Supervisors bite bullet, give OK to sheriff's vehicle

Board members concede public perception might not be on their side but say law enforcement needs 'tools'

By BOB FENSKE
Of the Reporter

The Chickasaw County Board of Supervisors Monday morning wrestled with how the public would react to the Sheriff's Office receiving the OK to purchase a new vehicle in light of the fact that the county's budget process that ended last month included eliminating a number of jobs. Sheriff Ryan Shawver, citing the fact that he is "confident" he will have enough money remaining in his 2025-26 budget, asked board members to approve the purchase of a 2025 Tahoe that he learned has just become available from Karl Chevrolet. The Sheriff's Office at the end of April still had $799,000 in its 2024-25 budget, and Shawver pointed out that he did not have a vehicle purchase in the budget year that ends on June 30 and that he also does not have a vehicle purchase in the 2025-

26 budget. "There are so many unknowns in this profession but I feel comfortable with purchasing this if that's the direction you want to go," Shawver said. "The fleet still

Memorial Day weekend event to kick off busy summer for Park Board

Blues, Brews & BBQ hopes to take advantage of busy campground for annual May event

By BOB FENSKE
Of the Reporter

The Nashua Park Board's goal is to have one "special event" each month. Some are big; some are small. This month's is most definitely the former as the Park Board is gearing up for its annual "Blues, Brews & BBQ" that will be held a week from this Saturday, May 24, at Cedar View Park. The event was held a year ago, but Park Board President Nate Sinnwell said board members "moved" the event to the Memorial Day, in part, to take advantage of what is usually one of the biggest weekends of the year for the campground that is nestled along the lake. "We had a good crowd last year," Sinnwell said, "and we're hoping for a great crowd this year. We just wanted to try it with the Memorial Day weekend. People are looking for things to do, and why not stay at home and enjoy it, right?"

Nashua-Plainfield to graduate 40 Sunday

By BOB FENSKE
Of the Reporter

The 40 seniors of Nashua-Plainfield High School have just one task remaining, and they will complete it on Sunday afternoon. They attended their last classes on Tuesday and then had a busy Wednesday — starting with the traditional "Senior Parade" through the hall of Nashua-Plainfield Elementary School in the morning and attending the baccalaureate service and the Awards Night on Wednesday. And now they have one job — walking across the stage and receiving a diploma — remaining. "They're all done, and they're all graduating," Nashua-Plainfield High School counselor Jenn Kalainoff said. "Like every year, some of them made it interesting and gave us a few more gray hairs, but they made it and we're all proud of them." Sunday's commencement ceremony will begin at 2:30 p.m. and be held in the Nashua-Plainfield High School gymnasium. The 40 graduates with just one task remaining are featured on pages 4-5 of this week's Reporter.

As Doug Strike speaks at the podium, the memorial bench for William "Bill" Meadows is revealed during a dedication ceremony that was held at Plainfield's Veterans Park Saturday morning.

MORE THAN JUST A PARK BENCH

PLAINFIELD TOWN MARSHAL WHO DIED IN LINE OF DUTY REMEMBERED DURING EMOTIONAL DEDICATION CEREMONY

By BOB FENSKE
Of the Reporter

William "Bill" Meadows' final words to his aunt on that fateful night so long ago were "I'll be back." And 64 years after the Plainfield town marshal lost his life in the line of duty, in a way, he returned to the little Bremer County town on Saturday as more than 100 folks turned out for a moving ceremony in which a memorial bench to honor the life of Meadows was dedicated. Retired Federal Marshal and former Chickasaw County Sheriff's Deputy Doug Strike and Plainfield resident Kenn Deike spearheaded the fundraising drive for not only the memorial bench in Plainfield's Veterans Park but also a gravestone that was placed at Meadows' final resting place in a Waverly cemetery. "I think Uncle Bill would be deeply touched by all this," said his nephew, Larry Carlson, after the ceremony. "He really did love this town, he loved Iowa and he loved small farming communities. It's been so long, but I will never forget the day when my mother told us what had happened. He was such a good man." Meadows grew up in the Seattle area and served his country in both World War II and the Korean War. In 1949, he moved to Iowa to work on the farm and lived with his aunt, Edna Voss, on a farm her grandfather owned. He also became the Plainfield Police Department's only officer, a job he took seriously in a town he Plainfield resident Kenn Deike fights back his emotions as he remembers how much Bill Meadows meant to him, his family and the community he calls home.

Wonderful way to honor real hero

When one has worked in newspapers for 40 years, one thinks he's seen it all. One would be wrong. I was reminded of that this past Saturday in Plainfield, where a beautiful memorial bench in honor of William "Bill" Meadows was dedicated at Veterans Park. Meadows, of course, was Plainfield's town marshal who lost his life 64 years later while, as current Plainfield Mayor Tom Geise said, "performing his duties to serve and protect the citizens of Plainfield." I was four years and 10 months from being born on that winter's night when Meadows responded to a report of a burglary and was shot and killed by one of the perpetrators carrying out the crime.

Yet, over the past few months and then again on Saturday, I’ve felt connected to the Seattle native, World War II and Korean War veteran and Plainfield town marshal. He, like too many before and after him in law enforcement, made the ultimate sacrifice.

And on Saturday, the good folks of Plainfield and law enforcement came together on a beautiful, sunny morning to dedicate a memorial that will make sure Bill Meadows is never forgotten.

Some in the crowd knew him; most didn’t.

Yet as Peter Wenzel, the pastor of First United Church of Christ, Pleasant Valley, the church Meadows attended so many years ago, succinctly put it: We all felt connected to this man whose image adorns the bench that now sits in Veterans Park. “It just amazes me how our lives touch one another,” he said. “We are definitely connected to one another, and that’s obviously from all of you here. Sixty-four years later, his story has touched me in a profound way.”

I’ve been to what seems like countless ceremonies like the one that took place on Saturday. As long as man inhabits the earth, I’m guessing reporters will continue covering stories like this, for there will always be “good guys” and “bad guys” and sometimes the latter kill the former.

For some reason, though, this wasn’t a ho-hum, another-bench-dedication ceremony.

I can’t put a finger on why this one touched me so.

Maybe it was Meadows, himself. His story interested me almost from the first time Doug Strike, who helped secure the funds for the bench, shared it with me. He may have been Seattle born and raised, but the reality is that he was a stereotypical Iowan in that he always put others first.

Maybe it was the fact that so many people came together to make sure that Bill Meadows will be forever remembered. Eighteen major donors and 11 in-kind contributors gave their money and talents so that both the bench and a gravestone could be purchased.

Maybe it was the beautiful rendition of “God Bless the USA” sung by Sherri Greenlee and the reciting of the haunting poem “America Died” by Bremer County Sheriff’s Chief Deputy Robert Whitney.

Maybe it was the fact that I knew how much time and effort folks like Strike and lifelong Plainfield resident Kenn Deike put into this endeavor.

Bob Fenske/Reporter

Ninety-two-year-old Wayne Soeder, a retired state trooper who responded to the scene of Bill Meadows’ murder in 1961, shares remembrances about the man he considered non only a great law enforcement officer but a friend.

loved immensely. Meadows became an integral part of the community — serving as scoutmaster, speaking to school classes, becoming involved in several organizations and purchasing Christmas gifts for kids from less-fortunate children.

In the early morning hours of Jan. 23, 1961, he received a call about a possible break-in at the Hartmann Parking Plant. When he walked into the front door on that frigid winter morning, he was shot to death, and his murder case remains unsolved.

But on Saturday in Plainfield, they remembered the good-natured man who would do anything for just about anyone.

He was there for Deike back in 1955, when he suffered a serious eye injury and Meadows raced him to the hospital in his car, and on Saturday, the Plainfield resident remembered a man he still considers a hero.

“I know I’m going to get choked up,” Deike said, “because he was a friend to all. If you needed help, he was always there. He was a good friend to my parents, and they loved Bill. He was just a really, really good man.”

Saturday’s program had its share of humor, and much of it came from Deike.

He told the story of how Meadows, probably as a joke, turned his lights on while driving behind his mother.

“Instead of mom pulling over, she put it to the floor,” Deike said. “She didn’t stop until she was in front of our house. Bill got out of his car, walked up to the car to mom, and before he could say a word, mom said, ‘Bill, if you give me a ticket, you’ll never see one of my coffeecakes again.’ Bill didn’t say a word. He just got back in his car and left. Later, my dad said Bill told him he laughed all the way home.”

And maybe that humor was needed, for even though it has been 64 years since he was shot and killed, the pain of that day remains.

Among those who spoke at Saturday’s ceremony were 92-year-old Wayne Soeder, who was a state trooper in 1961 and responded to that awful call that an officer was down.

“A good, good man,” he said, “and as long as I live I’ll never forget that day. It’s a terrible thing to lose a man like that.”

But that bench is perfectly placed for Bill Meadows to keep an eye on Plainfield’s Main Street, and on Saturday, the speakers from Plainfield Mayor Tom Geise to Strike to Deike to Soeder to Meadows’ nephew were appreciative of not only those who made the dream of a permanent memorial a reality but also for those who came to honor a man who died in the line of duty.

“I was 11 years old when Bill was shot down in Plainfield, and I can still remember the exact moment when my mom gave us the news,” Deike said as his voice cracked with emotion. “I was very thankful for Bill in my life,” he said. “I am so honored to have a helping hand to getting this bench built so that Officer Bill Meadows will never be forgotten.”

Charles City Municipal Band begins 43rd season, invites musicians to join

By Bob Steenson

The Charles City Municipal Band is preparing to launch its 43rd season and is inviting area musicians of all ages to join in presenting three concerts this summer.

Rehearsals begin Wednesday, May 21, at 7:30 p.m. in the Charles City High School band room. The group meets weekly through early July, with performances scheduled June 1, June 15 and July 4.

Susan Jacob, one of the band's founding board members, said the group is looking for instrumentalists of all ages and abilities.

"We welcome everyone in the whole family," Jacob said. "Bring mom, dad, the kids or grandkids for a unique opportunity to make music together."

Jacob said those who want to participate but don't have an instrument should reach out to a band board member or director, who may be able to help locate one.

All rehearsals will be held Wednesdays from 7:30 to 9 p.m. in the high school band room.

Concerts on June 1 and July 4 will be conducted by Melissa Meyer, director of bands at Turkey Valley High School. The June 15 concert will be conducted by Scott Stroud, director of bands at Nashua-Plainfield High School.

The June concerts will take place in Central Park.

As is tradition, the July 4 performance will be behind the Charles City Public Library, overlooking the Cedar River, and featuring patriotic music as a prelude to the community fireworks show over the river.

The rehearsal and performance schedule is:

- May 21 and May 28 –7:30 p.m. rehearsals, CCHS band room.
- June 1 – 7:30 p.m. concert, Central Park.

State Auditor announces governor candidacy

Auditor Rob Sand, the only Democrat to currently hold state-wide office in Iowa, announced his campaign for governor Monday.

Sand was widely expected to run for the position as a Democratic nominee, having raised more than $8 million in the 2024 calendar year, according to the Des Moines Register. But Sand is facing a different playing field for governor than predicted heading into the 2026 election cycle: Gov. Kim Reynolds announced she will not seek reelection in 2026, meaning Republicans are also facing an open primary in the gubernatorial race.

Several Republican elected officials, including Attorney General Brenna Bird, House Speaker Pat Grassley and U.S. Rep. Randy Feenstra have said they are considering a campaign for governor.

Iowa Sen. Mike Bousset, R-Ankeny, has launched an exploratory committee for the governor's race, and former state Rep. Brad Sherman entered the race in February.

needs to be maintained."

He said the Tahoe would cost $51,464.20 and that he estimated that it would cost in the "high 20s" to outfit it.

Board Chairman Jake Hackman said he was "on the fence this morning" about the issue, and Supervisor Issac Carter wondered aloud about how county residents would feel about purchasing a new vehicle so soon after eliminating positions from the Auditor's, Treasurer's and Sheriff's Office, as well as three positions from Chickasaw County Public Health and Homecare.

"My only concern is the public [perception]," Carter said. "We're laying all these people off and cutting things. In my opinion, it's not going to be a good look. ... I understand that vehicles need to be replaced."

His fellow supervisors understood Carter's concern, but they also understood the needs of the county's law enforcement department.

Shawver expressed concerns about the two oldest vehicles - a 2018 and a 2019 Charger - in his fleet. The Tahoe would replace the 2018 vehicle that has 160,000 miles on it, and he told board members that the 2019 Charger has 125,000 miles and will be going in for a repair next week that he estimated would cost $4,000.

He also pointed out that his office must be open 24 hours a day, seven days a week and needs reliable vehicles to respond to calls.

"Phones need to be answered, things need to be dispatched out and staff needs to be out there," he said. "When I have staff [off], I can't just say, 'Sorry, we're closed today.'"

Hackman agreed.

"I think the public needs the sheriff's department in an emergency situation," Hackman said. "It just seems like we spend a lot of money on repairs with some of the older vehicles they have."

Cerwinski said he understood the concerns Carter expressed.

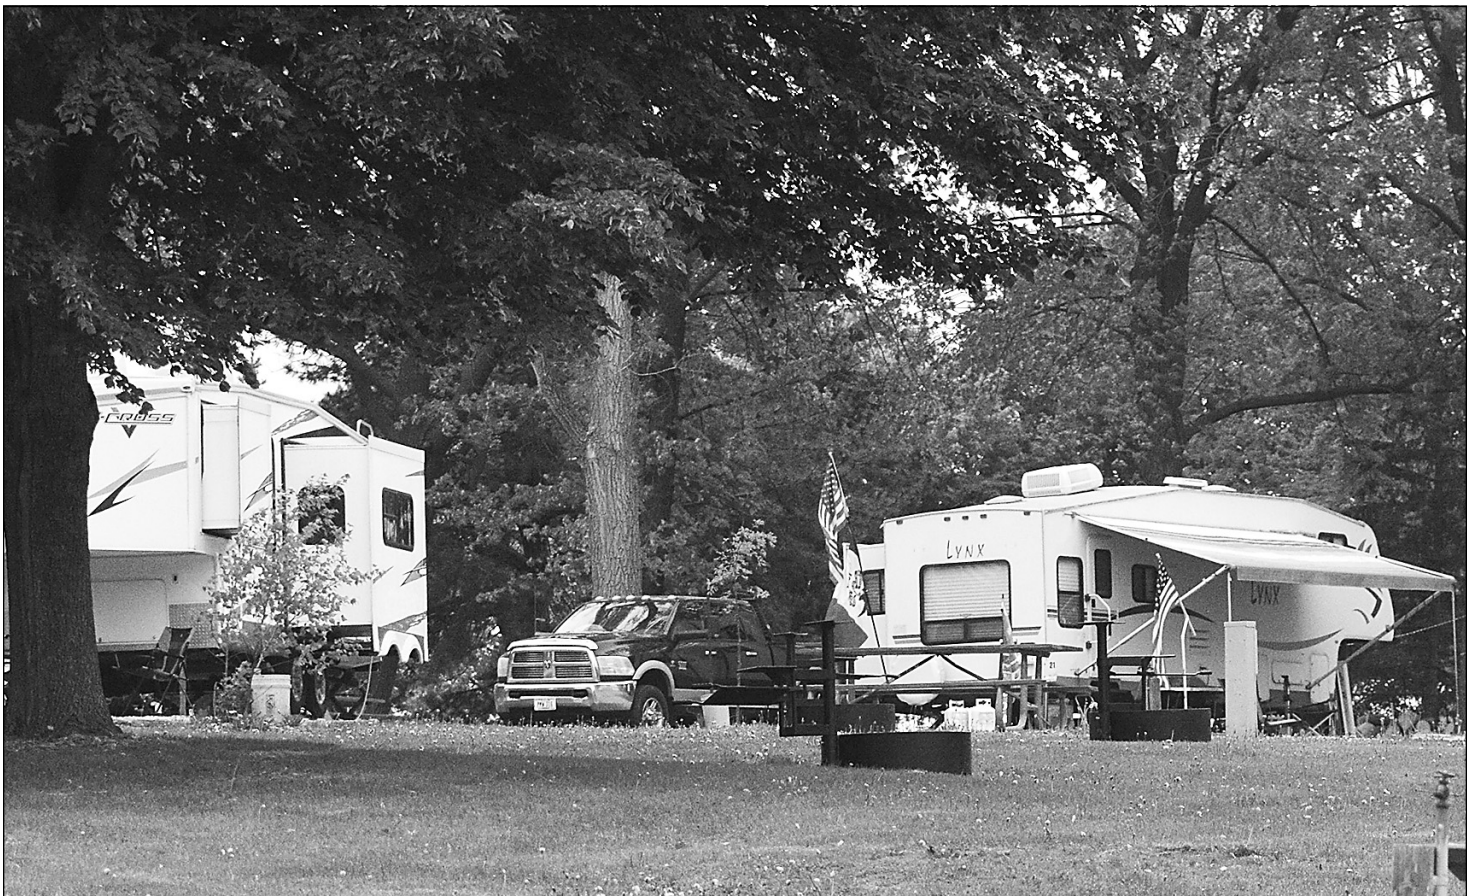

"At the same time, when somebody calls the Sheriff's Office, they want somebody to respond and we need vehicles," he said. "To me the vehicle is no different than the gun or the vest or anything else - it's all part of the tools they need to do their job."

Supervisor Steve Breitbach wanted to know if the county had the option of waiting to purchase a vehicle next month when supervisors would have an even better idea how much Shawver would have remaining in his budget.

"Based on history and experience, if I don't give him an answer in the next week, then it's probably going to be gone," Shawver said. "There are a lot of agencies in the same boat. I wouldn't bet on it, put it that way. I'm not a betting man, but I wouldn't bet on it if I was."

And supervisors appeared not to want to take that bet either as they approved the purchase 4-1, with Carter casting the lone vote against.

Although it's relatively quiet at the Cedar View Park Campground on Thursday morning, Nashua Park Board members expect it to be full for the Memorial Day weekend.

Park Board takes out 'cramped' sites at campground

PARK BOARD: FROM 1

Blues, Brews & BBQ will kick off what will be a busy summer for the Park Board, which is also putting the finishing touches on this year's schedule for Water Over the Dam Days, which will be held on the last weekend of June.

Throw in the fact that the campground recently opened and work was completed on the landscaping at the Baldwin Bandshell, and it's been a busy few weeks for the Park Board.

Sinnwell said the campground has 40 campsites available — down from the 43 it has had in the past.

"We had some really tight spaces," he said, "and with campers getting bigger and very few, if any, tent campers, we'd take a few out so it wasn't cramped."

He said the campground opened late last month, and the board likes having a "soft opening" before the big Memorial Day weekend because it can fix any "bugs" at the site.

"There's always a few," he said, pointing out that the board has fixed several electrical outlets and needed to replace a toilet this spring. "It's nice to get those things fixed before we get the big crowds on Memorial Day."

The May 24 event will include a beer tent, a UTV ride (although truth be told, any vehicle will do), a bags tournament, food trucks and live music by "The Untouchables," which includes Nashua's own Dennis Niedert.

The Park Board will donate all proceeds from the event to the Nashua Fire Department and Nashua Area EMS.

"We think it's going to be a great way to kick off a great summer," Sinnwell said, "and the 10-day forecast looks really good."

He paused and laughed.

"Yep, I know what they say about a 10-day forecast," he said, "but seriously, hopefully, we'll get some great weather and give people a great time."

Nashua-Plainfield Community School District Special Board Meeting
Minutes Date: 4-25-25 Time: 10:10 AM Location: Zoom

Call to Order: The meeting was called to order by Pat L. at 10:10 AM.

Approval of Agenda: Laura F. moved to approve the agenda as presented. Motion carried.

1. Peters Construction – Change Order Request: Mr. Marley presented a change order request from Peters Construction in the amount of $8,574. This request was considered more of an add-on to the current project. The change includes the installation of a fence along the property line adjacent to the baseball field, as previously discussed with a neighboring resident, to help deter trespassing onto private property. Additionally, chain-link fencing will be added to the softball field near the concession area to create a better separation between spectators and players, similar to the fencing near the baseball bullpen. A motion was made and seconded by board members to approve the installation of both fencing projects. Motion carried.

2. Varsity Group Signage Proposal – Sports Complex: The Board reviewed and considered a proposal from Varsity Group for signage at the sports complex. The project includes a donor recognition display, naming signage for the baseball and softball fields, Husky-themed signage around the dugouts and press boxes, and concession stand signage. These projects will be funded by the ongoing capital campaign. Mr. Marley shared that the donor wall and biographies of coaches tied to each field's naming rights will provide continued opportunities for fundraising to support additional amenities. Laura F. made a motion to approve the Varsity Group signage project, and Cody seconded the motion. Motion carried.

3. Sports Complex Project Update (Informational Only): Mr. Marley provided a general update on the progress of the sports complex project. He noted that the punch list continues to shrink and shared that regular conversations are occurring with the project manager regarding final corrections and preparations for the grand opening scheduled for May 29th. He also mentioned ongoing dialogue about water usage and troubleshooting an issue that was shared by the project manager in an email.

Superintendent's Report: Mr. Marley shared brief remarks during the Superintendent's Report.

Adjournment: Pat L. made a motion to adjourn the meeting. Laura F. seconded the motion. The meeting adjourned at 10:25

Husky boys, for a day at least, find consistency, extend season

BOYS GOLF: FROM 10

Trost has preached consistency all season long with this group – which a large share of the varsity golfers have been together since 2023.

“They’re capable of that, that’s the thing. From a coaching standpoint, that’s the frustrating part of it is you see it,” said Trost. “To produce it – round in, round out – that’s where we’ve just lacked.”

N-P senior Dawson Glaser fired the round of his life on Wednesday when it mattered the most. He wound up with a career-low 78 and finished third overall.

“I sunk some putts,” said Glaser. “It was just consistency.”

The state accepts the top two individual scores from non-qualifying teams on to the next round. The Iowa High School Athletic Association changed the team rules this year as it accepts the top three teams in sectional play to district competition. In prior years the state of Iowa allowed a third team to advance to districts if the home sectional squad placed in the top two spots on the leaderboard.

“We had the advantage of playing at home – familiarity means a lot,” said Trost.

N-P carded its lowest 18-hole round since 2016 and fired an opening nine-hole total of 166. The Huskies’ did card a 170 earlier this year in nine-hole competition, so the talent was ball still and go on and hopefully do something at districts,” said Glaser, who was also named first-team all-conference after carding an 82 on Monday to place seventh overall.

N-P junior Devon Blanchard fired an 83, followed by senior William Lindeland’s 85.

of being the champions. We contended with Newman. We need that supporting cast. They can’t do it all by themselves,” said Trost. “We’ve gotta have some help.”

Trost, who has coached N-P golf for well over 40 years, was also named TIC East Coach of the Year.

The rest of N-P’s scoring came from juniors Elayna O’Neill 109, Paisley McCain (112), Ava Kirk (115), along with freshman Natalie Feldman (129).

N-P is vying for its third successive berth in the state tournament this spring. That quest begins today (Friday) at Colesburg in the first round of regional play at Lone Pine Country Club.

The meet is hosted by Edgewood-Colesburg and will feature Central Elkader, Clayton Ridge, South Winneshiek, pitcher and catcher for Mason Hyde’s Huskies out on the baseball diamond. Those Huskies have already begun practice and open the season at Central Springs on Tuesday, May 27.

That scheduling may conflict with Glaser’s ability to play in the season opener if he or the Huskies qualify for state as Iowa holds its state golf meets on Tuesday May 27 and completes them on that following Wednesday, May 28.

“It’s good to keep going. It’s nice to not just be playing baseball still and go on and hopefully do something at districts,” said Glaser, who was also named first-team all-conference after carding an 82 on Monday to place seventh overall.

N-P junior Devon Blanchard fired an 83, followed by senior William Lindeland’s 85.

“It feels good. Personally, I didn’t think we’d make it this far,” said Lindeland. “All of us have to play good and we did today.”

The rest of the Huskies’ scores came from senior Cal Levi (90), freshman Ethan

Huskies run season-best times at TIC, Panther Relays

BOYS TRACK: FROM 10

‘em, and know when to fold ‘em.

“We’re just trying to figure out which guys we’re going to run in that,” said Sudol. “We gotta have some conversations. I was up until about midnight last night trying to figure it out. It’s killing me, man – these decisions, talking to coaches. You don’t know what you’re going to do and what other teams are going to do at this point. It’s a nerve-wracking two days. It all comes together so quick.”

Sudol is talking about the lineups of other top squads at the district will bring forth and attempt to “load up” in order to crack the state meet, which takes place next week Thursday in Des Moines and runs into the weekend.

Husky fans know one thing – there’s certain relays that will have legitimate shots to run down in Des Moines.

The 4x400 relay last week Thursday at the TIC East league meet held at Greene swung for the fences and hit this one out of the park. The relay foursome of Jake Smith, Devon Blanchard, Landon Foelske and Jase Hansen did not win that event, but they proceeded to rip off a season-best time of 3:37.07 and are serious contenders to run on the famed blue oval at Drake Stadium next week.

Iowa takes the winner of each event in 1A state qualifiers (10 district sites), then it’s whatever relay or individual has the next 14-best throws, leaps or times that qualify for state.

“We’re just ready to go and compete and see where we’re at. The kids have run well lately, it’s just a matter of now showing up on the district night and seeing what we can do,” said Sudol, who is also the Huskies’ head football coach.

Sudol feels his squad’s got what it takes to break on through to state in four relays – that aforementioned 4x400 relay, the distance medley, 4x800 and shuttle hurdle relay. Don’t count out any other relays or individuals as well as there’s always surprises in a one-time, winner-take-all format such as these coed qualifiers are.

The 4x400 relay has the 34th-quickest time as of Wednesday afternoon in Class 1A.

The shuttle hurdle relay ran the fastest clip of the year – 1:05.88 – at the Panther Coed Relays in Manly this past Monday, which was good for second place.

In year’s past that would have been pretty dang good and I would have no question about it. Shuttle times are just fast right now,” said Sudol.

That clip still bodes well for the group who undertakes that challenging relay in Tyler Zimmer, Devon Blanchard, Clayden Gerholdt and Landon Foelske. That time is 30th-best in the small-school class.

“I feel like we have a chance for that to hit here hopefully tomorrow night,” said Sudol. “We just gotta run well and give our best effort. I think things will take care of themselves.”

N-P’s distance medley of Navarii Williams, Eli Kalainoff, Smith and Hansen won that event at conference in a time of 3:48. The fastest the Huskies have run in the d-med this year is 3:46.81, which is 28th-best in 1A.

Brexton Bird, Braiden Mitchell, Hansen and Smith finished runner-up at Greene in the 4x800 relay (8:44.11). That same exact group has clipped out to a 8:41.45 mark at Dike earlier this year, which is listed as the 18th-fastest time in 1A.

Kalainoff, who Sudol said is nursing a groin injury, is a wildcard for the running events. He’s the second-best thrower in 1A in the discus this spring with a toss of 167 feet. He placed 11th at the Drake Relays last month and was the conference champ last week with a throw of 146-1.

“If he wants to get to state he’s going to have to get it done,” said Sudol.

Williams placed second in the open 200 at Manly in 24.18 and freshman Andrew Schmitt was also second in the 400 hurdles (1:01.05).

N-P finished sixth at conference with 65 team points and placed runner-up at Manly with 92 points.

“I feel good. I think we’re going to be ready to go,” said Sudol. “If we can get some momentum rolling early with hitting on the disc and then get our 4x800 team to run well, I think you’re gonna see some really good things tomorrow.”

N-P coach lauds senior for putting in ‘big night’ to help her team consecutive season last week Thursday in Greene.

The league meet saw the fleet-footed Huck win the 400 dash in 57.34, the open 800 in 2:21.79 and the mile run in 4:58.06. Huck also anchored the conference winning sprint medley relay, which crossed the tape first in 1:52.03. That was the second-best run for the Huskies this season after breaking the school record earlier in the year with a time of 1:51.26 (fourth-best in 1A).

“Kadence got a huge accomplishment getting the Top of Iowa Athlete of the Year for Track and Field on the girls’ side,” said McCall. “This is a huge honor as she is voted by the conference coaches. We’re very proud of her for this accomplishment!”

Huck went out and won the open 200 at the Panther Coed Relays in Manly this past Monday in a time of 26.82. She also took first in the 400 dash in 1:00.3 and helped the Huskies take gold in the sprint medley (1:57.52). N-P also took first in the distance medley with a season-best jaunt around the track of 4:18.78. Members of that relay were Manuela Jimenez, Jalissa White, Kelly Cerwinske and Huck. The relay is the defending state champ in 1A and sports the third-quickest time in its class.

Eva Foelske, White, Jimenez and Huck were the participants in the gold-medal winning sprint med.

Those tremendous accomplishments allowed N-P to win the team title in Manly with 119.5 points. Host Central Springs was second with 109 points and Clear Lake (106 points) was third. The championship took home for the Huskies was the second meet they’ve won this year as they also placed first at the N-P Coed.

N-P’s 4x200 relay team placed runner-up in 1:59.44

with the squad of Foelske, Jimenez, White and Husky senior Marleigh Lowe.

Lowe ran a career-best in the 400 hurdles to claim that title at Manly with a clip of 1:00.3.

N-P junior Edén Lamborn placed first in the shot put with a toss of 33 feet. Lamborn looked to qualify for state in back-to-back seasons at Northwood on Thursday. She placed 20th at state a year ago in the event.

“Eden has been working on making some corrections in her shot put and I could not be more happy or proud of her to see the results she saw on Monday night. She was on fire! We’re very excited for her!” said the N-P head coach about Lamborn’s first-place throw.

McCall also gave a shout out to N-P senior Amberley Gerholdt, who PR’d in the 3,000 run (seventh place) at the conference meet in a time of 14:12. She also ran a season-best in the 800 run (3:02), good for ninth place.

“Amberley had a very, very big night and rocked it. She ran the 3,000 run for us, a 200 run in the distance medley, 800 run, and filled in the 4x400 run,” said McCall. “This is a very big night on a runner’s legs. When we needed her to fill in, I know she was tired, but she did it anyway for her team. We’re very proud of her!”

Nashua-Plainfield senior Paige Franzen once again demonstrated that she's the top golfer in the Top of Iowa East Conference after Monday's 18-hole league tournament was complete at Pioneer Town & Country Club in Manly.

In fact, this was Franzen's second medalist-winning round at the conference meet as she claimed the top spot on the leaderboard as a junior. She's also been named POY for the second-consecutive season by the coaches.

"She's one of the top golf-

Franzen and her Huskies fell short in their ultimate goal, though, as Mason City Newman won the league crown with a 381 – six strokes better than the Huskies' 387.

Franzen, a senior, carded a 75 and won the league tourney by eight shots over Newman's Sami Kruckenberg (83). Franzen's cousin – fellow Husky senior Faith Franzen – tied for third with a 91 and was also named first-team all-conference.

Nashua-Plainfield freshman Lane Barlow fired a 49 last week Thursday in a meet held at the Sportsman's Club Boyd in Fredericksburg to help his Huskies place runner-up at the triangular with a 230.

While Turkey Valley/Summer-Fredericksburg's Red squad won the meet with a 235, N-P came up with some impressive rounds.

Husky senior Nic Brase recorded a 48 and his little brother Hunter Brase (freshman) came up with a 47. N-P freshmen Maverick Sinnwell (45) and Corbin Johnson (41) rounded out the Huskies' scoring.

Nic Brase (93), Barlow (93) and Tate Demro (93), another freshman for N-P, helped the Huskies (468) place third for Charles City/N-P/RRMR's

Husky boys come up big at 1A sectional

Glaser's career-low round helps Nashua-Plainfield advance to Monday's district tournament

What a difference a few days makes. N-P head coach Jeff Trost knew his Huskies had it in them to keep their season alive on Wednesday at home during Class 1A's sectional meet at the Nashua Town & Country Club.

To actually go out and accomplish that challenging feat is a far different matter.

But that's exactly what the Nashua-Plainfield boys golf team did as it shot its lowest 18-hole round total in nine years with a 336 to advance on to play at districts at Highland Golf Course in Mason City on Monday.

"It's baffling. I told them out on the green, now that's the group that's been capable of doing this. Now finally we got everybody together," said Trost, who is one of the dean of coaches within the state as he's been leader of his N-P boys and girls golf program for over 40 years.

Some may not have expected N-P to advance on to district play after Monday's 353 during the Top of Iowa East Conference meet – also held in Nashua. That placed the Huskies sixth amongst the eight-team field.

"Some people say it's out of the blue. But if you look at our scores, Devon's (Blanchard) had a good score, but Dawson (Glaser) or somebody else didn't – so there goes your team score," said Trost.

After solid ending to regular season, N-P boys ready for 1A qualifier

By KELLY TERPSTRA

Hours can turn into days and minutes can last for what seems like forever.

Such is the struggle to beat the clock – both literally and figuratively in the sport of track and field.

Chase Sudol had some difficult decisions to make this week and not a lot of time to do it in.

If you're a Husky sports fan, here's to hoping he made the right call.

By the time the 1A state qualifier in Northwood rolled around on Thursday, Sudol had already made that call.

That didn't make the decision as to what athletes to pencil into his marquee relays at the district meet any easier.

It's always a guessing game and is more like a poker game at district qualifiers – which means you gotta know when to hold
