Anna's arrangements.

Anna was born on Oct. 6, 1945, to John and Anna Maria Drosse in Rhaunen, Germany, where she grew up with her nine brothers and sisters, and throughout her life, she was exceptionally close to her siblings. Sundays were designated for phone calls with her family.

She married Ronald "Butch" Hillesheim, a U.S. Air Force mechanic stationed at Hahn Air Force Base, on Jan. 29, 1964, and their first daughter, Patty, was born in Germany.

When her husband received his honorable discharge, the family moved to the United States. To the marriage, four additional children were born — Sandy, Sonya, Terry and Becky. The family first lived in Sleepy Eye, Minnesota, before moving to Goldfield and then settling in Nashua. She and Butch later divorced.

Anna Halverson

Anna married Tom Halverson on May 29, 1992 at the Little Brown Church in Nashua. Tom and Anna first made their home in Fort Atkinson before moving to New Hampton in 2004. They enjoyed time with family and friends. Anna loved to cook, bake, garden and visit with her family members. Her homemade bread, potato salad and cinnamon rolls were exceptional; then again, anything she baked was delicious. She also had much love for her dogs.

Anna is survived by her husband Tom of more than 30 years; her children Patty (Todd) Burkle of Monona, Sandy (Bill) Harrington of Nashua, Sonya (Dale) Matthews of Waverly, Terry (Shawna) Hillesheim of Nashua, and Becky (Brad) Babcock of New Hampton; 13 grandchildren; 11 great-grandchildren; her siblings, Katharina, Kurt, Marianne, Gretel and Manfred; and many nieces and nephews.

She was preceded in death by her parents, John and Anna Maria; and four siblings, Hanswerner, Paula, Heinz, and Peter.

Deborah 'Debbie' Lynne Weidler, 61

Deborah "Debbie" Lynne Weidler, age 61 of New Hampton, died Wednesday, Oct. 26, 2022, at her home surrounded by loved ones.

A funeral service was held at 10:30 a.m. Monday, Oct. 31, 2022, at Trinity Lutheran Church in New Hampton with the Rev. Kevin Frey presiding.

Interment followed the service at Rose Hill Cemetery in Fredericksburg.

Friends greeted the family from 2 to 5 p.m. on Sunday, Oct. 30, 2022, at Hugeback-Johnson Funeral Home & Crematory in New Hampton. Visitation continued an hour prior to the service on Monday at the church.

Deb was born on April 11, 1961, at St. Joseph's Hospital in New Hampton, to Robert and Lorraine (Winter) Weidler.

She was christened and confirmed at St. John's Lutheran Church in Boyd, and soon grew strong in her faith. She later graduated from New Hampton High School in 1979.

In her teenage years, Deb was involved in golf and softball, but her weekends would typically involve trips to Chip's in Lawler where she would disco the night away with friends. Her dance moves earned quite the dance floor reputation. And the loyalty she showed her friends in her youth continued throughout her lifetime.

She never knew a stranger and would have given anything to those she called friends.

Studying business management at University of Northern Iowa, she graduated in 1983 and began her career in retail with the Kmart Corporation, leading store operations in Lebanon and St. Louis, Missouri.

However, in the mid 1980s she became sick, finding herself in critical condition. It was later discovered she had kidney failure. After two and a half years on dialysis, Deb's mother became the kidney donor, and in 1987, she was gifted another chance at life.

Deb Weidler

Upon her recovery, Deb embraced this opportunity and sought to find a new career path that focused on others.

She returned to UNI and obtained a degree in social work. She accepted a position as a family therapist and social worker for Alternative Treatment Association (ATT) in Postville.

Later she accepted an opportunity to work with Lutheran Social Services, pioneering a new West Union territory. During the last part of her career, she returned to ATT, where she spent her final working days. Deb was well known in the social work circle as the one who could manage the more challenging cases. Deb had a unique approach that made a difference for many families who found themselves in some of life's most challenging situations.

Deb had a deep love for her horses. She won many accolades and recognition for both her horsemanship and riding skills. Whether it was riding Eagle or Goliath, she was a 4H champion. There was a special kind of peace and enjoyment found with her horses.

Deb's equestrian interests were only second to her love for fishing. She was so pleased the day she purchased her first fishing boat, a dark green beauty with a 25 hp motor. Fishing trips were a highlight, usually in Minnesota or Canada, and always included family, the best of friends and a cozy lakeside cabin. Deb was known to have almost more pictures in her scrapbooks of fish than people.

Debbie was a master storyteller, and often used her humor to be the life of the party.

It was her passion and perseverance that helped define who she was and what she stood for. In her final days, she was surrounded by family and friends.

The care she received from her exceptional medical team included professionals from Chickasaw County Public Health (Lisa, Wendy and Shelley) and Cedar Valley Hospice (Andrea, Diane, Amy and the social work team).

The comfort of faith was given by Pastor Kevin and Pastor Dan of Trinity Lutheran Church.

Deb is survived by her mother, Lorraine; sister, Kathy; and her beloved cat, Twitter; as well as many aunts, uncles, cousins and close friends.

She is preceded in death by her father, Robert; paternal grandparents, Martin and Mary Weidler; maternal grandparents, Erwin and Elsie Winter; and her uncle and godfather, Dennis Winter; uncle Keith Weidler; aunt Connie (Winter) Heussner.

EMS Advisory Committee says part-timers definitely needed for service fill positions come Jan. 1. Is that the big headline story that you have enough staff?"

Pending interviews and background checks, yes, Chickasaw County EMS Advisory Committee member Bridget Edson said, but she also added that there is still work to be done when it comes to staffing the service that not only includes Chickasaw County but six of the county's cities — New Hampton, Bassett, Fredericksburg, Ionia, Lawler and North Washington.

Edson asked the supervisors to allow the committee to re-advertise on the Chickasaw County website so that the service would generate more applications from those who want to work for the county but not on a full-time basis.

She pointed out the original advertisement was "confusing" and that committee members were hoping by re-opening the application process, the service would generate more interest from those who are looking for part-time or PRN positions.

Supervisor Jason Byrne agreed.

"I did talk to a few other paramedics who said that they were interested," he said, "but they didn't want the full-time. They didn't apply. ... I think if we're going to go through the motions, we might as well say full-time or part-time because there might be someone out there that didn't see it the first time and still applies. And then you might get those other but people who may want to work one day every other week or one day a week and not hurt our budget so much because we wouldn't have [to pay] benefits."

Board member Jake Hackman wondered aloud just how large the staff would be, and Edson said that "if you truly want to lean on your part-time people and get the most bang for your buck, you're looking at 24 to 30 people to run the service."

The board eventually voted 4-1, with Hackman casting the dissenting vote, to allow the application process to continue.

Supervisors also learned from Kuhn that he had been approached by a city employee who said "city employees had talked and they came up with some locations where they could house our ambulances before July 1."

Kuhn was quick to point out that the New Hampton City Council would have to approve any storage of ambulances but that city employees "were just trying to reach out and help."

Supervisors also discussed if they needed contracts signed by Knutson, who will work up to 20 hours a week until Dec. 31 and then serve as director of the service beginning in 2023.

"I'm not that concerned about a contract between now and Jan. 1," Laudner said. "... But I think the main focus is to make sure there is a contract starting on Jan. 1."

Bruce Flatjord, 66

Club members are smart; they avoid politics and religion!

KLUB: FROM 1

south of my house, I went to school in Cresco," said Webster. She got to know other women in the club, including Jirak. "I was new to the area," she said. "We started with eight women. Even though we lived close, we didn't see each other."

And there are eight in the club now, although at one time the numbers were up to 23. Though the group started as farm wives, many went on to work in jobs off the farm at one time or another.

There are bylaws for the group, but some of those have gone by the wayside. For example, the group started by saying no one over the age of 35 was allowed. Since the ages now range between 72 and 89, that went away many, many years ago.

"Wasn't there a rule that said if you missed three meetings you were out of the club?" asked Joann Busta. No one seemed to know that answer to that, probably because it had never happened. "As farm wives, we're busy, so when we had club night we tried our best to get there," Jirak said.

"We also had an unwritten rule that no husbands were allowed," she continued. The group still adheres to that, but there are occasions when a get together will be coed.

"We used to have Christmas parties with our husbands in December," said Sabelka. "Then there was too much going on so we moved it to February. But the guys enjoy getting together too."

Over the years the ladies have endured hardships. Three of the eight have lost husbands. Two are recovering from cancer. Members sit in the front of a church when fellow members die, like Verlene Maher, another charter member, who passed last year. That one still stings.

"We miss her so much," said Carol Bohaty. "She was a spark plug," Webster added.

But they always have each other's support.

"We say prayers for each other, we've laughed and cried together, we've been through a lot," said Webster. Hospital stays and funerals call for flowers, visits and cards.

Maybe one of the reasons for the club's longevity rests in the quick answer they gave to the question — do you ever discuss politics?

"No, never, no religion either," Busta admitted. "Other than saying prayers for someone."

Busta noted the club was a full-fledged organization, complete with dues, a secretary's report and the election of officers every year.

"They might be the same every year, but we have elections." Bohaty takes care of the historian duties, with 60 years of newspaper clippings and momentous about members and their families stored in a bedroom.

The once-a-month meetings were originally in the evenings. "One night, I had silo fillers going out the door and had club members coming in," Lou Junko recalled. "We'd be out until midnight or one in the morning," Lukes said. "One night we almost got snowed in."

"We went some nights we probably should have stayed home," Ellen Fisher said. "But back then we were young and foolish."

Even though the evening meetings are now held during daytime hours, there are still times those country roads cause concern. Bohaty recalled dropping off a fellow member within the last couple of years after an outing during which a heavy rain fell. She encountered water over several roads, making her turn around and extending the 10 minute drive to an hour.

Until COVID, members would meet at each other's houses, prompting a flurry of cleaning for company. "Our house got a good cleaning once a year," laughed Fisher. Meetings would sometimes involve craft-making or speakers, but the group would always find "something interesting" to do.

Now the gang meets at restaurants, they do excursions, on this particular day they met and ate at Jerico Jo's. But no alcohol.

"We didn't need that to have fun," observed Busta. Bohaty added with a grin, "We were crazy enough without it."

Over the years, the ladies have watched each other's kids grow, then grandkids, now great-grandkids. "We have a lot of good memories," said Jirak. It's a great morale booster, according to Webster, who enjoys each of her friend's company, not only now but over the years. "Everybody's special, we've never had a dud in the bunch."

Legion to hold Vets Day Dinner Nov. 13

Pork chops will be served by the New Hampton American Legion Fae Stine Post 38 at the Pub at the Pinicon as part of the Veterans Day Dinner on Sunday, Nov. 13.

The dinner will be held from 4 p.m. to 7 p.m. The cost is $15 for a ticket and all proceeds benefit local veterans. There is a dine-in or carry-out option.

Tickets can be purchased from an American Legion member or at the Pub at the Pinicon.

Our "whole" family cannot express our thanks to each of you personally! Your kind words, food, gifts, calls, masses, memorials and many cards have helped lighten our pain at the sudden loss of Dan. We all appreciate your thoughtfulness.

• The New Hampton Silo Company was sold by George Befort to B. and P. Silo Company effective Oct. 15. Joe Poncelot will be the general manager.

The new owners have been in the business for 37 years. The plan of the new management is to moderate the plant and put out the best cement stave possible. The new owners will be completely cooperative with those who have purchased silos from the New Hampton Silo Company. They will retain their present employees.

• The Security State Bank in New Hampton completed its remodeling program. The R.A. Stolz Construction Company had previously installed new bank fixtures which included tellers cages, counters as well as a private office.

Completion of the program was held up because of availability of materials. This week a new Mar-flex floor is being laid which is a permanent type of floor which will cover the entire lobby. As materials become available, the floor will be covered behind the counter.

• During halftime of the New Hampton-Charles City football game Friday evening at the New Hampton stadium, Miss Jo Skoda, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Skoda, was crowned the 1972 Homecoming Queen. She reigned over the game Friday night and the Homecoming Dance which followed. Attendants to the Queen were kindergarten students Robin Winkleman, 5, and Jon Jensen, 5, children of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Winkleman and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Jensen. Miss Skoda was chosen for the honor from a field of five candidates including, Karen Anderson, Jane Hauth, Barb Koons and Vicki Weber.

• Quarterback Keith Weigel and fullback/tailback Bob Vorwald continue to hold their spots among the leaders in the Northeast Iowa Conference scoring for games played through Oct. 20.

Scoring figures released by the league officials list Weigel in the fifth place in scoring with 36 points and Vorwald is sixth with 30.

• Most of us live our whole lives waiting for our "ship to come in" and never see the day. Leo Flick, although he is 90 years old, probably never thought he would live to see it happen.

On Thursday, Oct. 30, Leo and excited citizens of Ionia, were able to witness that event when a wooden ship made by Hardy Lawn Furniture of Coralville was delivered to the town's park as the first step in updating the playground equipment. A slide and monkey bars that were outdated were removed and the swings and jungle gym will remain in the park.

• Coach Scott Hogeland announced that the popular red and white Chickasaw basketballs are once again on sale. The balls have a red, black and white logo on them showing a Chickasaw and bearing the words, "NEW HAMPTON CHICKASAWS."

All proceeds from the sales of the balls go to the Duane Josephson memorial and the NHHS boys basketball program.

• Two suspects are in custody in connection with the shootings of two law enforcement officers Tuesday near Frederika.

Jeremiah Mumford, 24, of New Hampton, is being charged with six counts of attempted murder and five counts of terrorism.

William Clayton, 19, of Osage is being charged with six counts of aiding and abetting and five counts of terrorism.

The two men were taken into custody at 6:58 p.m. The arrests ended a marathon day for law enforcement officers, including those from the New Hampton Police Department and Chickasaw County Sheriff's Office, that began at 11:13 a.m. when authorities were notified of a robbery in progress at the Maynard Savings Bank.

The two officers injured were Iowa State Trooper Mark Domino of Charles City who was shot in the arm, and was transported to a area hospital, treated and released. Sumner Police Chief Dennis Cain was shot in the hand, thumb and neck. According to the press release, Cain has undergone surgery and remains in critical, but stable, condition.

More than two dozen agencies, including the FBI, the DCI and the U.S. Marshal's Office, contributed to what the Department of Public Safety called the "successful and safe conclusion of the search for the suspects."

As Waterloo Columbus celebrated its Class 3A regional volleyball championship Monday night, the Chickasaws ended a brilliant season. The Sailors held off a determined New Hampton team to post a 26-24, 25-21, 20-25, 25-18 win.

The loss ended the high school careers for a deep and talented senior class that included Kaelyn Ambrose, Savannah Anderson, Bailey Knowlton, Isabel Leichtman, Kallie Olson, Barbara Schwickerath, Callie Speltz and Marcy Uglum.

Trojans' defense shines but Rebels prevail in playoffs

TV Football: From 15

Valley answered with an Oliver Schmitt 1-yard touchdown run and a Noah Hanson-to-Calvin Bodensteiner two-point pass with 37 seconds left in the second quarter. The tie lasted all of 15 seconds as on its first play from scrimmage, the Rebels' Isaac Clark hooked up with Caleb Egesdal for a 50-yard bomb.

The Trojans, though, used a punishing ground game to take the lead late in the second quarter. Hanson scored on a 1-yard quarterback sneak and hit Carson Busta for a two-point pass with 3:14 remaining in the half. On their next drive, the Trojans took the lead when Busta scored on a 2-yard run, and Turkey Valley was up 22-16 with just 1:59 remaining.

"We did what we had to do, we ran the ball, we were keeping their offense off the field and we felt like we were right where we needed to be," Hanson said.

And it looked like Turkey Valley had forced Gladbrook-Reinbeck into a three-and-out until a flag was thrown for pass interference, and the Rebels took advantage to take a 24-22 lead on an Austin Vaverka 15-yard run and converted the two-point conversion.

As offensive as the first half was, the game got downright defensive in the second half.

"If you would have told me we'd hold their offense to 30 points," Hanson said, "I would have told you that would be good enough. That's what's so tough about this."

Not that Turkey Valley didn't have chances in the third quarter. A long Hanson kickoff return to start the second half was negated by a holding penalty, and a perfectly-timed screen pass call that produced a 42-yard catch and run from Schmitt didn't produce any points as the Rebels came up with a key fourth-down stop.

But the Trojans' defense stiffened, too, and even after the Rebels pushed the lead to 30-22 late in the quarter, Schmitt and Franzen combined to come up with key tackles to foil a two-point conversion and keep it a one-possession game.

Turkey Valley cut the deficit to 30-28 midway through the fourth quarter on a Schmitt 2-yard scoring run but the two-point pass play misfired.

The Trojan defense came up with a huge stop on the Rebels' next possession, but starting at its own 14-yard line, Turkey Valley could only come up with two yards before turning the ball over on downs before Gladbrook-Reinbeck ran out the clock.

"It was a great night. We got after it," Franzen said. "I mean we played our game, we did what we needed to do. We just didn't capitalize on the opportunities we had. There were a few plays that we needed to work out and didn't just quite get there when we needed to."

Turkey Valley's defense was led by Troy Schmitt, who had eight tackles while Franzen added 6.5 and Oliver Schmitt contributed six.

Meanwhile, the Trojans' offense did most of its damage by grounding and pounding as Oliver Schmitt ran for 100 yards on 21 carries, Hanson finished with 83 yards on 15 carries and Busta finished with 75 yards on 14 carries.

Hanson gave credit to the big boys up front — Troy Schmitt, Treyton Hulbert and Brady Fischer — for the strong running game.

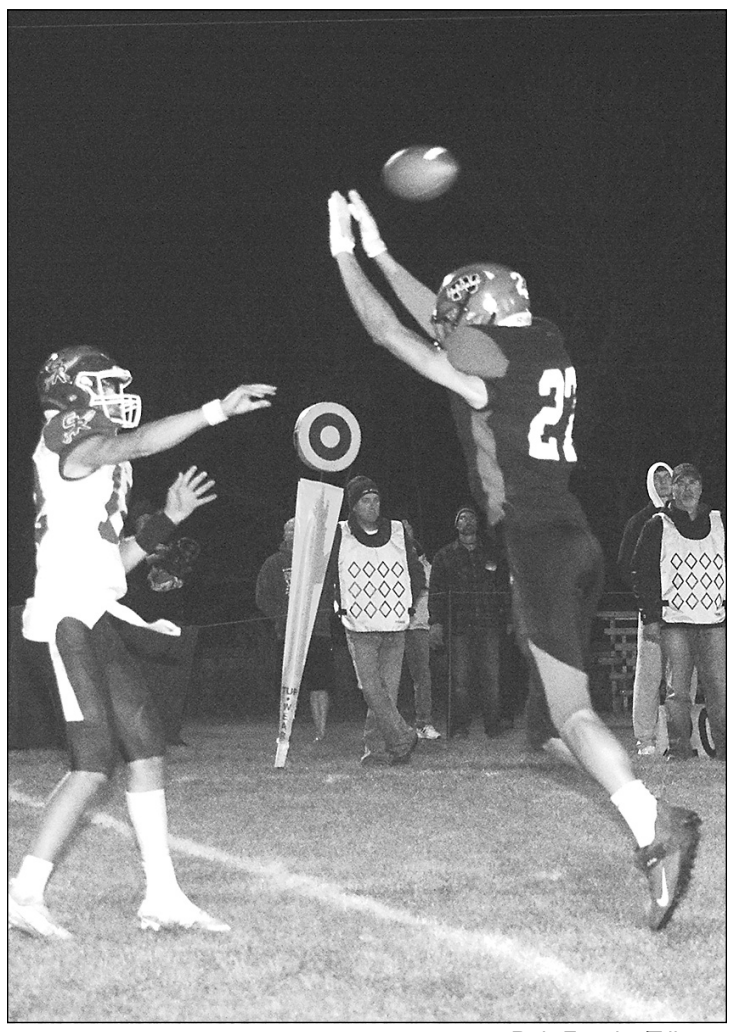

"Those guys have played great all season," he said. "Our running backs — and in our offense, the quarterback is pretty much just another running back — know how big they've been for us."

In the end, it wasn't quite enough, but Scott lauded the work his seniors had put into Trojan football.

"They were hard workers, and they took some lumps back when they first started playing varsity but always came back and worked even harder," Scott said of a class that included Busta, Hanson, Franzen, Chase Hayek, Fischer, Troy Schmitt, Hulbert, Mauricio Tinajero, Arin Rausch and Victor Montiel. "It's always tough to see it end like this, but they made a mark on our football team."

The Trojans went just 2-5 in 2020, but three of those losses were by two points, but went 9-1 a year ago and that loss also came by two points. And this year, the Trojans once again went unbeaten in District 3 play, only to see their season end with a two-point loss.

"Two definitely isn't our lucky number," Hanson said, "but you know, we had a lot of fun playing together. We weren't a finger-pointing team, but we hold each other accountable. And as hard as losing is, there's no other team I'd rather be on than this one."

Bob Fenske/Tribune

Turkey Valley's Ryan Franzen just misses a chance to knock down a pass during Friday's playoff game.

Local dentists are recognized

The 2022 Pappajohn Entrepreneur Gala celebrated North Iowa's entrepreneurs on Oct. 11 at a special recognition event at North Iowa Area Community College in Mason City.

Entrepreneurs and businesses across North Iowa were invited to apply for four awards categories: Young Entrepreneur of the Year, Entrepreneur of the Year, Student Entrepreneur of the Year, the Innovation Award, and Business of the Year.

Drs. Reed and Addision Faldet, DDS, of Hometown Dental received Young Entrepreneur of the Year. The Faldets are the founders and owners of Hometown Dental. In 2022, they constructed state-of-the-art dental clinics in Charles City and New Hampton.

The new clinics are accompanied by new equipment and technology which enhances quality and efficiency of care, and allows the doctors to see more patients and provide greater access to care.

The new clinics will allow the Faldets to address rural dentistry issues as dentists continue to retire in small towns across Iowa. The award was accepted by Lisa Flick of Hometown Dental.

The family of Mel Anderson would like to thank everyone for the love, encouragement, and prayers you have showered us with over the past few months. From Mel's cancer diagnosis to our 50th anniversary, your love has helped to carry us. We would like to thank Drs. Kline and Lewis and all the staff at Mercy One New Hampton for the care and compassion provided to Mel and our family in his final days. Thank you for the cards, memorials, gifts, flowers and food given to us for Mel's celebration.

We would also like to thank the Hugeback-Johnson Funeral Home staff for creating a fitting tribute for Mel. Thank you to Pastor Sarah, the Celebration Team and our Nashua United Methodist Church family for the beautiful celebration of Mel's life.

Thank you all for your love and support.

An awesome autumn!

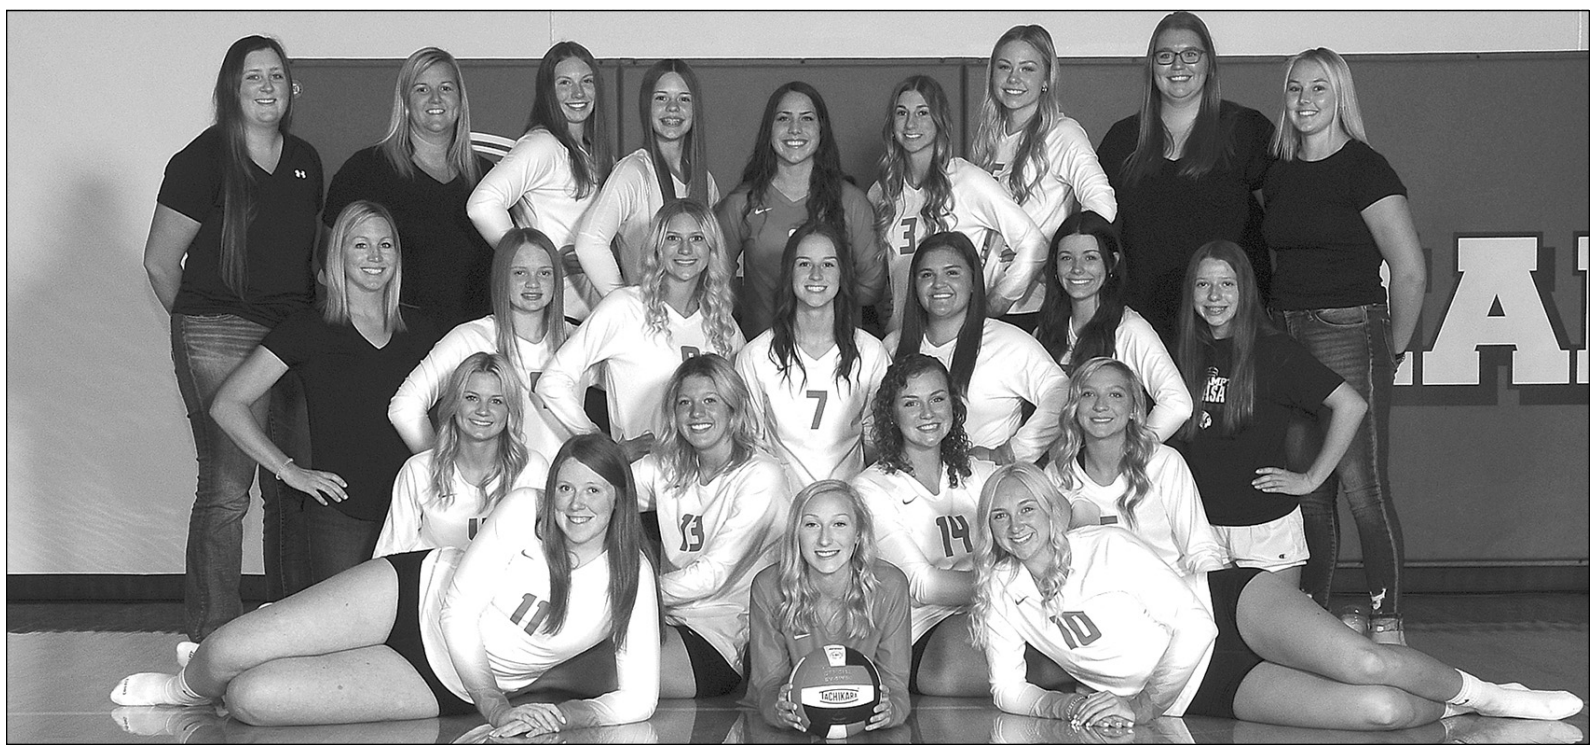

Saluting and thanking our Chickasaw fall sports athletes and coaches

The New Hampton cross country team had a banner season, capped off by the girls qualifying as a team for the Class 2A state meet, where the Chickasaws, led by all-state runner Campbelle Kolbet, finished eighth in the team standings. Other individual qualifiers for the Chickasaws were Tegan Dungey, Natalie Nosbisch and Peyton Anderson. Team members included (front row, from left) Ella Knutson, Natalie Nosbisch, Campbelle Kolbet, Tegan Dungey, Catherine Pethoud, Zoey Dreckman, Bailey Cox, McKenzie Herzberg, Rebecca Wickman, (second row) Jarrin Robinson, Calyb Zeien, Colin Shatek, Eddie Arnold, Braiden Schaufenbuel, Easton Monteith, Xander Meyerhoff, (back row) manager Madison Dreckman, Peyton Anderson, Treyce Orr, Jack Shawver, head coach Jamie Ohrt, Cam McMorris, Kyler Glenn, Jake Frahm and assistant coach Bob Vorwald.

From the gridiron to the course to the court, you represented New Hampton well; best of luck with your winter sports, Chickasaws!

New Hampton places five on all-NEIC teams

NH Volleyball : From 16

New Hampton fell short in its bid to secure a second state tournament berth in school history with a three-set loss at No. 7 Osage a few weeks ago in the Class 3A regional semifinals. The Green Devils cracked the state field for the seventh-consecutive season.

Even though the Chickasaws couldn't get past No. 7 Osage, New Hampton proved its one of the better teams in its class. All but one of New Hampton's 15 losses came against a ranked foe. That setback to a non-rated opponent came at the hands of Charles City (27-13) – which reached the Class 4A regional finals.

Cahoy – an all-state selection last year as a sophomore – recorded the 500th kill in her impressive career this year. The 5-11 outside hitter/middle for New Hampton improved her all-around game and led NH in kills (310) and digs (218). She also recorded 29 ace serves and came up with 26 blocks.

Cahoy, who led the conference in kills, also cracked the first team All-NEIC last year and has taken her talent up a notch this year as she's become a six-rotation player. That basically means she can play the front row, back row and is a threat to attack near the net, as well as defend and pass with the skill of a setter when called upon in certain situations.

"Marissa's very deserving of this award. She has moved into a six-rotation player. Anytime we can keep kids on the court is a great thing. She has really improved in the back row and continues to be a stellar hitter and blocker for us," said Geerts.

Another repeat selection on the NEIC first team was Wegner, Geerts' setter alongside Steinlage. Wegner was second on the team in assists (360) and produced 119 digs to go along with a near 92 percent serve efficiency.

Wegner also hit a milestone achievement as she recorded her 1,00th assist this year.

"She has great hands and does a nice job placing the ball. Molly is court smart and puts a lot of time into the sport, especially in the offseason. She is a great leader on and off the court," said Geerts.

Rounding out the first team picks for NH is Rochford, perhaps the best all-around athlete to ever grace the halls at NHHS. Interestingly enough, Rochford didn't start out playing volleyball in middle school – she ran cross country.

Rochford was valuable in every facet of the game for New Hampton as she played middle, outside hitter and was a great defender. She tied with sophomore middle Braelyn Rosonke for second on the team in kills with 156. Rochford racked up 177 digs – second on the team – and led the team in ace serves (49). That placed Rochford second on the NEIC list in aces accumulated.

"We are so lucky to have Carlee on our team," said Geerts. "Her natural athletic ability allowed her to really shine on the volleyball court. She has the drive to win. She too moved into being a six-rotation player. Her energy really helped us win those big matches."

Steinlage was a versatile performer for NH as she was the leading setter in terms of assists (423) and was utilized for hitting power. She cranked down 73 kills to the floor this fall. She tied Wegner with 119 digs and was percentage points away from the No. 1 serve efficiency (95.4 percent) on the Chickasaw roster. She was second on the team in ace serves (41) and netted 27 blocks on the year.

Steinlage notched her 500th assist this season.

"Paige has awesome court awareness and great hands. She is a six-rotation player who had some opportunity to hit and block as well. She brings good vibes and energy to the team. Paige puts a lot of time in the offseason playing club ball as well," said Geerts.

Rosonke was a key component up front for NH at middle. She led NH with 57 blocks and amassed 119 kills. The 5-11 standout also brought plenty of intensity and determination to the floor every time the Chickasaws took on opponents. She came up with 27 ace serves.

"Elaina really had a lot of fire, always has no matter what team she was playing on. She always found a way to contribute even when one thing wasn't going well, she pushed harder in other areas. Her drive and excitement were key to a lot of our wins," said Geerts.

Geerts is sad to see her two all-conference seniors go.

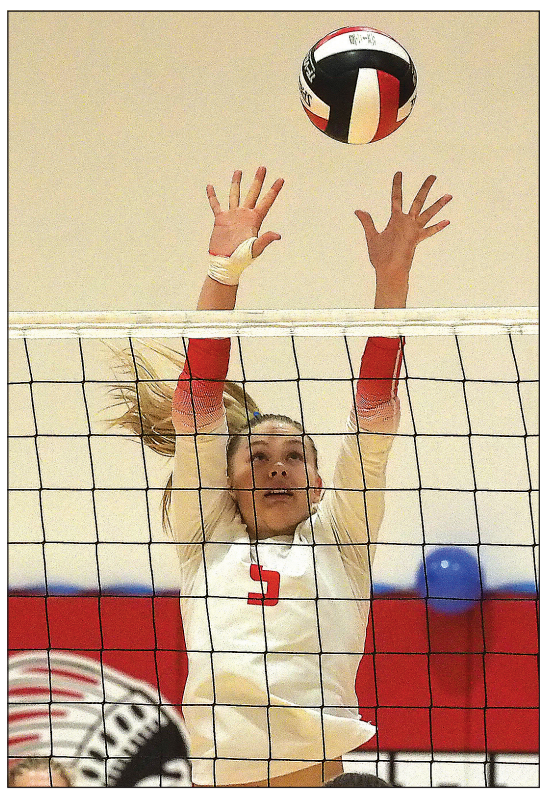

"Carlee and Elaina are going to be missed, as are all seniors. These two all-conference players both brought a lot of drive, grit, and excitement to our team. We will miss them!" said Geerts.

race and ran through some of the worst shin splints I've ever seen," said Ohrt.

He talked about the difference between this year's race and last. He finished 65th overall in 17:59 in Fort Dodge as a junior.

"I started faster. I tried to get out of the pack or at least get in the front," said Anderson. "I was in the back pretty far last year. I just started slow. It gets pretty narrow up there, so you gotta try to fight for a spot."

Anderson enjoyed his time as harrier and was able to soak in all the fun and atmosphere that the big stage in Fort Dodge affords it's entrants.

"Being able to come down last night – enjoy some time with everyone here," said Anderson. "A lot of the team got to come down, so that was fun. Being here was quite the experience – it's a lot of people."

Anderson knew he made the right call when he answered Ohrt's query on whether or not he was going to be a member of the XC team two seasons ago.

"I did a lot better and it was a lot more fun than I expected," said Anderson.

Ohrt broke down what Anderson was able to accomplishment in his time as a Chickasaw and what he meant to the program.

"The only negative about PJ's performance is that it's his last state cross country meet. He is a natural-born competitor and leader. He's the type of athlete every coach wants on their team!" said Ohrt. "Needless to say, I couldn't be more proud of him. I simply wish I had four more years with him."

Chickasaws motivated to get back to state

STATE XC : FROM 16

Kelly Terpstra/Tribune

It was just a really crazy atmosphere with all the people. It made it go really fast."

Kolbet did not even run at the state meet a year ago. Her first jaunt around the daunting course on the hallowed ground of the state meet held here in Fort Dodge was an impressive one.

"It's a true Cinderella story," said Ohrt.

Two NH underclassmen – freshman Tegan Dungey and sophomore Natalie Nosbisch – each ran personal bests on the challenging course that featured 140 runners. Dungey placed 24th overall with a career-best clip of 20:22.68. Nosbisch, who ran in this race last year as an individual, placed 26th in 20:23.4. Nosbisch wound up 35th here last year in a time of 20:38. Her career PR is 20:06.

Dungey and Nosbisch – who are running partners – have run side-by-side in a lot of meets this year. That didn't take place on Friday, expect at the finish – where Nosbisch's kick almost caught the fantastic freshman right at the wire.

"I felt good at the beginning. The first half felt a lot flatter and then I felt the second half and I slowed down quite a ways because it got a lot hillier," said Nosbisch.

While Nosbisch might be her own toughest critic, Dungey gave a glimpse into her running style and her mindset in the biggest race of her promising career thus far.

"I was really nervous," said Dungey. "I ignore it. I just try not to think about it. I just go out there and run."

Three other seniors also finished their last race on the best course possible when you're a prep harrier in the state of Iowa.

Those seniors were Catherine Pethoud (133rd, 25:06), Bailey Cox (135th, 25:36) and Kandice Eggerichs (137th, 29:06).

They were all happy to run together one last time.

"If you wanna go fast – go alone. If you want to go far – go as a team," said Pethoud about a quote she saw that best encapsulated her first and final state meet.

Cox loved the energy from the crowd. To be able to complete the season with her teammates was extra special for the athlete that is also an accomplished state wrestler.

"It's exhilarating, said Cox about the crowd cheering her on. "We ended as a team. We did this as a team. We got the best we could as a team."

Eggerichs joined the team in mid-September and pulled double-duty. She was a member of the NH volleyball team that won the regular season NEIC title and postseason conference tournament league crown in the same season for the first time in school history.

"If you would have thought that cross country would have been the last sport that's like playing, basically, throughout the fall season – people would have laughed at you at the beginning of the season," said Eggerichs. "I'm just grateful for this opportunity to be a part of this amazing team and welcoming me in."

The super exciting part is New Hampton could well be back in Fort Dodge for years to come. This was a magical moment and a feeling that the Chickasaws could get real used to repeating. Three of NH's top seven runners are underclassmen, plus the addition of talented eighth-grader Sophie Glaser will try to help fill Kolbet's void in 2023.

"I want to go to state next year and I want to do way better than I did today," said Chickasaw freshman Ella Knutson," who was motivated to stay up near the front but eventually faded as the race progressed.

Knutson finished 124th in 23:58.

"My plan was to go out fast and stay with her (Tegan) and Natalie. That's what gassed me," said Knutson.

New Hampton last competed at state in 1998 as the Chickasaws placed seventh among an 18-team field. NH actually tied with South O'Brien with 266 points, but lost out on sixth place because of a tie-breaker.

Ohrt, in her 10th season of guiding the Chickasaw XC program, said in prior years her runners haven't performed the best on this big stage.

Not this year.

"In year's past – not every year – but a lot of years we have put so much effort in qualifying, that when we get down here it's kind of like, 'oh well, we made it,'" said Ohrt.

That's why Ohrt and assistant coach Bob Vorwald made it a point to let the girls know that there is still one more race to be run and not to be satisfied with just getting to Fort Dodge. Ohrt said that was one of the keys to get the team to believe in their own ability – regardless of how big of a race it was.

"Bob and I had a conversation with them. We said your story's not done," said Ohrt. "We are not giving up and we are not slacking on intensity in practice – nothing. Because we're not coming down here to lay a golden egg."

Kolbet's journey from just missing out on the state meet a year ago as a junior to a top-10 finish this year was a storybook ending for the determined senior. She helped set the tone from the get-go this season and her drive and willingness to sacrifice to succeed obviously rubbed off on her teammates.

"I knew I wanted to make it to state. I never thought I'd place in the top 10," smiled Kolbet. "It feels really good. I love watching the team push each other and get each other through all the races and all the practices. We finished it with a bang."

Turkey Valley quarterback Noah Hanson (above) finds plenty of running room while teammate Carson Busta (right) goes in the air to make a catch on a two-point conversion during the Trojans' state playoff game against Gladbrook-Reinbeck last Friday in Jackson Junction.

Trojans fall in playoff classic

Standout senior class bids farewell after heartbreaking 30-28 loss to Rebels

By Bob Fenske
editor@nhtrib.com

Ryan Franzen tried to collect his thoughts just a few minutes after the Turkey Valley senior's high school football career came to an end on Friday night.

For 48 minutes, he and his Trojan teammates had stood toe-to-toe with Gladbrook-Reinbeck. The two teams threw their figurative best punches at each other, but in the end, it was the Rebels who had come away with a 30-28 victory in the eight-man state playoffs round of 16.

But even in the face of bitter disappointment, Franzen and his teammates didn't depart from the "Trojan way." They posed for pictures with their families and young kids who, win or lose, saw them as heroes. As hard as they were taking the loss, they still showed plenty of class.

Still, it hurt. A lot.

Franzen was asked what he will the most about football, and it took a moment for him to answer.

"The guys I grew up playing with. I've been playing with the same group of guys since fourth grade," Franzen said as his voice cracked with emotion. "You know, senior year, it's over. It's been a hell of a ride, ups and downs, we left it all out there every time. It's always great in the highs and the lows really hurt and this one really, really hurts."

The Trojans' Oliver Schmitt (above) has a wide-open field in front of him on a long screen pass while Turkey Valley seniors (below) show their playoff trophy to their fans.

The fact is the Trojans were a play or two or three away from getting at least another week of football under their belt, for this was a classic football game between two evenly-matched teams.

"Our guys played their hearts out all night long," veteran Turkey Valley coach Mark Scott said after his team finished with the season 7-2. "They get one big pass play, a little iffy pass interference call, and you take that away, we probably win the game, but I'm proud of our team. They left it all on the field tonight."

For a while, it looked like this would be a typical eight-man shootout. After the Rebels took an 8-0 lead, Turkey

KOLBET CAPS INCREDIBLE SEASON WITH ALL-STATE RUN; CHICKASAW GIRLS TAKE EIGHTH AT 2A STATE MEET

By Kelly Terpstra
sports@nhtrib.com

There were plenty of hugs, lots of smiles and a proud bunch that gathered near the manicured green at Lakeside Golf Course in Fort Dodge on Friday.

The New Hampton Chickasaw flag flew high – just a stone's throw away from the finish line at the Class 2A state cross country meet.

On a beautiful fall day, the Chickasaw girls cross country team couldn't have written a better script to the conclusion of a historic season.

For the first time in almost a quarter of a century, Jamie Ohrt and her talented bunch finished a season at a venue that many schools envy to do – in Fort Dodge.

"If there's bliss for coach – it's surreal. I'm beyond proud of their motivation and their ability to work together," said Ohrt. "I've had talented teams in the past, but never this many talented kids on one team – and motivated."

The Chickasaws – ranked 12th coming into the big meet – placed eighth overall at Kennedy Park in Fort Dodge. New Hampton finished with 231 team points, four points ahead of No. 10 Cherokee. Van Meter took home the 2A crown with 111 points, just edging out runner-up Williamsburg (113 points).

While the team finish was icing on the cake for the Chickasaws, NH senior Campbelle Kolbet capped an incredible senior season with an eighth-place finish of her own as she crossed the finish line in a career-best time of 19:33 to earn a medal.

"It was the fastest race I've ever ran in my entire life," said Kolbet. "It felt like five minutes.

New Hampton senior Peyton Anderson competes last Friday at the Class 2A state meet.

Chickasaws' Anderson enjoys final run at state

By Kelly Terpstra
sports@nhtrib.com

P.J. Anderson knows what it's like to take a chance.

Then he did something with it.

Anderson – who capped off two successful runs at the state meet in back-to-back seasons on Friday afternoon in Fort Dodge – admitted running wasn't his favorite thing to do a few years back.

The sport of cross country still might not rank near the top of the list for Anderson – who placed 50th at the Class 2A state meet held at Kennedy Park – but he's gotten pretty good at the endeavor.

"It was a good season. I had a lot of fun," said Anderson. "I ended up where I wanted to be down here at state. That's all I could really ask for."

Anderson, a senior, came out for the sport after he received a phone call from Chickasaw head coach Jamie Ohrt that woke him out of bed his sophomore season. He thought he would just try to keep in shape for wrestling that winter by running in the fall.

Then something happened, he realized through intense training sessions – he wasn't all that bad at the sport that requires plenty of offseason conditioning to get better.

"You gotta kind of want it and just work for it, really," said Anderson. "If you work hard enough – it happens."

Anderson ran a time of 17:32 in his last race as a Chickasaw.

"I just basically wanted to do better than I did last year," said Anderson.

Anderson did just that all the while battling injury.

"To say I was impressed with PJ's performance is an understatement. Although he didn't run a PR, he left every fiber of his being on that course, continued to move up throughout the

NEIC champs place quintet on all-league teams

After winning both regular season, tourney titles, Chickasaws haul in all-NEIC honors

By Kelly Terpstra
sports@nhtrib.com

A landmark season in 2022 was awarded with top honors for the New Hampton Chickasaw volleyball squad this fall.

Three Chickasaws headlined the first team NEIC all-conference squad that was announced recently.

NH juniors Marissa Cahoy and Molly Wegner, along with senior Carlee Rochford, were tabbed for the 10-member first team.

Chickasaw senior Elaina Rosonke and junior Paige Steinlage were selected as members of the second team.

New Hampton (23-15, 10-0) swept the regular season slate of league matches and did the same in the postseason tourney to run its conference record to a perfect 10-0. New Hampton head coach Jess Geerts, who just finished her 17th season as leader of the Chickasaw program, said that's never been done before in school history.

"Winning the conference is a huge advantage with all-conference selections. We were super fortunate to have five girls make all-conference and I wished we could have had more," said Geerts.
