PROGRAM NOT ONLY REMEMBERS REASON

FOR DAY BUT ALSO IMPORTANCE OF OLD GLORY

Short and sweet ... yet so poignant.

That may be the best description of New Hampton's Memorial Day observance Monday morning, when more than 300 residents turned out to remember those Americans who had made the ultimate sacrifice.

"They fought on land, at sea and in the air always understanding that they may not come back from the mission," First Methodist Church and United Congregational Church Pastor Dong Hun Shin said during his invocation, "and accepting that was part of the job. They were willing to risk that to protect this land that we hold so dear ...

"We thank them for their sacrifice and promise we'll carry on their legacy to insure that they did not die in vain."

Cresco man drowns at Airport Lake Park

Multiple agencies spend more than four hours Monday searching for the body of 52-year-old

The Memorial Day weekend turned tragic Monday afternoon when a Cresco man died from drowning at Airport Lake Park.

According to a press release from Chickasaw County Sheriff Ryan Shawver, divers from Iowa Search and Rescue recovered the body of Alvaro Vldiva Barranco, age 52, from the lake just before 6 p.m. at the popular Chickasaw County Conservation Board Park located northwest of New Hampton.

The press release stated that the Chickasaw County Medical Examiner's Office "determined the cause of death to be consistent with a fresh-water drowning" but added that the medical examiner has requested a full autopsy be conducted by the State of Iowa Medical Examiner.

Authorities were called to Airport Lake at 1:40 p.m. and were told that a male had reportedly gone under water and did not surface in the lake that is the centerpiece of the Frank Springer and his family may not have went camping this past weekend, but mark it down, they will be visiting Chickasaw County Conservation Board's Airport Lake Campground sometime this summer.

"We just came up for the day because we have some friends camping here," the Cedar Falls man said, "and man, I'm telling you, we're impressed. This is a nice little campground. We're hooked."

Flag key part of Memorial Day program

from a group of Cub Scouts, honored not only those who remind us that "freedom is not free" but also the flag. Cub Scouts not only laid the wreaths to honor those who died but also carried out a solemn flag disposal ceremony. Residents also learned — or at least re-learned — what the "folds" of a flag mean.

And keynote speaker Chad Wendel — who served two tours in Iraq while in the Army and came home and embarked on a 15-year career in law enforcement before, along with his wife Danielle, purchasing what is now Sarge's Distillery in Fredericksburg — also focused much of his talk on the flag.

He told the crowd that 9/11 changed his outlook on the flag. "Prior to 9/11, I was your normal 19-year-old kid who had a rudimentary understanding of what the flag represented," he said. "After 9/11, I had a little bit deeper understanding what it stood for so I decided to join the Army."

He shared that he went to basic training in 2002, and "after two deployments and too many lost friends, my understanding was completely different."

Even after he left the Army and undertook a career in law enforcement.

"There is not a day that goes by that I don't think of how important the flag is to me and my family," he said. "It is the symbol of what I have fought to protect for so many years."

Yet, the more he thought about the subject, the more important the flag became to him.

"To me, it means remembering those that came before me who made the ultimate sacrifice," he said. "It means remembering those friends that I lost, as well as the thousands that will never make it back home ... it means assuring that my children will grow up respecting those freedoms that were fought for."

But maybe the best part of Wendel's address came when he concluded it with words from a Johnny Cash song titled "Ragged Old Flag."

In her own good land here,
she's been abused,
She's been burned, dishonored,
denied an' refused,
And the government for which she stands
Has been scandalized throughout out the land.
And she's getting thread bare,
and she's wearin' thin,
But she's in good shape, for the shape she's in.

Cause she's been through the fire before and I believe she can take a whole lot more.
So we raise her up every morning
And we bring her down slow

every night,
We don't let her touch the ground,
And we fold her up right.
On second thought
I do like to brag
Cause I'm mighty proud of That Ragged Old Flag

What does the Holy Spirit do?

Third person of the 'Triune God' cleanses us of our sins

Fifty days after His resurrection from the dead and 10 days after His ascension, Jesus sent the Holy Spirit to His disciples.

This day is called “Pentecost” (May 28 this year), a day on which the disciples spoke God’s saving truth in languages they did not know before.

But why was the Holy Spirit needed? What does the Holy Spirit do?

The Holy Spirit is the third Person of the Triune God, equal in power and glory with the Father and the Son. Jesus explained how the Persons of God work together: “[The Spirit] will glorify Me, for He will take what is Mine and declare it to you. All that the Father has is Mine; therefore I said that He will take what is Mine and declare it to you” (John 16:14-15).

God the Father willed the salvation of the world, God the Son won this salvation through His death on the cross and resurrection from the dead, and God the Holy Spirit distributes this salvation to sinners.

If the Holy Spirit did not bring the gifts of God to us, none of us would be saved. Writing to one group of Christians, the apostle

Paul said that they were once dead in their sins, living only for themselves, pursuing every sinful desire that came to mind.

But then a great change happened: “you were washed, you were sanctified, you were justified in the name of the Lord Jesus Christ and by the Spirit of our God” (1 Corinthians 6:11).

Through the powerful Word, the Holy Spirit cleansed them of their sin, changed their minds, enlightened their hearts, and set them on a new path.

He continues to do this same work among

Craig Niewoehner, 63

Craig Niewoehner

Craig Niewoehner, age 63 of Lime Springs, passed away at his home on Thursday, May 25, 2023.

Funeral services were held on Wednesday, May 31, 2023, at 10:30 a.m. at the St. Paul Lutheran Church in Lime Springs.

Friends called from 4 to 6 p.m. on Tuesday, May 30, 2023, at the Lindstrom Funeral Home in Cresco, as well as one hour prior to services at the church on Wednesday.

Burial was at the Pleasant Hill Cemetery in Lime Springs.

Craig John Niewoehner was born Jan. 5, 1960, at West Union. He was the son of John and Eunice Niewoehner. He was baptized in Lutheran faith and later confirmed at the Lutheran church in rural Boyd. After moving to Chester, he was a member of United Lutheran church until it closed.

Craig wasn't afraid to try anything if he thought it would work. He built houses and logged with his dad.

He married Elaine Ross on July 16, 1977, at St. Paul's Maple Leaf Lutheran Church in rural Elma. They are the parents of Ray and John.

Craig also worked at A & K Feed & Grain and the Farmers Coop, both of Lime Springs.

He was a Tomorrow's Leader Today, a member of Chester-Lime Springs Fish & Game. (He helped build the shooting bench there), a volunteer fireman of Chester Fire and Rescue of which he was assistant fire chief for many years.

He started to work at SMI Co., when it was located in Chester; due to a fire SMI Co. relocated to Cresco. Tom Kammer, manager then of SMI Co., and Craig were then put to the task of finding a large enough building and reconstructing SMI Co. — along with setting up equipment and getting the company back on its feet. It was a challenge laying out and setting up the equipment. Craig took his task to heart and made it work.

A few years later SMI bought a sawmill of which Craig became the manager until his failing health in 2022 forced him to retire.

Craig was a fighter — surviving a heart attack, stroke and cancer, doing 2 rounds of radiation in 2019 and 2020. He and wife Elaine, along with the rest of the Niewoehner family, were famous for their eggrolls at Lime Springs Sweet Corn Days, of which the proceeds were donated to the Lime Springs pool.

Living with Craig was like a box of animal crackers, you never knew what adventure you would be on next.

Craig will be sadly missed by his wife Elaine of 45 years; his sons, Ray and Jamie Niewoehner and their children, Jackie and Jade, and John and Sonda Niewoehner and their children, Ross, Rose, Chase, Carter, Cruz and Jessica and great-grandson Zakia; his mother, Eunice Niewoehner; brother, Ken and wife Jolene; two nieces; one nephew; and one great-niece.

He is proceeded in death by his father, John Niewoehner; paternal grandparents, Ervin Niewoehner and Clara Niewoehner Schultz; step-grandfather, Melvin Schultz; maternal grandparents, Maxwell and Frances Matt; and his in-laws, Paul and Alice Ross.

The Niewoehner family would like to thank the Howard County Hospice nurses and aides for their excellent care and support, Pastor Jeff Jacobs for his visits, neighbors Betty and Brad for their visits and all their delicious food and treats. May God bless you all!

Deadline to apply for additional homestead exemption is July 1

Chickasaw County Assessor Ray Armel is reminding residents that Gov. Kim Reynolds last month signed House File 718, establishing an additional homestead exemption for claimants 65 years of age or older.

In addition to the existing homestead tax credit, eligible claimants who own the home they live in and are 65 years of age or older on or before Jan. 1 of the assessment year are now eligible for an additional homestead exemption.

For the assessment year beginning on Jan. 1, 2023, the exemption is for $3,250 of taxable value.

For assessment years beginning on or after January 1, 2024, the exemption is for $6,500 of taxable value. An exemption is a reduction in the taxable value of the property rather than a direct reduction in the amount of property tax you pay.

The Iowa Department of Revenue has amended the Homestead Tax Credit Exemption (54-028) form to allow claimants to apply for the new exemption. Applications are due July 1 to your local assessor.

If the exemption is granted, the exemption will be allowed for future years without future filing as long as the claimant continues to qualify.

Application forms can be found on the Chickasaw County Assessor's page of the county web site, then go to credits and exemptions, then under homestead tax credit click on application form, or simply visiting the Chickasaw County Assessor's Office.

If you have any questions, please contact the Assessor's Office at 641-394-2813 or by email at r.armel@chickasaw-county.iowa.gov.

The annual deadline to apply is July 1.

Hugeback-Johnson Funeral Home & Crematory in New Hampton has been entrusted with Kenny's arrangements.

Online condolences for the Bruess family may be left at www.hugebackfuneralhome.com.

Kenny was born on March 25, 1954, in New Hampton. Twice in his early years he battled meningitis. His childhood was filled with Sunday fishing trips to the Mississippi River where his favorite spot was by the Lock & Dam No. 8 near Genoa, Wisconsin.

Softball filled his teen years, and in his later years, his Sundays evolved around going to church and church dinners. He enjoyed his morning coffee with friends, card games, cribbage, jigsaw puzzles, acrostic puzzles, scratch lottery tickets, recording and categorizing every single dollar bill he came across, visiting casinos, computer Solitaire and drawing up sports pools for family and friends. Since he was a "numbers guy," he would be proud of his annual Christmas game which involved his family's birth dates and ages.

Kenny began his education at Elma and at Our Lady of Lourdes in Lourdes. He then transferred to Holy Trinity School in Protivin, where he was proud of graduating from the last eighth-grade class at the school. He then continued his studies at Crestwood High School in Cresco, where he graduated in 1973 and was looking forward to attending his 50th class reunion in August.

After high school, Kenny worked at Sara Lee in New Hampton before enlisting in the United States Army. This decision would shape the rest of his life.

During his time in the Army, Kenny served in Germany, a country that held a special place in his heart due to his heritage. During this time in Germany, he participated in many Volksmarches, in which he joined members of the community walking together in a fitness walk. He received patches or badges for his efforts, which he displayed with pride. His love for Germany and passion for serving his country led him to reenlist for a second term.

After completing his service, Kenny returned to Protivin where he bought a home and joined the Army Reserves of Decorah where he remained for many years. Kenny worked on can redemptions for recycling and working at Art's Milling where he remained until his untimely death. But the one role he most cherished was being godfather for his niece Megan.

Kenny was a pillar of the community in Protivin, always looking for ways to help others, making a positive impact. He was deeply involved in volunteer work, whether it was ushering in church, years of carrying fish at the annual American Legion Fish Fry and all the miles he traveled posting the Czech Days flyers. He looked

What Should You Expect From Your Investments?

To help achieve your financial goals, you may need to invest in the financial markets throughout your life. However, at times your investment expectations may differ from actual returns, triggering a variety of emotions. So, what are reasonable expectations to have about your investments?

Ideally, you hope that your investment portfolio will eventually help you meet your goals, both your short-term ones, such as a cross-country vacation, and the long-term ones, such as a comfortable retirement. But your expectations may be affected by several factors, including the following:

- Misunderstanding – Various factors in the economy and the financial markets trigger different reactions in different types of investments — so you should expect different results. When you own stocks, you can generally expect greater price volatility in the short term. Over time, though, the “up” and “down” years tend to average out. When you own bonds, you can expect less volatility than individual stocks, but that’s not to say that bond prices never change. Generally, when interest rates rise, you can anticipate that the value of your existing, lower-paying bonds may decrease, and when rates fall, the value of your bonds may increase.

- Recency bias – Investors exhibit “recency bias” when they place too much emphasis on recent events in the financial markets, expecting that those same events will happen again. But these expectations can lead to negative behavior. For example, in 2018, the Dow Jones Industrial Average fell almost 6% — so investors subject to recency bias might have concluded it was best to stay out of the markets for a while. But the Dow jumped more than 22% the very next year. Of course, the reverse can also be true: In 2021, the Dow rose almost 19%, so investors who might have been susceptible to recency bias may have thought they were in for more big gains right away — but in 2022, the Dow fell almost 9%. Here’s the bottom line: Recency bias may cloud your expectations about your investments’ performance — and it’s essentially impossible to predict accurately what will happen to the financial markets in any given year.

- Anchoring – Another type of investment behavior is known as “anchoring” — an excessive reliance on your original conviction in an investment. So, for instance, if you bought stock in a company you thought had great prospects, you might want to keep your shares year after year, even after evidence emerges that the company has real risks — for example, poor management, or its products could become outdated, or it could be part of an industry that’s in decline. But if you stick with your initial belief that the company will inevitably do well, and you’re not open to new sources of information about this investment, your expectations may never be met.

In many areas of life, reality may differ from our expectations — and that can certainly be true for our investments. Being familiar with the factors that can shape your expectations can help you maintain a realistic outlook about your investments.

Time to go to the pool!

To say we were ready for the pool to open for the season might be an understatement. And how do we know? A little after 1 p.m. on Monday, there was already a line in place outside the New Hampton Municipal Pool! But it was a beautiful day to enjoy the drop slide and other amenities and thanks to a plethora of lifeguards, the pool will be open seven days a week this season.

Longtime residents to lead Alta Vista Days Parade

By Irene Frantzen
For the Tribune

Alta Vista will once again be celebrating its annual AV Days this weekend as the annual two-day celebration kicks off Friday.

Many activities for the young and old alike are scheduled to surely entertain all. Some of the activities planned, include, softball tournament, car show, parade, a kiddie tractor pull, traditional and progressive bingo, paddlewheel, axe throwing, live auction, face painting, bouncy houses for the kids, and lots more.

New Hampton native, Madison Kolbet, is scheduled for Friday evening music entertainment. The Buck Hollow Band will perform in the park Saturday after the parade, while The Hepperly Band promises a good show for Saturday night. There will be an array of food and beverage choices at the concession stand and beer garden, as well as Eggcefera food truck of Osage, featuring a variety of egg rolls and more.

Since 1902, the family name of White has been a part of the Alta Vista community and its people. From generation to generation and beyond, the Whites have been a staple in the little village and have been respected by many. There’s even a street named after the family name. They’ve been known to be dedicated leaders and prominent supporters of the area, carrying this trait throughout their generations.

So, it’s no surprise that leading this year’s parade will be Grand Marshals Dick and Bev White. The couple have been known for many years as hard workers, community spirited, and down to earth good folks that exemplify the true definition of the “Friendly Town.”

Humbled and somewhat shy, it took a bit of convincing for them to agree to be this year’s honorees. They couldn’t say no when they were presented with the official signage recognizing them as such. They may not agree but the community strongly believes they are certainly deserving of this honor.

Whenever you meet either one on the street, you will always be greeted with a smile on their face and friendly hello. They are the kind of people you would want to call your friend. They welcome neighbors in the community and treat them like family. Bev has been known to be mom to others beyond her very own.

If ever asked to help on a community project in the past, Dick and Bev would be front and center, willing to lend a hand. They may not be as physically active in their community today as they were in earlier years, yet they continue to support the friendly town in other ways.

Dick and Bev enjoy gardening together and share their harvested produce with the community every year. Their generosity goes beyond measure.

When the local gas/convenience store was reopened by a group of local investors, instead of enjoying her retirement, Bev saw a need for going back to work as an employee at the store in its first years to support the much-needed business for the town.

Dick is an Alta Vista native, attended and graduated from St. William’s school, and after marriage, continued to live his life with Bev in his hometown. Together they raised four sons — Robert, Tony, Roger (Barney), and Dean (Digger).

Dick is a retired Oliver/White employee and farmer. Bev, too, worked outside of the home for many years at Sara Lee. As busy as the two were, they still found time to be involved with their community.

Some of Dick’s accomplishments include being a past city councilman, Entertainment Chairman for the town centennial, involved with the VFW, and a retired member of the Alta Vista Fire Dept. Bev was very active in the town centennial celebration and supported the various town organizations, as well. Dick and Bev both have spent many, many hours throughout the years helping with numerous projects. Whether it was serving food, making potato salad, selling raffle tickets, or working in a beer garden, they did it with love for their community family.

Dick and Bev are members of St. Bernard’s Catholic Church. Both have served in various capacities with Knights of Columbus, Catholic Order of Foresters, Rosary Society, the annual Pork Chop Supper, and so much more. For many years Dick served on the Mount Calvary cemetery board. Dick is also a choir member and Eucharistic minister.

They both have selflessly given their time and talents throughout the years for the better of their community that they call home.

Dick and Bev look forward to welcoming the public to the friendly town to celebrate a fun-filled weekend of entertainment. For a full schedule of activities, check out the Alta Vista Day ad on Page 2 and AV Days committee Facebook page.

The beach and the water (above) at Airport Lake Park draws a crowd Saturday afternoon, and the campground (below) was filled to capacity for much of the Memorial Day weekend.

Airport Lake, Split Rock campgrounds draw big weekend crowds

WEEKEND: FROM 1

He paused for a moment, “counted off” his kids swimming in the lake and smiled. “My wife told me to keep an eye on them so if she asks, you’ve got my back,” Springer said with a laugh. “You’re going to give me this good of weather when we come back, right?”

Oh yes, the weather was, in a word, perfect over the holiday weekend that is the unofficial kickoff of summer in Iowa.

It’s almost as if Chickasaw County Conservation Board Director Chad Humpal drew up the weekend forecast; after all, sunny skies plus warm days plus cool nights equals impeccable camping. And the Conservation Board’s campgrounds — Airport Lake near New Hampton and Split Rock near Fredericksburg — are, to put it succinctly, packed.

“They’re pretty much full right now,” Humpal said Friday afternoon. “This is the first big weekend of the season; it’s the unofficial official start of the camping season. And then you throw in the forecast like we have for the weekend, well, you can’t really ask for much better than this.”

Temperatures on Saturday and Sunday topped out in the 80s and overnight lows fell to around 50 both nights.

“It’s going to make the fire feel really good,” Humpal said with a laugh, “but honestly, we couldn’t have drawn it up any better.”

For those who weren’t “early bird campers” — the Conservation Board’s campgrounds opened on May 1 — they were greeted with some changes, especially at Airport Lake, where seasonal, or extended stay, campsites are making their debuts in 2023.

The Conservation Board put in water and sewer lines for the seasonal sites last fall and then concrete pads were poured earlier this spring.

Humpal said the sites are booked for this year, but he added that several are being used by workers who are putting up the wind farm north of New Hampton.

“It’s hard to gauge right now,” he said, “because of the anomaly with the wind turbine guys, but we still feel really good about the additions to the campground. It’s going to take us a year to see just how popular they are. By next year, the lottery system will be more understood and I think that’s when we’ll have a better idea. It’s one of the things we got a lot of requests for, and we’re excited to see how it goes.”

But as he headed into the holiday weekend, Humpal was focused on the present.

“We feel like we have two great campgrounds with Airport and Split Rock,” he said, “and to see them full, that’s the best feeling.”

The holiday weekend may have provided a hint of summer, but, trust us, summer arrives in full force this week.

High temperatures were expected to be in the upper 80s on Wednesday, and, according to forecasters at the National Weather Service’s La Crosse, Wisconsin, office, we’ll get close to 90 today (Thursday) and Friday.

And if that isn’t enough to make it seem like summer, this will: As the week goes on, more humid conditions will set in — bringing a slight chance of storms to the area throughout the week.

It will be more of the same over the weekend when highs are expected to be at least in the mid-80s, and there will chances for pop-up storms both Saturday and Sunday.

Drought conditions continue to afflict area

By BOB FENSKE
editor@nhtrib.com

It isn’t necessarily time to panic, but then again, our farmers could use a “timely” rain soon.

“I’d say the guys are a little worried,” ISU Extension Agronomist Terry Basol said, “especially the ones that planted later because we haven’t had much rain. It’s not dire by any means, but at the same time, just look at our lawns. Some of them look like it’s more mid-summer than late May.”

Save for a sprinkle that produced .04 inches of rain on May 19, New Hampton hasn’t received any precipitation since May 15, when the city wrapped up a four-day period in which 1.45 inches of rain had fallen.

As of Tuesday morning, just 2.19 inches had fallen on New Hampton during the month of May. That’s less than half of the 4.39 inches of rainfall the area receives during the month.

While the USDA’s weekly crop report shows that both topsoil and subsoil moistures are solid, a large chunk of Chickasaw County remains abnormally dry, according to the U.S. Drought Monitor report that was released just before the Memorial Day weekend. That report showed that all of Bremer County and parts of Fayette County are also abnormally dry.

It marks the second straight month that Chickasaw County has been “dry” for in April, New Hampton received 2.38 inches of precipitation, almost two inches less than normal.

“It would definitely give soybeans and corn a nice shot in the arm if we got some rain,” Basol said. “We know it’s a long season, but it would be nice to get those crops off to a good start.”

Farmers Market needs vendors

The New Hampton Farmers Market is making a call for vendors after having to cancel its first outing of the year.

The market is set to be held Thursday, June 8, next to Riley’s Inc. Anyone interested in attending a few dates or the whole season can call New Horizons-Chamber at 641-394-2021.

Grand marshals have some great Dairy Days' stories

Schmadekes will lead the two parades during Fredericksburg's annual celebration

By DOROTHY HUBER
dorhubernews@gmail.com

Although this year's Dairy Days grand marshals are not farmers, the theme "Home is Where the Herd Is" still applies to Richard and Kathy Schmadeke.

Since their home is on Fredericksburg's main drag — near all the action and on the parade route — it has a way of accumulating friends. And, sometimes strangers. But generally, a whole herd of people.

Richard, who is in the parade honor guard, admits he's marched by and wondered who those people were on his lawn. "And once when it rained," said Kathy, "I came home and there were all these senior citizens settin' in my garage eating popcorn."

For the most part, they take the company in stride, but this time around, they'll be toward the front of the parade, riding in their son Brent's 1972 Cadillac convertible as grand marshals of the 99th annual celebration.

Lifelong Fredericksburg residents, the Schmadekes have only missed a handful of Dairy

Days in their lifetime; Richard missed three when he was in the navy. He served from 1966 to '70 and was in the reserves 27 years, retiring in '93.

Both Richard and Kathy started going to the celebration at a young age and have many fond memories.

"My cousin Brenda and I would wash dishes all day," Kathy said, "at 25 cents an hour, so we could go on rides."

Richard, who grew up on a farm, recalls marching in a parade with a calf when he was young.

"We showed cattle at Dairy Day, the show was in the morning and I thought I needed to lead one of the calves in the parade. My dad told me, 'Whatever you do, don't let loose of that rope.'"

He didn't, but the calf bolted. "Drug me about two blocks."

Then there was the year KWWL's Ron Steele was a judge.

"One of our board members was in charge of his kids when we had our dinner. She took all three kids on the rides and all three kids got sick and threw up."

Dressed up another year like Disney characters — Kathy was Goofy — some Jaycettes hitched a ride on the back of the fire truck shortly before the truck received a call.

"The sirens went and here we were on the back of this dang truck," she said. "Luckily we only went a block, someone had their foot caught in a storm sewer."

The couple served a term, plus an extra year, on the Dairy Day board. "It took that long to Richard and Kathy Schmadeke both are excited to "see the people" during Fredericksburg's annual Dairy Days, and they'll have an opportunity to see plenty of folks as they lead the celebration's two parades this Friday as grand marshals.

June is DAIRY MONTH

There is a good reason Dairy Days has two parades

CELEBRATIONS: FROM 1

schedule includes a morning parade at 10:30 a.m. and an evening one at 7 p.m.

Why two parades?
“I’ve done a lot of reading about old Dairy Days,” Dix said, “and from what I’m seeing is that way back when, some farmers couldn’t make the parade if it was in the morning and others couldn’t get into town if it was later in the day so they decided let’s have two. It’s a pretty cool tradition, one that I think is almost, as they say, untouchable.”

Friday’s schedule also includes a concert by the band Birrchild at the Staker Complex (the old Fredericksburg football field) while Saturday’s activities include both the annual milking contest, a teen dance and a fireworks show that will put this year’s Dairy Days to rest.

Alta Vista Days, meanwhile, kicks off Friday night with the “Show and Shine,” in which organizers say folks can “bring anything with wheels to show off,” from 5 to 7 p.m., and a concert by New Hampton native Madison Kolbet.

Saturday’s schedule is chock full with events throughout the day, including the annual parade that will begin at 11:30 a.m. and an appearance by The Hepperly Band

One of the most unique parts of Fredericksburg’s Dairy Days is that it always has two parades — one in the morning and one in the evening.

from 8 a.m. to midnight.

And it’s just the start of a month in which Chickasaw County towns put their proverbial best feet forward.

“It’s always exciting for all of our towns,” Chickasaw County Tourism Director Liz Zweibohmer said in an interview last month, “because I think all of the celebrations show just how special our communities are. So many people put in so many hours, they come together and put on great events. It’s fun to see so many people come home and celebrate what will always be home to them.”

learn everything,” Kathy said, “you did so much more back then. But you were with these people for five years and got to know them, it was so fun.”

Richard is still working at the post office in town and recently received his 45-year award. In his 70s, he says he could handle being retired in the summer, but “the winters would drive me nuts.”

Kathy’s worked a variety of jobs, including the Tribune in New Hampton and Review in Fredericksburg. She was able to spend time covering her kids — Nicole and Brent — for the papers; they were both good athletes for Fredericksburg. She also worked at the golf course and “a bunch of different things in between.”

When Brent went to Wartburg they became Knight Booster Club members and when he was in the Coast Guard they hosted dinners in Port Angeles, Washington for two years, cooking for the guys.

As busy as they were, the Schmadekes found time to devote to church activities, cub scouts, girl scouts, Jaycettes. Kathy joined the Main Street Boosters and the Plum Creek Art Council.

“I learned in my later years to say no, but still not very good,” she said.

Richard has been in the fire department nearly 50 years — the fire chief for around 12-13 years and both have 50-plus years in AMVETS and AMVETS Auxiliary.

As Richard left the room, Kathy talked about her favorite part of Dairy Days. “Reminiscing. Seeing people that are back visiting. People come home, they’re walking the street and seeing what’s new and what’s different.”

When Richard came back in the room and was posed the same question, he came up with pretty much the same answer, but he’s a little more concise than his wife.

“Seeing people.”

The Dairy Day parades are scheduled for 10:30 a.m. and 7 p.m. Friday.

News Bits From Our Past Compiled by Terri Josephson

From the week of May 28
1948 (75 years ago)
• A new type of farm tractor that may prove to be the final threat to horses on the farm is now on display at McGrath Implement, local Allis-Chalmers dealer. They predict that it will replace that last team of horses on many farms by serving as a chore tractor, and will complete power needs on many other farms.

The new Allis-Chalmers model has a rear-mounted engine with implements attached in front within unobstructed view of the operator. Farms may keep a team of horses for a few seasonal jobs. Although horses eat all year long, and at current feed prices, “that ain’t hay,” the new tractor will do such work on 2-3 quarts of fuel an hour, and eats only when it works.

1973 (50 years ago)
• Gasoline was getting a little low for a Canadian pilot around noon Thursday as he was flying in the vicinity of New Hampton. Harley Lang, of Ottawa, Canada, the pilot, and two companions were on their way to Kansas to pick up another plane. They suddenly realized they were short on gas. They took advantage of the emergency landing facilities, Highway 24 two miles east of Lawler.

There was a slight moment of anxiety when they were approached by a car driven by Neal Stone, of rural New Hampton. Stone turned into a farm drive, Lang completed his landing and then taxied to another farm drive. The Chickasaw County Sheriff’s office was notified and gasoline was brought out to allow it to take off and land at the New Hampton Municipal Airport, enough fuel was taken on there to complete the trip to the Waterloo Airport.
1998 (25 years ago)
• The New Hampton High School girls track team had a pair of medalists in the field events of the Class 2A State Track meet in Des Moines. Leah Dvorak placed fourth in the high jump with a leap of 5-3 and Jennifer Duffy placed fifth in the discus with a distance of 119-11. In the Class IA state track meet at Drake, Fredericksburg’s Brienne Schoonover captured a gold medal with a school record time of 57.21.

• In the fall of 1968, Arlie Severson made his teaching debut at a newly built high school in New Hampton. Now in 1998, he will walk away from the only job he has ever known. Severson, who has taught industrial arts classes for 30 years and has coached wrestling for 25 years, will retire at the conclusion of the present school year.
2018 (5 years ago)
• Marcy Uglum, a student at New Hampton, and Lucas Anderson, a student at Turkey Valley, were recognized by Gov. Kim Reynolds and Lt. Governor Adam Gregg for outstanding academic achievement at the Governor’s Scholar Recognition Ceremony recently.

Improved defense helps Trojans top Chickasaws

TV BASEBALL: FROM 17

"That might have been the game right there," Hanson said. "They probably get two runs there and Calvin came up huge." "Our defense has been night and day from last year and years before," Nieman said, "and pitchers are more willing to throw strikes and challenge guys because you know the guys out in the field have your back."

And, yes, the Trojans showed some emotion after beating New Hampton. Turkey Valley had lost 14 straight to the Chickasaws before eeking out a 3-2 win in a game last summer and now are 2-1 in their last three games against their bigger rivals to the west of Jackson Junction.

"It's a big win for us," Hanson said. "There's a little rivalry, and it's always fun to get a win, have some bragging rights, you know?"

Chickasaws bring the lumber to opener

New Hampton bangs out 13 hits as it opens the season with a 14-2 win at MFL-Mar-Mac

By KELLY TERPSTRA

sports@nhtrib.com

Chickasaw freshman Chloe Weigel hurled a no-hitter and the New Hampton softball bats were on fire in the season opener on the road against MFL-Mar-Mac (0-3) last week Tuesday.

That non-conference clash all added up to a dominant 14-2 victory for Tate Hofmeister's Northeast Iowa squad.

Weigel did not allow a hit through five innings of play against the Bulldogs. She struck out seven batters, walked two, and hit three batters.

The defense behind Weigel committed just one error.

New Hampton's offense was humming as the Chickasaws got plenty of work on the basepaths with 13 hits. The Chickasaws plated six in the fourth frame and added five more insurance runs in the ensuing fifth inning.

Sophomore third baseman Cora Schwickerath went 3-5 with a double, two RBI and two runs scored. Caycee Crawford — New Hampton's eighth-grade first baseman — also collected three hits to go along with two runs knocked in and a double.

Jenna Heeren — an all-conference junior shortstop back for New Hampton this summer — scored two runs, as did eighth-grade centerfielder Sophie Glaser and eighth-

Coaches Association.

If New Hampton has proven anything early in the season, it is this: The Chickasaws can pitch it.

The Chickasaws had a team earned-run average of 1.40 heading into Tuesday night's road doubleheader against Crestwood. Eight players have taken the mound so far this season and four — Shekleton, Kael Meyers, Ben Gilbert and Tate Schwickerath — have yet to give up an earned run.

"We knew going into the season, or at least we were optimistic, that we had a deep pitching staff," McDonald said, "and these guys have really started the year well. A lot of that credit has to go to our youth coaches for buying into the fact that everyone's a pitcher."

"Look at that second game against Turkey Valley Saturday; we had two sophomores — Jackson Eckley and Tate Schwickerath — come in and go five innings of really strong relief."

The two sophs combined to give up just one hit, struck out seven and walked just two.

And New Hampton's fielding has also been solid, but if New Hampton has struggled anywhere, it's at the plate.

The Chickasaws have a .239 batting average and while there have been bright spots — Meyers has an on-base percentage of .731, Aiden Roberson has a batting average of .421 and Gilbert smacked four extra-base hits last week — the issue has been timely hitting.

New Hampton left eight runners on base against Charles City and left seven players in scoring position on in that loss to Turkey Valley.

"We've had some games — the second one against Charles City comes to mind — where we've had good approaches to our at-bats where we didn't get a lot of hits," McDonald said. "Timely hitting is the No. 1 thing we need to work on, but I also know it's the second week of the season. We've got guys who will hit, and they'll get there. I'm confident of that."

New Hampton's Aiden Roberson chases down a line drive to record an out in a game against Turkey Valley on Saturday.

Shekleton, for example, is hitting .150 after having one of the top bats for the Chickasaws in 2022.

"You've just got to keep swinging the bat," he said. "The big thing is to win the mental game. If you get out, if you strikeout, you just got to forget about it. We have a lot of guys coming to the field and getting extra swings in. I have a lot of confidence that we're going to break out here soon."

And this would be a good week to do it. After playing the Cadets Tuesday, New Hampton steps out of the conference for a game against Denver tonight (Thursday) before hosting Decorah in a doubleheader on Friday.

"I feel like we're in a good spot," Shekleton said. "I mean all of us would rather be 7-0 right now, but if we can get four conference wins this week, we'd be 5-1 in the conference and that would be amazing."

Chickasaw girls cap another banner year at the state meet

STATE GOLF: FROM 18

what many teams, if any, have never done before and that's to place in the top three at the state golf meet for six-consecutive seasons.

That's not easy – obviously. “We have a tradition going. It's hard to be the one to lose it,” said NH sophomore Lauren Nuss. “I think that's definitely helping to motivate us to keep the tradition going.”

Nuss placed sixth overall with a two-day, 36-hole total of 171 to help pace the Chickasaws (737) – which placed third at the 2A state meet. That was one stroke better than defending state champ Sumner-Fredericksburg (738).

New Hampton shaved five strokes off its first round tally on Thursday as NH fired a 366 on Friday. West Marshall (731) finished state-runner-up and Roland-Story was bestowed with the team title as the Norse carded a 723.

S-F sophomore Chloe Bolte won her second-consecutive individual state crown as she finished with a 152 – 10 strokes better than state runner-up Olivia Hines (162) of Mediapolis.

NH senior Lydia Olson and junior Kinsli Dahl both tied in 23rd place with 185s on a gorgeous weather day. Temps hovered in the mid-70s with nary a cloud in the sky on the sunny morning that turned into afternoon.

That sure didn't hurt producing good vibes out on the links – where New Hampton has flourished over the course of eight seasons.

“Our tribe is proud,” Dahl said after her team accepted their third-place trophy and took pictures in front of the large scorecards just down from the 18th Hole near the clubhouse of the American Legion course.

Lydia Olson – New Hampton's lone senior – overcame perhaps her most challenging season as a Chickasaw to finish strong on the big stage. Her head coach and father – Eric Olson – talked about his daughter's struggle to find her swing again – which she lost midway through the season with what is often referred to in sports circles as a case of the “yips.”

“She worked really hard. She didn't have the early season that she wanted. She had some swing issues,” said Eric Olson. “For her to come back here and end on a positive note – it's a testament to her hard work. I couldn't be prouder of the way she finished.”

Olson fired a 92 on Day 1 and she finished with a 93 on Friday. She talked about the length of the sprawling 6,200-yard (long for prep girls golfers), Par 70 Marshalltown course, as well as the greens that seemed to have dried up and played super-quick.

“Here today, it's a long course,” said Olson. “It's a lot longer than New Hampton. The greens were way faster than anything probably, honestly, we've seen all season. They're an hour-and-a-half down from us. They're a week or two ahead of us – weather-wise.”

Not knowing what to do or what it will take to fix a swing that you can no longer rely on was challenging for Lydia. She found a way to right a wrong and came out on the other end a better golfer and person because of it.

“It's physically and mentally,” said an emotional Lydia Olson, who started to choke up when she spoke about her past struggles out on the course. “Obviously it took a lot of time and dedication. My teammates stepped up when they needed to. They continued to support me throughout the whole thing. They saw how bad it was.”

Nuss – NH's No. 1 golfer – shot an 87 on Thursday and carded a final round 84. Nuss talked about Olson's transformation back to her old self.

Kelly Terpstra/Tribune

“I definitely could tell she was going to have a great round at state. Turns out she had both days really great. We all knew it was coming. All season she was struggling. I just knew that she was frustrated with herself, but it's just nice seeing her come along at the biggest tournament,” said Nuss.

The past six seasons New Hampton has challenged for a state title – winning its first in 2019. Then came COVID-19 the following year, which canceled the spring sports season in Iowa. That pandemic scare didn't allow the Chickasaws to repeat as state champs with their top golfers back in twin sisters – Allison and Morgan Nuss, Lauren's older siblings.

Eric Olson and NH assistant coach Paul “Doc” Ewert had a number in mind that the Chickasaws would probably have to card in order to reel in state title No. 2.

“We knew we needed to go lower than that to win,” said Eric Olson. “We weren't going to get there, but it's a hard golf course.

“We gave ourself a chance. We just came up a little short. It is what it is. You're playing the course. You rack 'em and stack 'em at the end. You find out where you sit.”

Eric Olson talked about the chance to hug his daughter one last time on the 18th Hole after Lydia ended her round and headed back to the clubhouse on Friday. There was a chance Lydia didn't reinvigorate her game and didn't play on the state squad. Lydia sat out several meets during the regular season trying to reclaim her past successes in a game that is as mentally challenging as any sport out there.

“I told her you're gonna have tough stretches in life,” said Eric Olson. “This is just preparing you. You can fight through it and you can get through it. I'm just glad she came out of it. It helps the other girls see that you can struggle and you can still compete at a high level.”

NH's fourth score that counted toward the team total came from freshman Alivia Geerts (196). Her success, in his her first year of varsity competition, bodes well for the future success of New Hampton.

“Alivia – I didn't dream that she would be our No. 3 player at the beginning of the year,” said Eric Olson. “She's done awesome.”

NH sophomore Maycen Hackman (205) and junior Molly Wegner (211) were New Hampton's final scores to round out Olson's top six players.

What's the secret to New Hampton's success? You can start with hard work.

“There's not like a magic formula that you just put it together,” said Eric Olson. “We just keep trying to get better every day – that's what we preach. A lot of them do a lot of extra on their own. You can't just show up March 14th and pick up golf clubs and be good.”

New Hampton placed third on the same course in Marshalltown at state in 2021. The Chickasaws were state runners-up to S-F last spring. NH placed second at state in back-to-back seasons in 2017-2018, and also placed fourth at state in 2015.

“I just love that they buy into what we say. We don't always see eye-to-eye on everything. This year was challenging – dealing with what Lydia was going through as a dad and a coach. We were trying to build people up. We had a lot of inexperience. We're young. I'm already planning for next year. I think we got the right people in place to make another run.”

Turkey Valley's Russell Nieman (above) gets ready to throw a pitch to the plate, and Trojans' centerfielder Calvin Bodensteiner (right), after making a sensational catch, fires the ball to second base to complete a double play in Turkey Valley's 3-1 win over New Hampton Saturday.

Turkey Valley runs gauntlet to go 4-2

Trojans cap their opening week with solid 3-1 victory over New Hampton

By Bob Fenske
editor@nhtrib.com

Turkey Valley's schedule during the first week of the season wasn't soft by any means; after all, the Trojans opened the season with a home doubleheader with Kee, two road games against North Fayette Valley and the New Hampton Invitational, which turned out to be a doubleheader with the host Chickasaws.

And after finishing off a 3-1 victory over New Hampton Saturday afternoon, the Trojans were sitting at 4-2.

"You go against Kee, North Fayette and New Hampton the first week," Turkey Valley junior Russell Nieman said, "you're happy to be .500. I mean that's a pretty tough stretch right there."

It was Nieman who sealed a winning first week of the season as he threw three scoreless innings to pick up a save in that win over New Hampton. Not that the Trojans' starter, Noah Hanson, wasn't good, either, as the senior scattered three hits over four innings before switching spots with Nieman and going behind the dish for the final three innings.

"We were 4-2, could of been 5-1 pretty easy," he said, "but I still think overall we're happy with the first week. We've got work to do, but it's a good start for us, something to build on."

Hanson had a pretty good opening week on the mound as he threw eight strong innings in the Trojans' opener that ended with Kee breaking a scoreless tie with three runs in the top of the 10th inning.

But if Turkey Valley proved anything during the first week of the season, it is this: The Trojans appear to have resiliency.

That's because after falling 3-0, the Trojans rebounded with a 9-1 win over Kee as Nieman picked up the win — going five innings and giving up just one run — on the mound. And the Turkey Valley bats came alive in the Kee nightcap as Oliver Schmitt had a pair of doubles and Hanson, Carson Busta and Garrett Dietzenbach also laced two-baggers.

Three days later, the Trojans used a three-run seventh inning to beat North Fayette Valley 8-5 in the opener. Dietzenbach drove in the eventual game-winner with a single, and the Trojans added insurance runs when Dietzenbach and Logan Busta scored on wild pitches.

Schmitt got the win with 1 2/3 innings of scoreless relief.

The nightcap was just as tight, but the Trojans' picked up the extra-inning win as Schmitt again got the victory — retiring all six TigerHawks he faced, the last four via strikeouts.

Turkey Valley got the winning run when Hanson singled with one out in the eighth, stole second, took third on a wild pitch and scored on Calvin Bodensteiner's single.

And then came Saturday, which got off to an awful start as New Hampton pounded Turkey Valley 12-2 in the opener.

"The kids were a little disappointed with that," Turkey Valley coach Dan Stepan said, "but as you can tell in the dug-out, they are a pretty resilient group, they like each other, they like hanging out. It makes for a fun summer."

The Trojans certainly had a fun second game as RBIs by Schmitt, Kurtenbach and Chase Hayek staked Turkey Valley to a 3-1 lead in the top of the second inning.

Hanson and Nieman worked in and out of trouble all game long — New Hampton left nine runners on base — and both pitchers gave credit to their teammates' defensive efforts. None was bigger than Bodensteiner's sensational catch in center field in the first inning. After snagging the line drive, the senior quickly hopped to his feet and threw to second to complete a double play.

Seniors to lead the way for Turkey Valley softball

Trojan coach confident team will be able to hit but the key is to find pitchers to replace all-conference hurler in the circle

By Kelly Terpstra
sports@nhtrib.com

Junior Hackman's Turkey Valley softball squad will not be short on senior leadership this summer out on the diamond.

The Trojans sport eight seniors on their roster and almost every one of them brings back valuable experience from a season ago when TV went 18-8 and shared the Upper Iowa Conference championship with Kee High.

The start to the 2023 season didn't go the way of the Trojans against large-school rival Decorah last week Thursday. The Class 4A Vikings piled on the runs en route to a 16-2 three-inning victory.

Turkey Valley pitching issued eight walks in the lopsided affair.

"We just struggled throwing strikes," said Hackman. "That's going to be where our question mark is this year, is our pitching."

Gone is all-conference hurler Josie Weber — who graduated last year and played on the varsity squad since her eighth-grade year.

TV senior Sierra Morris started the game versus Decorah. Maici Weber — Josie's little sister — came into the finish the game inside the circle.

"Our pitchers gotta be able to throw strikes. We'll be able to score runs. We'll hit the ball. We're going to put the ball in play," said Hackman. "I tell them the goal is we need to be under five walks a game. If they hit the ball, that's fine. We've got good defense. We've got a lot of girls that have experience playing the fielding positions out there."

The Trojans feature a lineup that packs plenty of punch. Regular starters from a year ago back this season are seniors Morris (P), Clare Courtney (SS/CF), Jacqlyn Schmitt (C/OF), Olivia Snyder (3B), Aubrey Hoffert (1B) and designated hitter Brianna Busta. Other seniors on the squad are Alison Leibold (2B) and Abigail Schmitt (CF).

"I've never had this many seniors before," said Hackman. "That's a good problem to have."

TV rapped out six hits against Decorah — which saw freshman hurler Clara Hjelle pick up the win for the Vikings.

Maici Weber — who should be one of the most exciting players to watch this season in Class 1A — doubled against Decorah and knocked in two runs. Weber was the second-best hitter in the UIC last year as an eighth-grader. She hit to a .507 batting average. When she isn't pitching she'll do the catching duties.

Decorah (2-0) shut out South Winneshiek, 6-0, in its second game of the season.

Turkey Valley traveled to take on Springfield on Tuesday and hosted No. 5 North Linn on Wednesday. Then it's off to the West Union Tournament, where TV squares off against Don Bosco and Independence on Friday. The Trojans lock horn with Charles City and Clarksville on Saturday in West Union.

"We're going to have our work cut out for us," said Hackman.

UPHOLDING THE TRADITION!

NUSS TAKES SIXTH TO LEAD CHICKASAWS TO THIRD-PLACE FINISH AT STATE

Strawberries, hot fudge or caramel. How about sprinkles? The New Hampton girls golf team knows how to celebrate and what better confectionery treat is out there than ice cream? That’s a celebratory tradition head coach Eric Olson and his Chickasaws have almost made seem like it’s old hat. But when you raise another state trophy like the Chickasaws did last week at Marshalltown – you can take your pick of ice cream toppings after New Hampton’s historic run continued. Heck, make it a double scoop. “We’ve got options,” smiled Olson as he walked off the American Legion Golf Course in Marshalltown with yet another top-notch finish, not to mention some more hardware to add to the Chickasaws’ growing collection. Marshalltown was the site of New Hampton’s first-ever state tournament berth eight years ago in 2015. Since then, New Hampton has achieved

Last week Tuesday, May 23, the South Winn 100 took place in Fredericksburg and New Hampton Red was crowned the victor in that meet with a 487. Chickasaws salvage NEIC doubleheader with Comets; split games with Trojans at ‘tourney’

By Bob Fenske
editor@nhtrib.com

It’s rare to find a high school baseball must-win scenario in May, but last Thursday, that’s the exact story line New Hampton faced. The Chickasaws had just lost their Northeast Iowa Conference opener to Charles City, 4-3, and New Hampton, simply put, did not want to start the NEIC slate 0-2. It didn’t, thanks to masterful pitching performances by senior Gannon Shekleton and junior Braden McShane, who combined to throw a one-hitter in a 5-1 victory over the Comets.

“I went out there with the mindset to get the job done, throw strikes,” Shekleton said after working 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ innings of one-hit, one-run — an unearned one at that — ball that included three strikeouts and four walks. “I’ve been working hard to be one of our better pitchers and I knew it was kind of a big game for us. I mean, 0-2 isn’t going to kill you, but 1-1 sounds a heck of a lot better, right?”

Indeed, it does. “It’s what you want your senior to do, go out there and give your team a chance,” New Hampton coach Cory McDonald said. “Gannon gave us exactly what we needed. He shut down a really good team and then Braden came in and slammed the door.” McShane came in to relieve Shekleton with one out in the sixth and got the final five outs of the game — four via strikeout — to get his second save of the season. “I think up and down this conference, there are really good teams,” McDonald said. “Waverly splits with Waukon, we split with Charles City ... Decorah’s solid. It’s going to be a bloodbath in our conference, and whoever comes out as champion will have really earned it. That second game [against Charles City] was big, and I loved how our kids responded after a tough, tough loss.” Two days before the Charles City doubleheader, New Hampton built an 8-4 lead and held off Aplington-Parkersburg for an 8-6 victory and two days after the split with the Comets, New Hampton hosted its annual tournament, which became a de facto doubleheader with Turkey Valley after Waterloo East dropped out of the tournament. The Chickasaws won the opener against the Trojans 12-2 before failing in the nightcap — OK, the “afternooncap” — 3-1 to take a 5-2 overall record into this week.
