maneuvers but also improves traffic flow, reducing travel times and stress for daily commuters and freight drivers, the Iowa DOT said. Wider shoulders, enhanced signage and intersection improvements are also part of the “super-two” design.

The Iowa DOT’s study is currently in its first phase, which includes data gathering, crash analysis and public input through surveys.

The second phase will build on these findings to identify specific transportation needs and outline potential solutions, including precise locations for passing lanes and other improvements.

Upon completion of the study, a “vision document” will be created, outlining the preferred improvements for the U.S. 18 corridor and acting as a guide for future project development and potential funding allocation.

A second public information session is scheduled for Spring 2025, where the DOT will present its findings and gather further feedback from the community. The final vision document will incorporate this feedback.

These upgrades are part of the Iowa DOT’s broader strategy of “rightsizing” the state’s primary highway system, the department said. By implementing more cost-effective solutions like “super-two” highways, the state can address transportation needs while remaining within budget constraints.

The Iowa DOT is calling for extensive public participation in shaping the future of the U.S. 18 corridor.

The video informational program and survey are available at <https://bit.ly/survey6226>.

Residents, businesses and commuters who use the route are encouraged to provide their input online until Oct. 28, the Iowa DOT said.

“We want to hear from people who live, work, and travel along the U.S. 18 corridor,” said Iowa DOT officials. “Your input will help shape the future of this important route, ensuring it remains safe and efficient for years to come.”

In addition to the survey, opportunities for public involvement include online virtual public information meetings, updates through social media and a project website.

In addition to the website, questions, concerns or comments can be sent to to:

- Krista Billhorn, Iowa DOT District 2 Planner, at (641) 422-9447 or via email at krista.billhorn@iowadot.us.
- Adrienne Knight, Iowa DOT Location and Environment Bureau, at (515) 239-1912 or via email at adrienne.knight@iowadot.us.

Next steps in the survey process are:

- Public input survey deadline: Oct. 28, 2024.
- Second public information event: Spring 2025.
- Final vision document to be developed in late 2025.

a picnic. It was also a place where citizens of New Hampton and local law enforcement interacted and enjoyed themselves near the park’s bandshell.

“The idea was let’s partner with the faith organizations to try to bridge those gaps in our community and that’s what this event is really all about,” said Rosendahl. “It doesn’t have to be a concert and a picnic in the park. There’s a ton of different ideas. It’s kind of up to the organizers of each town on how they want to do it.”

At the park music played and testimonials were told, including Rosendahl’s – who lost his sister to suicide back in 2003. He called out to Christ back then over two decades ago after that tragic happening took place in his family. He’s since built a relationship with Christ that has strengthened his life and helped him get over the loss of a sibling that was near and dear to his heart.

“I found Christ in 2003 after my sister had taken her life,” said Rosendahl. “I went to a men’s Christian retreat that year and I found Christ at that retreat. I truly experienced the Holy Spirit and I’ve had faith ever since then.”

“Faith and Blue” is a national event that takes place in various towns throughout the country and is similar to “National Night Out,” but with a faith-based approach. The community event, which first started in 2020, was founded by Movement Forward, Inc., who worked with the Office of Community Oriented Policing Services (COPS Office) at the U.S. Department of Justice to get the program off the ground.

The message and goal of “Faith and Blue” is a powerful, yet simple message – stronger relations with a town’s residents and its law enforcement results in a safer neighborhood.

“Our businesses come here to donate their time and food. The proceeds to this event are getting donated to Catholic and public schools to go to delinquent lunch accounts,” said Rosendahl. “Everything we’re doing here has a positive effect on our community.”

Rosendahl walked up onto the stage on Sunday – where local musicians also sang – and made his voice heard. His words seemed to resonate with the decent-sized crowd in attendance.

“Every morning I try to start my day with Christ,” Rosendahl told the folks gathered at picnic tables or who were just milling around the park that includes the Chickasaw softball and baseball diamonds.

Before Rosendahl starts his day, he reads daily devotionals called “Behind the Badge.”

“It just helps me put in perspective where my day is,” said Rosendahl.

He shared that day’s message – titled “Favor on the Firing Line.”

“If we take time to cry out to God, he will hear us and he will grant us favor and protection,” said Rosendahl. “If there are two people who are opposing each other who are equally skilled in battle, the only thing that separates them is the willpower and favor of God.”

Rosendahl’s faith in a higher power has also afforded him the opportunity to spread that word of the gospel.

“I have a very strong faith. My ultimate goal in faith and what God challenges us to do is share in Christ and with other people,” said Rosendahl. “If I can share him while doing my job, then I’m doing both of what I’m supposed to do.”

Rosendahl, who was the police chief at Lansing for seven years prior to coming over to New Hampton in that same role, orchestrated a “Faith and Blue” event in his previous community along the Mississippi River two years ago.

“The reason and the cause is awesome,” said Rosendahl.

The New Hampton Police Chief also added that starting a conversation at a community function like “Faith and Blue” doesn’t have to begin or end with a discussion about faith. Folks can talk with the men or women in blue about any topic.

“It’s a chance for people to talk to us law enforcement or officers in a time when they’re not under stress,” said Rosendahl. “We’re officers, but we’re still human. We find a mutual thing to connect on, whether it’s hunting or fishing or Christ and being a man of faith.”

A farmer harvests a cornfield just to the south of Ionia on Tuesday, another picture-perfect day, but while area farmers want to wrap up their field work, they also wouldn't mind getting a break with a little rain.

Harvest rolls along but drought concerns rise appears to be taking hold in Northeast Iowa.

In last week's U.S. Drought Monitor report, parts of Chickasaw, Bremer and Fayette counties were moved up from "moderate" to "severe" drought, and while that's a better classification than the area had a year ago when almost all of Northeast Iowa was dealing with extreme drought, it's left folks like Basol frustrated.

"Our climate has gotten goofy," he said, "and to go through this two years in a row, there's definitely some angst there. ... No, no, no, the dry weather hasn't hurt this year's crop, but it's concerning because we really need to replenish our subsoil moisture profile before we put the '25 crop into the ground."

How dry is it?

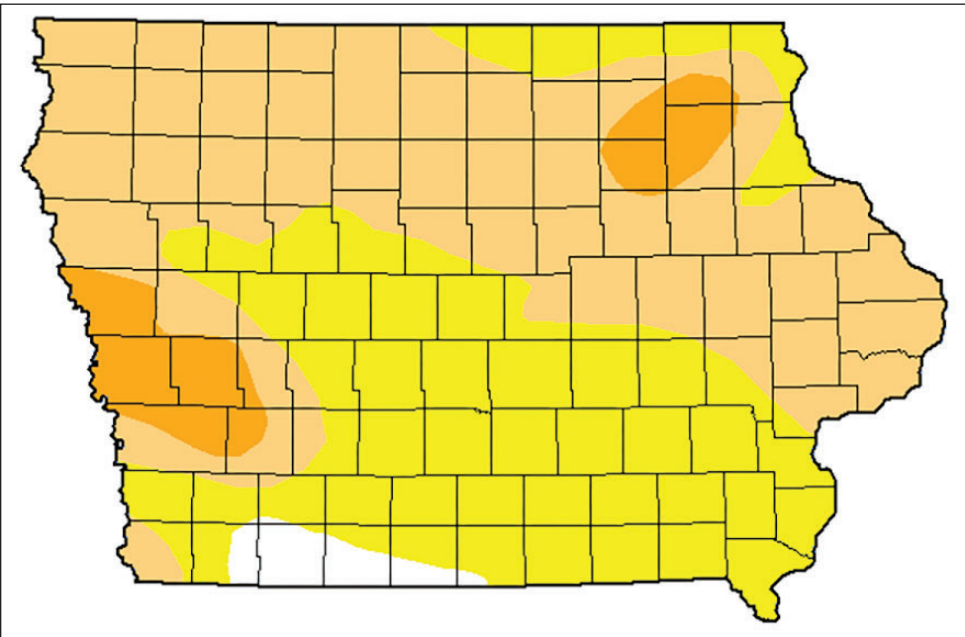

Since Sept. 1, New Hampton has received just 0.49 inches of rain, just 9.5 percent of the 5.16 inches that normally falls between Sept. 1 and Oct. 15.

The good news is that farmers are saving a ton when it comes to drying costs this fall and they're making fast progress on the harvest.

"I mean you can't ask for better harvest weather," Basol said, "and the guys know that. But we desperately need a soaker one of these days."

Still, Basol said from the farmers he's talked to in recent weeks, the 2024 crop is, in a word, solid, especially when it comes to corn yields.

The most recent USDA's Iowa Crop and Condition Report showed the progress

U.S. Drought Monitor

The latest U.S. Drought Monitor map for Iowa shows a worsening picture as the yellow areas are "abnormally dry," the lighter orange areas are in "moderate drought" and the darker orange areas, including parts of Chickasaw County, are enduring "severe drought."

farmers have made in the Northeast District that includes Chickasaw County. The weekly report showed that 49 percent of corn has been harvested, up from the 18 percent brought in a week ago. The soybean harvest, meanwhile, is nearing completion as 85 percent of the crop in the district has been harvested, up from 58 percent a week ago.

That same report, though, showed the growing concern about topsoil and subsoil moisture content as only 29 percent of the subsoil and 23 percent of the topsoil in Northeast Iowa have adequate moisture.

"I don't want to panic because it's better than last year when we were in the extreme drought," Basol said. "If we could get a couple of decent rainfalls before the ground freezes, that would go a long way but our weather, there's no other way to put it, has been wacky."

Absentee balloting for the Nov. 5 general election begins

The first votes for the Nov. 5 general election have been cast as absentee — or early — voting began on Wednesday at courthouses around the state.

By state law, early voting can't start until 20 days before the election, which is also the day that auditor's offices can mail out ballots to residents who have requested them.

In Chickasaw County, voters can cast ballots at the Auditor's Office during its regular business hours — 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Mondays through Fridays — through Monday, Nov. 4.

This coming Monday, meanwhile, is the final day for voters to pre-register for the election; those that miss the deadline can register at the polls on Nov. 5, and on Tuesday, a satellite voting station will be open in Alta Vista from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. for voters in the Chickasaw North Precinct that includes the cities of Alta Vista, North Washington and Protivin.

Polls on Nov. 5 will be open from 7 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Mighty servants of God

The holy angels protect us from the devil and his fellow demons

What do angels look like? What do they do? Does each of us have our own guardian angel? Should we expect to see an angel sometime? Do we become angels when we die?

The key to understanding the purpose of angels is to start with how they came to be and who they belong to.

The angels were created by God sometime during the six days of creation (Genesis 1). Colossians 1:16 says, “For by him all things were created, in heaven and on earth, visible and invisible.”

God created them to serve Him by serving the crown of His creation—man and woman. He commands the angels to guard us at all times (Psalm 91:11). Psalm 103:20 describes the angels as “mighty ones who do his word, obeying the voice of his word.” Hebrews 1:14 tells us that the angels especially serve believers.

These holy angels protect us from the devil and his fellow demons. These were once good angels, but they rebelled against God. They want to harm us and drag us with them to hell (2 Peter 2:4).

The holy angels want us to be saved and join them around God’s throne in heaven. An angel announced to Mary that she would bear the Christ-Child, the world’s Savior (Luke 1:26-38). Angels appeared nine months later to announce His birth to the shepherds (Luke 2:8-14).

Angels came again to tell the Lord’s disciples that He had risen from the dead (Luke 24:1-11). They appeared when Jesus ascended into heaven saying that He would come back in the same way He had gone (Acts 1:9-11). On the last day, Jesus says they will accompany Him when He returns in glory (Matthew 25:31).

We may not be able

to see the angels now, but we will see them one day. Until our Lord’s return, it is comforting to know that they are working tirelessly for God for our good.

Blessed pillows for St. Joe’s students

Father Jim Goerend talks about the blessed prayer pillows St. Joseph Community School kindergartners and first-graders were about to receive during a program last week in the school’s gathering space.

The pillows were all handmade and donated to Hugeback-Johnson Funeral Home and Crematory to be used to “help the community.”

And from the look on the kids’ faces, we think they accomplished that goal.

Vote for Solid Investment Strategies

With the presidential election just a few weeks away, the public is naturally interested in not just the outcome but what the results will mean for issues of national importance. As a citizen, you likely share these concerns — but how about as an investor? After the votes are counted — or even before — should you make some moves in anticipation of possible changes in policy?

Let's look at the big picture first, through the lens of history. The financial markets have performed well — and at times, not so well — under Democratic and Republican presidents alike. And the same is true about which party controlled Congress.

While it might be an overstatement to say that decisions made in Washington have no effect on the markets, it's not always so easy to draw a direct line between what happens there and how the markets perform. For one thing, political candidates often make promises that are not fulfilled, or, if they are, have different results than intended. Also, other institutions can have a significant impact on the markets. For example, the Federal Reserve, which controls short-term interest rates, can certainly affect many market sectors. And there will always be external events, such as foreign conflicts and even natural disasters, that can make short-term impacts on the investment world.

So, rather than making changes to your portfolio in anticipation of what might happen if certain candidates get elected, or even in response to actual policy changes, look to other factors to drive your investment decisions.

These factors should include the following:

- Your goals – You probably have short- and long-term goals you'd like to achieve. For your short-term goals, such as a wedding, a down payment on a house or a long vacation, you may want to invest in instruments that provide stability of principal. For your long-term goals, most important of which may be a comfortable retirement, you'll need to own a reasonable number of growth-oriented investments.

- Your risk tolerance – When you build and maintain your investment portfolio, you'll need to accommodate your individual risk tolerance. All investments carry some type of risk, but you need to be comfortable with the overall risk level of your investments.

- Your time horizon – Where you are in life is an important consideration when investing. When you are young and just starting out in your career, you may be able to focus more on growth, as you have time to overcome the inevitable short-term market downturns. But as you near retirement, you may want to consolidate any gains you may have achieved, and lower your risk level, by moving your portfolio toward a somewhat more conservative approach. Even in retirement, though, you will need some growth potential to stay ahead of inflation.

- Your needs for liquidity – As you invest, you'll need to maintain an adequate amount of cash and cash equivalents in your holdings. Without this liquidity, you might be forced to sell long-term investments in case you have unexpected expenses.

In any case, when it comes to investing, you may want to pay less attention to what names are on the ballot — and instead “vote” for the longer-term strategies that reflect your needs and goals.

Supervisors hold off on Homeland TIF request to get more information

pays more than $640,000 per year to Chickasaw County, but she agreed with Supervisor Jake Hackman when he pointed out that the ethanol plant's property taxes includes “the school districts, townships, not just the Chickasaw County Board of Supervisors.”

Eiler pointed out that when the original plant was built in 2009, Homeland utilized the High Quality Creation Program, which exempted some property taxes for 20 years. When that exemption ends with the 2029 assessment, the plant's property taxes will increase by about $550,000 per year.

The plant currently has 67 full-time employees and is owned by more than 1,250 members, many of whom, Eiler said, are farmers in Chickasaw County and the surrounding area.

The expansion will lead Homeland to increase its “corn needs” by nearly 12 million bushels per year, up 17.1 percent from the 70 million bushels the plant currently purchases each year.

“We say at Homeland, ‘Everything starts with corn,’” Eiler said. “So that increase in corn demand could potentially drive up the price of corn again.”

In addition to the possible effects on both corn and land prices, Eiler said that the expansion would lead to “at least five new Chickasaw County jobs” that would have combined wages of $386,000 per year.

Hackman asked Eiler if the county didn't move forward “is this project dead in the water?” “Probably not,” the CFO said. “It's a fair question.”

County Attorney David Laudner said as the board's representative, he was “apprehensive” about moving forward with the resolution on Monday.

“I guess to me, if this is the direction the board wants to go,” he said, “I would encourage the board to probably meet with Homeland, meet with [County Assessor] Ray [Armel], meet with whomever, meet with me and make sure we have all the t's crossed and the i's dotted, that we've negotiated these details ... perhaps who's going to pay for this stuff, a timeline for all this and then move forward.”

Hackman said he agreed and suggested that the county reach out to the county's TIF attorney, Jason Comiskey of Ahlers and Cooney, before supervisors move forward.

“I think it's a great project, and I appreciate it,” Hackman said. “I think you're a great asset to the county ... but I think it would be good for us to meet with Jason for his legal advice time.”

Eiler said she understood the supervisors' concerns and said Homeland is willing to work with the supervisors and continue negotiations.

While Hackman did most of the talking from the supervisors' side of the room, board member Matt Kuhn, who works for Homeland, said that he would abstain from any vote that involved Homeland, and supervisors said they would put the request back on a future agenda, possibly as soon as next week.

held in the church basement. Finally, the building that St. Boniface still calls home opened in 1936.

Twelve years later, the third tornado struck — blowing out all the windows in the church, heavily damaging the school building and leaving one student dead.

“Our church has been through so much,” said Jane McGrane, a lifetime member of St. Boniface and Ionia's de facto town historian, “but when you look at the people who came before us — our forefathers — they always hitched up their pants, went to work and made sure we had a church.”

And for years, a school, too.

McGrane is a proud graduate of St. Boniface High School; she was the valedictorian of the five-member strong Class of 1959, and she remembers growing up in a church and a school that was the center of many people's lives.

“Back in those days, we had two Masses — one at 8 and one at 10 — and there was no such thing as Saturday Mass,” she said. “I always remember that with my dad, we'd arrive in the nick of time, but if we were with Mom, we had to be there at least 15, 20 minutes early.”

She paused and laughed.

“I came from a divided family — one early, one hopefully on time.”

Much has changed since McGrane's childhood days. The school — and the Franciscan nuns who ran it — are long gone, and St. Boniface is now part of the Good Shepherd Cluster, which includes Holy Family Parish in New Hampton and Immaculate Conception in North Washington.

Today, Mass is celebrated every-other Saturday at 6 p.m., and during an “off-week,” parishoners can attend Mass either in North Washington or in New Hampton.

Sure, she misses the days when Masses were a Sunday ritual in Ionia, but McGrane, like some other St. Boniface members make the best of it.

“Cars are so good now and since we don't have a grocery store in Ionia, when we don't have Mass here on Saturdays, I go to the grocery store and then go to Mass [at Holy Family],” she said. “Times have changed. We used to have all these farms around here and, you know, I came from a family of five kids and that was small back in those days, so we don't have the people like we used to do.”

Letter to the Editor

Look past the ‘R’ and ‘D’ when you vote

I submitted a Letter to the Editor for the April 25, 2024 edition of the New Hampton Tribune. As early voting opens, I feel it is necessary to resubmit the most important message of that letter.

VOTE. It is your civic duty to vote during elections and if you want to see change in our community, it is critical that you vote. Please speak to the candidates that are seeking your vote and educate yourselves on their values and priorities for our community. As for the incumbents, please research how they have voted in their years in office. Actions speak louder than words, especially during an election.

I beg that you look past the “R” and “D” as this upcoming election is crucial for the future of our county and country.

Robert ‘Bob’ Joe Hanson, 80

Robert “Bob” Joe Hanson, age 80 of Fredericksburg, died Wednesday, Oct. 2, 2024, at his home.

Funeral service was held at 11 a.m. Saturday, Oct. 12, 2024, at Hugeback-Johnson Funeral Home & Crematory in New Hampton with Pastor Tracy Hinkel presiding.

Interment followed at Rose Hill Cemetery in Fredericksburg.

Friends greeted the family from 10 to 11 a.m. on Saturday, Oct. 12, 2024, at the funeral home.

Bob was born on May 4, 1944, in Fort Dodge; he was the son of Ralph and Bertha (O'Dell) Hanson. Raised on a farm near Tripoli, Bob developed a deep love for the land and a strong work ethic that would define his life.

Bob attended Tripoli schools, where he fostered his passion for helping others.

While working at Sara Lee in New Hampton, he met Sharon Retterath, the love of his life. The couple wed on Nov. 10, 1973, at St. Joseph Catholic Church in New Hampton. Together, they welcomed three children — Brenda, Sally, and Brian.

Throughout his career, Bob worked various jobs in the area and ultimately retired from ConAgra after 23 years.

However, his true passion lay in lending a helping hand. He found joy in visiting his daughter's acreage, where he meticulously mowed and maintained the property, always eager to assist with any project. Bob also cherished his time at his in-laws' farm, where he embraced his role as a hobby farmer.

Bob Hanson

A devoted grandpa, Bob loved nothing more than spending time with his grandchildren, engaging them in spirited games of Candyland, where the focus was on fun and speed. His playful spirit and kindness made him a beloved figure in their lives. An outdoor enthusiast, he enjoyed fishing and spending time in nature, further reflecting his appreciation for the simple joys in life.

Bob is survived by his wife, Sharon of Fredericksburg; three children, Brenda Hanson of Fredericksburg, Sally (Craig) Petersen of Sumner, and Brian Hanson of Fredericksburg; three grandchildren, Trevor Hanson, Megan Petersen and Wade Petersen; brothers-in-law, Charles Retterath and Ron (Teri) Retterath; sisters-in-law, Linda (Richard) Fagerness and Jennifer Retterath; and several nieces and nephews.

He was preceded in death by his parents; sister, Karen (Ray) Grabbe; brother-in-law, Gary Retterath; and foster brother, Jim Lohmann.

Billy Lynn Knapp, 74

Billy Lynn Knapp, age 74 of New Hampton and formerly of Colorado, died Sunday, Oct. 13, 2024, at Linn Haven Rehab & Healthcare in New Hampton.

No formal services will take place at this time.

Hugeback-Johnson Funeral Home & Crematory in New Hampton has been entrusted with arrangements.

Jeffrey James Wad, 74

Jeffrey James Wad, age 74 of Nashua, died Wednesday, Oct. 9, 2024, at his home.

Graveside service was held at 11 a.m. Monday, Oct. 14, 2024, at Greenwood Cemetery in Nashua.

Hugeback-Johnson Funeral Home and Crematory/Olson Chapel of Nashua was entrusted with arrangements.

Nancy Fisher, 77

Nancy Fisher, age 77 of Nashua, died Monday, Oct. 7, 2024, at Whispering Willow Assisted Living in Fredericksburg.

A graveside service took place at 1 p.m. on Thursday, Oct. 10, 2024, at Oak Hill Cemetery in Nashua, with the Rev. Todd Burrichter officiating.

Hugeback-Johnson Funeral Home and Crematory/Olson Chapel of Nashua was entrusted with arrangements.

Curbside compost pickup to begin Oct. 26

Saturday, Oct. 26 will be the first date for New Hampton residents to place compost out on the curb for pickup.

On that date, only compost will be allowed, while on Nov. 9 compost and brush may be disposed of.

All material must be out by 5 a.m. on collection days, with no barrels or bags over 50 pounds.

On the Nov. 9 date the brush will need to be less than two inches in diameter and less than four feet long.

Celebration of Life for
LOWELL NORTHRUP

FRIDAY, OCT. 25
1:00–3:00PM

AT KENNY'S TAVERN
4 E. MAIN ST., NEW HAMPTON

Lowell passed away on July 11, 2024. We want to remember the life he lived so well on what would have been his 68th birthday. Family and friends are invited to come and share their memories of Lowell!

Donald Francis Blocker, 93

Donald Francis Blocker, age 93 of New Hampton, died Friday, Oct. 11, 2024, at Kensington Place Assisted Living in New Hampton.

A private family service will be held at the Hugeback-Johnson Funeral Home & Crematory in New Hampton with the Rev. James Goerend presiding.

Interment will follow in St. Mary's Cemetery, New Hampton.

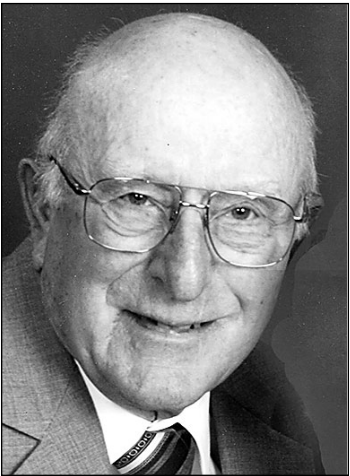

Hugeback-Johnson Funeral Home & Crematory has been entrusted with arrangements.

Donald Francis Blocker was born Nov. 29, 1930, in New Hampton, the son of Wilbur and Frances (Gebel) Blocker.

Don's early years were rooted in the nurturing soil of his hometown. He was a dedicated student and an enthusiastic athlete — graduating from New Hampton High School in 1949 where he distinguished himself as a proud member of the wrestling, football and baseball teams.

Donald's life was one of commitment and passion, qualities that were evident from his youth.

On July 10, 1954, he married his beloved Kathleen L. Theis at St. Boniface Catholic Church in Ionia. The couple's journey began in Elma before they settled on their farm north of New Hampton in 1957. The farm was more than just a home; it was a testament to Donald's dedication to the land and the life he built with Kathleen.

For 26 years, Donald balanced his love for farming with a career at Supersweet Feeds, where his analytical mind and wise decision-making contributed greatly to the company.

Even after his retirement in 1991, he continued to farm for another year before fully embracing his retirement in 1992. Donald's life was a reflection of his values — hard work, perseverance, and a connection to the earth that sustained him.

A "Man Of The Woods" in every sense, Donald found solace and joy in the embrace of the wilderness. Whether he was hunting deer, squirrels, or simply basking in the tranquility of the woods, he was in his element. His passion for the outdoors extended to pheasant hunting, an activity that brought him much satisfaction and peace. Over the years, Donald was the proud owner of many hunting dogs, including German shorthairs, Labradors, and a cherished dalmatian, each a loyal companion on his many adventures.

Donald's daily walks were more than just exercise; they were a ritual of quiet prayer and reflection. It was during these moments of solitude that he found the space to ponder life's mysteries and express his gratitude for the beauty that surrounded him. Those who knew Donald understood these walks to be the cornerstone of his spiritual practice, a time when he connected most deeply with his thoughts and the natural world.

Survivors include his son, Marty (Donna) Blocker of Henderson, Nebraska; daughter, Connie Jorgenson of Beatrice, Nebraska; four grandchildren, Jeramy (Erin) Blocker, Cody (Brooke) Blocker, Ray Stepan and Teri (Jeff) Link; and eight great-grandchildren.

He was preceded in death by his parents; his wife, Kathleen on Aug. 3, 2024; and sisters, Marilyn Johnson and Rita Mae Blocker in infancy.

New Hampton resident Paul Hassman shared a few remarks after the 105-year-old was presented with his "official" jacket by the FFA state officer's team during an open house for the New Hampton Community School's vocational and agriculture and industrial technology center. Hassman served as the state's FFA vice president in 1934-35, and was lauded for being a faithful FFA supporter throughout his life.

The Turkey Valley Athletic Boosters are sponsoring the first annual Hall of Fame induction at a game which is being billed as the "Battle of the Unbeaten's."

Bill Mulder of Fredericksburg, a long-time Turkey football coach and guidance counselor who led the Trojans to a Cedar-Wapsie Conference championship in 1968, will be the first to be inducted into the Hall of Fame.

The ceremony will take place at halftime of the game that features 7-0 Turkey Valley taking on 7-0 Easton Valley, and the winner will earn an automatic berth to the state playoffs.

Register for autumn ‘tablescapes’ class by Oct. 21

The Chickasaw County Extension Office will hold a workshop on designing visually stunning table settings for your autumn gatherings.

This workshop will provide practical tips on how to use items you already have, along with a few inexpensive additions, to create beautiful tablescapes without breaking the bank.

The workshop will take place on Thursday, Oct. 24, at 6:30 p.m. at the Chickasaw County Extension Office, located at 115 N Broadway, New Hampton.

The cost to attend is $5 per person. This event is suitable for beginners and all ages.

Participants will leave with the knowledge and inspiration to transform their tables into works of art.

To secure your spot, please register by Oct. 21 by visiting go.iastate.edu/HUEYBV.

New Hampton Women of Today have plenty to celebrate

The US Women of Today are celebrating their 40th year as an organization, having chartered in June 1985.

Among the 21 charter states was the Iowa Women of Today, with 29 chapters, including the New Hampton Women of Today.

Three years later, in 1988, the New Hampton WT “extended” to Nashua and the Nashua Women of Today chartered in Jan 1989. Women of Today is an organization dedicated to personal development, leadership training and community service

Over the past 40 years, the New Hampton and Nashua WT have continued to “make a difference” in their community, including hosting many fund-raisers for other community businesses and philanthropies, including breast cancer, Ronald McDonald House, local food banks and Special Olympics.

In addition, the New Hampton WT have also hosted several well-known, fun activities for the community, including the Spook Walk, Santa Store, Easter Egg Hunt, and “Egg Your House” event; while the Nashua WT have also hosted fun activities for their community, including the Water Over the Dam Days parade, Trunk or Treat, Santa Workshop and Easter Egg Hunt.

Over the past 40 years, members of both chapters have not only been active at the local level, but many have shared their time and talent at the state level, holding offices on the IAWT Board:

At least two of the current

New Hampton members have served as IAWT state presidents (Michele Thompson, 2008-09, 2014-15 and 2016-17; and Laura Bentley, 2021-2023.

In addition, two have also served at the national level as Laura Bentley has served as programming vice president twice, membership vice president and public relations director) while Dorie Halbfass has served as health and wellness program manager.

In January 1987, the US Women of Today Week was initiated, and the week-long celebration was held this year Sept. 22-28

the nation, including the New Hampton WT, celebrated themselves and their communities with various get-togethers and/or socials.

Why not take an active part in improving your community and yourself?

You need only be 18 years or older and interested in meeting new friends, working on your personal development, and/or giving back to your community.

For more information, please contact New Hampton WT President Tricia Saldana, tricias.nhwt@gmail.com or Nashua WT President Angie Dietz; mayorangie22@gmail.com.

Chickasaws' Glaser earns all-NEIC honors

New Hampton sophomore finishes 4th at final Northeast Iowa Conference meet

By KELLY TERPSTRA
sports@nhtrib.com

This was the end of the road for the Northeast Iowa Conference.

The last runner that crossed the finish line on Tuesday night in Decorah was part of history for the NEIC at the league's final cross country meet ever in its long and proud past.

All five schools in attendance will go down separate paths starting in the fall of 2025, so that means the league will be disbanded after summer sports is complete.

"It is kind of weird to think about. This is the last conference meet we're going to have all together," said New Hampton head coach Jamie Ohrt. "We did take a big group picture of all the five schools. It was kind of bitter-sweet."

NH sophomore Sophie Glaser went out an NEIC multiple award winner with back-to-back top-five finishes the past two seasons.

Glaser, who placed fifth at the 2023 league meet, one-upped herself with a fourth-place result at the challenging course on the campus of Luther College. Her all-conference time was 20:33.

"She ran really well. She was up in the front on that huge first hill that they come up on," said Ohrt. "She wanted to see what she could do against these other girls."

New Hampton senior Calyb Zeien ran a respectable 19:02, good for 20th place.

Ohrt was proud of her senior, who was one of five seniors running for New Hampton.

"This is the most relaxed I've seen him run in a long time," said Zeien.

Ohrt was also happy to see one of her girls runners continue to shine in junior Juanita Cardona – who has come a long way in the sport of cross country. She finished 26th in 24:55.

Zoey Dreckman, a senior, also made her presence felt at the league meet. Dreckman ran 23:16, which saw her cross the tape in the 22nd position. Connor Stumme, a sophomore, placed 21st in 19:16 and senior Xander Meyerhoff was 25th in 19:38.

Turkey Valley is the top serving team in the Upper Iowa for a 99.2 percent efficiency through 25 matches tabulated thus far on gobound.com. That figure would lead the state in all five classes if Steinlage had the requisite number of serve attempts to qualify in that category, at least as far as what's been updated on the state's gobound.com website as of Tuesday afternoon. The serving minimum requirement is 280 attempts to be considered in the individual volleyball rankings.

Steinlage also leads the Trojans in assists with 333 and aces with 32.

Trojan senior Alexis Elsbernd has caught fire in the serving department as she recorded eight aces in a match versus Waterloo Christian at the Oelwein Invite earlier this season. She sports a second-best tally on the team of 29 aces.

Turkey Valley leads the UIC in serving as a team with a 92.8 percent clip. North Fayette Valley, who is 7-0 on the season in conference play and finished the regular season at home versus Central Elkader on Tuesday, is second with a 92.4 percentage.

Vsetecka is tops in the league with 333 digs and senior middle Delaney Busta is the No. 1 blocker in the UIC with 35.

Bodensteiner is the leader in kills for the Trojans with 112 and Schuchhardt is second with 108.

TV FOOTBALL: FROM 15

need a win over the Wildcats, which could force a three-way tie to determine second and third-place in district play between those Wildcats and Kee High. The 17-point tiebreaker will determine two of the automatic qualifiers from TV's district. If TV does not snare one of those postseason spots, it still has a chance to claim one of two at-large berths 8-Man awards.

Eight-Man football in the state of Iowa accepts the top three squads in each of the 10 districts as playoff qualifiers, in addition to two at-large squads that round out the 32 teams that compete in the postseason.

The 17-point tiebreaker rule utilizes the plus and minus points of district games divided by the number of games played within the district. Seventeen points is the maximum number of positive or negative points that a team may receive.

TV (3-4, 3-2) won last year's Riceville game in a defensive slugfest, 14-8, to nab one of those two at-large bids a year ago.

Riceville is 6-1 overall and 4-1 in league play. Kee High is 5-2 overall and 4-2 in the district as the Hawks have already completed district competition and play at non-district foe Edgewood-Colesburg this Friday. Riceville defeated Kee, 65-44, back in September. Kee High defeated TV, 58-28, during the regular season.

The Don defense racked up seven tackles for loss and held TV to just 76 yards rushing on 27 carries.

Logan Busta, TV's junior signal caller, led the Trojans in rushing with 34 yards on 10 carries. Busta also threw for 61 yards. Five of his completions went to his favorite target – junior wideout J.D. Kruse. Kruse hauled in 30 receiving yards.

Kruse is the second-best receiver in terms of receiving yards (474) in the district and he's tied for third with eight TD receptions.

Busta has thrown for 647 yards to go along with eight TD's and four interceptions. Busta has also ran for 488 yards and scored seven times in the rush game.

Kaden Schmidt, a sophomore who was limited to 16 yards rushing last Friday, is TV's leading rushing with 559 yards. He's scored 10 touchdowns on the ground – which is fifth-best in the district.

Kruse (6.5 tackles) and sophomore Jordan Kriener (6 tackles) led the TV defense. Hugo Busta recovered a fumble in the contest as well.

Hunter Kruse, a junior who came up with five tackles on the interior line, talked about how setbacks can focus in on what the Trojans need to fix on both sides of the ball. That will not only be beneficial for TV the rest of 2024, but into 2025 also. TV has no seniors on its roster.

"A loss exposes what you don't do right and what you need to get better at," said Hunter Kruse. "Whether a win or loss, we still see things that we have to improve on. That's what's going to help us learn for this coming season and into next year as well."

New Hampton cross country coach: Seniors are ‘real deal’ temporary fix to a situation that got remedied this fall. In the 2020 COVID-season, New Hampton ran around a makeshift course at Airport Lake Park – just west of town for its end of the year “home meet.” “It means a lot, being able to be back at New Hampton – just with the home crowd and the support from everyone celebrating Senior Night after six years of running,” said Dreckman about running on the NHGCC.

NH XC: FROM 16

Just exactly how much better was it running on New Hampton’s home golf course, as opposed to over at the airport?

“This is 10 times better,” said Dreckman, who stated several of her teammates will remain lifelong friends throughout her journey in life.

Xander Meyerhoff, another NH senior, seconded Dreckman’s take on the move to the “Club” – which was blessed with almost pristine spectator weather with a temp in the low 80s, a clear blue sky and sunshine. The mercury might have been a little too warm for this time of year for runners, but it didn’t matter for these Chickasaws. They just pushed on through toward the finish line, feeding off the crowd that surrounded them near the tape.

“It’s pretty cool to be back in our hometown and community and have everybody show up to support each other. That’s pretty special,” said Meyerhoff.

Dreckman was the team manager as a freshman after a knee injury prevented her from running in 2021. She ran in the 30s earlier in her high school running career. She notched a career PR this season of 23:36 at Jesup earlier this year. That’s a testament to Ohrt’s program as well as Dreckman’s ability to want to improve and get better.

“It’s just the growth that I’ve seen in myself,” said Dreckman about what really makes her proud of her accomplishments, her voice cracking with emotion and sincerity.

In another emotional moment, NH junior Andi Gebel – the team’s manager – honored Xander Meyerhoff with the program’s first ever “Impact Award” at the conclusion of the meet.

“That was all her idea. It was pretty cool,” said Ohrt. “She approached me about it and I’m like, absolutely.”

As far as placings and top finishers – the New Hampton boys finished fourth with 119 points and the Chickasaw girls also wound up fourth in the team standings with 110 points.

New Hampton sophomore Sophie Glaser notched a top-10 finish with a sixth-place showing in 20:56.

The Chickasaws took up four spots in a row – 29th thru 32nd – and those times were mustered by Ella Knutson (23:52), Lauren Nuss (23:54), Juanita Cardona (23:59) and Dreckman (24:00).

Chickasaw senior Calyb Zein crossed the tape in the 20th position (19:19). Meyerhoff was 23rd in 19:31, followed by Colin Shatek in 25th place (19:46). Easton Monteith was 27th in 19:55 and Connor Stumme was 29th in 20:13.

“Time-wise, I think everybody did great for not knowing the course. We didn’t even get to come out here before today,” said Meyerhoff. “Today was our first look at it and everybody did good for just running it on the spot.”

Meyerhoff went out for cross country for two weeks as a freshman. He decided not to run the rest of that year in 2021 but rejoined the team the following year. He listed what some of his most memorable moments were – with obviously a few more left to cherish before he hangs up his Chickasaw XC jersey.

“Every practice, every bus ride, every team meal – everybody smiling and having a good time,” said Meyerhoff.

The Chickasaws’ five seniors are Dreckman, Meyerhoff, Nuss, Zeien and Natalie Nosbisch, who ran as a sophomore on the 2022 NH eighth-place girls team at state alongside Knutson and teammate Tegan Dungey.

Ohrt wanted to echo the team aspect – as told by NBA Hall of Fame coach Phil Jackson. It seems to suit the Chickasaws’ mentality just fine and lot of her runners have adopted the mantra.

“Good teams become great teams when the members trust each other enough to surrender the “me” for “we,” said Jackson, winner of 11 NBA titles with the Chicago Bulls and Los Angeles Lakers.

It’s not always about winning, but perhaps these Chickasaws personified something even greater – the ability to get along and be better because of it.

“They’re the real deal, this group of seniors,” said Ohrt. “I just want to thank them for their leadership. Cross country’s tough. It’s a mentally taxing sport and if you’re not all in, it’s really hard. In the beginning of the season I asked them if they were all in and they were. If you know these seniors well enough, I couldn’t have done this season without them. They’re amazing.”

Chickasaws open regional tourney against familiar foe

the key for us – the thing we’ve been emphasizing – is that we have to play with more grit. We’ve been there in a couple of those matches but our girls have to believe they can beat those ranked teams.”

Saturday’s NEIC will be the final conference tournament the Chickasaws will play for a while, for the Upper Iowa Conference, which New Hampton will head to in 2025, does not play an end-of-the-season league tourney.

“I’d hope we’d come out ready to play, but honestly, conference tournaments aren’t that important to girls anymore,” Geerts said. “I’m not sure what the deal is, but it’s a chance for us to get a title and that should mean something.”

New Hampton finished second behind Charles City in the regular season, but the Chickasaws’ coach knows her team must bring its “A game” to Cresco. New Hampton swept just one conference foe, Waukon, this year. It beat both Decorah and Crestwood in four sets. The Chickasaws’ lone loss in the NEIC came in a four-set match with Charles City, a team it beat in a non-conference match during the first week of the season.

“I think I look at it as creating some momentum for the regional,” Geerts said.

And that regional tournament begins with the home match on Tuesday against the Cadets.

“It’s funny because it feels like we’re on a rotating basis with our first-round match-up,” Geerts said. “It’s either Crestwood, Waukon or North Fayette Valley. It’s just the way it is up here. One of those, we’re going to play so we’ve turned around and played a conference team right away a lot so I don’t think too much about having to do that this year.”

New Hampton has been led by a pair of seniors – Braelyn Rosonke and Taylor Ries – for much of the season. Rosonke leads the Chickasaws with 203 kills while freshman Aleigha Cahoy has 174 and a team-leading 208 digs, just ahead of Ries’ 201.

But then again, once New Hampton finishes its NEIC tournament, everything reverts to zero.

“I just want our girls to play their best volleyball of the season next week,” Geerts said. “That’s when it really matters and we’ve played enough really good teams that we should be ready for top-notch competition.”

Playoffs on the line for Chickasaws Friday night

NH FOOTBALL: FROM 16

Sure, the loss stung; after all, New Hampton was a two-point conversion away from taking the lead with less than three minutes to go, but the ultimate goal – making the playoffs – remains attainable.

Beat Waukon this Friday night, and the Chickasaws are bound for the postseason, and New Hampton senior Adam Ewert, fresh off his best offensive game of the season, believes the Chickasaws set the table for Friday night’s showdown.

“It’s been a struggle this whole year,” he said. “We got so many new guys, young guys that we’ve had to hang in there a lot, you know? But tonight, I feel like, got everyone energized to play next week at Waukon.”

New Hampton couldn’t have gotten off to a better start against Crestwood, that’s for sure. The Cadets fumbled the opening kickoff and Ryan Willadsen came up with the recovery. Three plays later, Beau Serie scored on an 8-yard run and New Hampton had a 7-0 lead 68 seconds into the game.

Crestwood, though, stormed back and scored three straight touchdowns to take a 21-7 lead early in the second quarter, but New Hampton didn’t fold.

Instead, the Chickasaws made it a one-possession game when quarterback Reid Rausch found Ewert for a 37-yard touchdown pass with five minutes left in the second quarter to convert a fourth-and-22 play. “We called a flood pattern to the left side, and he was playing me outside, so I released inside, I stacked back on top of him and I was able to make a heck of a catch. I kind of caught it on the back of the Cresco kids’ helmet.”

And while New Hampton’s defense struggled to contain the Cadets’ potent run game, especially early, it got better as the game went on, and heading into the fourth quarter, New Hampton felt like it was a turn-over away.

The Chickasaws got it, recovering a loose ball at the Cadets’ 32-yard line, and two plays later, Rausch hit Ewert with a perfect pass for a 26-yard touchdown, and Jay Pickar’s extra point knotted the game at 21.

Crestwood had an answer; on its first play from scrimmage after the ensuing kickoff, quarterback Aidan Skoda, the best running quarterback in the district, broke through a hole and raced 75 yards for a touchdown to put the Cadets back on top.

“Here’s the thing, though, no one hung their heads,” Pemble said. “They had that we-can-do-this look in their eyes. That’s the resiliency I’m talking about.”

Once again, it was Rausch-to-Ewert as the two seniors hooked up on a beautiful 46-yard touchdown pass that brought New Hampton to within one, 28-27, with 2:49 remaining, and when Crestwood was called for “roughing the center” on the extra-point kick, Pemble rolled the dice.

“You get the ball at the 1 1/2-yard line, you got to go for the lead. No doubt in my mind about that call.”

Alas, New Hampton’s Tate Schwickerath couldn’t quite haul in Rausch’s two-point pass, and Crestwood was able to run out the clock and escape New Hampton with a victory.

Pemble, though, said he saw more than enough against Crestwood to know that the process, although painful at times, is working.

Yes, New Hampton fell to 1-6 overall and 1-3 in district play, but up and down the lineup, the Chickasaws turned in their best game of the season.

Serie finished with 113 yards on 28 carries, despite not playing in the fourth quarter because of a hip injury. Ewert caught nine passes for 151 yards; Schwickerath had eight catches. Rausch was 17-for-25 for 193 yards.

“Today he showed up for sure,” Ewert said of New Hampton’s quarterback. “He was putting it on the money all night.”

And while New Hampton felt it could go “deep” on Crestwood heading into the game, it could only do so if its young offensive line could give Rausch time. And it did.

“That’s what people might not think about,” Pemble said. “We were able to throw the deep ball because our line did its job and gave us the time to let those plays develop.”

Defensively, New Hampton was led by Emmett Kuehner’s 10 tackles. Jackson Kellogg added 7.5 stops and Dylan Maloy had six.

“Yeah, we gave up some yards but man, our physicality was really good again,” Pemble said. “These guys are growing up, no doubt about it.”

And now comes what in reality is a playoff game. Both Waukon and New Hampton have one district win, and the winner of Friday night’s game will get the district’s fourth and final playoff spot.

“Everything’s on the line, which is the way you want it to be,” Pemble said. “You have an opportunity to go to the playoffs and that’s the goal, right?”

“I’ll say this, too: We talked before the season started about with all our inexperience and youth, we could improve a lot and these guys have come so far. Now we have to take the next big step.”

October IS PORK MONTH

Metro Creative Connection

Pork is a versatile meat with plenty of flavor and nutrition. It can be worked into weekly meal plans in many different ways.

'Moove' over beef; get on board with pork

Culinary options multiply when individuals and families are open to trying different foods and recipes.

There are many protein sources individuals can consider, and pork ranks highly among them. Pork is consumed worldwide and can and should be part of a healthy diet.

According to WebMD, ground, cooked pork comes in at roughly 297 calories for a 3.4-ounce serving.

One such serving of pork offers 25.7 grams of protein and is richer in thiamine than other red meats like beef and lamb. Thiamine is a B vitamin that is vital to a range of bodily needs. Selenium found in pork is essential for thyroid function.

Pork is considered a "red" meat. Don't let pork's lighter coloring fool you into thinking it is closer to poultry products.

Despite that classification, today's pork has about 16 percent less fat and 27 percent less saturated fat compared to the pork of 30 years ago, according to the National Pork Board.

In addition, thanks to changes in feeding practices and quality control, pig-borne trichinosis, which was once behind the well-done cooking recommendations regarding pork, has dropped to relatively nil.

That means diners may be able to enjoy pork at slightly pinker temperatures than once believed.

However, an internal temperature of at least 145 F for whole pork and 160 F for ground pork is recommended, according to Healthline.

Pork is quite versatile, as evidenced by its availability in many different forms. It's amazing to think that breakfast bacon and pulled pork enjoyed at dinner is from the same animal. Pork also shines in lunch meats and specialty cured products like salami and prosciutto. In fact, a typical charcuterie board features a variety of pork products.

With that in mind, when curating food options for your own charcuterie platter, consider these ideal pork and cheese pairings that will delight guests, courtesy of the National Pork Board.

- Prosciutto with parmesan
- Aged country ham with sharp cheddar
- Salami with gouda
- Pepperoni with aged goat's milk
- Guanciale with asiago
- Pâté with gruyere
- Mortadella with Swiss
- Pork rinds with queso fresco

Chopped bacon in cream cheese or neuf-châtel also can make a tasty spread for charcuterie crackers or crostini.

Iowa Pork Facts

On the Farm

- Iowa is the No. 1 pork-producing state in the U.S., and the top state for pork exports.*
- Nearly one-third of the nation's hogs are raised in Iowa.
- Iowa has more than 5,400 pig farms.
- There are pig farmers in every Iowa county. The top five Iowa counties for pig production are Washington, Sioux, Lyon, Hamilton and Plymouth.
- Iowa producers marketed almost 48 million hogs in 2018.
- At any one time, there are approximately 24 million pigs being raised in Iowa.

The Economic Contribution

- As of 2019, 147,105 jobs were associated with the Iowa pork industry.*
- One in nearly 10 working Iowans has a job tied to the pork industry.*
- Exports of pork from Iowa totaled more than $2.1 billion in 2018.
- In 2019, Japan, Mexico, China, Canada, and South Korea were the leading value export markets for Iowa pork. The largest export markets by volume were Mexico, China, Japan, Canada and South Korea.*
- Hog production contributed $13.1 billion to the state economy in 2015.*
- The pork industry contributed $40.8 billion in sales in 2019.*

- Pork slaughtering and processing facilities generated 66% of the sales, hog production generates 34% of sales.*
- From wean to 270 lbs., a pig eats approximately 12 bu. of corn and 2.5 bu. of soybeans.
- During the year, Iowa pigs will eat corn from 22% of Iowa corn acres and 23% of Iowa soybean acres.

The Sustainability Side of Pork

- Livestock production in Iowa supplies about 25% of Iowa's cropland fertilizer needs.
- Pork sustainability keeps improving. When compared to 1960, the use of natural resources per pound of pork produced has been reduced significantly. Nearly 76% less land is used, 25% less water, and 7% less energy. In all, that shrinks the carbon footprint by nearly 8%

Pork producers throughout the state contribute to Pork in the Pantry

Pork producers across Iowa — including members of the Chickasaw County Pork Producers — donated more than $43,000 worth of pork to local food pantries during the past few months.

It was done in conjunction with the Pork in the Pantry program, organized by the Iowa Pork Producers Association (IPPA).

Its second year, Pork in the Pantry provided up to $1,000 to each of the 38 county pork producer organizations that participated. Counties are responsible for purchasing the pork and donating it, and IPPA reimburses them.

"Food insecurity remains a major issue in Iowa, and these donations to local food pantries will help," said IPPA President Matt Gent. "Pork producers care a lot about their communities, and this is one of the many ways we show it."

Food pantries are frequently short of meat products, officials say, and these pork donations will provide an estimated 55,000 servings of protein for Iowans facing food insecurity.

"Hunger is rising in Iowa," said Linda Gorkow, executive director of the Iowa Food Bank Association. "Pork in the Pantry is an incredible opportunity to ensure greatly needed protein is provided to families, individuals and seniors who don't have enough food to eat."

"Protein is one of the highest-requested items at food banks and pantries across the state," she added, "so every ounce of the pork donated will make an incredible impact."

In addition, many county groups purchased the pork from local businesses to keep those dollars within their communities.

"What a tremendous opportunity for pork producers to help support needs throughout the state of Iowa," said Gregg Hora, president of the Webster County Pork Producers, who participated in Pork in the Pantry for the second time. The group donated to five different organizations in the county, including four in Fort Dodge and one in Gowrie.

"The needs — not only in Webster County, but in rural Iowa — are there," Hora said. "You look at the rising cost of food in a lot of different areas. Pork is still a high-quality product at a very reasonable price in the stores."

"The sense that we have families out here or kids out here who don't get enough quality protein is real, and by providing this pork loin product, that's just one way to help from a nutritional aspect."

Last year's Pork in the Pantry resulted in more than $40,000 worth of pork being donated to local food pantries throughout the state and a similar drive will be held this coming spring as well.

The county pork producer organizations that participated in Pork in the Pantry in 2024 included Adair, Clayton, O'Brien, Adams, Delaware, Page, Allamakee, Greene, Palo Alto, Benton, Grundy, Plymouth, Black Hawk, Hamilton, Pocahontas, Boone, Hardin, Ringgold, Bremer, Henry, Sac, Buchanan, Ida Sioux, Buena Vista, Jefferson, Story, Calhoun, Jones, Taylor, Cherokee, Kossuth, Washington, Chickasaw, Madison, Webster, Clay and Marshall.

Anyone up for a trip to Muscatine?

Texas-style barbecue restaurant wins contest for best pulled pork in state of Iowa

A Texas-style barbecue restaurant in Muscatine is where you'll find the best pulled pork in Iowa, according to barbecue aficionados in a social media contest sponsored by the Iowa Pork Producers Association (IPPA) this past spring.

Voting ended this morning for one of the closest final matches in the seven-year history of Pulled Pork Madness, with Skinny's Barbeque holding off Barrel Smoke BBQ of Templeton to claim the top prize.

The bracket-style competition started with 16 Iowa restaurants and followed a narrowing process similar to the men's and women's NCAA Tournament. Each round, IPPA asked the public to vote for their favorite to determine which contenders advanced.

For his pulled pork, Skinny's Barbeque owner Cord Kleist uses pork butts coated in mustard with a mix of salt and thick-cut pepper to grow a bark, the flavorful black crust that forms on the outside of the meat as it cooks over oak wood. He only recently began adding a special blend of seasonings.

Kleist slow cooks the pork for 14 to 15 hours over low heat on a gas-powered rotisserie smoker, wrapping the meat for the last couple of hours to seal in moisture and juices.

The sandwiches come on a toasted brioche bun, with house-made pickles and onions served on the side. Kleist offers three kinds of barbecue sauce — sweet, spicy, or a mustard-based blend inspired by Cattlemen's Carolina Tangy Gold.

Pulled pork sandwiches start at $9 and include one side, such as creamed corn, cornbread, sidewinder fries, or potato salad.

Among other sandwich options are the Grilled Mac Daddy, which piles macaroni and cheese, pork, white cheddar, and smoked gouda on sourdough bread; the Noname Big Boy with pork and brisket topped with a split armadillo egg and cheese sauce; and The Sammitch featuring pork, brisket, and cheese sauce.

Skinny's Barbeque goes through 250

A 29-year-old restaurant owner in Muscatine came up with the perfect recipe to nab the 2024 title as the best pulled pork sandwich in Iowa.

to 350 pounds of pork each week. The pulled pork tops everything from nachos to tacos. Diners can buy it by the pound, as well.

The starting Pulled Pork Madness bracket was based on public nominations submitted during the winter months, and IPPA received about 850 nominations representing nearly 70 Iowa restaurants. The two restaurants with the most votes in each of IPPA's eight districts made up the initial lineup.

Kleist, 29, opened Skinny's Barbeque in September 2019. The Muscatine native got started cooking meat on a Traeger grill his parents gave him for his 21st birthday, and he became inspired by Texas techniques after visiting a friend in Austin. He previously worked at his family's restaurant and sports bar, Boonie's on the Avenue in downtown Muscatine. Skinny's is located about two blocks away, along the Mississippi River.

Winning the title "brings a tear to my eye," says Kleist, who will receive $250 and a Pulled Pork Madness plaque. "It's crazy to see how far we've come and adapted and changed."

Previous winners include The Flying Elbow, Marshalltown (2023); Starbeck's Smokehouse, which has since relocated to Waterloo (2022); Smokin' Butt Barbeque, Davenport (2021); Whatcha Smokin? BBQ + Brew, Luther (2020); Warehouse Barbecue Co. + Brewhouse, Ottumwa (2019); and the now-closed Moo's BBQ, Newton (2018).

Nearly one-third of the nation's hogs are raised in Iowa and Iowa has more than 5400 pig farms.

- 4 tomato slices

Directions

Combine all burger sauce ingredients in a small bowl. Refrigerate until ready to serve.

Divide the pork into 4 portions and gently shape each into a patty. Season both sides of the patties with salt.

Heat grill to medium-high heat. Grill the burgers until the center registers 160 F and remove from the grill.

Build the burgers in this order: bottom bun, lettuce, burger patty, slice of cheese, two bacon slices, burger sauce, slice of tomato and the top bun.

Enjoy warm!

Tips for tender, juicy pork burgers

Salt the patties after they're formed (don't mix salt into the meat as it'll bind the proteins, making a tough, less juicy burger)

Don't overwork the ground pork; handle gently for tender burgers.

Press a thumb into the center of the patty for even cooking (this will make it less likely to puff up in the middle and cook unevenly)

Use a thermometer and cook until the pork is just 160 F. Overcooking will dry the burgers out.

Other notes

Burgers can be cooked on the grill, flat-top or in a skillet.

Choose whatever toppings you'd like!

Bacon Cheese Log

- 1 c cooked and crumbled bacon
- 1/2 c dried cranberries and/or cherries
- 1/2 c chopped pecans
- 1/4 c fresh parsley, chopped
- One 8 oz pkg cream cheese, softened
- 1 c shredded cheddar cheese
- 1/2 tsp onion powder

- Honey and crackers, for serving

Directions

In a small bowl, combine the bacon, dried fruit, pecans and parsley; set aside.

In a large bowl, combine the cream cheese, cheddar cheese and onion powder. Then stir in half of the bacon mixture (save the rest for later).

Lay a sheet of plastic wrap on the counter and dump the cheese mixture over the wrap. Roll into a log, tighten the ends and refrigerate for 30 minutes.

Dump the remaining bacon mixture onto a plate.

Unwrap the cheese log and roll it in the bacon mixture, pressing it in to stick.

Place the Bacon Cheese Log on a serving platter, drizzle with honey and serve with crackers.

One Pot Ground Pork Stroganoff

- 1/4 cup butter
- 8 ounces mushrooms, sliced
- 1 cup sliced yellow onion
- 1 pound ground pork
- 2 teaspoons minced garlic
- 3 tablespoons flour
- 1/3 cup dry white wine
- 3 1/2 cups beef broth
- 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1/2 teaspoon black pepper
- 8 ounces egg noodles
- 3/4 cup sour cream
- Fresh parsley for garnish, optional

Directions

Melt butter in a large skillet over medium-high heat.

Add the sliced mushrooms and onions; cook for 3 to 4 minutes, stirring occasionally, until the onions are tender. Move the mushrooms and onions to one side of the skillet.

To the other side of the skillet add the ground pork and minced garlic.

Brown the ground pork until completely cooked then stir it all together.

Sprinkle the flour into the skillet and stir; let cook for 1 minute.

Add the wine, broth, Worcestershire sauce, black pepper and egg noodles.

Bring mixture to a boil, and let cook for 10 to 12 minutes, stirring occasionally until the pasta is soft.

Remove from the heat and stir in the sour cream.

Add salt and pepper to taste, and sprinkle fresh parsley on top for garnish. Serve warm.

Pork Porterhouse Chops

- 4 thick cut "Iowa" Porterhouse Pork Chops (1 1/4" thickness)
- 2 teaspoons seasoned salt
- 1 teaspoon ground black pepper
- 4 cloves garlic, finely minced
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 6 tablespoons butter, melted

- 2 teaspoons fresh parsley, chopped
- 1 teaspoon fresh thyme leaves
- 1/2 teaspoon fresh rosemary, finely minced
- 1/4 teaspoon red pepper flakes

Directions

Preheat grill to high heat.

In a small mixing bowl combine minced garlic and salt, smash together until a paste is formed. Add melted butter, parsley, thyme, rosemary and red pepper flakes. Mix well. Set aside.

When grill temperature reaches 450 to 500 F, sear pork chops for 2 minutes on each side. Once seared, reduce heat to medium high. Brush garlic herb butter mixture onto pork chops, flipping one additional time to coat both sides. Continue to grill for 10 to 15 minutes until chops register 145 F in the thickest part when tested with a digital instant read thermometer. Pour any remaining garlic herb butter into a glass dish, place cooked pork chops on top to rest for 5 minutes. Serve immediately.

BBQ Pork Tater Tot Casserole

- 1 lb ground pork
- 1/2 c BBQ sauce (I used Sweet Baby Rays)
- 1-15.25 oz can corn, drained
- 1 c shredded cheddar cheese
- 3 c frozen tater tots
- Extra BBQ Sauce & Parsley, optional garnish

Directions

Brown the ground pork; drain.

Stir in the BBQ sauce & put into a pie plate.

Layer the corn over the meat, then the cheese.

Arrange the tater tots over the cheese.

Bake at 400 F for 35 minutes or until the tater tots are golden brown.

Five finalists in the running for Iowa's Best Breaded Pork Tenderloin

The annual competition for the title of Iowa's Best Breaded Pork Tenderloin has been whittled down from 40 restaurants to just five finalists across the state, showcasing the best of Iowa's beloved, hand-breaded delicacy!

The top five restaurants still in the running for the coveted title this year, listed alphabetically, are:

- Bronson Bar - Bronson
- Dairy Sweet - Dunlap
- Ruby's Pub and Grill - Stuart
- The Blind Pig - Monticello
- The Market at the Tap - Monticello

"There were 532 restaurants nominated for our 22nd annual contest, which goes to show that Iowans love their breaded pork tenderloins," said Kelsey Sutter, marketing and programs director for IPPA. "Over the years, I've seen firsthand that Iowa has no shortage of these hand-breaded favorites."

To win the "Iowa's Best Breaded Tenderloin" title, a restaurant must offer the sandwich on their menu year-round.

Seasonal eateries, caterers, concession stands, and food trucks are not eligible. While the style of tenderloin can vary, the pork must be hand-breaded or battered to qualify!

This summer, judging commenced for the top 40 restaurants, selected from public nominations. The list featured the five restaurants with the most nominations in each of IPPA's eight districts, ensuring statewide representation.

IPPA members and industry affiliates visited these locations anonymously, evaluating the tenderloins on pork taste, quality, physical characteristics, and presentation. After reviewing all 40 evaluations, IPPA's Restaurant and Foodservice Committee chose five finalists to move on to the next round.

A panel of three judges was then appointed to visit each finalist and determine the first and second place winners.

The winning restaurant and runner-up will be announced later this month, during a month-long celebration of pork called Porktober, or National Pork Month.

The runner-up will receive $250 and a plaque from IPPA, while the winning restaurant will receive $500, a plaque, a banner, and statewide publicity — which has been known to send pork tenderloin sales hog wild!

Winners from the past five years:

- 2023 — Cliff's Place, Manning
- 2022 — Lid's Bar & Grill, Waukon
- 2021 — Victoria Station, Harlan
- 2020 — PrairieMoon On Main, Prairieburg
- 2019 — The Pub at the Pinicon, New Hampton (we all know this was the best one, right?)

Chickasaw Co. Pork Producers

A unique Iowa Pork Producers campaign — one that has made national news, has taken on some extra "Bacon" this year with the addition of Logan Bacon to the Iowa State football team.

Unique campaign adds another helping of 'Bacon'

Iowa State freshman walk-on Logan Bacon earned a spot in the 'Purchase Moore Hamann Bacon' promotion with his impressive tryout for the viral campaign with the Iowa Pork Producers Association.

Bacon, the younger brother of Cyclone junior linebacker and original 'Purchase Moore Hamann Bacon' roster member Caleb Bacon, was the final student-athlete to try out for the promotion.

The Lake Mills native showed up with a wheelbarrow full of bacon, and wisely declared, "Because, you can never have too much bacon!" The judges quickly agreed.

Additionally, Tommy Hamann made a surprise return to give his stamp of approval. Due to the addition of Logan Bacon, the "Purchase Moore Hamann Bacon" campaign will henceforth be known as "Purchase Moore Bacon Hamann Bacon."

The obvious goal is to encourage everyone to purchase bacon, ham and other delicious pork products.

Logan Bacon joins Myles Purchase, Tyler Moore, Tommy Hamann, Caleb

Bacon, Alec Cook and Zach Lovett in the promotion that launched last September and quickly went viral across social media, earned national media attention, and was named the Best NIL Deal of 2023 by the Sports Business Journal.

Logan Bacon was one of 19 Iowa State student-athletes to appear in the tryout videos. Like his older brother Caleb, Bacon joined the Iowa State football roster as a preferred walk-on. Caleb emerged as one of the team's best defensive players last year and earned a full scholarship from Iowa State University at the end of last season. Logan Bacon hopes to follow in his brother's footsteps, in multiple ways.

"It's definitely a blessing to be able to get this opportunity right away," Logan Bacon said. "I haven't really done much yet, I just have a cool last name, and it's been a lot of fun so far. The people at Iowa State have been great. All the coaches, the staff, the players, everyone takes you in with open arms, so I'm really blessed to be part of it."

The Iowa State football team started this season 6-0 and they are currently ranked 11th in the nation.

"It's really cool having Logan join this effort, especially with him having essentially the same start that I had as a preferred walk-on coming into the Iowa State program," Caleb Bacon said. "I look forward to seeing him progress and hopefully have a lot of success."

The Iowa Pork Producers Association is donating $1,000 worth of pork to every video tryout participant's food pantry of choice. The Bacon brothers both chose the Lake Mills Food Shelf in Lake Mills, Iowa. That $2,000 worth of pork equals approximately 2,700 servings of protein to fight food insecurity in their hometown.

"It's huge, especially for a little town like we're from," Caleb Bacon said. "All that pork is important to them. That will help feed families in our town that need some help. It's just really rewarding to be able to give back to the community that we started from and we're really glad the Iowa Pork Producers can do that for them."

October is National Pork Month, aka 'Porktober'. The 'Purchase Moore Bacon Hamann Bacon' initiative is a key component of Porktober in Iowa. Hy-Vee grocery stores are promoting the campaign to encourage consumers to buy more pork products.

In-store displays featuring the Cyclone players went up in 200 Hy-Vee stores across the Midwest.

Hy-Vee will give away free bacon for a year to 20 recipients and Blackstone Griddles to 10 recipients in conjunction with the promotion. To qualify, consumers simply need to purchase pork at any of the 200 participating Hy-Vee stores between now and Oct. 31.

All the 'Purchase Moore Hamann Bacon' videos can be found on the Iowa Pork Producers Association's Facebook, Instagram, X, and YouTube channels.

Trojans finish third in UIC, will open postseason at home

Turkey Valley to host Kee High on Monday

By KELLY TERPSTRA
sports@nhtrib.com

A lot has transpired for the Turkey Valley Trojan volleyball team in the past week or so.

First off, the Trojans and co-head coaches Ashley Walz and Tammy Vrzak helped guide their Trojans to a third-place finish in the Upper Iowa Conference standings after finishing off the league portion of their slate with a three-set sweep over West Central and a win in four at MFL MarMac.

This is the second year in a row that the Trojans have gone 6-2 in league play and finished third in the league standings.

Secondly, and perhaps more importantly, TV (13-13, 6-2) found out who its post-season opponent will be after the Iowa Girls High School Athletic Union (IGHSAU) released its regional pairings for the small-school classes last week.

That Class 1A, Region 3 matchup will feature the Trojans taking on Kee High (1-24) at home in Jackson Junction on Monday, Oct. 21. The winner takes on Nashua-Plainfield (9-11) versus Northwood-Kensett (0-18) on Wednesday, Oct. 23 in Nashua.

The Trojans won in three games over West Central on Tuesday, Oct. 8 by scores of 25-7, 25-8 and 25-12. TV had to go four games to outlast the Bulldogs of MFL – 20-25, 25-22, 25-20 and 26-24.

Vrzak had this to say about the West Central match, which took place in Maynard.

“The girls came to play ball. They gelled on the court and came up with three-straight wins!” said Vrzak.

TV played in the Riceville Invite this past Saturday, but those match results and stats were not available as the Tribune went to press.

and junior Annika Bodensteiner each tabulated nine kills apiece in the West Central match. Trojan junior setter Addison Steinlage dished out 26 assists and senior libero Morgan Vsetecka came up with 16 digs. Karstyn Lukes, another junior for the Trojans, notched 10 digs.

TV was 70-73 serving against the 6-18 Blue Devils. Steinlage was 15-15 serving and continued her mastery in the serving department. She is 264-266 serving this fall, good

Turkey Valley gears up for UIC meet with South Winn Invite

By KELLY TERPSTRA
sports@nhtrib.com

The Turkey Valley harriers got in one last meet before the postseason starts when the Trojans ran over in Calmar at the South Winneshiek Invite on Tuesday of last week.

Hazel Nieman, a sophomore, shattered her career personal best with a time of 21:58 to place 18th overall. Her previous lifetime best of 22:29 came at last year's conference meet.

Her previous season-best time this fall was 22:44, which took place at the All-American meet at Luther College in Decorah.

Turkey Valley freshman Madalyn Vsetecka ran to a clip of 25:02 to finish in 73rd place.

Avery Franzen, a sophomore, crossed the finish line in a season-best time of 21:23 to claim the 98th-place slot on the boys side.

His career best also came at that 2023 Upper Iowa Conference meet that was held at Silver Springs Golf Course in Ossian. Franzen's time was 21:04 and that's a time he'll look to improve on this week.

TV sophomore Bella Stika started the race at South Winn, but did not finish.

The Trojans run in the Upper Iowa Conference meet this afternoon (Thursday) in Elkader. The league get-together is hosted by Central Elkader.

As of Tuesday afternoon, the Iowa High School Athletic Association and the Iowa Girls High School Athletic Union had not released the assignments for the Class 1A state qualifying meets that will be held a week from today on Thursday, Oct. 24.

The likely spots the Trojans could compete at would be at Manly, North Linn, Iowa City Regina or South Hamilton.

Turkey Valley ran at Manly last year, a qualifier hosted by Central Springs.

Chickasaws fall in a barnburner

New Hampton comes up short in best game of season but can secure a playoff berth with win over Waukon

By BOB FENSKE
editor@nhtrib.com

Ask Chad Pemble to describe his New Hampton football team in one word, and the answer comes quickly. Resilient.

And that resiliency was on full display Friday night when the Chickasaws took another giant leap forward even if the end result was a 28-27 loss to Crestwood in a highly entertaining and competitive Class 2A, District 3 game.

"I'm proud of our guys because they've just been so dang resilient the whole year," Pemble said. "Tonight, they showed just how far they've come this season. That was a heck of a high school football game, and our kids, I think, played the most complete four quarters of the year. There were just a lot of things to hang our hats on — our effort, our execution, our willingness to play for each other."

Rested New Hampton heads to quad, NEIC and regional tourney

Chickasaws will open 3A postseason with home match against Crestwood on Tuesday

By BOB FENSKE
editor@nhtrib.com

New Hampton volleyball coach Jess Geerts will be the first to admit that she's not a huge fan of the "breaks" in her team's schedule, but then again, at least the Chickasaws should be well rested as they enter the most important stretch of the season.

New Hampton's nine-day break from competition ends tonight (Thursday) when it travels to Wapsie Valley for a quadrangular that also includes Dike-New Hartford and Sumner-Fredericksburg.

The quad kicks off what Geerts and the Chickasaws hope will be a busy and productive eight days as New Hampton plays at the Northeast Iowa Conference tournament on Saturday, opens the Class 3A regional tournament with a home date with Crestwood on Tuesday and hopefully a regional semifinal match with third-ranked West Delaware in Manchester a week from tonight.

"I don't think any coach, especially at this point of the season, loves having this much time between competitions," Geerts said, "but there's also not a lot we can do about it either. Like you said, we should be well-rested, and we're going to need it because we're going to be playing a lot of volleyball the next few days."

This marks the second long break New Hampton has had in its 2024 schedule. New Hampton went 11 days without a match earlier this season when it didn't play from Sept. 24 to Oct. 5.

"This one at least is 'broken' up a little better," Geerts said, "because we're going from a Tuesday to a Thursday instead of a Tuesday to a Saturday. Here we had Wednesday through Friday and then Monday to Wednesday, which isn't as bad as having the whole week. That got long, trust me on that."

New Hampton heads into tonight's quad with a 12-13 record, but that mark is a bit deceiving as eight of the Chickasaws' 13 losses have come to teams in the Iowa Girls High School Athletic Union's rankings. Three more of those defeats came to Class 4A teams.

"We have played a really good schedule, and I think we've shown at times that we can compete with those high-level teams," Geerts said, "but I think

Chickasaws enjoy their return home

New Hampton cross country runners say their team-first mentality is key in individual sport

By KELLY TERPSTRA
sports@nhtrib.com

They forgot about the times and placings — at least for a minute or so — because the Chickasaw cross country family had their moment to shine on Thursday night, even as dusk quickly approached.

This was New Hampton's night — plain and simple.

Put the stopwatch aside and just savor the moment after it was all said and done — because that's exactly what Jamie Ohrt's squad did to wrap up the regular season on a patch of land that no current Chickasaw had run on before.

As the sun set and darkness enveloped New Hampton's golf course just down from the ninth hole, Chickasaw senior harriers swigged Mountain Dew — Ohrt said it was all right for this special occasion — stood in front of their "Fatheads" with pride and represented what it means to be a Chickasaw XC runner.

Zoey Dreckman, a senior running in one of the last few races of her career, explained what the feeling was after competing on the 5K course, which officially amounted to a home meet in most of the Chickasaws' minds.

This home course was in stark contrast to the past three seasons when New Hampton took part in its home race at Plum Creek Golf Course in Fredericksburg — a home away from home of sorts that was a
