Boards agree to hire superintendent search firm

During joint meeting, New Hampton, Turkey Valley school boards affirm intent to continue to share

By BOB FENSKE
editor@nhtrib.com

The New Hampton and Turkey Valley school boards on Monday night committed themselves to continuing sharing a superintendent despite the fact that the man who has led the two districts for the past eight years will be retiring at the end of the 2024-25 school year.

The two boards held their first joint meeting since Jay Jurrens announced his retirement at a New Hampton School Board meeting last month, and not only did they agree that they would like to continue sharing the districts' top administrator but also agreed to send out requests for proposals (RFPs) in an effort to hire a consulting firm to help with search.

"Two firms have already reached out to us," New Hampton Board President Jay Matthews said, "and I think now that we know we want to continue our partnership, that's probably the first big question we have to answer."

Turkey Valley board member Jody Steinlage's answer was a quick yes.

"I think they can network everywhere," she said, "and get to places we can't reach."

New Hampton board member Nate

Schwickerath emphatically supported hiring a consultant to aid the districts in their search.

"Without a search firm, it is difficult. ... It is very helpful — very, very, very helpful — to have a search firm in these instances," he said. "They already know a stable of people that are on the hunt for a job."

He also pointed out that a search firm can also help "weed out" candidates who are probably not qualified for the position.

Public Works director makes one last pitch for residents to complete survey

By BOB FENSKE
editor@nhtrib.com

It was not hard to hear the irritability in Casey Mai's voice Tuesday; in fact, the New Hampton Public Works Department director's frustration came through loud and clear.

"We put this out there in December of 2022, and here we are, still wait-

Mai says water-line survey must be done by next week so city can submit results ing for 169 people to finish a survey that takes five minutes tops," he said. "Honestly, you can get it done in two minutes, but we've got less than two weeks — actually a week in my mind — to get this done."

"This" is a survey that the Environmental Protection Agency and the Iowa Department of Natural Resources are requiring cities to compile to take into account the EPA's revised lead-copper rules, and while the city has taken giant strides in recent months, as of Monday, 10 percent of its homeowners had yet to respond to the survey.

Mai said that he appreciates those that have, but he's frustrated that many of the property owners who haven't are ones that he has talked to on numerous occasions.

"We hit the 1,500 mark today, and I'm trying to be positive because I didn't think we could get there," he said, "and we're making one more push but I don't know how many times we've heard, 'I know, I'll get to it.' We needed them to get to it yesterday, you know what I mean."

The city must file its report to both the EPA and the DNR by Oct. 16, but Mai said he wants to submit its surveys

TV Elementary celebrates reading

Turkey Valley Elementary School recently held its annual Summer Reading Celebration, marking another successful year of reading and outdoor fun. The event, supported by the Turkey Valley Education Foundation, brought students together for a day filled with activities and excitement.

Students enjoyed a variety of games at a Cresco park, including pickleball, kickball, and gagaball. Creative play under the oak trees at Evans Park and playground fun kept everyone active and entertained. After a morning of games, students cooled off with a refreshing swim at the Cresco Fitness Center. To top the day off, students returned to school to enjoy an ice cream treat.

This yearly celebration not only encourages a love for reading but also fosters community spirit and healthy outdoor activity for the students.

Turkey Valley and New Hampton school board members discuss how the two districts should proceed with the search for a new superintendent during a joint meeting held at the Turkey Valley Media Center Monday night.

Districts will split costs of search firm 50-50

SEARCH: FROM 1

Schwickerath said one concern he had was attracting a candidate that is willing to take on two districts.

He pointed out that he fully supported continuing the sharing arrangement that he said “has worked out very well for both of us,” but it may be “difficult to find someone” with the experience required to lead both New Hampton and Turkey Valley or the desire to take on two districts.

Turkey Valley board member Katie Stika, though, said she believes many prospective superintendents realize that sharing is becoming a “fact of life” in and around Iowa.

“Isn’t that kind of the gist of superintendents now days,” Stika said. “They kind of know they’re probably going to have do two districts because that’s kind of the norm around the state and the Midwest.”

All 10 board members agreed that having a search firm would help give both districts clarity when it came to the search and approved sending out RFPs and try to get a firm hired by early November.

Currently, the costs of the superintendent position are split based on the districts’ certified enrollments each year, and New Hampton technically holds the contract for the position.

Turkey Valley Board Chairman Don Blazek said he would support having his district pay 50 percent of the costs of the search firm.

“My thought process right now as far as cost of the firm is if we have to go hunt for somebody on our own, it’s going to cost us X amount,” he said. “We should be willing to say, ‘If it takes 50 percent of the cost to do this, we’re up for this.’ ... And if when it all shakes out, there’s a rebate, that’s a great deal. If not, so be it.”

His fellow board members agreed and approved the same motion New Hampton’s board OK’d and have New Hampton put out a call for RFPs to begin the process of hiring a search firm.

Members from both boards spent a considerable amount of time discussing not only the search firm but also what they were looking for in their next superintendent. They also touted what they believe are the “positives” that will attract candidates — pointing out that both districts are, as Blazek put it, “In excellent financial shape.”

They also discussed having potential candidates meet with groups ranging from teachers to community members, but both boards said hiring a search firm should be their first priority.

How long that will take and how much that would cost remained up in the air, but Matthews and Blazek said that it was important both boards are “fully involved.”

As far as a timeline to naming a replacement for Jurrens, that, too, remained an unanswered question although members from both boards said they hoped to have a new superintendent hired by March, or April, at the latest.

“I was hoping we could have it wrapped up by January,” Blazek said “but the wheels probably don’t move that fast, do they? This is a big decision for both our districts and we want to make sure we get it right.”

Public Works director: This is really the final call for water-line surveys by next Friday, Oct. 11.

“We have no idea how many cities are going to be uploading at the last minute,” the public works director said, “so I don’t want to take any chances that the system’s going to crash and the city is going to get fined because we didn’t meet the deadline.”

So Mai is making one final plea to residents to complete the survey — hard copies are located at the City Clerk’s Office and an online version is available on the city’s website at newhamptonia.com — by this coming Tuesday.

Mai said the city has spent countless hours and dollars on survey.

“We’ve walked the town and put ‘door hangers’ out, we’ve done mass mailings, we’ve put notifications in bills,” he said, “and again, I appreciate the people who have done it, but there’s no reason that after almost two years that we still have 160, 170 surveys not done. That’s beyond frustrating.”

The goal of the surveys, Mai said, is to reduce the amount of lead service lines that are still in operation in the state, and he has touted the fact that if lead service lines are discovered because of the survey, residents might be eligible to receive funding to have those lines replaced.

As he has done several times in recent months, Mai said he is willing to help property owners with the survey and that he can be reached by calling 641-557-8244.

“Some of it, I know, is I’m not a procrastinator so I get a little riled up with people waiting to the last minute,” he said, “but the last minute — heck, the last second — is here right now. We’ve done so many ‘last-chance reminders’ that maybe people think we’re just exaggerating, but this is it, this is the last chance.”

New Hampton chief: Fire danger is ‘very real’ right now

BURN BAN: FROM 1

The State Fire Marshal’s Office also approved burn bans for Howard, Floyd and Winneshiek counties, pushing the number of counties in the state with burn bans to 13.

New Hampton received just .44 inches of rain in September, just 11.4 percent of the 3.83 inches that normally fall during the month.

Those who violate the burn ban can be charged with a simple misdemeanor, but Iowa code does allow the use of outdoor fireplaces, barbecue grills, properly supervised landfills or the burning of trash in incinerators or trash burners made of metal, concrete, masonry or heavy 1-inch wire mesh, with no openings greater than one square inch.

“Use caution,” Schwickerath said. “That’s my best advice to people because the fire danger is very real right now.”

German-American Museum will celebrate Oktoberfest Saturday

The German American Museum will celebrate Oktoberfest this Saturday with a meal from 4 to 7 p.m. at the museum that is located in St. Lucas.

The meal includes the famous Polasek’s German bratwurst, buns, sauerkraut, potato salad, baked beans, and cookies. The meals are available for carry-out or dine-in at the museum that is located at 212 E. Main St., and the suggested donation is $14 per meal.

At 4 p.m. the Czech Heritage Partnership (CHP) is demonstrating the sauerkraut making process in the German American Museum.

“This traditional food making process is lost to many families today. We are trying to acquaint the younger generations with this nearly lost art form,” says Ken Zajicek, head of the CHP.

Sauerkraut originated in China and spread to Europe in the late middle ages. It became a favorite cold weather food in Germany, Czech Republic, Slovakia and Poland.

The museum exhibits will be open during this event.

Jesus loves the little children

Our Savior commanded disciples to ‘let the little children come to me’

I remember singing this song when I was young. I haven’t heard it for a while, but I looked it up this week and now it’s stuck in my head!

“Jesus loves the little children, all the children of the world. Red, brown, yellow, black and white; they are precious in his sight. Jesus loves the little children of the world.”

People were bringing their children to Jesus so he could touch them. The disciples, tried to stop this from happening but Jesus was not happy that the children were kept away from him.

Jesus said, “Let the little children come to me, and do not stop them ...”

This is one example of how Jesus supported and advocated for those persons on the edges of humanity, marginalized by ritual, tradition, ethnicity, race, religion, gender, especially the women and children.

Jesus erased the lines drawn to exclude people – reminding all that people were created in the image of God and that humans were made to be in relationship and community.

In the first century, there was not a very positive attitude about children.

People felt that children had no understanding, acted like fools, were inclined to naughtiness and needed sharp discipline. They didn’t talk about sweet, innocent children rather the children were thought of as possessions – owned by their father. Many children died before they were age sixteen.

Jesus always had time for the weak and lowly. Children were welcome to come into his presence at any time. Jesus laid his hands on the children, blessed them, and healed them just as he did adults.

All this Jesus did to help the disciples and the people learn a different way of thinking about greatness. Not only the hierarchy of the common people but also the greatness of the Messiah.

Jesus came as the Messiah, the Savior,

Pastor Sue Cira serves Immanuel Crane Creek Lutheran Church in rural Lawler and is also a transitional pastor at Trinity Lutheran in New Hampton.

but not with the power, force, and mightiness the people associated with a great influential leader – Jesus came to serve, to seek the lost, and to save the believers ... and to love all people, including the children.

Watch Out for Investment Scams

When you invest, you'll find that knowledge is power. The more you know about your investment choices, and who is offering them, the better prepared you'll be to make good decisions. And this diligence can also help protect you against investment scams.

How widespread is this activity? Consider this: Investment fraud losses totaled more than $4.5 billion in 2023, according to the FBI's Internet Crime Report. Here are some common types of scams:

- Cryptocurrency – Not all cryptocurrency offers are scams, but many are. The scammers will contact you via social media, claiming they've made a lot of money in crypto and are willing to help you do the same. They may direct you to a website or app to invest, but the "company" taking your money may not even exist, and, after taking your money, may disappear.
- Investment programs – These programs claim to have "proven" strategies that can enable you to get rich by investing in financial products. But these strategies are dubious at best and can cost you thousands of dollars that could otherwise go into an investment plan based on your goals, risk tolerance and time horizon.
- Real estate – Typically, a real estate scam tries to get you to invest in a "worldclass" or "luxury" property development, but these properties may take years to build, if they're built at all. Also, various real estate "seminars" claim they can teach you how to get wealthy by buying and selling real estate, but these programs are expensive and usually worthless.
- Gold and other precious metals – Scammers who call themselves "rare coins" merchants may try to sell you gold coins, bullion or other types of precious metals, claiming that these assets will always go up in value (which isn't true) and that "now is the best time to act." You can find legitimate ways to invest in precious metals, possibly through mutual funds, but you'll need to determine whether these assets can be an appropriate part of your investment portfolio. So, how can you avoid these scams? Here are some suggestions from the Federal Trade Commission:

- Don't be pushed into snap decisions. Scammers will pressure you to act quickly because "space is limited" in an investment offering or a "special deal" won't last long. If someone won't give you time to consider an offer, it's not worth considering.
- Be suspicious of "risk-free" claims. All investments carry risk, and no variable investments can claim to provide "guaranteed returns." If an individual or organization downplays the risk of an investment and doesn't want to provide risk disclosures, just walk away.
- Ask about licensing or registration. Legitimate investment professionals must be registered with the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (FINRA) and be licensed by your state's securities regulator before they can sell you any investment product. You can check the status of an individual or firm by using FINRA's BrokerCheck tool at brokercheck.fina.org.
- Do some research. You can search online for the name of the company or individual offering you an investment opportunity. By entering terms such as "review," "scam," "fraud" or "complaint," you may well find that other people have experienced problems or been victimized.

To achieve your financial goals, you'll likely need to invest for decades — so, be wary of scammers who claim to offer a shortcut to success.

'No-name' group makes blanket donation

Fredericksburg sewing and quilting club presents sheriff, police chief with 'trauma blankets'

By Bob Fenske
editor@nhtrib.com

Their little sewing and quilting group may not have a name yet, but that didn't stop the four Fredericksburg women from making a couple of big donations on Monday afternoon.

"For a while, I was calling us the Friday Quilters," Lana Nelson said, "but we don't always meet on Fridays and we don't always quilt so right now, we're kind of a no-name group. ... We'll have to come up with something."

Named or not, though, the group traveled to New Hampton Monday to donate dozens of "trauma blankets" to the Chickasaw County Sheriff's Office and the New Hampton Police Department.

"We thought it was a good thing for the officers and deputies to have, especially when they're dealing with children," Nelson said after she joined fellow club members Barb Gitch, Mary King and Kerry King to present Sheriff Ryan Shawver with two dozen blankets. "We had all this fleece donated to us, and we wanted to do something that would make a difference."

"If it's an accident or whatever, the blankets hopefully will provide some comfort," Gitch said. "Sometimes we all have those times when you need to wrap yourself up in a blanket and feel safe."

After visiting the Sheriff's Office, the women traveled a few blocks to the New Hampton Police Department and presented Chief Conrad Rosendahl and Patrolman Darby Stone with 30 blankets.

"Sometimes it's the little things that help kids through a rough time," Rosendahl said, "and these are definitely going to be a nice thing to have."

We can't thank these ladies enough."

The group meets every other week or so, and the four members on hand laughed when asked if their sessions were "all work and no play?"

"Nose to the grindstone all the way," Mary King said with a laugh. "OK, maybe there are some days where we talk more than we sew but it's a fun way to spend time together."

The group's next project, members said, will be to make so-called "sensory" or "fidget" blankets for nursing home patients suffering from dementia, and Nelson said that the group is always looking for new members.

"Many hands make light work, that's how the old saying goes and it's true," she said. "We're also really appreciative of the donations we receive. That helps a lot with the costs."

Those interested in joining the club can do so by calling Nelson at 641-220-9007.

"And maybe they can help us come up with a name," Gitch said with a laugh, "but it's not a requirement for membership."

James Leibold, 91

James Leibold, age 91 of Lawler, died Thursday, Sept. 26, 2024, at Linn Haven Rehabilitation & Healthcare.

A Mass of Christian Burial will be held at 11 a.m. Friday, Oct. 4, 2024, at Assumption of the Blessed Virgin Mary in Little Turkey with the Rev. Nick Radloff celebrating the Mass.

Interment will be held at Our Lady of Mt. Carmel Catholic Cemetery, Lawler with Jacob Leibold, Walker Leibold, Don Burns, David Burns, Owen Burns, Ed Burns and Mary Burns serving as pallbearers. Honorary pallbearers are Ron Leibold, Laurie Leibold, Dale Christensen, John Praska, Tom Praska, Donna Praska, Diane Praska and Donny Fisher.

Friends may greet the family from 9 to 11 a.m. Friday, Oct. 4, 2024, at the church prior to Mass on Friday.

James Francis Leibold, affectionately known as Jim to his friends and loved ones, passed away peacefully on Sept. 26, 2024, in New Hampton.

Born on December 17, 1932, to Irvin and Victoria (Kipp) Leibold on the family farm just west of Lawler, Jim's life was a testament to the values of hard work, community service and the joy of simple pleasures.

Jim's early education at the local Catholic school in Lawler laid a strong foundation for the life of farming that he so dearly loved. His hands were rarely clean, because they were always busy working the land, caring for his animals, and nurturing the crops that fed his community.

In 1988, Jim's life was beautifully woven together with Marilyn K. Gebel Burns when they united in marriage. Together, they shared a deep commitment to their family farm, working side by side through the seasons. They found joy in the rhythm of rural life, from the fields they tended to the polka dances and festivals they attended. Their love story was one of mutual support and resilience, especially as they entered their golden years and navigated life's unexpected turns with unwavering courage and dedication.

Farming was not just Jim's occupation; it was his heart and soul. He spent his days with livestock, milking cows and caring for his laying hens with a sense of pride and purpose. His passion for farming was evident to all who knew him, and his farm was not only a place of work but also his sanctuary.

Jim had a unique hobby of growing watermelons, which he generously shared with everyone he knew.

His kindness was legendary; it was not uncommon to discover one of his watermelons waiting on your doorstep, a silent gesture of friendship from Jim. His love for polka music was another thread in the fabric of his life, providing a soundtrack to many of his happiest moments.

For 30 years, Jim served as a dedicated volunteer fireman with the Lawler Fire Department. His commitment to his community was unwavering, and he stood ready to help his neighbors in times of need. Jim's presence at farm sales was a familiar sight; he enjoyed the camaraderie and the opportunity to catch up with friends as much as he relished finding a new treasure for his farm.

Those who knew Jim would describe him as handy, always able to fix something that was broken, or create what was needed.

His friendly nature made him a beloved figure in Lawler, and his thoughtful ways left a lasting impact on those he met. Jim's endless smile, one that reflected a life well-lived and a heart full of joy, will forever be remembered by those who were fortunate enough to have known him.

In a life marked by the changing seasons of the farm and the enduring love of family and friends, Jim Leibold lived fully and left a legacy of warmth, generosity, and genuine kindness. His passing leaves a void in the fabric of the community, but his spirit will continue to inspire and guide us. As the fields he once tended begin to harvest, we are reminded of the cycle of life and the beauty of a life well-lived. Rest in peace, Jim. Your memory will be cherished, and your life celebrated, as the fruits of your labor continue to nourish the lives of those you touched.

Jim is survived by his sister-in-law, Bernadette Leibold; his stepchildren, Mary (Dale Christensen) Burns, David Burns, Don (Pam) Burns, Owen Burns and Ed (Bridget) Burns; and nephews and nieces, Ron (Laurie) Leibold, Joellen (Gary) Friedman, Michele (Steve) Lensing, Lori (Jeff) Brannan, Tami Bramow, Marie (Dennis) Robison, John Praska, Tom Praska, Donna Praska and Diane Smith.

Memorials will be made in Jim's memory to the Lawler Firefighters Foundation, Our Lady of Mount Carmel and other Lawler community non-profits.

Lowell passed away on July 11, 2024. We want to remember the life he lived so well on what would have been his 68th birthday. Family and friends are invited to come and share their memories of Lowell!

Justin Travis Hollister, 42

Justin Travis Hollister, age 42 of New Hampton, died Saturday, Sept. 28, 2024, at MercyOne New Hampton Medical Center of natural causes.

Friends may greet the family from 5 to 7 p.m. Monday, Oct. 7, 2024, at the Hugeback-Johnson Funeral Home & Crematory in New Hampton.

Private family burial will take place at a later date.

Justin Travis Hollister was born July 13, 1982, in Cedar Falls, the son of Terry and Lynn (Feldman) Hollister.

He received his education in the local public schools, proudly graduating with the New Hampton High School Class of 2000.

His love for nature and commitment to preserving it led him to further his studies at Hawkeye Tech in Waterloo, where he spent two years focusing on natural resources. He then transferred to Upper Iowa University in Fayette, where he received his bachelor's degree.

In 2006, Justin embarked on a career that perfectly aligned with his passions, serving as an assistant park ranger in Rockford. He embraced this role with enthusiasm, demonstrating an innate ability to connect with both the land and the people he served. Over the years, he also worked various other jobs, each time bringing his unique blend of friendliness and practical skills to the table.

Justin's professional journey took a new turn in 2017 when he joined the team at Hometown TV and Appliance in New Hampton. As an appliance delivery and installation specialist, he became a familiar and welcome presence in homes throughout the area. His work was more than a job; it was a means to enrich the daily lives of his neighbors and friends, ensuring they had the comforts and conveniences of modern living.

Beyond his professional life, Justin's heart belonged to the wilderness. He was an avid deer hunter, particularly enjoying the challenge of hunting with a muzzle-loader. His happiest moments were spent in the serenity of the woods, where he felt a deep connection to the natural world.

This passion extended to his love for sports, as he was an enthusiastic fan of the Hawkeyes, the Pittsburgh Steelers and the Pittsburgh Penguins.

Any opportunity to combine his love for the outdoors with his love for sports was a perfect day for Justin. "Justin as by the book and he was the book."

Survivors include his mother, Lynn Hollister; his father, Terry Hollister, both of New Hampton; and a brother, Jordan Hollister of New Hampton.

He was preceded in death by his maternal grandparents, Elmer (E.V.) (Betty) Feldman; and his paternal grandparents, Richard (Wilma) Hollister.

Arrangements have been entrusted to Hugeback-Johnson Funeral Home.

Earl William Drilling, 83

Earl William Drilling, age 83 of Waucoma, died Tuesday, Sept. 24, 2024, at his home.

Mass of Christian Burial will be held at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday, Oct. 9, 2024, at St. Luke's Catholic Church in St. Lucas with the Rev. Nick Radloff celebrating the Mass.

Interment will follow at the church cemetery.

Friends may greet the family from 4 to 7 p.m. on Tuesday, Oct. 8, 2024, at St. Luke's Catholic Church in St. Lucas where there will be a 7 p.m. Parish Scripture Service.

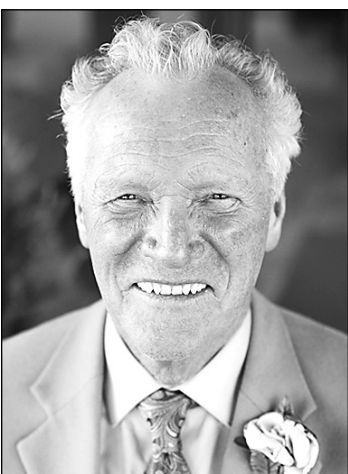

Earl William Drilling, Jr., age 83 of Waucoma, died peacefully at his home, surrounded by family, on Sept. 24, 2024.

He was born on July 25, 1941 to Earl and Velma (Jarosh) Drilling on their family farm near St. Lucas, the fourth of six children in a close-kit family.

A spirited redhead, Earl graduated from St. Luke's School in 1959. He was known and loved in his community. Most folks called him Junior.

His high school sweetheart Kathleen called him Earl. They married in September 1960, and raised their four children — Debbie, Dina, Dave and Darla, with a combination of hard work and good humor.

By 1963, Junior and Kathleen had purchased the farm they would call home. Junior loved the land and was always a dedicated steward — teaching his children and grandchildren through his passion for the natural world. His grandchildren know that the good dirt is black. He loved his livestock, and was always happiest when he had plenty of animals to care for.

"Grampa" ate dessert before a meal to set a good example when his grandchildren were around. He showed them how to dig for worms in the dirt behind the silo. He drew smiley faces on their toes, which tickled so much they kicked and screamed.

He was always sneaking them treats, Twizzlers, Hot Tamales, and Tootsie Rolls from the rolltop. A first fudgesicle at nine months?! He was full of mischief and could always be counted on to listen to their stories.

Gramps made them feel they were his greatest treasures.

After he and Kathleen had moved to town, Junior kept briefs — which the board chairman said worked out to about $35 per meeting he attend.

Drought conditions return to parts of the area

We're now not only "abnormally dry" but at least some of us are enduring moderate drought conditions according to the latest U.S. Drought Monitor report that was released last week.

The report showed that the southeastern part of Chickasaw County, almost all of Fayette County and the southern third of Winneshiek County had all moved into the most mild of the four drought stages.

And while farmers don't need the rain for this year's crop, they're hoping that once the harvest ends, the area will get a much-needed boost to soil moisture profiles. The latest USDA Iowa Crop and Condition Report, published on Monday, showed that 65 percent of farmland in the Northeast District is either "short" or "very short" of topsoil moisture while 60 percent of subsoil moisture is either "short" or "very short."

Board chair willing to 'pay back' landfill stipend

Chickasaw County Board of Supervisors Chairman Scott Cerwinske said on Monday that he is willing to "refund" the county the money he received as a stipend for serving on the Floyd Mitchell Chickasaw Landfill Board.

The issue came up during the public comment portion of the supervisors weekly meeting that lasted just 29 minutes on Monday morning.

Supervisors Matt Kuhn and Steve Breitbach both said they took phone calls from constituents about the stipend in the past week. During a meeting on Sept. 23, the Board of Supervisors reached a consensus that Cerwinske should not receive the stipend — which the board chairman said worked out to about $35 per meeting he attend.

The FMC Landfill pays both a stipend and mileage to board members for each meeting board members attend, and supervisors at the time said they had no issue with the mileage portion of the check. But they agreed with County Attorney David Laudner's legal opinion that Cerwinske should not receive the stipend.

"I can pay it back if that's what the board wishes me to do, I will do," Cerwinske said.

Supervisor Jake Hackman, though, pointed out that the board couldn't take any action during this week's meeting because the item wasn't on the agenda and Cerwinske said he will put the item on the agenda for next week's meeting.

Children’s choir from Uganda to perform in Nashua tonight

Compass Outreach Center in Nashua is hosting a concert by Watoto, a Christ-centered Children's Choir from Uganda, tonight (Thursday), beginning at 6
Admission is free, however a "love offering" will be taken to support the ministry of the choir.
Compass Outreach Center is a ministry of The Little Brown Church and is located at the intersection of Greeley and Woodbridge Street in Nashua.
The production is vibrant and colorful, taking the audience on an emotional journey as the children sing, dance, and share their personal stories of restoration and hope.
This will be the third time the choir will have visited Nashua and is their first international tour since the COVID pandemic.
Watoto is a family made up of people from all over the world who are working together to ensure the forgotten have a place to belong. In 1984, during a time of civil war Watoto planted a church in Kampala, Uganda to speak hope and life to the nation. Since then, Watoto has rescued thousands of orphaned and abandoned babies and children, placing them in loving families.

Hackman made a switch from receiver to quarterback. This week, with Busta still out, Hackman stayed at QB to try and keep the Trojans undefeated on Homecoming night.
Behind Justin Hackman's 157 yards and a solid Trojan defense, the Turkey Valley Homecoming was a winning one, 60-22 over Springville.
• For years, it was home to bars, cafes, barber shops and insurance agencies. There is now an empty space, covered with gravel. Work began early Tuesday morning on demolishing the old Sullivan Insurance building that for 20 years was the home of the Rockford Insurance Agency.
By noon, the building was literally on the ground. And by Wednesday, the debris was gone, leaving only memories of a building that also included two upstairs apartments.

• The students and staff gathered, as they do every Friday morning, for Mass, but this one was a bit more special as St.

BY BOB FENSKE

have all the Static divisions where you can find something you truly love to do."

That variety is part of what Kime loves about the job she took at the beginning of the summer, and she also enjoys the fact that she gets to work with youth of all ages.

"One day I might be with high school kids and the next day, I'm with the little ones in an elementary school," she said. "It's like no two days are the same. I love working with kids of all ages and this job gives me that chance."

Chickasaw County has nine active 4-H clubs spread throughout the county and is also home to an active Clover Kids program that serves younger students who don't become eligible for 4-H until they are in the fourth grade.

Kime's goal is simple: Grow 4-H in the county.

Not that it isn't successful now, but Kime said that she wants more kids to experience the benefits of the program. She said it helps that the county is blessed with a number of veteran 4-H leaders, and she added that her goal is to attend club meetings to not only get a chance to meet more members but also learn from those leaders, many of whom have been a part of 4-H for decades.

She believes 4-H offers two things — opportunities and rewards — for its members.

"I think it's so cool to see kids discover things and to grow," she said. "It doesn't matter if you've never picked up a camera; 4-H is a place you can find that you not only love photography but you can be good at it. That's just one example. There are a million things like that in 4-H and it's why we should celebrate it."

She said the program offers an array of different opportunities, and during the Chickasaw County 4-H and FFA Achievement Show this past summer, which was her first as youth coordinator, she said the rewards came in all shapes and sizes.

"Sometimes it's just how much they've improved their project, sometimes it's going to the State Fair," she said, "but the diversification of 4-H, that's what makes it so cool. I can't wait to see where 4-H goes from here, but I know it's going to impact a lot of kids."

It's one reason she is touting the map and the list of clubs that can be found above this story.

"My hope is that parents will see them and say to themselves, 'This would be really good for my kids,'" she said, "and trust me, it will."

NATIONAL 4-H WEEK

Bob Fenske/Tribune

From Clover Kids to graduation, a lifetime of memories!

Several Clover Kids — the precursor to 4-H — are honored at the Chickasaw County 4-H and FFA Achievement Show's awards ceremony before the 4-H "seniors" take the stand, but although Clover Kids and 4-H serve a variety of ages, the county's youth coordinator has little doubt that the kids pictured below will look back on their 4-H experiences fondly in the years to come.

A little lesson in 4-H history

Since 4-H began more than 100 years ago, it has become the nation's largest youth development organization.

The 4-H idea is simple: Help young people and their families gain the skills needed to be proactive forces in their communities and develop ideas for a more innovative economy.

Late 1800's: Making connections

In the late 1800's, researchers discovered adults in the farming community did not readily accept new agricultural developments on university campuses, but found that young people were open to new thinking and would experiment with new ideas and share their experiences with adults. In this way, rural youth programs introduced new agriculture technology to communities.

The idea of practical and "hands-on" learning came from the desire to connect public school education to country life.

Building community clubs to help solve agricultural challenges was a first step toward youth learning more about the industries in their community.

1902: Youth clubs are formed

A. B. Graham started a youth program in Clark County, Ohio, in 1902, which is considered the birth of 4-H in the United States.

The first club was called "The Tomato Club" or the "Corn Growing Club". T.A. Erickson of Douglas County, Minnesota, started local agricultural after-school clubs and fairs that same year. Jessie Field Shambaugh developed the clover pin with an H on each leaf in 1910, and by 1912 they were called 4-H clubs.

1914: Cooperative extension system is created

The passage of the Smith-Lever Act in 1914 created the Cooperative Extension System at USDA and nationalized 4-H. By 1924, 4-H clubs were formed and the clover emblem was adopted.

The Cooperative Extension System is a partnership of the National Institute of Food and Agriculture (NIFA) within the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA), more than 100 land-grant universities and more than 3,000 county offices across the nation.

Cooperative Extension combines the expertise and resources of federal, state, and local governments and is designed to meet the need for research, knowledge and educational programs.

4-H today

Today, 4-H serves youth in rural, urban, and suburban communities in every state across the nation. 4-H'ers are tackling the nation's top issues, from global food security, climate change and sustainable energy to childhood obesity and food safety.

4-H out-of-school programming, in-school enrichment programs, clubs and camps also offer a wide variety of STEM opportunities — from agricultural and animal sciences to rocketry, robotics, environmental protection and computer science — to improve the nation's ability to compete in key scientific fields and take on the leading challenges of the 21st century.

The Four H's

In 1907 Jessie Field Shambaugh, from Page County and O.H. Benson, superintendent of Wright County Schools began using a three leaf clover for the identity of boys and girls clubs.

The three H's stood for:

- Head (was trained to think, plan, and reason);
- Heart (to be kind, true, and sympathetic); and
- Hands (to be useful, helpful, and skillful).

In 1911, the 4th H became:

- Health (to resist disease, enjoy life, and make for efficiency).

Where many see challenge,
4-H kids see opportunity.

Booster Club inducts quartet into Hall of Fame

Before Friday night's homecoming football game between New Hampton and Oelwein, the Chickasaw Athletic Booster Club inducted four new members — longtime football coach Scott Frerichs, retired New Hampton Parks Recreation Director Rick Kramer, stand-out volleyball player and musician Megan (Lehman) Olson and three-sport star Carter Stochl, who won the 2017 Class 2A individual state golf championship — into its Hall of Fame.

Following their inductions the new Hall of Famers posed with Booster Club members and pictured are Activities Director Cory McDonald, Misti Shawver, Jodi Njus, Olson, Kramer, Kathy Stochl (representing her son, who is attending Georgetown Law School, Frerichs, Ryan Shawver and Jen Ewert.

With the addition of the four new inductees, the Hall of Fame that was started in 1995, now has 137 members.

Book lovers, Charles City Lions Club has something just for you

BY TRAVIS FISCHER

tkfischer@charlescitypress.com

The Charles City Lions Club is busy sorting and stacking thousands of books for the group's 62nd annual book sale that begins next week.

Lions Club volunteers have been spending their Wednesday evenings at 812 N. Main St. organizing this year's selection of books donated by the community to sell for their longest running fundraiser.

"We still have a lot to go through," said Lions Club member Doug Sinclair.

Old books, new books, kids stories, grown-up adventures, biographies, text books, cooking books and more will be available as the club adds another 2,000 donated titles to their selection, including a nearly complete collection of the work of Danielle Steel.

"The community is really good about giving back," said Sinclair. "Somebody even donated a stamp book, which is kind of neat."

Along with books, the Lions Club has also amassed a collection of CDs, cassette tapes, a few games and vintage photos of Charles City.

Funds raised from the sale support several club projects.

"One of the big things Lions Club promotes is sight initiatives," said club president Chuck Meyer.

This will also be the last year that the book sale will be held at the 800 block of North Main Street, which has hosted the sale for the last several years. The Lions Club is in the process of looking for a new venue for next year's sale.

"If you have any ideas, call us," said Sinclair.

The book sale will run from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. starting on Wednesday, Oct. 9 through Friday, Oct. 11, and on Saturday, Oct. 12, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

After a few days off, they sale will open up again from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Wednesday, Oct. 16, through Friday, Oct. 18, with a final day on Saturday, Oct. 19, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

overall and 1-1 in Class 2A, District 3 play, “although to be honest with you, these kids have been very resilient. They’ve been great. Even though we started 0-4, if you came to practice, you wouldn’t know it because they’ve been working their butts off and their attitude has been great. But everyone needs a win to get more confidence going forward.”

Senior Tate Schwickerath, who scored his first career touchdown and also had the Chickasaws’ first interception of the season, concurred.

“I would say coach Pemble is absolutely right,” he said. “We want to win; everyone wants to win, right? But we haven’t gotten down on each other and I think I’m really most proud of this team for sticking together so we could have a night like this. We could see in that first half against Osage last week that we were getting better. That helped, but mostly, I think it’s just the fact that everyone shows up for practice and works hard.”

New Hampton used a dominating start and never really looked back against an Oelwein team that had forfeited its previous two games.

Literally from the start, the Chickasaws played with energy and passion as evidenced by a great tackle from Kale Venem on the opening kickoff that pinned the Huskies deep. The defense came up with a pair of quarterback sacks to force a punt that New Hampton senior Adam Ewert returned 20 yards to the Oelwein 35.

Five plays later, Beau Serie scored on a 3-yard touchdown run and New Hampton had a lead it would never relinquish.

“I think the defense set the tone right away,” New Hampton quarterback Reid Rausch said. “They came out just on a mission and they kind of gave the offense the momentum. It was really an all-around great night, one we really needed. It’s like for a lot of our guys, they had to learn how to win. Now, we have that and we just need to keep growing.”

Serie would add another touchdown late in the first quarter on a 44-yard run, and the Chickasaws blew the game open in the second quarter as Rausch threw a pair of touchdown passes — the first a 28-yarder to Ewert and the second an 18-yarder to Schwickerath — to give New Hampton a 27-0 lead at halftime.

Pemble handed out kudos to his offensive line that included Rochford, Jackson Kellogg, Ryan Willadsen, Jacob McDonald and Dylan Maloy.

“They played very well,” the Chickasaw coach said. “It has to start up front, and they gave Beau room, they gave Reid time, they probably had their best game of the year.”

“I think we got off the ball really well,” Rochford said, “and the big thing was we kept on guys. ... It’s a lot of fun when you know Beau’s getting a lot of yards and Reid’s completing passes. We take a lot of pride

The defense was more than stout in the opening 24 minutes, limiting Oelwein to just 25 first half yards. The onslaught was led by linebacker Emmett Kuehner, who had nine tackles. Fellow linebacker Bryar Usher and Kellogg, a sophomore defensive lineman, had six apiece and all three spent plenty of time in the Oelwein backfield. Usher and Kellogg both had three tackles for loss while Usher had 2.5.

“Really our front eight just had a great night,” Pemble said. “Our defensive line deserves a lot of credit because they took up blockers and let our linebackers run free for the most part.”

About the only bummer in the first half was the fact that the Chickasaws had two Ewert touchdowns on punt returns called back because of penalties.

New Hampton would push the advantage to 41-6 in the third quarter as Serie scored on a 2-yard run on New Hampton’s first drive of the second half and then, after Oelwein got on the scoreboard after a long drive, raced 71 yards to the house.

Serie finished with 178 yards on just 10 carries while Venem finished with 84 yards on 15 rushes. Rausch completed 6 of 8 passes for 72 yards as the Chickasaws had its second-best offensive night — at least as far as total yards are concerned — of the season.

Now, New Hampton heads into the “teeth” of its district schedule as the Chickasaws are at North Fayette Valley on Friday and home against Crestwood next week. Yes, New Hampton will be the underdog in both games, but Rausch said the Chickasaws are ready for the challenge.

“Winning isn’t going to change how we practice or our attitude,” he said. “We got a taste of it, and you know what? We liked it, so we’re going to keep working hard, keep getting better and do everything we can to build on this.”

Chickasaws’ long break ends with a top-notch tournament at Waverly third and final sets by identical scores of 25-22.

“We were excited to get a chance to play Decorah last week. They just broke into the rankings, but have not played a lot of matches. We started out a bit slow but then got into the groove. After coming from behind in game one and winning, I felt like we were rolling and then game two got us. We really had to battle in games three and four for the victory, but it was a great win,” said Geerts.

It wasn’t easy, but New Hampton proved its worth with a resilient victory and hopes to play for a possible shared league championship when it tangles with Waukon (12-7, 0-2) in the Chickasaws’ final league match on the road Tuesday, Oct. 8. That means looking ahead and not focusing on the past is the Chickasaws’ focal point.

“We have really been talking a lot about positive self-talk and how much we can get into our heads when we play. We are setting goals and focusing on what we need to do rather than what we just did,” said Geerts.

Charles City (14-5, 2-0) is New Hampton’s only loss in the conference and played at Crestwood (19-5, 1-2) this past Tuesday and finishes its conference slate at home versus Decorah (11-7, 1-1) on Oct. 8. The Vikings hosted Waukon on Tuesday of this week.

New Hampton has a very long break before competing in the Waverly-Shell Rock Invite this Saturday — which features a boat load of top talent. That means if you’re counting the days off for New Hampton, they will have had 10 days without a match before heading to Bremer County to take part in the eight-team weekend tournament hosted by the Go-Hawks.

“This very long break is going to give us a chance to heal a bit as we are a little banged up. It will also give us a chance for a little break and to work on some things we need to key in on,” said Geerts.

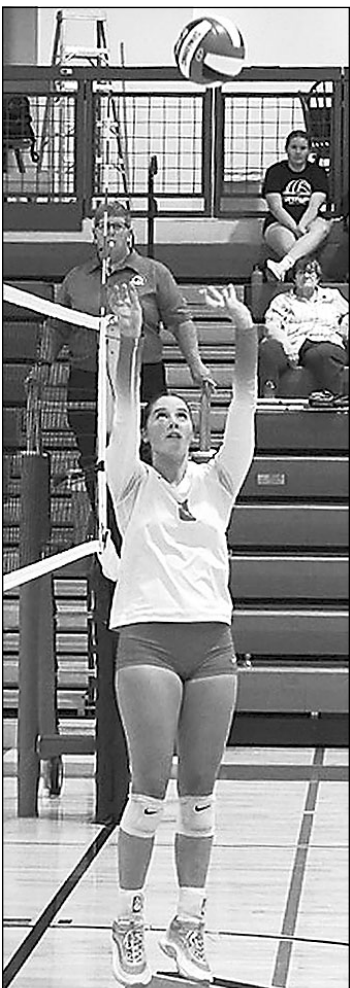

W-SR (10-13) is playing as an independent this year after being a founding charter member of the NEIC along with six other schools, including New Hampton. The Go-Hawks have defeated NH twice this season — the first time in three sets at the Osage Invite last month and the other time in a sweep at New Hampton.

The Chickasaws will have a chance at revenge against the Go-Hawks in an invite that features No. 1 Denver, third-rated Ankeny, fifth-ranked Janesville, No. 8 Norwalk, No. 14 AGWSR and Nevada. All five classes in the state are represented by those talented schools.

New Hampton senior middle Braelyn Rosonke — who leads the NEIC with 167 kills — brought down 18 kills against Decorah. She was also 12-12 serving with two aces.

NH junior Maici Weber — who transferred to New Hampton from Turkey Valley this past school year — accumulated 32 assists and sent down two aces to the hardwood. Weber is currently second in the NEIC in assists (359) to Charles City junior Sofia Parrott (410 assists).

Geerts talked about the talented Chickasaw — who seems to be thriving at her new school in New Hampton’s system. Weber was an all-conference performer last year for the Trojans in a similar role at Turkey Valley.

“Maici has done a nice job adjusting to New Hampton volleyball and the expectations we have. Lucky for us she has filled a position that is hard to come by these days. She is a hard worker, who is willing to do whatever is needed to do for the team to be successful,” said Geerts.

New Hampton junior Chloe Weigel had one of the better matches of the year at Decorah at her outside hitter position. She recorded 10 kills and is third on the team this year with 67 kills.

“Chloe had a good match against Decorah. She does not always get great sets as an outside hitter. They get the out-of-system balls, but that is volleyball. We are working on changing some things with her swing and I see this being huge for us in the future,” said Geerts.

New Hampton freshman sensation — Aleigha Cahoy — once again shined for the Chickasaws in their penultimate NEIC match. She racked up six kills and led NH with 21 digs. Cahoy is fifth in the league in kills (128) and digs (163).

Taylor Ries — New Hampton’s senior libero — sports a 95 percent serve efficiency. She was 21-22 serving with a team-leading three aces in the Decorah match. She also came up with 14 digs.

30-8 advantage at the break.

TV junior quarterback Logan Busta got Turkey Valley on the board for the lone Trojan score of the first half on a nine-yard TD run. He would have a hand in all three of the Trojans’ scores on the evening. He found Tucker Reicks in the end zone from seven yards out in the third quarter and he racked up another rushing touchdown in the final period of play.

Busta would finish with 114 yards on 17 carries. He also passed for 148 yards.

Trojan sophomores Kaden Schmidt (63 yards) and Hugo Busta (50 yards) led TV with six combined catches.

“Offensively we moved the ball well at times, but failed to convert in the red zone several times,” said Scott.

Clarksville was able to limit one of 8-Man’s most explosive receivers – Trojan junior wide-out J.D. Kruse – to just two catches for 11 yards. Kruse did lead the TV defense with 10.5 tackles.

Hunter Kruse, a junior interior lineman for the Trojans, was next in line in the tackle department with 9.5 and junior defensive lineman Traejin Keel came up with nine stops. TV sophomore defensive end Jordan Kriener registered eight tackles.

coaching bond between herself and Vrzak – a key element that could propel the Trojans to even greater heights during the latter portion of this regular season. Vrzak has over two decades of experience of coaching volleyball and she’s helping instill some of the success and winning ways she’s been able to create with Walz.

“I just remember when I was in high school, she was coaching. Being able to learn from her now is a great experience and I couldn’t ask for anybody else,” said Walz. “It was great last year and it’s been even better this year. I feel like our relationship has gotten a lot closer and we’re able to talk a lot more volleyball and figure things out on a deeper level.”

Turkey Valley is starting to play some of its best volleyball of the year, as evident by its three-set sweep on the road over Kee High last week Thursday by scores of 25-7, 25-9 and 25-10.

“They’re adjusting well. Practicing is going well. I can’t be more proud of how they’re doing so far this season,” said Walz. “I’m excited to see what we all have left.”

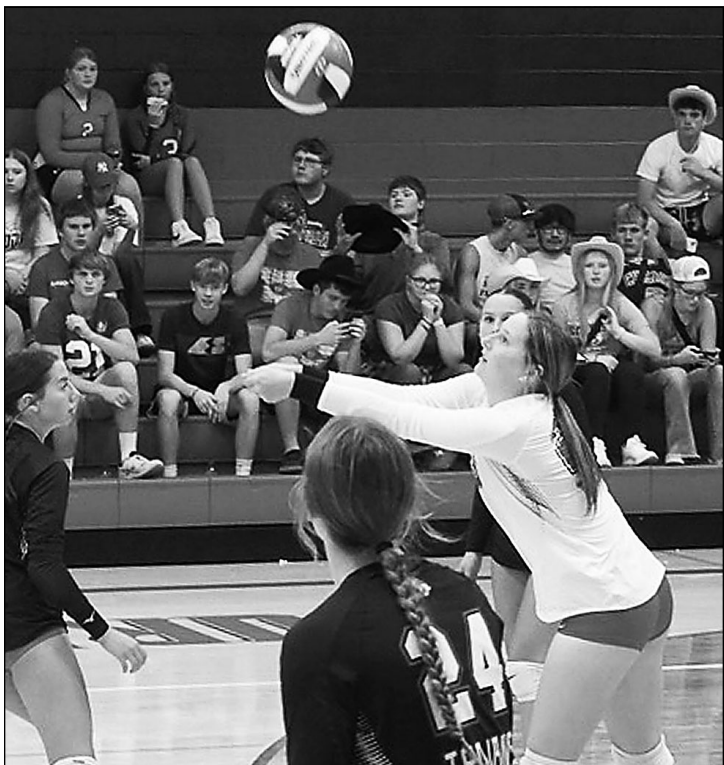

Vrzak and Walz mixed things up a little bit up front for the Trojans as seniors Delaney Busta and Kinsey Reicks switched positions. Busta moved to the middle and Reicks moved to Busta’s old spot on the rightside up near the net.

“She’s adjusting to that fairly well,” said Walz about Reicks.

Reicks was TV’s second-team all-league pick a year ago in that middle slot. She hammered down 10 kills versus Kee High, but that wasn’t tops on the team. The No. 1 kill leader for the Trojans up in Lansing was senior Layni Schuchhardt, who posted 16 kills. Schuchhardt also had herself a day at the service line as she went 17-17 with two aces.

TV was 70-72 serving as a team with 13 aces against the winless Hawks (0-15, 0-4).

Addison Steinlage, a junior, accumulated 36 assists versus Kee. TV seniors Morgan Morgan Vsetecka makes a pass during Turkey Valley’s win over Postville last week.

Vsetecka and Alexis Elsbernd were the leaders in digs with 11 apiece. Trojan junior Karstyn Lukes notched four aces.

“They’re a really good group of girls. This is only my second season with them. By the end of the season last year I felt like I had a really good connection with them that’s continuing to grow,” said Walz. “Our passes are doing what they can, especially Morgan Vsetecka. She moves really well in left back and is able to get to where we need her.”

Turkey Valley competes in two more weekend tournaments – the first one is slated for this Saturday at Oelwein and the second will take place on Saturday, Oct. 12 at Riceville.

Three Turkey Valley sophomore cross country runners, plus a freshman, took to the Waukon Golf and Country Club last week Tuesday.

They didn’t bring any golf clubs, but they made sure to traverse the fairways and beautiful lush landscape of the course in respectable times across the finish line.

Fellow sophomore Hazel Nieman produced a time of 23:06.61, which saw her cross the tape in the 32nd position. Nieman improved her time by over 31 seconds from her last race at Starmont, which was 23:37.86.

Chickasaws continue to improve as stretch run nears

New Hampton's home cross country meet will wrap up the regular season

By KELLY TERPSTRA
sports@nhtrib.com

The Chickasaws are more than halfway home.
Now the goal is to kick it into overdrive.
After five regular season meets have been put in the books, the New Hampton cross country team is just a few weeks away from some of the more important meets of the season that will take place as the stretch run draws closer.
Those critical tests before the postseason gets underway include a home meet that will be run at the New Hampton Golf & Country Club next week Thursday, Oct. 10. The NEIC meet takes place at Oneota Golf & Country Club in Decorah on Tuesday, Oct. 15. Then there is a bit of a layoff and break before the Chickasaws compete in the state qualifier on Thursday, Oct. 24 at a site that has yet to be determined.
The two scheduled dates for New Hampton to run prior to that home meet at the Chickasaws' home golf course are this week. New Hampton ran at Jesup this past Tuesday and finishes off the week at the Crestwood Invite this Saturday at 10 a.m.

New Hampton head coach Jamie Ohrt, in her 13th season of guiding the Chickasaws, said she'll taper off her runners' mileage in practice around the week of the conference meet.
That means one thing – times should continue to drop for the Chickasaws as their endurance and speed are reaching peak-performance levels.
“A lot can happen from August to October,” said Ohrt.
Indeed it can as one of Ohrt's top runners on the boys side has come into his own over the course of the last few weeks.
Chickasaw sophomore Connor Stumme ran a season-best at Waukon last Tuesday in 19:30 and is quickly approaching his career PR. Stumme started out a little slow out of the gates early in the season as he posted times that weren't necessarily indicative of his talent out on the course.
He's starting to heat up.
“He has become brave. He's willing to take calculated risks because he's starting to trust his body more,” said Ohrt. “You have to trust your feet. You have to know your feet.”
Stumme ran his career PR (18:48) at Waukon last year and also recorded a sub-19 time at last year's Chickasaw home meet, which was run for the third-consecutive year at Plum Creek Golf Course in Fredericksburg. His time at that meet was 18:54.

Sophie Glaser – a state qualifier as a freshman last fall – continues to impress for the Chickasaws girls squad. She recorded another top-five finish with a fourth-place result at Waukon in 20:54.
Tegan Dungey, a junior, improved by almost a minute from her run at Osage last week with a clip of 22:32 (21st place) at Waukon. Her time at Osage was 23:28.
New Hampton junior Ella Knutson shaved over 1:35 off her time from Osage as she crossed the finish line in 24:16, which was 45th overall.

“She certainly has kind of stepped into her own,” said Ohrt. “She has stepped out of her comfort zone, which is really cool to see. She's helping close that gap between her and Tegan. I know she can keep up with her, it's just a mindset when you're in the middle of a race.”
Ohrt talked about how the Chickasaws' SEE NH XC, 14

Turkey Valley improves to 4-1 in league play with victory

Tammy Vrzak and Ashley Walz are in season two of their tenure as a coaching tandem for the Turkey Valley volleyball squad.
The Trojan co-coaches took over for Shelbie Balk midway through the season last fall and helped guide the Trojans to a 6-2 league mark and third place finish in the Upper Iowa Conference.
Currently, TV (10-10, 4-1) sits in second place behind first place North Fayette Valley (11-3, 3-0), but the Trojans have played two more league contests than the TigerHawks.

Turkey Valley played rival South Winneshiek (14-10, 2-1) on Tuesday and finishes off the UIC slate next week Tuesday, Oct. 8 at West Central and the following Thursday on the road versus MFL MarMac.

"PS" is Project Share – a program that assists needy households in paying their winter energy bills. You can help this effort by adding a regular Project Share contribution to your utility payment, or by making a direct donation to Project Share. These funds are distributed to your neighbors in need.

A local social service agency carefully identifies those residents who qualify, and a local committee oversees Project Share to guarantee that all contributions are handled equitably and efficiently.

Adding a "PS" – a Project Share contribution to your utility payment each month is a simple way to share some warmth with those who need it.

Resilient Chickasaws roll on homecoming

New Hampton sets the tone early as it gets first victory of the season with a 41-18 rout of Oelwein

By BOB FENSKE

Through a bumpy 0-4 start, not once has the New Hampton football team headed “south.”

Instead, the Chickasaws’ first-year head coach, Chad Pemble, has been impressed with his players’ work ethic and attitude as the losses mounted.

Still, New Hampton needed a win.

“We’ve hung in there,” senior center Caleb Rochford said, “and we’ve had each other’s backs, but no doubt about it, confidence wise and all that, it sucks when you’re working hard and not getting any rewards.”

The Chickasaws finally raked in some dividends on Friday as their defense flew to the ball and the offense was picking up big chunks as New Hampton rolled to a 41-18 victory over Oelwein.

“We needed it for confidence,” Pemble said after his team improved to 1-4

Trojans step out of district play, fall to Clarksville

By KELLY TERPSTRA

Wrap up, run through the ball carrier and keep driving those legs forward, because eventually the opponent should fall to the turf.

Whether it's one defender or a gang-tackle mentality – that's the key to success in trying to stop the run on any level of football.

If the Turkey Valley Trojans are going to crack the playoffs this fall, they're going to have to make more stops on defense.

It's that simple.

Clarksville (4-2) had a touchdown party on Friday night during its homecoming tilt versus Mark Scott's Trojans. The Indians scored on eight out of its nine offensive possessions and rocketed themselves to a 60-24 non-district win over the Trojans.

“Clarksville was a much more physical team. We did not block or tackle as well as they did. Missing three starters on defense led to reshuffling positions and it showed,” said Scott, in his 22nd season as head coach of the Trojans.

Clarksville sophomore quarterback Nathan Moon rushed for 241 yards on 29 carries and scored six of the Indians' touchdowns. Moon is the third-best rusher (956 yards) in 8-Man and the Indians are the sixth-best rushing team in their class with 1,516 yards on the ground.

The Indians led 22-0 after one quarter of play and held a
