Search continues for water superintendent

Ion official says company may stay on in a limited capacity as city continues search to find a replacement

By KELLY TERPSTRA
Of the Reporter

The city of Nashua is making progress, albeit slowly, in search of a new water/wastewater superintendent to oversee its water treatment plant.

This was the latest news concerning that developing story to come out of last Monday's Nashua City Council meeting.

There have been ongoing talks between the city and Ion Environmental Solutions – a water/wastewater company based out of Wichita, Kan. Ion announced last April it doesn't plan on renewing its contract with the city.

Chad McCleary, water/wastewater superintendent from Ion, said he would work with the city during the transition. The current contract with Ion runs out on June 30 of this year.

Brian Glasgow, another water/wastewater superintendent with Ion, said on Monday there could be a possibility that Ion stays on in a limited capacity.

"If there's somebody around here that can do the daily stuff, they may still let us stay on to sign paperwork or for emergencies to come one day a week," said Glasgow. "They just want somebody to have some sort of

Supervisors tap brakes on replacing a dispatcher

Board wants Shawver to see if part-timers can cover the hours

By BOB FENSKE
Of the Reporter

During the "budget season" that seemed to last an eternity for the Chickasaw County Board of Supervisors this past winter and spring, board members reiterated that they would think long and hard about replacing employees who leave the county during the fiscal year that begins on July 1.

On Monday, they jumped the gun a bit when they didn't give Sheriff Ryan Shawver the go-ahead to hire a full-time dispatcher and jailer.

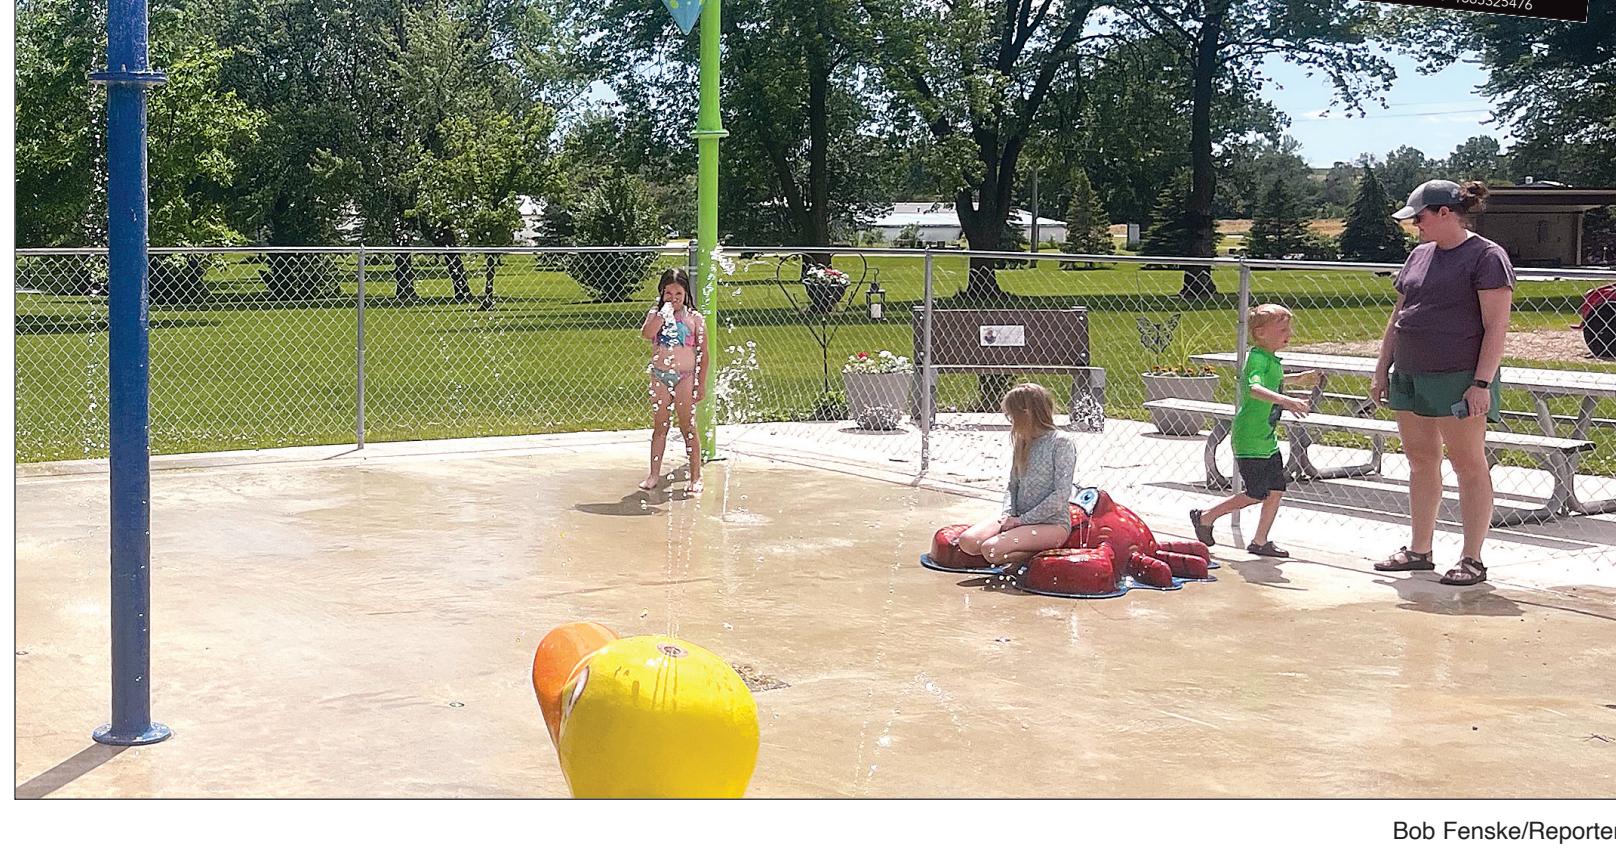

Shawver made the request after board members acknowledged the change of status for current dispatcher and jailer Kaylee Thomas from full-time to part-time. But supervisors, despite Shawver's urging, held off on giving him the go-ahead to fill Thomas' soon-to-be-formerly full-time hours.

Shawver said that his office currently has two part-time employees who serve as dispatchers/jailers and "they are very instrumental in filling in shifts, picking up shifts. It's nice to have a pool there."

Board members acknowledged the change of status for Thomas, but they weren't as hip on giving the Shawver the OK to hire another full-time jailer/dispatcher.

Supervisor Jake Hackman pointed out that Shawver's service clerk position, which had been 35 hours a week but was moved up to 40 hours a week, is also a trained dispatcher/jailer. He added that he felt it might be time for the county to consider not always having a two dispatcher/jailers working at the same time.

A little taste of the summer that is to come!

A group of kids take advantage of sunny skies and, for this year at least, relatively warm temperatures to enjoy an afternoon at the Nashua Splash Pad on Wednesday. And while those of us who like our summers to lean toward the hot side will have to wait a bit — high temperatures aren't forecasted to be in the 80s until the middle of next week — we should see a little "drying out" as save for a slight chance of showers overnight tonight, the forecast for the next five days has little precipitation in it.

We're closing in on the best part of summer, Water Over the Dam Days

Nashua's annual festival will kick off its four-day run on June 27; longtime fairgrounds supporters will be this year's grand marshals

By BOB FENSKE
Of the Reporter

The Nashua Park Board is putting the final touches on the city's annual Water Over the Days celebration that is fast approaching; then again, in many ways, committee members have been working on the festival since the curtain closed on the 2023 Water Over Day Dams event.

"You know we meet right away after the celebration and talk about what went right, what didn't, what we want to change, things like that," Nashua Park Board President Nate Sinnwell said. "With the bands, we book those 10, 11 months out and the tents we pretty much re-new right away, but in February, we really go to work on it."

This year's celebration will kick off its four-day run on Thursday, June 27, and almost all of the activities will take place at Cedar View Park. In the past, Water Over the Dam Days has held its Thursday activities in the downtown area.

"For us, it's probably a little easier because we don't have to pack everything up and move it," Sinnwell said, "but at the same time, it doesn't mean we're not supportive of our downtown. We know that it takes a lot of support from everyone to make our party a good one."

And while the schedule has many of the same activities as in the past, there are several new events being held this year and they include a youth golf tournament on Thursday, more kids events on

Voter turnout is light in primary; Carter wins only contested county race

By BOB FENSKE
Of the Reporter

It was a primary election day that could be summed up with one word — quiet.

Registered Republicans and Democrats headed to the polls on Tuesday to select their parties' respective nominees for this fall's general election, and put it this way: They weren't knocking down the doors.

Turnout for the election was light as just 468 voters, less than 7.5 percent of the registered voters in the county, cast ballots in the primary.

Primary elections are basically where parties choose their nominees for general elections, and voters must be registered as a party member to cast a ballot.

And one reason voter turnout was so low was the fact that there was just one contested county race on the ballot.

And Chickasaw County District 4 Republicans on Tuesday voted to put Issac Carter on the general election ballot this fall as Carter won a relatively easy primary victory over retired banker Terry Johnson.

Carter, the purchasing manager at Croell

Inc., garnered 105 votes, or 58.3 percent, while Johnson received 75 votes, or 41.7 percent, in the only contested county race on the primary ballot.

Carter and Johnson were seeking the GOP nomination for the Board of Supervisors seat that is currently held by Matt Kuhn, a Republican who decided not to seek a second term on the board representing the eastern half of New Hampton and surrounding rural areas.

The lack of contested races meant that voters in the Bradford precinct that includes Nashua

Help keep mosquitoes at bay this summer

The lack of rain last year may have decreased our mosquito population, but, be assured, they'll be back.

Mosquitoes prefer to lay their eggs in stagnant water that's warm and humid. Residents are reminded to help keep down the numbers by dumping any standing water that may be found in barrels, tires or other containers and change often water in pet drinking bowls or birdbaths.

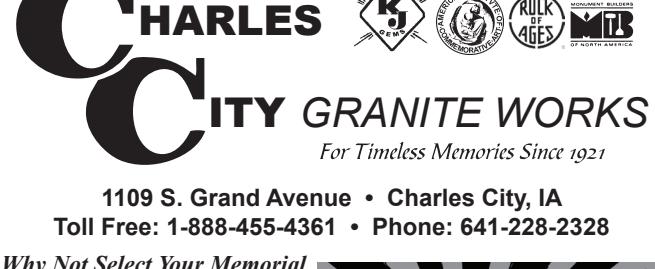

Spring Field Day to be held

June 19 at Research Farm

The annual Spring Field Day at the ISU Northeast Research and Demonstration Farm will run from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Wednesday, June 19, with a complimentary meal served at noon, sponsored by Pioneer Hi-Bred International.

Madelynn Wuestenberg, agricultural climatology extension specialist, will kick-off the program, by providing her insights on crop weather and trends for the 2024 growing season. Rick Cruse, professor, and director of the Iowa Water Center will discuss the implications of soil erosion on Iowa's landscape and current practices used to help minimize its impact. Richard Roth, extension nitrogen education specialist, will provide his insight on nitrogen management in a wet spring.

The field day is free and open to the public. It starts at the Borlaug Learning Center Headquarters on the ISU Northeast Research and Demonstration Farm. CCA credits will be available, including 1 SW CEU. In order for us to get an accurate head count for the meal, please RSVP us at neira@iastate.edu by Monday, June 17.

Slowly but surely, diamonds taking shape

It's obviously not ready for a baseball or a softball game, but the Nashua-Plainfield diamond project in Plainfield is taking shape as the baseball "backstop" can be seen Wednesday afternoon. Workers have also installed the light poles for both diamonds and the foundation has been laid for the concession stand. Progress has been slowed by what was a rainy spring, but Peters Construction officials say they remain confident that the project will be completed in time for the 2025 baseball and softball seasons.

Many of the old favorites, though, are still on tap. Royalty will be crowned on Thursday night, the kid/family triathlon is set for Friday evening, the parade is set for Saturday morning, live music is on tap throughout the weekend and fireworks will light up the sky Saturday night and the party will conclude with a community breakfast and community church service on Sunday morning.

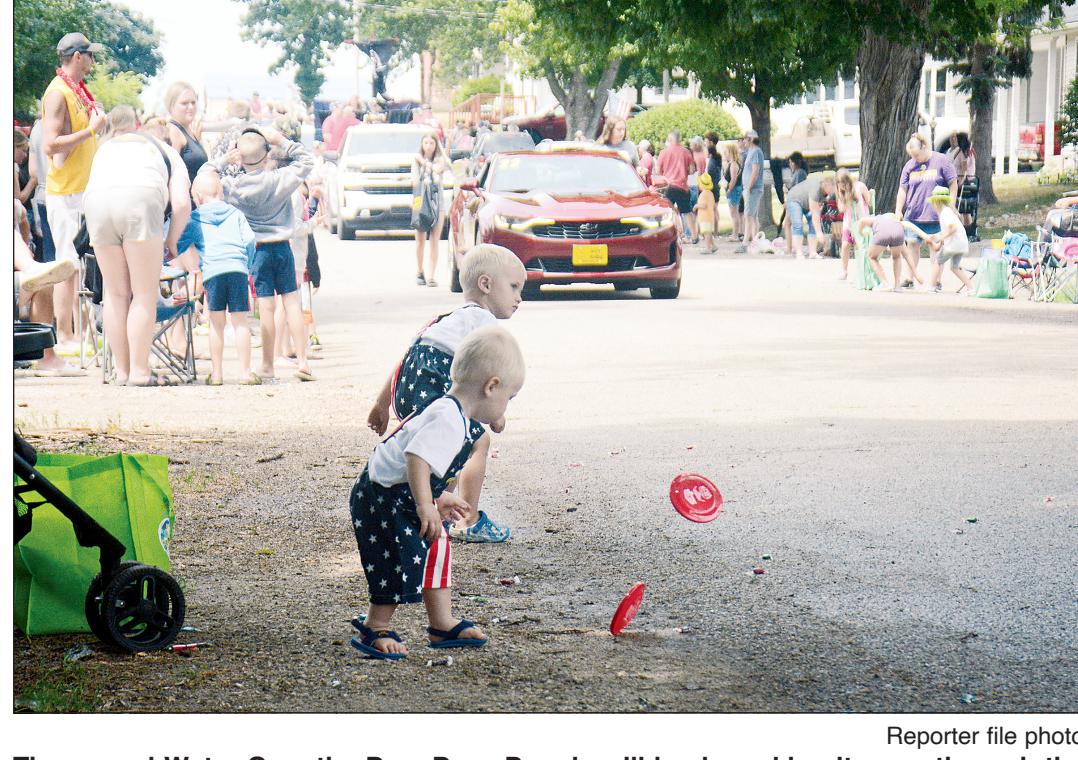

Leading the parade will be Grand Marshals Dave and Judy Bucknell, two longtime volunteers with the Big 4 Fair.

"You know, we're so lucky to have the fairgrounds and they've been so supportive of allowing us to move events there when the weather doesn't cooperate," Sinnwell said, "and we wanted to honor that this year. Dave and Judy do so much for our fairgrounds and for our community. We couldn't have come up with better grand marshals than them."

Dave joined the Fair Board in 1982, was the fairgrounds keeper for many years and has spent endless hours at the track driving horses as co-owner of Gold Double D Chuckwagon.

Judy has been booking event reservations and so much more for the Big Four Fairgrounds for several years. She, as well, has spent endless hours at the fairgrounds, helping make sure everything is ready to go for events and busy season.

And as much as he appreciates the support the Big 4 Fair has given to Water Over the Dam Days, Sinnwell hopes this is the year that the celebration won't need the fairgrounds.

"We've had rain for some part of Water Over the Dam Days every year for a while," he said. "We had that horrible drought last year, but by gosh, it rained on us. ... Mother Nature does owe us a good year, but we'll adapt and adjust no matter what happens with the weather, but we're hopeful."

David Lewis Crandall, 78

David Lewis Crandall, age 78 of Ionia, passed away on May 19, 2024, at Mercy One North Iowa Medical Center in Mason City. He attended Bassett School until it closed and graduated from Charles City High School in 1963. Dave proudly served in the U.S. Air Force from 1964 to 1968.

Dave was known for his career as an electrician and the owner of Chickasaw Trenching and Electric. He also delivered Sunday newspapers and supervised crews laying fiber optic cable across the state of Iowa. He was a proud groundskeeper for the Mount Carroll Cemetery until health issues prevented him to continue.

As a mischievous as a "Bassett Boy" could be, Dave may have participated in the shenanigans still talked about today. Dave was known for his sober expression that amplified his witty comments. This was captured in the poems he scribed for many people for many occasions.

He enjoyed traveling, whether Amtrack, bus trips, or car trips. His latest passion was touring the Freedom Rocks of Iowa. Dave enjoyed visiting with family, friends and neighbors.

David is survived by his wife, Jeanie (Foxen); sons, Andy of Des Moines, and Eric (Amber) of Waterloo; daughter, Kathy Girkin (Scott) of Ionia; and son-in-law, Justin Quigley of Kirksville, Missouri. He is also survived by his sisters, Cheryl Lair and Terri (Bob) Snyder of Charles City, and Leanne (Dave) Leeper, Cedar Falls; along with his aunts, Marilou Dautant, Texas and Phyllis Gable of Rockford.

He was preceded in death by his daughter, Sara Quigley; parents, Ralph and Wilma Crandall; brother, Roger; and numerous aunts, uncles and cousins.

A Celebration of Life will be held Saturday, June 15, 2024, at the Community Center (formerly The Senior Center), Charles City from 1 to 4 p.m. In lieu of flowers, donations may be given to a charity of your choice.

A little mid-week camping

More than a few campsites are occupied at the Cedar View Park Campground on Wednesday afternoon and Nashua Park Board President Nate Sinnwell said that the camping season is off to a good start. Board wants more info before approving replacing full-time dispatcher

SUPERVISORS: FROM 1

Shawver quickly pointed out that there are a number of hours in a week in which the office is staffed with one jailer/dispatcher.

Hackman asked Shawver if the part-time employees would be interested in picking up more hours to cover the loss of a full-time jailer/dispatcher position.

"I haven't asked them, but I think filling 80 hours in a pay period with part-time staff will be difficult," Shawver said and added that he is always looking for part-time dispatcher/jailers.

"I'm not going to turn them away if they apply. Finding part-time dispatchers is difficult. It's a skilled position. It's a lot of time and training."

Although the county would not necessarily save money on wages by using part-timers to fill the void left by Thomas' change of status, it could save thousands of dollars on benefits, namely health insurance premiums.

When Board Chairman Scott Cerwinski

asked if there was a motion, Hackman said he wanted to explore the possibility of the three part-time employees covering the hours a full-time dispatcher/jailer would work.

"I agree with Jake," Cerwinski said. "I'd like to have more information from the part-time people we have on staff if there is interest in taking more hours or not."

In the end, board members approved Hackman's motion to table the matter until they have more information and will revisit the issue.

More candidates may be coming on board for this fall's general election had zero "choices" to make when it came to primary voting.

And the Bradford precinct had just 35 voters turn out for the primary election.

Those running unopposed for county office nominations all made it through the primary unscathed.

Supervisor Steve Breitbach did not have any Democratic opposition in District 1, which covers much of the northern half of the county. Former County Auditor Joan Knoll also won the Democratic primary for District 3, which covers the western half of New Hampton and surrounding rural areas, to set up a rematch with Supervisor Jake Hackman who ran unopposed in the Republican primary.

Hackman is seeking a third term on the board, and he won a relatively easy victory over Knoll in the 2020 election.

Two Republican incumbents — Sheriff Ryan Shawver and Auditor Sheila Shekleton — were also unopposed on the primary ballots.

Breitbach, Carter, Shawver and Shekleton all won races in which the opposing party did not have a candidate on the primary ballot, but that doesn't mean they necessarily have a free ride to their respective offices in November.

That's because parties can call for a nominating convention if they didn't have a candidate on the primary ballot.

And more opposition may await primary winners because later this summer, the filing period for independent candidates will take place, but a relatively recent change in Iowa law, means that candidates who lose primary elections can't turn around and file as independents.

Tuesday's primary results are unofficial until the Chickasaw County Board of Supervisors canvass the results, which it is expected to do early next week.

Among the items created by wood artist Ralph Schultz are bowls and tractors, both of which are part of the exhibit that is on display at the Plum Creek Art/Connie Mohr Gallery.

Artist reception set for Sunday at Fredericksburg gallery

Special to the Reporter

Plum Creek Art/Connie Mohr Gallery has the work of Ralph Schultz on display at a special exhibit and the New Hampton native and Fredericksburg resident will be honored during an artist reception this Sunday afternoon.

The reception runs from 1 to 3 p.m.

Schultz's varied wood products — ranging from detailed models of John Deere machines to beautiful and useful bowls and vases — are currently on display at the gallery that is located in Fredericksburg's downtown area.

Schultz graduated from the New Hampton High School in 1966. He started working at John Deere after high school but then decided to enlist in the United States Air Force. He completed his basic training at Lackland Air Force Base in San Antonio and his job training at Chanute Air Force Base in Illinois. Then he decided he would marry and they spent time in the Philippines and North Dakota. In total he spent four years on active duty and two years in the reserves.

Upon completion of his military service he returned to Northeast Iowa, where he resumed working at John Deere and became a resident of Fredericksburg in 1971. The community has kept him busy as the commander of AMVETS Post 90 and on the Rose Hill Cemetery Board.

Schultz said he found that he liked working with his hands, first with cars then with wood. He is a self-taught woodworker and making furniture was his area of expertise. That's when he realized what working with wood really meant to him. His family members — i.e. wife, daughters and granddaughters — have all received a piece of furniture which Schultz made especially for them.

Schultz then turned to bigger projects, home remodeling. He has just finished making new kitchen cabinets for their current home.

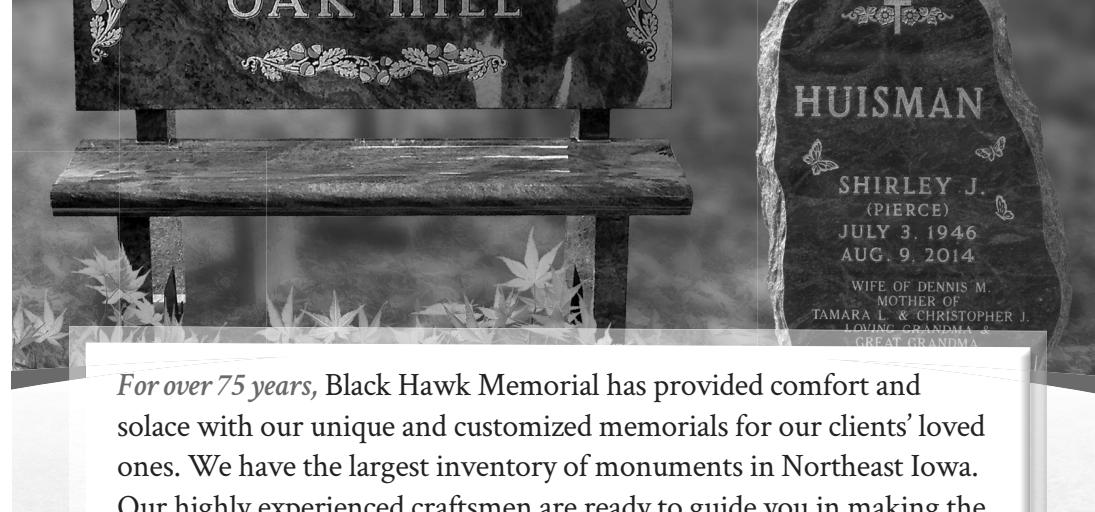

Joan, Ralph's significant other (wife), used to do crafts and sell them at vendor/craft shows. On occasion, Joan would ask Ralph for something special for one of her crafts. Soon Ralph was also selling items at the shows.

Some projects required Schultz to learn a new method of woodworking, using a lathe. Using a lathe is a challenge, one Schultz readily accepted. Most of his prized works of art are done on the lathe and include vases, bowls and other works of art.

On exhibit are wall-hangings of four of the Armed Services, U.S. Air Force, U.S. Army, U.S. Marine Corps and U.S. Navy. But maybe his real woodworking love is seen in the transportation arena of wheeled vehicles: tractors, semi tractors, caterpillars, and combines.

Charles City Challenge makes waves on Cedar River

BY TRAVIS FISCHER
tkfischer@charlescitypress.com

It was a wild weekend on the river as people came out to enjoy the 12th Annual Charles City Challenge Whitewater Festival.

"It was fun," said tourism director Ginger Williams. "We had a lot of people on the water."

Kicking off on Friday, the festivities began with a day of practice as Rob Pittman led a series of surfing clinics for up-and-coming surfers.

"We had a lot of first time surfers in our community be able to try this year," said Pittman. "It's so neat to see the kids excited about it."

With 28 kids and adults interested in learning to surf, Pittman said he expanded the clinics up to three sessions for the first time this year.

As interest grows, he hopes to find additional sponsors to support the program, as it is currently limited by the number of community boards they have available for newcomers to use.

"We rely on people outside of the community to bring in the equipment that we need," said Pittman.

Friday also featured a "reading the water" clinic with Carl Neubauer and a competitive clean-up where volunteers tidied up the riverfront in search for the "best piece of trash."

Getting into full swing, Saturday storms threatened to dampen the festivities, however the rain more-or-less stayed away during the day's events.

"We had some really nice weather in between showers," said Williams. "We just got finished when the raindrops started."

The rainy weather has been a mixed blessing this year. While the threat of thunderstorms has been a problem for outdoor activities, the rain has been much needed to raise the water level of the Cedar River.

"It was nice seeing the water at these levels again and seeing people enjoying it," said Williams.

Saturday's competitive events began with a kayak rodeo as the whitewater riders rode the waves, doing their best spins and tricks. DeWayne Manon took first place in the Surf Machines portion of the contest, followed by Sam Podzimek and Justin Stout in second and third. For the Vertical Monkeys portion of the contest, David Kayakers head to the "white water," where one competitor "face plants," during the annual Charles City Challenge, an event in which whitewater enthusiasts look to grow local interest in the activity.

Gustafson took first, followed by Klayten Perreault and Kris Perreault.

After that it was the surfers' turn to shine, competing in both prone and stand-up positions.

In the prone contest, Marty Colbert took first in the male category, followed by Klayten Perreault and Kris Perreault. Klayten Perrault placed first in the stand-up paddleboard contest, followed by David Gustafson.

For the women, Hannah Ray J and Emily Perreault took first and second place, respectively, in both categories, along with the Downriver Dual Slalom SUP Cross. Willow Neubauer also earned a first place medal in the youth group.

After a relaxing float down the river in inflatables, the River Runner Quad Slalom Cross began, with Carl Neubauer earning first place, followed by Marty Colbert and Jerod Nowicki.

Finally, the competition ended with the Balls to the Wall race as teams of paddlers fought to push inflatable balls down the river and then race them back up the shoreline.

With 17 entrants, the competitive field wasn't as large as in previous years, but the event still drew in enough for a good day on the river.

"It wasn't the biggest number we've seen, but we definitely had some fun," said Williams.

Out of the water, the day also featured fun activities for the spectators at Riverfront Park to enjoy, with games, music and even a scavenger hunt to occupy kids while the adults play in the water.

"That's always a good addition," said Williams, thanking the volunteers and sponsors that make the event happen.

Coming up in two weeks, the river will be busy once more as Charles City gears up to once again host the whitewater contest for the Iowa Summer Games on June 15.

WHC SHIIP/SMP counselor to receive volunteer award

Doug Moss, SHIIP/SMP counselor with Waverly Health Center, will receive a Governor's Volunteer Award. Governor Kim Reynolds and Lt. Governor Adam Gregg will personally announce awardees during a special recognition ceremony June 25 at Ankeny High School.

Moss will be honored with a 5-year service award by Senior Health Insurance Information Program (SHIIP) and Senior Medicare Patrol (SMP). Since 2019, Moss has completed 481 appointments and spent more than 676 hours providing guidance to individuals, families and caregivers on how to navigate their Medicare and identify plans and resources that work for them.

"Iowans take great pride in their deep and rich commitment for serving others — it's in our DNA," Gov. Reynolds said. "Iowa nice is the foundation of our state — you see it everywhere you turn — Iowans volunteering their time to help others and improve their communities and our state. It truly is an honor to be able to recognize these individuals for their meaningful acts of generosity through the Governor's Volunteer Awards and inspire others to do the same."

Keegan Voelker, community outreach specialist and SHIIP site coordinator at Waverly Health Center, shared her congratulations — stating, "Doug has voluntarily made an impact on hundreds of individuals in our community over the past five years."

City Council votes to amend job posting for water/wastewater superintendent certification that can be there on a daily basis is the main thing."

That was music to the ears of Nashua's City Clerk John Ott.

"I was pleased to get that news though that would be a viable option, potentially," said Ott.

Nashua retained the services of Ion in April of 2023 to replace PeopleService.

The ION agreement with the city is a one-year contract that runs from July 1, 2023 until June 30, 2024 and charges $7,385 a month to conduct such operations as daily data collection at Nashua's water/wastewater facility. That contract comes out to over $88,000 a year annually.

PeopleService – a water and wastewater company based out of Omaha – was asking for a new contract that would come out to over $22,000 a month that the city would have to pay

Breakfast on the Farm set for June 22

Join the Northeast Iowa Dairy and Agriculture Foundation in celebrating National Dairy Month with Breakfast on the Farm on Saturday, June 22, from 8 a.m. – noon at Iowa's Dairy Center located just south of Calmar at 1527 Highway 150 South.

Enjoy a wholesome, dairy-rich breakfast of Dad's Belgian Waffles served with real butter and whipped cream, sausage, ham, cheese, yogurt, milk and ice cream. In addition to breakfast, visitors will enjoy activities including guided tram tours of Iowa's Dairy Center, petting zoo, inflatables, corn pools, and more.

Bacon Fest to be held this Saturday

There will be a Bacon Fest during New Hampton's Heartland Days at the Mikkelsen Park tennis courts.

The event runs from 1 to 4 p.m. on Saturday, patrons will need to purchase a ticket to sample each vendors bacon creation.

A ticket is also needed for a bacon-eating contest, which will take place at 3 p.m.

The first five people to sign up will compete to see who can eat two pounds of bacon the fastest, with the winner taking home 10 pounds of uncooked bacon.

Discussed Paradigm Benefits with Kari Schaffer, Director of Retirement Plan Services. A consensus of the board to secure 2.0 Legislative changes, birth or adoption distribution and age 59 1/2 distribution. Consensus of the board to go from JHancock Mid Cap Growth R6 to MFS Mid Cap Growth R3 and to go from JHVIT Small Cap Index 1 to DFA for its services on a yearly basis.

ION performs all daily operations, required maintenance and repair to the water/wastewater treatment facilities. ION also reports data via collection samples to the Iowa Department of Natural Resources. The company is also on-call for all emergencies at the plant.

The city of Nashua has advertised for a Grade I operator to oversee that water treatment facility, but all 16 applicants who have vied for the job are under-qualified.

"When I did the original posting we were looking for a Grade III wastewater and Grade II supply and distribution on the water side because that's what we thought we were going to have," said Ott. "We've got 16 applications and we have zero that have any grade."

Ott said the city would have to hire the operator if Ion was to stay on board.

"We would have to do it," said

The city of Nashua has advertised for a Grade I operator to oversee that water treatment facility, but all 16 applicants who have vied for the job are under-qualified.

Ott. "It's a finicky deal whether we control the schedule or you guys control the schedule from my understanding."

That decision from Ion to potentially end the contract with Nashua came from Field Office 1.

Glasgow talked about his experience from Field Office 6 in Muscatine about potential hires that need to take a test to upgrade their certification.

"Most of the time and especially in your guy's situation, they tend to be a little more lenient when they know you really need somebody," said Glasgow. "The last thing they want is for you guys to not have somebody."

The Council decided to amend the job posting for the water/wastewater superintendent and include the minimum starting wage at $20 an hour.

That position requires a CDL (commercial driver's license) according to Council member Jake Johnson. There would be a $1 an hour pay raise for each grade achieved.

Dennis Niedert, a member of Nashua's Park Board, presented his monthly report.

He said there would be a lake cleanup this Saturday starting at 8 a.m.

Niedert also mentioned that Paw's Playground is coming along nicely and there has been concrete poured on the site. He also said there has been some signage put up as well.

Huskies to resume suspended game Monday

BASEBALL: FROM 10

Franzen – rolled a grounder to second.

"Velocity-wise, he's the best pitcher in the conference," said Miller. "That's saying something in a conference with a lot of good arms."

Those arms include St. Ansgar junior Jayce Schwiesow – who leads all of Class 1A with 50 strikeouts. N-P lost just 2-1 to the Saints' ace last week in a game that could have gone either way.

That wasn't the case against Osage, who saw Gast rope two doubles, collect three hits and a knock in a run at the plate to help his own cause.

"They got up early. We were a little bit asleep from the night before," said Miller. "He just straight up beat us. You gotta tip the cap."

Franzen was admirable on the mound in a loss as he worked over six innings and gave up just two earned runs. He struck out five and walked four batters. N-P Husky freshman shortstop/pitcher Kolbie Vance relieved Franzen after his pitch count reached a number that Miller was getting up there.

"Tucker threw fantastic," said Miller. "He had a really good start, unfortunately our defense just didn't back him up."

The night before the Osage game was a 22-7 drilling of winless Belmond-Klemme in a non-conference tilt on Thursday of last week that saw the Huskies plate 13 runs in the final inning.

Franzen doubled, tripled and knocked in five runs against B-K.

Fast forward to Monday of this week and it was a nice win produced by the Huskies over North Butler, 7-2. The road contest against the Bearcats (1-6, 0-6) saw Franzen double and knock in two runs. N-P junior pitcher/catcher Dawson Glaser collected two hits and also racked up two RBI.

N-P stole nine bases in as many attempts against the Bearcats.

Glaser was money on the mound as he pitched six-plus innings and fanned 13. He allowed five hits and no earned runs.

Glaser had N-P's first hit on Friday versus Gast as he led off the fourth inning with a single past second. Vance coaxed a two-out walk, but Gast was able to fan a batter to end the threat.

Then Wednesday rolled around and once again N-P had a hard time plating runs against a senior pitcher that is having a fine season.

Kee High senior Caleb

Drappe had one of his better games on the mound in his career as he led his Hawks to a 7-0 shutout win at Shooey Fink Memorial Field in New Albin.

Drappe was lights out as he tossed a complete-game, five-hit shutout and sent down 13 Husky batters via strikeout. Drappe is 3-0 this year with a 1.15 ERA in his two two starts to go along with 25 K's. He has also notched a save.

N-P junior Nic Brase started the game and worked five innings and allowed five earned runs.

Kee High improved to 13-3 overall and is knocking on the door of the 1A rankings. Osage is 8-1 overall as of Thursday afternoon and 4-1 in the league.

"We have a tough schedule. It's done to make sure that our kids compete with the best, so when it gets later on we can compete with the best. That's all it is," Miller added.

N-P is now 4-4 overall and 3-3 in the conference.

The Huskies losses have come to teams with a combined record of 43-7. The other loss N-P suffered this season was at sixth-ranked Mason City Newman (12-2, 7-0), a TIC game where N-P led 5-0 early before the Knights scored 15 unanswered runs to win going away, 15-5.

"We've got a tough upper half of the conference. I'd say there's seven teams any night that can beat each other," said Miller. "It's just a fact. It's good because it's going to get us prepped for postseason play, which is incredibly important."

N-P hosts conference foe West Fork tonight (Friday) and resumes the continuation of a suspended game (May 20) on Monday at home with Rockford. The suspended game gets under way in the start of the fifth inning and the regularly scheduled game with Rockford will follow.

Huskies pile on runs in opening frame against North Butler home base for N-P – the Huskies savored the moment and reveled in gaining the first triumph of the 2024 season.

"It was definitely a loud bus on the way back home," said Stastny-Hall. "The girls were excited. They practiced yesterday morning and they were still kind of hyped up from the win. Hopefully this will carry us into next weekend and even into next week."

N-P sophomore third baseman Kami Hannemann managed a big hit in that first inning against NB as she cranked a bases-clearing double into the gap of left-center field that almost became her first ever career grand slam.

Hannemann settled for the two-bagger and three RBI after it bounced off the top of the fence and rolled back into the field of play.

"We scored seven runs in the first inning so that was a big momentum builder for us," said Stastny-Hall.

Husky sophomore right fielder Nevaeh Bloker – she also catches – stroked a triple in that electrifying first frame for N-P as well. Bloker and sophomore first baseman Elayna O'Neill each accumulated two hits apiece in that win.

"She's a go-getter," said Stastny-Hall about Bloker. "She's definitely somebody that's up-and-coming to watch for."

Bloker currently leads the team in hitting with a .387 clip, while O'Neill is second with a .375 average. Bloker leads the team in RBI (9) and Hannemann is tops in doubles with three.

Franzen came up with an RBI single to the right side for the second run. Bloker ripped a pitch to left for N-P's final run of the evening.

N-P eighth-grader Callie Jensen pitched a complete game versus North Butler. She allowed three earned runs and struck out seven. She walked just one batter.

"Callie pitched a very, very good game," said Stastny-Hall. "It's all coming together – slowly."

N-P lost to Osage, 17-1, on Thursday last week.

The Huskies played in the Hudson Tournament on Saturday. N-P lost to Janesville playoffs, Nashua-Plainfield stayed home for the postseason.

Nick Lamphier led the Huskies for the following two seasons, compiling a 3-15 mark, before Christensen went 15-20 the past four seasons and led Nashua-Plainfield to playoff appearances the past three seasons.

"We're going to lose a good group of kids, but I think we have a nice nucleus back," Sudol said. "We're going to get to work this summer and make sure they're ready for camp and see where it takes us. The goal is to keep getting better. It's the same goal I always have, be it football or track. We'll see ... but like I said, I can't wait to get going."

CITY OF NASHUA CITY COUNCIL MINUTES CITY HALL

The Nashua City Council met in regular session on June 3, 2024, at the Gateway to Northeast Iowa Welcome Center. The meeting was called to order at 7:00PM with Mayor Kelleher III presiding. Council members present were Peggy Hall, Ernie Willsher, and Dan Zwanziger. Jake Johnson arrived at 7:01PM and Samantha Johnson arrived at 7:03PM. City employee(s) City Clerk John Ott was present along with Chickasaw County Sheriff Ryan Shawver, Nashua Park Board member Dennis Niedert, Welcome Center Board Member Carmen Mehmen, and Water/Wastewater Operator Brian Glasgow. There were also 7 guests in attendance.

Mayor Kelleher called for a motion to approve the regular agenda after amending to remove Resolutions 24-35 Appointing Downtown/Main St. Steering Committee Members as well as 24-38 Resolution to Issue Debt to Reimburse City for Specified Expenditures. Willsher/M, Hall/S, M/C to approve the amended agenda.

Mayor Kelleher asked for a motion to approve the consent agenda consisting of minutes from the regular meeting May 20, 2024; Permits: Alcohol/Liquor: Welcome Center; Building Permits: 113 Aspinwall and 50 Chestnut; Demolition/Excavation: 123 Aspinwall Extension Request; Consent Calendar Pending (May 17-30, 2024) $104,265.00 + $9,648.06 (Wages). J. Johnson/M, Willsher/S, M/C RC: 4 ayes, S. Johnson/absent.

Mayor Kelleher called for public comments: There were none.

Hearings/Resolutions

Mayor Kelleher called for a motion to open the public hearing for adopting the Hazard Mitigation Plan 2024 Update. Willsher/M, J. Johnson/S, M/C. The public hearing was opened at 7:02PM. RC: 4 ayes, S. Johnson/absent. After discussion, Mayor asked if there were any public comments. There were no public comments. J. Johnson/M, Willsher/S, M/C to close the public hearing. The public hearing was closed at 7:04PM. RC: all ayes.

After the public hearing, J. Johnson/M, Willsher/S, M/C to adopt Resolution 24-34 Hazard Mitigation Plan 2024 Update. RC: all ayes.

Mayor Kelleher called for a motion to pass the following resolutions: 24-36 Resolution to Accept the Resignation of Jake Johnson as Park Board Member City Representative. Willsher/M, J. Johnson/S, M/C. RC: all ayes. 24-37 Resolution to Appoint Peggy Hall as Park Board Member City Representative. S. Johnson/M, J. Johnson/S, M/C. RC: all ayes. 24-39 Resolution to Clarify Zoning Classifications for Chapter 101 Storm Water Utility.

There were two letters written addressing the council about Resolution 24-

39. One of the letters from Val Johnson addressed her concerns with resolution 24-39 and the other letter from Alex Anthero addressed his opposition to Resolution 24-39. Attorney Skilton addressed the council and informed them that he reviewed the letters and wanted to remind the council that one of the reasons we have a storm water fee is due to an audit in FY'20 in which the storm water utility fund had a deficit balance on June 30, 2020. The recommendation of the State Auditor was for the city to investigate ways to eliminate this deficit and to return the fund to a sound financial condition. Attorney Skilton said he believes this was reviewed and he reviewed other ordinances under number 101 (Storm Water). He believes the council discussed what the city needed to plan to meet current and future obligations and what it would take to properly fund the account without having to go into other funds. He reminded the council that before the audit there was never a storm water utility fee, and we were following the State Auditor's recommendation.

He also stated that he read the concerns and the only addition that he would make on the policy would be that it can be used quickly on the assessor's page to determine whether it is a residential, business property or whatever. It is in addition to the city code where the city code would control there is no difference.

He said it is being taxed, it is being registered. It is just a convenient place where assessors, attorneys, realtors, and everyone else uses to see what kind of property it is, so it doesn't result in additional tax, it results in finding out information quicker and we don't have this information on a tap online. This is why we use the assessor's page. It wasn't that we were trying to do something bad here.

He also mentioned that he looked at the Pleasant Hill ordinance that was referenced in Alex's letter about a fair way to assess the storm water fee. The first thing he pointed out was that the population for Pleasant Hill is 10,800 and their collection is through the City of Des Moines. He stated that it is a far different thing that we have at this level, but he noted that they do provide a method for annual review of the charge to see if it matches with the fund. He said several other cities do that as well. He wanted to clarify that the resolution was written not to write a new ordinance, but rather to provide more access for people. He said putting in "in addition to city code" would help the resolution and finally it wouldn't hurt to have a policy for annual review, which isn't presently in the ordinance.

He informed the council that he took the concerns seriously and he did check, and the legal opinions are supported by the state auditor that this fund was appropriate. He noted that the state auditor's audit is online and that was all he had to say. Council member J. Skilton thought it was fine to use the County Assessor's website and Skilton replied yes, "in addition to the City Code" which you are already doing. J. Johnson asked if that is all the city was changing. Skilton replied that's it "in addition to the city code." Attorney Skilton asked City Clerk Ott if there have been any major changes on commercial properties coming in. City Clerk Ott stated that there have not been major changes and noted that the storm water fee isn't a tax, but a service fee. S. Johnson inquired about defining developed properties. J. Johnson stated that whatever classification it is on the assessor's website is the fee that is assessed whether it is developed or not developed.

J. Johnson inquired about one of the concerns that was noted of two council members benefitting from the resolution. Attorney Skilton stated that he has written an opinion on this and there is only a conflict for a council when bidding on a contract for the city or when someone is running for reelection and neither of these situations apply. He also noted that he has advised people in an awkward situation to recuse themselves from a vote, but that is a personal choice and not a required choice.

After Skilton answered council questions and gave his opinion on the two letters, J. Johnson motioned to approve resolution 24-39 with additional language "in addition to city code", Zwanziger/S, M/C to approve resolution 24-39 with additional language "in addition to city code". RC: all ayes.

Sudol will return to head coaching role for N-P football

After leading Huskies from 2015 to 2017, new head coach excited to take back reins

By BOB FENKE
Of the Reporter

When Chase Sudol stepped down as the head coach of the Nashua-Plainfield football team after the 2017 season, he didn't completely close the door to returning to the helm of the Huskies.

"I think at that point of my life, my family's life, it was the right thing to do," Sudol said, "but I always told myself that somewhere down the road, if things worked out, I'd like another crack at it."

That point is now.

Sudol was recently named the Huskies' new head coach, and he's not going to lie — he can't wait for August to roll around and football practice to begin.

"I love summer as much as the next guy," he said, "but yeah, I'm excited and I appreciate the opportunity. I love working with kids, I love the relationships you get from being a coach. I didn't know the chance would come this soon, but when Andrew said he was leaving, I figured I'd throw my hat in the ring and see what happened."

It's not like Sudol has to be introduced to his players; after all, he's served as the Huskies boys track and field coach since 2017 and has also been an assistant football coach the past four seasons.

"Coaching is kind of in my blood," he said. "My biggest goal is to get as many kids involved in the sports I coach as I can. The wins are nice, don't get me wrong, but I think one of my strengths is getting kids involved. It's a lot better for them, for their schoolwork, for everything if they're involved."

Sudol's first stint as the Huskies coach was a three-year run that began in 2015, and Nashua-Plainfield compiled a 12-15 record during his tenure. The Huskies, though, improved their win total throughout Sudol's stint and went 6-3 in 2017, but because the Iowa High School Athletic Association only took 16 teams to the state

Huskies nail down first win

Improving Nashua-Plainfield tops Bearcats, gives 3A New Hampton early scare

By KELLY TERPSTRA
Of the Reporter

The Nashua-Plainfield Huskies put a scare into the New Hampton Chickasaws on Wednesday night at Mikkelsen Park.

Softball fans who just entered the home diamond of New Hampton to witness the area showdown between the Huskies and the Chickasaws may have been taken aback by the digits on the away side of the scoreboard that stared back at them.

After just one half inning of play that tally read — Nashua-Plainfield 5, New Hampton 0.

In fact, the one-win Huskies had the Chickasaws on the ropes and were looking for more after rocketing out of the gates in an effort to pull off the upset over the favored Chickasaws.

N-P could not connect on that knockout punch as New Hampton cruised the rest of the way in the non-conference battle with 15 unanswered runs to pull off a 15-5 victory.

But, N-P proved a lot of doubters and critics wrong — at least for one evening — on whether or not they could hang with a quality Class 3A squad, let alone lead that larger-school team for two-and-a-half innings of play.

"This is the best I've seen us play New Hampton since we beat them three years ago," said N-P head coach Jessica Stastny-Hall.

Stastny-Hall hearkened back to when then eighth-grader Paige Franzen drilled a game-winning single past second base to send the Huskies into bonkers mode after N-P edged NH, 3-2, in 10 innings back in 2021.

That jubilant emotion couldn't be duplicated on this evening as the Chickasaws powerful offense attack rapped out 15 hits — two of those home runs over the left field fence by freshman Caycee Crawford and senior Jenna Heeren.

"I think they came in and under-minded us. Our record doesn't show how we can hit or what we can do," said Stastny-Hall. "Maybe everyone will keep doing that and we will actually come out ahead."

While that start felt good for the Huskies against New Hampton — Monday's first win of the season over TIC East rival North Butler on the Bearcats' home diamond felt even better.

N-P blasted Bearcat pitching for seven runs in the opening frame and rolled to an 8-4 win.

"What a great feeling," said Stastny-Hall.

While the drive from the Bearcats home field of Allison isn't that far a drive back to

N-P baseball is looking to pick up some steam

Huskies score 'late and often' in win over B-K, top North Butler but fall to both Osage and Kee tle things right," said Miller. "That's a lot of the early season growth."

With the caliber of competition N-P faces — it's understandable the Huskies have had some ups and downs, at least early on this summer.

Case in point — Max Gast and the Osage Green Devils.

Gast — an all-state caliber pitcher that sat out all of last year with an elbow injury — was dynamite on the mound for the Green Devils on Friday night at Leonard Yield Memorial Field in Nashua against Miller's Huskies.

Six errors in the field — three in the first inning alone — didn't help N-P's cause as Gast was on-point with his dominating fastball.

The left-handed hurler struck out 14 batters in just five innings and his Green Devils rolled to a convincing 6-0 win. The only out not induced by a Gast strikeout through the first five innings came in the opening frame as N-P's starting pitcher on this night — senior Tucker

In other words, it's been a mixed bag.

"Right now we're just trying to figure out kind of who fits where and doing the lit-
