NEW HAMPTON HIGH SCHOOL MUSICAL SENIORS ENJOY A FINAL, SPECIAL COFFEEHOUSE CONCERT

By KELLY TERPSTRA
 sports@nhtrib.com

As New Hampton High School choir and band members joined hands and spread out across a large section of the gym on Sunday afternoon, they sang "In this Very Room." It's a song written by Ron and Carol Harris and exemplifies God's grace is ever present – wherever you are. The lyrics beautifully orchestrate that love, hope and power are all encompassing – there's a bond between each and every one of us that is special. The short, yet poignant piece is often sung at occasions like NHHS' Coffee House – a final concert for seniors where they know the end of the road is near. So as roses were handed out to the departing seniors, there were tears, hugs and plenty of warm and thoughtful memories made – whether or not you sang, played the trumpet, trombone or clarinet. "Being part of a band is just so special," said

New Hampton High School senior Olivia Hoy may have summed up "Adulting 101" best when she walked up to Iowa BIG North instructor Krissy Anderson and let out a big sigh.

"Mrs. A., this isn't working," Hoy said and then added with an almost pleading tone, "How do I make it work?" Welcome to what has become a rite of spring for those who in a few short weeks will walk

New Hampton High School students gather together on the gym floor to sing the traditional finale, “In This Very Room,” at the conclusion of Sunday’s Coffeehouse Concert.

Musical seniors inspire each other

NHHS senior Hayden Hackman. “We’ll never get to make this kind of music with them ever again.”

Hackman was one of several seniors that received awards handed out by NHHS band director Justin Adam toward the tail end of the concert.

But that isn’t really what this concert is all about as it was comforting for all involved to experience as a group – one last time – the hard-earned sacrifice, dedication and being there for each other that helped create lifetime memories.

“We’ve seen so many of our friends leave, like upperclassmen leave. Now it’s our turn to leave,” said New Hampton senior Karla Pickar. “We’re just done now.”

While Hackman plays the trumpet, Pickar plays the flute – NHHS senior Dylan Carter plays a whole bunch of instruments.

Nine to be precise, but he settled for just trombone on Sunday.

He’s also blind. Carter, who perhaps had the biggest smile of all on Sunday after he got a great sendoff from Adam with an award, spoke about what this incredible run in band meant to him.

His summation was short, sweet and to the point.

“It was fun,” said Carter.

Carter, who said he wants to be a teacher one day after his schooling is complete in college – was quickly interrupted by Pickar after students and family were milling around the gym mid-afternoon.

“He teaches us,” said Pickar. “We’re never going to get a trombone player who has perfect pitch, knows how to play like 10 instruments.”

Hackman reminded Carter how much he means to her.

“You’re one of a kind, Dylan,” said Hackman.

Life is also about making connections and if you go do that through music, well it was a pretty good day. There’s also lessons learned along the way.

“I think every teacher does something for us, but I think band is the biggest thing you can teach someone or music all together,” said Hackman.

For those not in the know about New Hampton’s Coffeehouse, Adam explained.

“When I talk about this concert to other teachers from around the state, usually the first reaction is ‘Seriously, you have a concert the day after prom?” said Adam. “Yes, we do.”

Adam briefly hesitated, then completed his thought.

“The second reaction is usually, ‘why?’” said Adam. “I just think that it’s just a really unique thing that we do here.

“Honestly, I won’t speak for all of them, but the majority of them really enjoy that. It’s something unique that sets us apart.”

A simple thank you is also often a priceless way to say you care and appreciate one’s effort.

“I wanted to thank you guys for dedication and determination and being here,” said Adam about his students.

That’s as good of a good-bye as you can get.

Christ has risen indeed!

Jesus' win over sin and death was not for Himself but for every sinner

On Easter Sunday and throughout the Easter season, we share an old greeting in our congregations: “Christ is risen!” — “He is risen indeed!”

That was not the reaction of Jesus’ disciples for much of the first Easter. Jesus had told them multiple times before this that He would die and then rise from the dead on the third day.

But they couldn’t get past His death.

They were hiding together in fear, worried that since their Teacher and Leader was now dead, they would be next.

Then person after person came and reported strange things: the tomb was empty, an angel had appeared and spoken to them—they had even seen Jesus! The disciples still had their doubts. “Is Christ risen?” they wondered.

This is an important question. In fact, it is one of the most important questions there is: Is Christ risen?

The apostle Paul tells us what it would mean if Jesus did not come back to life. “If Christ has not been raised, your faith is futile and you are still in your sins” (1 Corinthians 15:17).

If Christ did not rise from the dead, then He was just a man. Then He could not have paid for your sins on the cross, and your sins are still on you.

But if He did rise—as He said He would—then every other promise He made is verified. Then faith in Him is not futile, and all who trust in Him are not still in their sins.

His resurrection means that His sacrifice for sin was acceptable to God the Father, and that death was not strong enough to keep Him. He won this victory over sin and death not for Pastor Peter Faugstad serves Redeemer Lutheran Church in New Hampton and the Jerico and Saude congregations northeast of town (<https://saudejerico.com/>).

Himself but for you and me and every sinner.

Is Christ risen? “Yes!” we say. “Christ is risen! He is risen indeed!”

Jesus did plenty between resurrection and ascension

Jesus was born, he died and rose again, before ascending into heaven. These truths are foundational to our Christian faith. We know the familiar stories of the Triumphal Entry, the Last Supper and the crucifixion, but what happened between the resurrection and ascension?

The passion narrative is well known and often accounted both in art and in the Church, but the details of the 40 days between Jesus’ resurrection and ascension are far less well known.

While Matthew and Mark’s post-resurrection accounts are comparatively shorter than Luke and John’s, all four Gospels share details that enlighten us on Jesus’ life after death.

The Gospels speak of 10 apparitions of the risen Jesus, five of which occur on the day of his resurrection, and five further times before he ascended into heaven. We know from Acts 1 that he was on earth for 40 days, and that he spent these days with his disciples:

“After his suffering, he (Jesus) presented himself to them and gave many convincing proofs of that he was alive. He appeared to them over a period of forty days and spoke about the kingdom of God.” (Acts 1:3)

OK, so what did he actually do?

Appeared to women

Jesus revealed himself to Mary Magdalene before any other person. Having just seen Jesus’ empty tomb, she remained in the garden weeping, when Jesus appeared to her. She mistook him to be the gardener, but when he called her by name, Mary recognised his voice.

The idea that a woman would be a valid witness may seem plausible in 21st Century western society, but it was unheard of in 1st Century Palestine. The testimony of women was not given the same weight as that of a man, either personally or in a court of law. That Jesus chose to reveal himself to Mary first was revolutionary. He then sent her to “go and tell” the other disciples. He trusted her to tell his followers of his return.

His second appearance was to the group of women who had been with Mary in the graveyard. On their way from having seen the apostles, Jesus appeared to them, and “they came up and took hold of his feet and worshipped him.” (Matthew 28:9)

Appeared to his disciples

Later that day, on the road to Emmaus, Jesus appeared to two disciples – one called Cleopas – but they were slow to realise that the man beside them was the risen Messiah. It was not until he broke bread with them, after they had described to him the events of the passion, that “their eyes were opened and they recognised him” (Luke 24:31).

It was not until they recognised him that Jesus left. He did not abandon his disciples when they did not see it was him, but remained with them until they realised that their hearts had been “burning within us while he talked with us”.

Similarly, during his next appearance shortly afterwards, Jesus was not perturbed by his disciples mistaking him for a ghost. Instead, he reassured them: “Look at my hands and my feet. It is I myself! Touch me and see; a ghost does not have flesh and bones, as you see I have.” (Luke 24:39)

His life after the resurrection was not the result of sinister spirituality, but of Biblical prophecy. He drew his disciples away from supernatural speculation towards the Biblical foundations of his resurrected body:

“This is what I told you while I was still with you: Everything must be fulfilled that is written about me in the Law of Moses, the Prophets and the Psalms” (Luke 24:44).

Appeared to Thomas

We all know the narrative of ‘doubting Thomas’. He had not been with the disciples when Jesus revealed himself, and did not believe the disciples testimony, saying: “Unless I see the nail marks in his hands and put my finger where the nails were, and put my hand into his side, I will not believe.” (John 20:25)

In this encounter we see both the compassion and the challenge that Jesus brings. Rather than leaving Thomas without faith, Jesus “came and stood among them” – offering peace in order that he might believe, saying: “Stop doubting and believe.” (John 20:27)

Redeemed and reinstated Peter

The Gospel of John then tells the story of Jesus’ last recorded miracle, when he overwhelmed his disciples’ fishing nets with a huge catch of fish. He then speaks privately with Peter. Just as Peter had denied Jesus three times, Jesus asks him three times: “do you love me?” It is here that Peter is restored, having denied his master in his hour of need, and is called to “feed my sheep” and “follow me”. (John 21: 17, 19)

Jesus’ faithfulness is greater than ours. Jesus saw Peter’s weakness, yet he also saw his love for him, and chose to stand by him. Though he saw Peter’s limitations, he did not define him by them.

The Great Commission

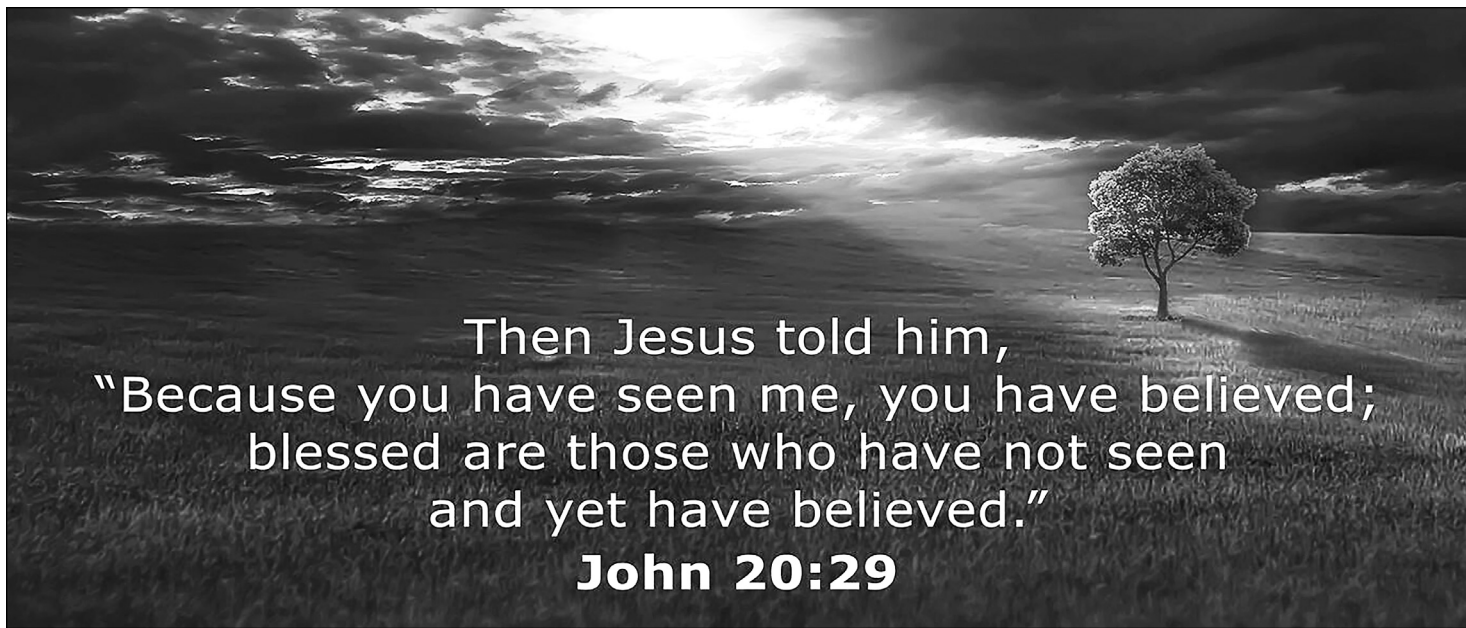

Matthew and Mark both close with the “Great Commission” – Jesus’ instruction to his disciples to go out into the world and spread the good news of salvation.

“All authority in heaven and on earth has been given to me. Therefore go and make disciples of all nations, baptising them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, and teaching them to obey everything I have commanded you. And surely I am with you always, to the very end of the age.” (Matthew 28:18-20)

It is after this command, on which much of the Christian emphasis on sharing the gospel is based, that Jesus is “taken up into heaven”.

Jesus’ ministry did not end with his death, but continued through his resurrection and into the days before his ascension into heaven. In this time, he revealed and reaffirmed crucial elements both of his character and his commission.

Three Stops On the Road To Financial Stability

Achieving financial stability doesn't happen overnight — it takes a journey. And, as with every journey, you'll need to make some stops along the way. These stops, or milestones, can tell you how far you've gone — and where you need to go next.

Milestone 1: Build a foundation When you're first starting on your financial journey — typically, when you are beginning your career — you'll want to build a foundation by acting on key issues, such as saving, paying down debts and investing for the future. Here are some suggestions:

- Start your emergency fund. Eventually, you'd like to have several months' worth of living expenses kept in a liquid, low-risk account to deal with unexpected costs, such as large medical bills or a major car repair. For now, though, at least try to put away a few hundred dollars or a month's worth of expenses. To make it easier, have some money moved automatically each month from a checking or savings account into your emergency fund.
- Take your employer's match. Contribute enough to your 401(k) and health savings account (HSA) to earn your employer's matching contribution, if one is offered.
- Pay down your higher-rate debt. Try to pay down as much high-interest, non-deductible debt as you can afford. If possible, refinance debt at lower interest rates.

Milestone 2: Gain a better foothold Once you've got your financial foundation in place, and you're established in your career, consider these steps to gain an even better foothold:

- Continue building your emergency fund. Try to get at least a couple of months' expenses in this fund.
- Put away more into your retirement accounts. If you can, try to put anywhere from 10% to 15% of your gross income into your 401(k) or similar employer-sponsored retirement plan.
- Check your debt-to-income ratio. Divide your monthly debt payments by your monthly gross income to calculate your debt-to-income ratio. If you're paying a mortgage, try to keep this ratio to 35% or less. Without a mortgage, try for 20% or less. Milestone 3: Keep moving forward As you move into your middle years — and beyond — it's time to further solidify your financial situation and keep making progress toward a comfortable retirement. These moves can help:

- Maintain your emergency fund. By now, you should be able to keep up to six months' worth of expenses in your emergency fund. A sizable emergency fund can help you if you need to switch jobs, and enable you to meet larger expenses without dipping into your long-term investments.
- Review your retirement goals. At this stage of your life, you should review your retirement goals regularly to determine whether you're still on track toward meeting them. If you aren't, you may need to adjust your investment strategies. Of course, your goals may have changed over time, and this, too, may require adjustments on your part. You may want to work with a financial professional who can suggest appropriate moves to help you on your way.

Reaching all these milestones will take diligence and commitment — but it will be worth the effort in helping you on your journey toward financial stability.

We were prepared, but Mother Nature delivered a dud

After days of talk about the potential of severe storms, not much happened in and around Chickasaw County Monday night

By BOB FENSKE
editor@nhtrib.com

At the very least, we got a pretty cool lightning show out of the deal, but all the talk about the severe weather that was going to hit in and around Chickasaw County Monday was just that — talk.

But we were prepared at least. From Chickasaw County EMS having all three ambulances staffed to schools calling off virtually all sporting activities, Mother Nature delivered a whimper instead of a wallop.

Yes, the lightning that could be seen northwest of New Hampton around 10 Monday night was, in a word, spectacular, but the county's largest city got just .08 inches of rain.

Like we said, though, we were prepared. During a Chickasaw County Board of Supervisors meeting on Monday, EMS Director Joel Knutson said that the service has extra manpower available.

“Hopefully nothing happens, but we want to make sure we're prepared if we do get an outbreak,” he said. “We've talked with services around the area and everyone's just making sure they're ready to help out where they're needed.”

New Hampton canceled a junior high track meet it was set to host Monday afternoon while the Chickasaws' soccer games at Charles City were postponed and the boys track meet at Sumner-Fredericksburg was canceled. Turkey Valley postponed a golf meet with Clayton Ridge that was set for Jackson Heights while Nashua-Plainfield's track and golf competitions were also called off.

Hey, after what had been a rainy month, we needed the break.

As of Tuesday, New Hampton has received 5.08 inches of rain during the month, almost an inch more than the normal 4.18 that usually falls in April.

Decisions on grant awards are determined by a local committee, which consists of volunteers from Chickasaw County. Michelle Hoy (Chair), Jeff Berns, Mary Gruenberg, Tara Hackman, Lara Lawrence, Courtney Lechtenberg, Dana Lentz, Bill Meyer, Kristen Nosbisch, Kristi Reicks, Nicholas Winter, and Matthew Ysbrand.

Grants are awarded through CCCF's competitive grant process to projects in the program areas of arts and culture, community betterment, education and youth development, environment and animal welfare, health and human service.

Grant applicants must be a 501(c)(3) designated organization or government entity serving Chickasaw County in order to be considered for funding.

The 2026 grant cycle opens Nov. 15 with an application deadline of Jan. 15, 2026. The grant guidelines and application can be found at www.chickasawccf.org.

Scouts donate to pantry

These youngsters are learning at an early age to give back to the community as they are gathered outside the Fareway grocery store on a bright sunny day to collect donations for the Chickasaw County Food Pantry.

“Our Cub Scouts did an amazing job of collecting non-perishable items to donate to the NH Food Pantry,” said scout leader Nick Sanford. “We received cash donations of over $220 and thousands of dollars of dried pasta, peanut butter, toothpaste, shampoo, canned food, paper and hygiene products! Thank you to everyone that helped collect and to our amazing community members.”

Stars and Stripes Spectacular benefits Retrieving Freedom!

Bringing together over 300 supporters and raising a jaw-dropping $48,000 for Retrieving Freedom, the Sons of the American Legion Squadron 279 held its annual Stars and Stripes Spectacular in Lawler recently. It was the fifth annual banquet with Retrieving Freedom, but the eighth annual year of banquets at the Starlite Ballroom.

The organization — whose motto is “changing lives, one service dog at a time” — supports a mission of training and placing service dogs with Veterans and children with autism. “We are honored, humbled and energized by this small town with a heart for service,” said a Retrieving Freedom social media post. “Lawler, you’ve truly gone above and beyond.”

Outstanding NHMS oratory students

Students from New Hampton Middle School went to Kansas City to participate in a regional oratory festival sponsored by Ford’s Theater and the Truman Presidential Library and Museum.

Chamber’s goal is to make app user friendly for all ages the school district, churches and more, and it also comes with the ability for each user to customize.

“If you’re not interested in the bowling schedule or you don’t have any kids or nieces or whatever in track,” Underwood said, “you can toggle it on and off. So that you’re not overwhelmed, you can customize it. That was something we really liked.”

Chamber officials began searching for app ideas earlier this year and felt they had landed on one when they saw the Denver Chamber of Commerce’s app.

“It was just really user friendly,” Underwood said, “and we were like, that’s what we want.”

It turns out that app was designed by EMJ Tech, which is owned by Matt or Deidra Piphos.

“They live in Denver, went to the chamber and said we made this app for you,” Underwood said. “They’re like a local couple who gets the needs of communities like ours.”

Underwood said the calendar will even help New Horizons as they plan events throughout the year.

“Even when we plan stuff, we’re wondering what’s going on in town that weekend,” she said. “Are we going to compete against Trinity’s fundraiser or this fundraiser or what sports are going on?”

And since the Piphos created the app, chamber officials made a few changes. The calendar became “clickable,” for example, and by this week, New Horizons was ready to roll it out.

Will more changes be coming?

“We’re considering it in the future,” Underwood said. “Certain things we might not make improvements until next year. We’ve already made some improvements, and we’ll probably make more towards the end of the year with the suggestions we get. ... We tried to keep it fairly basic so people aren’t overwhelmed by it. We wanted to keep it user friendly for every age group.”

Deadline is Friday for Dollars for Scholars presenters

The New Hampton Dollars for Scholars Awards Ceremony will be held this year on Tuesday, May 13, at 7 p.m.

Those who have an award or scholarship that they would like to present should contact Dustin Lewis or Michelle O’Donnell by Friday, May 2, with the name of the presenter and the award/scholarship.

Lewis can be reached via email at dlewis.uni@gmail.com or by phone at 641-229-8500. O’Donnell can be reached via email at m_odonnell@new-hampton.k12.ia.us or by phone at 641-394-2144.

Supervisors acknowledge ‘end of employment,’ OK contract for EMS director

By BOB FENSKE
editor@nhtrib.com

The Chickasaw County Board of Supervisors may have wrapped up its work on the county’s budget and tax levy on April 14, but board members on Monday were still dealing with the residue from budget decisions they made when they voted to certify the budget and tax levy two weeks before.

Board members acknowledged the “end of employment” for employees whose positions were eliminated during the months-long budgeting process and also acknowledged the “change of status” for the county’s environmental health director, whose position was reduced from 35 hours to 30 hours a week.

The budget supervisors certified called for the elimination of a position in three departments — the Auditor’s Office, the Treasurer’s Office and the Sheriff’s Office — while the Board of Health, after seeing its proposed budget cut by more than $350,000 — voted to eliminate three positions.

The Auditor’s Office had an employee resign in March while supervisors accepted the resignation of dispatcher/jailer Jamie Eckwall on Monday, and supervisors told Sheriff Ryan Shawver that he would not have to go through with the proposed layoff in his office.

At least one supervisor expressed his disappointment that in addition to the extra month of insurance the county agreed to give the laid-off employees, the Board of Health voted to give two of its employees $500 for each year of service as part of a severance package.

“I’m just going to state that I don’t think this is right,” Supervisor Travis Suckow said, “because the other ones aren’t getting the same thing.”

Although it appeared his fellow board members were in agreement, Board Chairman Jake Hackman said that the Board of Health is a so-called autonomous board.

“It’s their Board of Health,” he said. “We’re just acknowledging what they did for payroll reasons.”

Also on Monday, supervisors approved a new one-year contract for Chickasaw County EMS Director Joel Knutson. The new contract that goes into effect on July 1 will not come with a salary increase for the director.

“I think the status quo is fine with me,” said Knutson, whose current salary is $80,000 per year.

“I expressed it during my review that I wouldn’t be seeking a wage increase, just with the budgetary constraints the county is going through. I, myself, would feel better about staying at the same wage.”

The lone change in the contract is the fact that the board will no longer have to adhere to a March 31 deadline when it comes to conducting Knutson’s job-performance review, and that change was suggested by Knutson.

“It’s usually right in the middle of your budget and I know you guys are busy,” he said. “I don’t see why we need that date.”

Board members approved the change and the contract on a 4-0 vote, with Supervisor Steve Breitbach, who is Knutson’s uncle, abstaining from the vote.

In other business Monday:

- Supervisors approved the contract for service by the Chickasaw County libraries. Board members had first agreed to give the county’s libraries a 6 percent increase in funding during the fiscal year that starts July 1, but after budget concerns grew, they decided to scale back the funding to the same as it was in the 2023-24 fiscal year.

That means libraries will receive $124,337.50 next year from the county’s Rural Services Basic (RSB) fund, about $7,000 less than they received for this fiscal year.

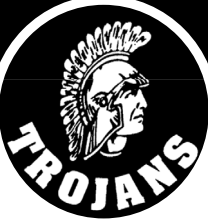

- Board members also approved the hiring of Conrad Rosendahl as an interim medical examiner investigator after Knutson said one of the county’s current investigators will be unable to work for an undetermined amount of time.

Rosendahl is the chief of police in New Hampton, but when he held the same position in Lansing, he was a medical examiner investigator for Allamakee County.

Knutson told board members Rosendahl is certified, which means the county won’t have to pay for any training costs.

- Supervisors also approved publishing notice of two available terms on the Veterans Affairs Commission. The terms of Katie Boehmer and Dean Speicher will expire on June 30, and anyone interested in applying for a three-year term can stop at the Auditor’s Office or go to the county’s website at chickasawcounty.iowa.gov.

Members of the commission must be veterans.

Kathryn ‘Kathy’ O’Connor, 88

Kathryn “Kathy” O’Connor, age 88 of New Hampton, died Thursday, April 24, 2025, at MercyOne New Hampton Medical Center.

A Mass of Christian Burial will be held at 10:30 a.m. Thursday, May 8, 2025, at Holy Family Catholic Church in New Hampton with the Rev. James Goerend celebrating the Mass.

Friends may greet the family from 4 to 7 p.m. Wednesday, May 7, 2025, at Hugelback-Johnson Funeral Home & Crematory in New Hampton. Visitation continues an hour prior to the Mass at the church on Thursday.

Kathryn Alice O’Connor, age 88 of New Hampton, passed away peacefully on April 24, 2025, at MercyOne North Iowa Hospital in New Hampton from complications from a fall.

Kathy was born on Feb. 18, 1937, in Grand Forks, North Dakota, to Frank and Alice (Greer) Hyland. She was raised in Hastings, Minnesota, and graduated from Hastings High School in 1955.

She went on to earn her bachelor’s degree in nursing from the College of St. Teresa in Winona, Minnesota, in 1959. Kathy began her nursing career at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Minneapolis, where she worked from 1959 to 1960.

On April 23, 1960, she married the love of her life, James D. O’Connor, at Guardian Angels Church in Hastings, Minnesota. They made their home in New Hampton, where they raised their six children and shared 53 wonderful years of marriage until James’s passing in 2013.

Kathy continued her nursing career at St. Joseph Community Hospital from 1960 to 1964 before choosing to stay home and focus on raising her family. She later taught religion at St. John’s School of Religion from 1978 to 1985.

Never one to stop learning, Kathy earned her master’s degree in mental health counseling from the University of Northern Iowa and worked for Catholic Charities from 1987 to 1993.

Deeply committed to her community, Kathy was actively involved in many civic and volunteer organizations throughout her life. She was a member of Mrs. Jaycees, served on the parish council at St. Mary’s Church, was a Girl Scout leader and camp volunteer, taught CCD classes for many years and volunteered her time with the Treasure Chest, Food Pantry,

Kathy O’Connor

Hospital Specialty Clinic, and Red Cross Blood Bank.

Kathy was a woman of many interests and talents. She loved gardening, crafting (especially knitting), stamp collecting and fishing. She also enjoyed traveling, playing bridge, having coffee with friends, reading, and most of all, spending time with her beloved children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren — cheering them on at countless school events.

She was preceded in death by her husband, James D. O’Connor; her parents, Frank and Alice Hyland; her sister, Mickey O’Connor; and her brother-in-law, Jim O’Connor, her sister-in-law and brother-in-law Jane and Don Grove.

Kathy is lovingly remembered by her six children: Pat (Joe) Weigel of Clear Lake, Peg (Dennis) Clinch of Chandler, Arizona, Ed (Jean) O’Connor of North Oaks, Minnesota, Ann (Lance) Lasher of Charles City, Kate (Terri) Hartzler of Ames, and Joe (Susan) O’Connor of Shakopee, Minnesota; 12 GRANDchildren, Tyler, Kristin, Lauren, Abby, Megan, Kali, Zach, Ian, Nate, Derek, Colin and Ryan; and eight great-GRANDchildren, William, Alice, Joseph, Emmett, Connor, Scottie, Parker and Theo — with one more on the way. She is also survived by her brother Steve (Sarah) Hyland of St. Paul, Minnesota, and many loving nieces and nephews.

Kathy’s life was one of love, service, faith, and kindness. Her legacy lives on in the many lives she touched through her care, compassion, and tireless dedication to her family and community.

In lieu of flowers, family requests memorials to be dedicated to Alzheimer’s Association, Catholic Charities, Holy Family Parish or the New Hampton Library.

Michael Alan Aegerter, 63

Michael Alan Aegerter, age 63 of Nashua, died Sunday, April 27, 2025, at his home in Nashua.

Richard Wayne Caddell, 72

Richard Wayne Caddell, age 72 of Waucoma, died Sunday, April 27, 2025 at MercyOne North Iowa Medical Center in Mason City.

Friends may greet the family from 2 to 5 p.m. on Sunday, May 18, 2025 at Waucoma Event Center.

Hugelback-Johnson Funeral Home & Crematory in Waucoma has been entrusted with Richard’s arrangements.

Cedar Valley Hospice open house for new office is set for today

Cedar Valley Hospice is inviting the public to its open house celebrating the organization’s recent move to downtown Waverly.

The open house will be held this afternoon (Thursday) from 4 to 6 p.m. at the office that is located located at 300 East Bremer Ave, Suite 100.

“As we have grown, it was important to relocate to a space that had increased visibility, is easily accessible to the community and had room for our staff,” said Taylor Kramer, who serves as Cedar Valley’s Waverly clinical services manager.

“Cedar Valley Hospice has taken care of patients in Waverly and the surrounding counties [Bremer, Butler, Chickasaw, Franklin and Floyd], and this space will allow us to continue to meet the growing need for hospice care, palliative care and grief support in this area.”

Thank You

The family of Betty Attleson wish to express sincere appreciation to all our family, friends, and neighbors who showed their love and concern at the time of Betty's death. Special thanks to Macken Funeral Home, Rochester, MN; VFW Post 1215 in Rochester, MN; and Pastor and the Jerico Lutheran Cemetery in Jerico, IA for the beautiful grave site committal service. Your kindness, love, and support becomes a true source of strength and will always be remembered!

Jayme Michael (Steege) Gold, 51

Jayme Michael (Steege) Gold, age 51, passed away on Wednesday, April 16, 2025.

Born May 5, 1973, in Iowa City, Jayme was the beloved son of Kathie Opperman and Wallie Lawless.

He spent his childhood in New Hampton and Charles City, graduating from New Hampton High School in 1991, where he was known as the class clown and resident chatterbox. He was always full of jokes, energy, and endless conversation, and proudly competed on the school’s wrestling team.

Jayme started his professional journey at APAC and, through hard work, determination, and natural talent, worked his way up to become a highly respected vice president of sales. He had a true gift for connecting with people, building relationships, and bringing enthusiasm into every room and business meeting. His leadership, charisma, and sharp wit made him someone colleagues admired and friends cherished.

In 1995, Jayme married Rebecca (Brown) Steege. Together they built a life filled with love, laughter, music and four beautiful daughters. Jayme was the ultimate girl dad — always ready to assemble a Barbie Dream House, watch a Disney Princess movie, or proudly show up for dance recitals and school events. His daughters were the center of his world, and he never missed a chance to remind them just how much he loved them.

Jayme’s greatest joy was being a father — and later, a proud and “magical” GiGiPa to his three grandchildren, who brought him endless happiness. His grandchildren will remember him as the silly GiGiPa who always had them deep belly laughing with his wild antics, goofy voices, and endless stream of silly jokes—creating memories they’ll treasure forever.

Jayme was an incredibly smart, funny, and talented man. A true social butterfly, he lit up every room with his sarcasm, warmth, and energy. His laugh and smile were contagious, and he was always ready with a quick joke, a funny story, or a quick tune on his guitar. He often spoke in song lyrics and

Cody Dean Clayton Miller, 28

Cody Dean Clayton Miller, age 28 of New Hampton, died Tuesday, April 22, 2025.

Funeral service were held 10:30 a.m. Wednesday, April 30, 2025 at Hugelback-Johnson Funeral Home & Crematory in New Hampton with the Rev. Scott Smith presiding.

Friends greeted the family an hour prior to the service on Wednesday at the funeral home.

Interment will take place at New Hampton City Cemetery.

Born on March 10, 1997, in St. Louis Park, Minnesota, Cody was the beloved son of Chad and Lynette (Tischner) Miller, and the cherished youngest brother of Taylor. From the moment he arrived, Cody brought a spark into the world that never dimmed — a rambunctious, energetic soul who kept everyone around him on their toes with his lively spirit and endless curiosity.

Growing up, Cody’s family moved often, but wherever they landed, he brought with him a zest for life that quickly made any place feel like home. The family eventually put down roots in New Hampton, where Cody began high school. It was there that he made his mark as a gifted athlete, running with the cross country and track teams.

Whether it was staging airsoft battles with his friends, diving into epic storylines on his PS5 or spending hours constructing Lego masterpieces, he lived life with enthusiasm and heart.

He was a lifelong fan of Star Wars, a connoisseur of Reese’s Sticks and Peanut Butter Cups and never turned down a slice of Little Caesars pizza.

In 2016, Cody’s life changed forever when he met Josie Dublin online. What began as a connection across screens grew into a deep, enduring love. They married on July 22, 2019, at the Little Brown Church in Nashua, a day filled with joy and commitment.

Together, they welcomed their daughter, Elizabeth, on June 1, 2021 — whom Cody tenderly nicknamed “Mel,” short for My Eternal Love. Cody was a devoted husband and a proud father, completely smitten with his little girl.

Rev. Walter J. Kleinfehn, 91

Rev. Walter J. Kleinfehn, age 91 of Dubuque and formerly of New Hampton, died Tuesday, April 22, 2025, at the Stonehill Health Center in Dubuque.

A Mass of Christian Burial was held 10:30 a.m. Monday, April 28, 2025, at Holy Family Parish, New Hampton with Archbishop Thomas Zinkula celebrating the Mass.

Interment was in St. Mary’s Cemetery, New Hampton.

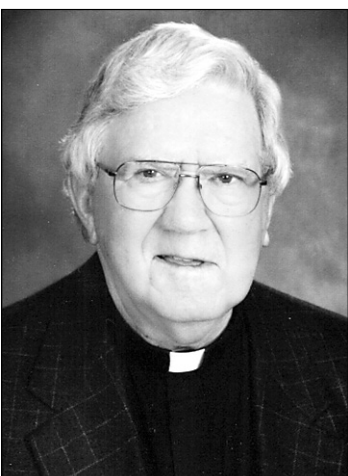

Friends greeted the family an hour prior to the Mass at the church on Monday.

Hugelback-Johnson Funeral Home and Crematory is assisting the family.

Walter J. Kleinfehn was born Aug. 23, 1933, in New Hampton, the son of Walter A. and Agnes (Leitel) Kleinfehn.

He received his education at St. Mary’s Grade School and was a New Hampton High School graduate.

He continued his education at St. John University, Collegeville, Minnesota, and at Loras College and Mt. St. Bernard Seminary, both in

Walter Kleinfehn

Dubuque.

In summers while he was in high school and college, he worked as a carpenter helping build the former St. Mary’s Church in New Hampton and helping several area carpenters around New Hampton.

He was ordained as a Catholic priest on Jan. 30, 1960, and served many parishes throughout his lifetime — including St. Patrick’s in Clear Lake, Sacred quotes from his favorite show, The Office.

A self-taught guitarist, Jayme had been playing music since childhood. He had a deep love for live music, spontaneous road trips, and riding his Harley Davidson on a sunny day. Whether he was playing with his grandkids, strumming a tune, or seeking out the best burger in town, Jayme was always up for an adventure.

Jayme is survived by his four daughters, Kaleigh (Dacoda) Ward, Lauren (Jaime) Mendez, Julia Steege and Shea Steege; his cherished grandchildren, Elijah, Alivia and Jonah Ward; his sister, Nicole Steege; and brother, Joseph Lawless; his father, Wallie (Mary) Lawless; his stepfather, Max Steege; Gina (Filoso-Filocco) Gold and Alexis Filocco, who he had a special bond with; and many other beloved family members and friends who touched his heart.

He was preceded in death by his mother, Kathie Steege; his grandparents, George and Evelyn Opperman; and his Aunt Cathy Opperman.

Jayme — Dad, GiGiPa, brother, and friend — your light, laughter, and music will live on in all of us. You are deeply loved and will be missed more than words can say.

“I wish there was a way to know you’re in the good old days before you’ve actually left them.”

– Andy Bernard, The Office

Cody was known for his big heart and even bigger personality. He was a storyteller at heart — a true chatterbox who could light up any room with a tale, a joke, or a surprising bit of trivia.

He was a protective and loving brother to Taylor and a loyal friend who was always there when you needed him.

Animals held a special place in his heart, especially his beloved cat Franklin, who was rarely far from his side.

Stubborn at times and unafraid to speak his mind, Cody was authentic to his core — strong-spirited, caring and endlessly supportive of those he loved.

His presence was a gift, and his absence leaves a profound void in the hearts of all who knew him.

Cody is survived by his wife, Josie of New Hampton; one daughter, Elizabeth “Mel” of New Hampton; parents, Chad and Lynette Miller of New Hampton; sister, Taylor (Van) Miranda of Charles City; two nephews with one on the way, Adrian and Romeo Miranda; two brothers, Brandon Terhark of Osage and Dre Banks of Inver Grove Heights, Minnesota; paternal grandparents, Audrey and Billy Miller of Fort Myers, Florida; and in-laws, Lourdes and Julito Dublin of Philippines.

He was preceded in death by his maternal grandparents, Richard and Sandra Tischner.

Heart in Dubuque, Immaculate Conception in Fairbank, was assistant principal and faculty member of Newman High School in Mason City, was principal and faculty member of LaSalle High School in Cedar Rapids, St. Columbkille’s in Dubuque, St. Pius X in Cedar Rapids, administrator for parishes in Rockwell, Swaledale and Cartersville, St. Bernard’s in Alta Vista and faculty at St. John School of Religion in New Hampton, parishes in Hampton, Dumont, Norway and Watkins.

He retired in 2003 and continued to serve as an interim priest for parishes around Cedar Rapids and was the Chaplain for Sisters of Mercy-Sacred Heart Convent in Cedar Rapids.

Survivors include one sister, Katie Riley of New Hampton, and many nieces and nephews.

He was preceded in death by his parents; a brother, Kenneth (Helen) Kleinfehn; a sister, Lucile (Robert) Knapp; and a brother-in-law, Al Riley.

Adulting 101 gets plenty of support across the stage, receive their diplomas and become, well, adults.

Each year, the seniors of New Hampton High get a crash course in adulting with the annual initiative put on by Iowa BIG North, a program that assists students in developing their agency, efficacy and passions while gaining real-world and academic skills so students can succeed in a world of rapid and constant change.

And let's face it, going from kid to adult can be a rapid and constant change.

"We've heard it all today," Anderson said with a laugh. "From kids are expensive to buying a house is hard to emergencies stink, they're finding out that as much as they want to be adults, there's a lot they have to know."

Anderson looked over at her fellow Iowa BIG North instructor, Mike Kuennen, who couldn't help but laugh.

"I think one thing that happens every year when we do this is we have a whole bunch of kids who are a whole lot more appreciative of their parents," he said with a laugh. "It's a good lesson, though. They go through a lot today, but it gives them a taste of what adult life is like."

The New Hampton students, who were joined by seniors from Turkey Valley High School, did have a lot on their plate during the day-long activity in which they were not high school students but 28-year-old adults. They visited with bankers, real estate agents, insurance folks, financial advisors and car dealers. Some had kids; some didn't.

And they also got one "surprise" along the way. Some found a check for $200 from a grandparent in their mailbox; others had to find a way to pay for a $1,000 root canal.

They learned why they needed "full-coverage" car insurance. They learned the importance of a good credit score. They learned that banks and mortgage companies aren't going to give them loans if the monthly payments cross a "threshold" — usually 25 percent of their income. The lessons kept coming throughout the day.

And trust us, young Miss Hoy wasn't the only one who found it hard to make "it work."

Among the other comments overheard included "insurance is that much" and an oft-used phrase that went something like this: "Not sure I want to be an adult anymore."

Those who helped guide the students, though, believe the sooner kids learn adulting lessons, the better chance they will thrive once they reach adulthood.

And Anderson said what makes Adulting 101 a success is not only the hard work put in by the students who set up the initiative but also the New Hampton businesses that agreed to help students discover the joys and pitfalls of adulthood.

The former group included Colin Shatek, Jordan Thronson, Keziah Uglum, Kelly Thronson, Taylor Sittig, Tate Schwickerath, Adam Ewert, Caleb Rochford and Weston Praska.

The businesses and organizations that participated in the event included Bank Iowa, Community Insurance of Iowa, Edward Jones, Fidelity Bank & Trust, First Citizens Bank, Insurance Associates of Lawler, Luana Savings Bank, New Hampton Municipal Utilities, Northeast Iowa Community College, Nobsisch Insurance, Riverstone Real Estate, Security State Bank and Vern Laures

Auto Center.

"We couldn't do this without them," Anderson said. "You look at that list and a lot of people freely gave their time to talk with our seniors and all they're getting is a thank you. I think it just shows what kind of community we live in that so many people are willing to give their time to help our young people."

Trojan girls snare a team title

Stika claims three individual events, anchors winning relay to help propel Turkey Valley

By KELLY TERPSTRA
sports@nhtrib.com

Bella Stika was back out on the track for the Turkey Valley Trojans after a brief hiatus this spring.

She's healed from injury (shin splints) and reeling in gold medals.

"Overall, she had great performances. They weren't her best, but that was expected based on two weeks of not racing," said TV head coach Sarah Bakula, who is co-coach along with Dalton Hackman.

Stika's return helped propel the Trojans to the team title last week Thursday at the Gary Bottorff Invite in Lansing.

Bakula said it's the first time the TV girls track team has won a team championship since she's been a part of the Trojan track program, which has been eight years.

"They were pretty happy with that. It was a well-rounded effort by the team to score those points and to put those performances on the board," said Bakula.

The meet hosted by the Kee High Hawks saw Turkey Valley rise to the top of the team standings with 93 points, 21 better than DeSoto (72), a school that hails from Wisconsin.

Stika took home four blue ribbons and three of those came in individual events. She won the 400 dash with a career PR of 1:03.29, took first in the open 800 in a time of 2:38 and the 1,500 run (5:38). Stika, a sophomore, also anchored the winning 4x400 relay, which posted a season PR as well in 4:29.

Trojan sophomore Hazel Nieman won the 200 dash in 28.39 and was second in the 100 dash in 13.96. Nieman posted a career PR last week Tuesday at the Crestwood Invite in the open 400 with a clip of 1:03.2.

Nieman was victorious in that event as well as the 800 run, where she crossed the finish line in 2:40.

"That was Hazel's first open 800 that she's ever ran and she did that on low rest in between the 400 open and the 800 open," said Bakula. "She did phenomenal with that."

The Trojans' 4x200 also PR'd at Cresco with a time of 1:57.89. The team was made up of Kendall Kuennen, Addison Steinlage, Brynlee Hayek and Alexis Gruenberg.

Turkey Valley managed 32 points at Cresco, which saw them finish in seventh place in the team standings.

Turkey Valley boys run to solid runner-up finish

By KELLY TERPSTRA
sports@nhtrib.com

The Turkey Valley Trojans just keep on truckin' along.

TV and head coach Mark Scott placed runner-up at the Gary Bottorff Invite, hosted by Kee High last week Thursday in Lansing.

Clayton Ridge won the meet with 110 points and TV tallied 99 points for its second-place finish.

TV sophomore Kaden Schmidt notched career PRs in both his sprint events. He crossed the tape first in the 200 dash with an all-time best mark of 24.78.

He collected a silver medal with another lifetime best in the 400 dash in 54.82.

Hugo Busta, another sophomore for the Trojans, won the 800 run in 2:15.78.

The Trojans also took first in the shuttle hurdle (1:26), the 4x800 relay (9:56), the sprint medley (1:42) and the 4x100 in a time of 47.78, which was another PR.

TV junior Dairean Keyes recorded a career PR in the 100 dash with a fourth-place time of 12.52 and Trojan sophomore Jayden Rausch also engineered a lifetime best run in the mile (1,600) running event with a fourth-place time of 5:17.

Tucker Reicks, a TV junior, tossed a lifetime-best throw of 92-3 in the discus, good for third place.

Turkey Valley's Lukes medalist in a UIC dual with West Central

By KELLY TERPSTRA
sports@nhtrib.com

Turkey Valley junior Karstyn Lukes carded a 51, which was good for medalist honors last week Thursday in an Upper Iowa Conference dual girls golf meet versus West Central that was held at Big Rock Country Club in Fayette.

Turkey Valley's team score was a 225, while the Blue Devils of West Central posted no team score as they only have three golfers on their roster. Only one West Central golfer hit the links, though, on Thursday in sophomore Lilli Eitel, who carded a 57.

"Karstyn played exceptionally well," said TV head coach Steve Hoffert.

Annika Bodensteiner was next up on the leaderboard for the Trojans with a 57 and Miyah Byrne carded a 58.

"It was another cool, wet muddy day on the course, but I thought the girls once again handled it really well," Hoffert added.

TV enjoyed beautiful spring weather on Tuesday, April 22 at the South Winn Country Club in a triangular versus the host Warriors and Decorah.

TV (441) finished in third place, four shots behind the runner-up Vikings (437). South Winneshiek won the meet by posting a team total of 391.

Maya Lensing of South Winn was overall medalist with a 91.

TV senior Morgan Vsetecka was the low score for the Trojans with a 99 and Bodensteiner, a junior, fired a 100.

"We finally had a nice day for golf. This was our first 18-hole meet of the year and the girls adjusted well. Annika and Morgan continue to play some good golf," said Hoffert.

Monday's TV meet at home at Jackson Heights Golf Course versus Clayton Ridge was postponed due to inclement weather.

Nicholas Bernhard, just a sophomore, fired a 37 last week Thursday on the road at Big Rock Country Club in Fayette to claim medalist honors in an Upper Iowa Conference dual with West Central.

That two-over par score by Bernhard helped lead the way for his Trojans, who bested the visiting Blue Devils by 32 strokes - 167 to 199.

Next in line for TV was sophomore Brady Blong's 41 and junior Logan Busta's 42.

TV also hosted Decorah and South Winneshiek at home last week Tuesday in the first 18-hole meet of the spring. The Trojans fired a team score of 352. South Winn (311) won the meet by two strokes over Decorah (313).

Jackson Pipho of Decorah was declared the overall individual winner as he racked up a medalist-winning score of 74.

Bernhard was fourth on the leaderboard with a 77 - tied with Warrior junior Carson Streeter of South Winn.

Busta came into the clubhouse with an 18-hole total of 89, followed by Blong's 90.

Chickasaws encounter tough foes out on pitch

By Kelly Terpstra
sports@nhtrib.com

The fight is there, but these Chickasaws just need to put one in the back of the net.

Scoring opportunities were scarce for the New Hampton boys soccer team last week.

Decorah blanked NH, 6-0, last Tuesday and Waverly-Shell Rock also tossed a 7-0 shut-out over the Chickasaws on Thursday at Wartburg College.

Jeff Monteith and his Chickasaws are working on that lack of offensive production.

“We continue to work on trying to build and work the ball out of our own end to create more scoring chances as that is our biggest struggle right now,” said Monteith.

New Hampton is also adapting to a rotation that is ever-changing as new players have been added to the mix as they’re healthy now and others have been sidelined with injuries.

“We continue to work together and get used to playing with one another through the changes of people returning, or others resting injuries and being able to sub more. I once again credit the boys for fighting to the very end and working hard to get better with each game,” said the NH head coach.

New Hampton (1-7) played in back-to-back games on Monday and Tuesday. The start to last week saw the Chickasaws earn their first win of the season over Northeast Iowa United, 9-1.

The Decorah matchup was a different story as the Vikings wore down the small roster of New Hampton.

“As the game progressed, unfortunately fatigue became a factor from back-to-back-games, but they continued to battle through the final whistle,” Monteith said about the Decorah loss.

Decorah (3-5-2) led 4-0 at halftime and junior keeper Easton Monteith recorded 23 saves against the Vikings.

“They jumped out on us quick and we had to make some defensive adjustments, which is nice to be able to do and have some options now that we have several players who are available that weren’t available earlier due to injuries, etc,” Monteith added.

Against the Go-Hawks, New Hampton also trailed 4-0 at intermission in that one, while Monteith came up with 22 saves.

The Chickasaws played on artificial turf at Waverly, a distinct change from the natural grass they normally play on.

“Playing on the Wartburg turf is an exciting opportunity for the players, but brings with it a new set of challenges as the ball moves quicker and bounces differently,” said the NH head coach. “On a positive note, we did better defending against the corner kicks, which we struggled with earlier this season.”

The NH girls soccer team played just one game last week on Thursday at Wartburg versus the host Go-Hawks, who are undefeated at 6-0 on the year and ranked No. 1 in Class 2A.

The contest ended at the half by a score of 10-0.

New Hampton (3-3) had one shot on goal, by junior forward Tegan Dungey.

The road contest for both the girls and boys Chickasaw squads on Monday at Charles City was postponed because of the threat of inclement weather. That matchup has been moved to Thursday, May 15.

Humpal and Pickar remained locked in as well as they shot excellent and reeled in the top individual honors in girls competition with rounds of 47.

Kellogg and senior Jake Schwickerath each tallied rounds of 47 for the Chickasaws as well to highlight other top shooting performances for New Hampton.

Cresco won its home invite this past weekend with a sizzling 241 team score. New Hampton’s top squad fired a 219 and finished fourth amongst 28 teams.

Pickar remained on a roll with a 47, one shot back of overall winner Ainsley Hollenback (48) of the Northeast Iowa Shooting Club.

Kellogg also racked up a round of 47 at Cresco on Saturday.

While there were no team stats available from the Oelwein meet, it was clear to see that New Hampton continues to strike down targets at a consistent pace this spring.

NH junior Chase Humpal (47) and Kuehner (46) placed second and third, respectively behind Schwickerath’s perfect round at Oelwein.

Eichenberger (44), Pickar (44) and Harper Humpal (42) rounded out the top girls scores at Oelwein.

Turkey Valley Red takes runner-up spot at Cresco Invite

By Kelly Terpstra
sports@nhtrib.com

Turkey Valley sophomore Graham Schmitt was feeling fit on Saturday at the Cresco Invite.

Schmitt fired a 49 at the meet that featured 28 teams over the weekend. He only missed one clay target and placed third overall in a shoot-off for third place. New Hampton sophomore Wyatt Schwickerath won the meet with a perfect score of 50, followed by Cresco’s Kail Schmelzer (49-23, second place), Schmitt (49-21) and Nashua-Plainfield’s Nic Brase (49-20, fourth).

TV Red came up second in the invite with a team score of 233. The No. 1 squad of the Cresco Area Clay Crushers were on a roll as they won the weekend shootout with a remarkable tally of 241 on their home trap

Forced off mat, Chickasaw finds joy in other activities

EICHENBERGER: FROM 16

Matthews’ Chickasaw squad aim to knock down clay targets quickly moving out of a trap house with their shotguns.

That not-so-simple task didn’t start well according to Eichenberger, who regaled the tale of her first trap meet last month in Nashua, where it all started in 2023.

Or maybe the most appropriate way to say what took place in her first 50-shot round at the Nashua Fish & Game Club is what she didn’t do. By the way, this was her first year shooting two years ago when she was a sophomore – the same year she qualified for the first sanctioned girls wrestling meet in 2023. She was new to the sport of wrestling that winter as well – had never even watched a match, she said.

Back to the trapshooting.

“I was going to do track, but I didn’t want to never try trapshooting. I figured if I didn’t do it now, I never would. I was absolutely awful. I shot five out of 50 on my first meet. I really kind of just wanted to quit,” she said.

Fast forward two spring seasons later and Eichenberger is thriving and not just in trap. We’ll get to that later.

She won the Turkey Valley Invite with a 46 round out of 50. That tied her with Cresco’s Harley Fisher for top honors on the girls side.

That dead-on marksmanship wasn’t a fluke, either. She’s been a consistent top shot for Matthews and proven that if you put your mind to something, you can accomplish even more than you’ve ever dreamed.

“It gives me something else to work on and have goals in,” Eichenberger said about trap.

Success doesn’t come overnight, though, as practice is a word that anybody becomes familiar with that wants to push their limits and boundaries in order to achieve greatness. “I had a lot of help from David Schmitt and Jay bought a laser to put in my gun,” said Eichenberger. “He made me point at the wall for a long time. I just really wanted to do better, so I focused and eventually it came.”

Eichenberger has even surprised herself with her skill set out on the trap range.

“No, I never imagined I’d be any kind of good. Honestly, the first time I actually shot a gun was probably trapshooting,” said Eichenberger. “I did hunter safety when I was like 15 and we tried it once or twice, but nothing like this.”

Another thing, if you’re wanting to hang out with Eichenberger, you may want to ask first so she can check her calendar – because her day is jammed-packed with things to do. She’s been hitting the books pretty hard recently.

“I’m full-time in Calmar right now,” said Eichenberger about her schooling at college. “I only have one class in New Hampton and its band and then I spend my full days over in Calmar.”

Eichenberger is being humble and modest when it comes to her passions – which include a whole host of fun and exciting ventures. There’s probably not enough newsprint to list them all in this publication.

Let’s put it this way, she stays busy.

“I found a lot of joy in other things. I tried speech for the first time. I did large group speech. I absolutely loved it. I had no idea I was going to like it that much,” said Eichenberger.

It wasn’t long after becoming involved in speech that the raw emotion of connecting with a profound experience poured out of her.

“I was so nervous, but my performance had me in tears, how much I loved it,” said Eichenberger about her individual speech performance, which came after her large group speech presentation.

That experience for Eichenberger in speech is a prime example of dipping your toe in the water, then diving right in. In life sometimes, you have to take chances because you never know what’s around the bend. It may just be a rainbow with a pot of gold on the other side.

After she was told she kind of came out of the blue in several of her activities with little to no experience, Eichenberger had to smile.

“In every division, in every sport,” laughed Eichenberger. “A lot of them hunt and are comfortable with it. It took me a long time to get comfortable with it.”

Eichenberger’s story is not just of success, but overcoming obstacles. The really hard part was calling it a career in a sport she so dearly loved.

After competing at state her sophomore season in wrestling, a year that saw her go 28-20 and start to really come into her own out on the mat – she had to make a very hard decision.

When your body speaks, sometimes you have to listen to your heart. She made the call. That meant forgoing her final two seasons out on the mat. She was denied a chance to win a match at the state meet, where she went 0-2 her first year.

“The original reason I didn’t go out for wrestling is I have two slipped, bulging discs in my back and I have arthritis,” said Eichenberger. “I have trouble walking on a day-to-day basis.”

Eichenberger said she thought that injury may have occurred after she rolled her car a couple years ago while driving to her job at the time, a dairy farm.

“I thought I was fine afterwards. It was just minor pain. I’m sure when I started wrestling it got quite majorly worse,” said Eichenberger.

Then the pain became unbearable and wrestling was probably a double-edged sword for her. It was making her health worse.

“I knew I had to do it or I wasn’t going to have the career I wanted in health care,” said Eichenberger. “If it is already bad now, what’s it going to be like then? I knew it was for the best.”

Eichenberger explained the pain when it’s at its worst.

“I can’t stand up straight, can’t step on my left leg – can’t walk,” said Eichenberger. “I originally thought it was hip problems and then I got more X-rays and an MRI and it’s major back problems.”

That back pain meant she had to stay active and become a health advocate for herself in order to feel well – at least most of the time.

“I do shots. I do physical therapy. I do everything I can to get the pain to go away,” said Eichenberger.

Just recently Eichenberger took part at Coffeehouse – an end of the year celebratory sendoff concert for Chickasaw choir and band members that will be graduating soon. She is involved with band three days a week at New Hampton and takes part in morning meetings with the National Honor Society.

She was on Jess Geerts’ New Hampton volleyball team this past fall and has also played basketball and competed at track.

“Volleyball is probably my only sport I finished all four years. It was just something I did for fun. The sports I truly love are wrestling and trapshooting,” Eichenberger added.

Her other list of activities taken part in include – to name a few – yearbook, SkillsUSA, Iowa Big North, 4-H and FFA, where she was the 2024-2025 chapter secretary. She also shows beef and dairy cattle, horses and swine.

She stated the obvious as wrestling was a tough one to drop. Asked if she missed it and she said without hesitation – “a lot.”

“I’ve tried to step away from wrestling a little bit just so I don’t get so upset, the fact that I didn’t get to finish my high school with it,” said Eichenberger.

How does Eichenberger feel about hunting, just in case you’re wondering?

“I just don’t have the time,” smiled Eichenberger.

Next on Eichenberger’s itinerary and to-do list is to obtain a RN degree in nursing and eventually land at the University of Iowa – where she will seek to become a nurse practitioner.

“We’ll see how life takes it, but that’s the ultimate goal,” said Eichenberger. She can count the days down now at NHHS as graduation takes place on Sunday, May 18. Trapshooting’s state meet gets underway in the beginning of June.

“I have a lot of goals for the rest of the season before I’m done with high school,” said Eichenberger.

Chickasaw boys switch it up

New Hampton coach gives kids chance to try new things at Waukon

By BOB FENSKE
editor@nhtrib.com

Here's a couple of things to know when it comes to the New Hampton boys track team annual trek to Waukon — the weather isn't going to be great and the meet is going to fly by.

That's why Chickasaw coach Scott Jenkins had a little fun with his lineup last Thursday.

"The Waukon meet was one to let the boys try some different events or relay legs that they normally don't do," Jenkins said. "I think the kids enjoy that, because for most of those events we aren't looking to win or maybe even medal, so there isn't pressure to win. They can just compete and enjoy the switch."

And while the Chickasaws finished fifth in the six-team meet, New Hampton showed some flashes despite having athletes try different events.

New Hampton's Carson Laures continued what is turning into a fantastic freshman campaign by winning the long jump with a leap of 18-11 and anchoring Ethan Carter, Beau Serie and Dylon Schmitt to a win in the distance medley relay with a season-best time of 3:51.68.

The Chickasaws also got runner-up finishes from Jay Pickar, Kinnick Wisner, Dylan Maloy and Austyn Kleppe in the 4x100 and from Pickar, Maloy, Kyle Rausch and Wisner in the 4x200.

The trip to Waukon came two days after New Hampton finally got a nice night from Mother Nature at the Comet Relays in Charles City and the Chickasaws responded with a solid third-place finish.

"We had some great individual efforts and relays that set season best marks. We were happy with those results, especially the 4x200," Jenkins said of the quartet of Wisner, Carter, Schmitt and Serie that claimed a win in a season-best time of 1:34.88. "I don't think we've locked in on who our final 4 are for that relay, but as long as our times keep coming down, we can keep experimenting with that lineup."

Laures, meanwhile, claimed wins in both the individual hurdle races — the 110 highs and the 400 lows — and both came with season-best times. Braden Manson (3,200), Serie (100) and Wisner, Kleppe, Maloy and Elliott Eiler (4x100) all took runner-up finishes.

Jenkins' boys were scheduled to compete Monday in a meet hosted by Sumner-Fredericksburg — one the New Hampton coach thought his team could win — but with the threat of severe weather, the meet was canceled.

"If there is a positive to having a meet canceled," Jenkins said, "it does give us another day of practice. At this point of the season, it's easy to get in a groove with how we practice (we usually don't go hard the day before or day after a meet) so it's nice to be able to get a tough practice in because of the cancellation."

And on a team where youth dominates — New Hampton has just two seniors, Serie and Eiler — Jenkins has found plenty of positives.

"I've been impressed with how some of our younger guys have stepped up at meets and practice as well," he said. "They don't complain or drag when we put them in tough events or have a hard practice; they listen to what we say — reasons why we need to push it in tough practices or hard events at a meet — and go out and do it. That's great to see as coaches."

Meanwhile, decision day is looming for Jenkins and his assistants, Jordan Rommes and Cari Laures.

That's because after traveling to Cresco for a coed meet tonight (Thursday) and hosting its annual invitational on Monday, the Chickasaws head to Charles City for the NEIC meet a week from today. And on May 15, New Hampton is off to Cresco for the Class 2A state qualifying meet.

In other words, the postseason is knocking at the door.

"We work hard early in the season and experiment during meets to tell us who the best boys are in specific relays and events now," the New Hampton coach said. "We're not locked in on everything yet, but we have good ideas of who we want where. We'll use this week and next week to see if we can get some better marks in a few events and that will help us make our final decisions for the state qualifying meet."

New Hampton girls priming for another big postseason run because they may have to. No one knows what the postseason holds and how low teams will have to shoot in order to survive and advance at regionals.

In New Hampton's case, the challenge is to remain in-sync and focused — with a regular season that is past its halfway point. The scores should take care of themselves at that point with the depth and talent that New Hampton's roster is blessed with.

"The biggest thing with this team is they broke it (school record), but all of them are like, 'I could have played better.' They're always searching for how to get better," said Olson, who has led New Hampton to seven consecutive state tournaments. "Do more — that's really what you want in a team that is trying elite stuff and to win championships. They're not satisfied with just winning a tournament, they're like, hey I can play better."

New Hampton's lineup is seasoned and potent as evident by the Chickasaws' individual stroke average in Class 2A. NH has three girls in the top 10 for an adjusted nine-hole average in freshman Kirsten Nuss (No. 1, 38.8), senior Lauren Nuss (No. 4, 39.78) and junior Alivia Geerts (7th, 42.18). Chickasaw senior Maycen Hackman is currently listed as the 14th-best golfer in 2A according to Bound's website on adjusted nine-hole average with a 43.98.

Those are the four scores that count toward winning meets and that's about as good as it gets for any links squad. Simply put, New Hampton is loaded and primed for a serious run at a state title once regional play rolls around on Friday, May 16.

Olson is one of the better coaches in the entire state as evident by the run he's been able to produce at New Hampton over the course of the last decade.

He knows full well that there's a time to coach, give advice or hints on how to make a chip or putt and there's also a time to take a step back and just let his talented bunch attack a golf course.

"All of them except really Camryn (Smith) and Drey (O'Brien) have a lot of experience. Part of golf is you gotta figure some things out on your own," said Olson. "You're always there to help, support and do whatever you need, but eventually I can't be there for every shot. They have to make decisions and do things. Sometimes they pull it off, sometimes they don't."

Hackman fired a career-best 40 round in New Hampton's win last week Tuesday over Crestwood — 155 to 185. MFL MarMac placed third with a 208. Lauren Nuss — who tied with Oelwein's Grace Lewis for individual state runner-up honors last year in 2A — was meet medalist with a 37. Kirsten Nuss was runner-up medalist with a 38 and Geerts was tied for third alongside Hackman with a 40.

New Hampton rolled to a convincing victory over Oelwein in its 18-hole tourney last week Thursday as it bested runner-up Oelwein by 14 strokes for the team title — 325 to 339.

This the second time NH has topped Oelwein in an 18-hole tournament as the Chickasaws turned back the Huskies 328 to 353 last week Monday to secure the Wapsie Valley Invite title in Waverly.

Oelwein placed third at state in Class 2A last year and the Chickasaws nabbed a fourth-place trophy.

Lewis won both meets on Monday in Waverly and at New Hampton — the latter location she shot a two-over par 74. She fired a sensational one-par 73 at Waverly and is the top golfer in 2A for 18-hole adjusted average (76.75) as of Monday afternoon. Lauren Nuss is second (80.75) and Kirsten Nuss is third (81.25).

Nuss finished with a 77 on Thursday at home to place medalist-runner-up. Geerts and Kirsten Nuss tied for sixth overall with 81s. Hackman shot a respectable 87 at the NH Invite, good for seventh place on the leaderboard despite notching a 10 on one hole.

No matter the low scores already tabulated, New Hampton will keep plugging away with its foot on the gas pedal.

"Everybody can get a little better and a little more consistent," said Olson. "If we get everybody down in the numbers I think they're capable of shooting, man, it's going to be pretty special."

After Tuesday's 18-hole round at Clear Lake, NH hosts Waverly-Shell Rock at home this evening (Thursday), then it's off to Waukon the following Monday, May 5.

NH plays in one final round at home in an 18-hole tourney versus the likes of Crestwood, Denver, Sumner-Fred and W-SR a week from today. The recipe for success is simple — play like the scoreboard reads 0-0 and don't take anything for granted. That's a game plan that is tried and true and as bulletproof as they come.

"It doesn't matter where we're ranked. It doesn't matter what our average is. Our goal is to hoist that first-place trophy at the end of the year. If we don't do that I think we're going to have some people disappointed," said Olson.

Jamison Porath gets a little practice in at Bowlaway Lanes on the day he committed to bowl at Wartburg College.

Porath also bowled a perfect 300 game just before last Christmas during a youth league tournament.

Alexis Neuer Runk is the Wartburg head bowling coach and her husband Brandon Runk is an assistant for the Knights.

"Alexis is very understanding. She's smart," said Porath. "They're both in the PBA (Professional Bowlers Association), so they obviously know what they're doing when it comes to bowling."

Sumner-Fredericksburg graduate Bryce Bergman is currently a freshman for the Knights. Wartburg has eight men on its current 2024-2025 roster.

Jamison's younger brother, NH junior Jaxson Porath, also bowls for the Chickasaws. The pair of Poraths helped New Hampton break the single game baker record last year with a 298. That was as happy as Aries had seen his top bowler on the Chickasaws' squad.

That was until he signed on the dotted line with the Knights.

"I'm very happy, proud — there's so many words you could actually use," said Aries. "He's definitely done what he needs to do and he's working hard."

PORATH: FROM 16

the Wartburg College bowling team last week Wednesday at his home alley — Bowlaway Lanes in New Hampton.

"He's very calm, cool as far as the way things go — whether it's good or bad," said New Hampton bowling coach Andy Aries. "He kind of stays in the moment and takes it shot for shot. He's able to bounce back after a lot of things."

Porath bounced back for sure and helped lead New Hampton to a landmark and historic 2024-2025 season last winter as the Chickasaws were one of the top teams in Class 1A throughout the entire regular season. Porath led his class in average with a 226 and helped guide New Hampton to a district runner-up finish to Hartley-Melvin-Sanborn in the state qualifier.

Porath, who is left-handed by the way, is the first Chickasaw to sign to bowl collegiately in just three years the New Hampton bowling program has been in existence.

"I think being the first to go to college for bowling is going to bring recognition to the school. Hopefully, more people will join and keep the sport alive," said Porath.

New Hampton was the top team in Class 1A in terms of best baker game average (207) a year ago and Porath was a big reason why. His former head coach lauded him with praise for such a worthy accomplishment in doing something not a lot of prep athletes undertake.

"I've never had a day like this. It's pretty cool. To watch somebody achieve what they wanted to achieve and move to the next level and hope to achieve even more when they get there — it's outstanding being able to watch him do something like this," said Aries.

The bowling bug first bit Porath back in his freshman year of high school when he joined a summer league at Bowlaway Lanes. "That's when it took off," said Porath.

Did he expect one day to take his game up a notch and one day wear on the orange and black of the Knights' successful program?

"Honestly, I didn't. I did the summer league freshman year just for fun, something to try out. I didn't have anything going on. When I found out I was actually pretty good at it, we came down and tried to set up a bowling team just so I could have something to do in high school. Then it really just skyrocketed. I didn't even expect to get anywhere past the summer league," said Porath.

The Knights' bowling program got off the ground in their inaugural season back in the fall of 2018. The Wartburg men's team placed 10th this past winter in its first ever appearance at Nationals.

Porath knows he's going to have to step up his game if he wants to continue to knock down pins consistently in college.

"All of college bowling is on a sport shot or competition shot. It's not a house shot, so it's going to be a lot more difficult," said Porath. "I assume there's going to be a lot more tournaments we have to go to as well."

One such tournament the Knights took part in this past season was in Las Vegas.

Porath has an impressive track record in the sport of bowling. He's been a YBSF (Youth Bowling Scholarship Foundation) Junior Gold Championships qualifier and finished 28th overall as an individual state qualifier as a junior at state in 2024.

New Hampton's Schwickerath posts back-to-back perfect scores

New Hampton's Wyatt Schwickerath takes aim during a home trapshooting meet held last month at the Fredericksburg Sportsman's Club.

The New Hampton trapshooters are heating up – specifically, Chickasaw sophomore Wyatt Schwickerath. Schwickerath's shotgun was blazing hot and had smoke rolling off it as he did not miss a clay target in his last two meets as he recorded perfect 50 rounds. His first 50 round came at the Cresco Invite on Saturday and he followed up that stellar outing out on the trap range with another 50 at Oelwein this past Monday. New Hampton competed at Cresco on Tuesday, April 22 and saw the Chickasaws' top team – NH Red – place runner-up at the meet with a 220. The Cresco Area Clay Crushers' No. 1 squad took first in the overall team standings with a 230. NH sophomore Jackson Kellogg (47-21) lost a shoot-off to Cresco's Kail Schmelzer (47-23) to place runner-up.

New Hampton senior Karla Pickar won the girls competition with a 47. Aleah Eichenberger, another senior for New Hampton, placed third overall with a round of 46, just ahead of freshman Harper Humpal. Humpal also shot a 46, but lost in a shoot-off to Eichenberger, 17-16. Schwickerath recorded a respectable 46, as did junior Emmett Kuehner at Cresco. New Hampton took on Waverly-Shell Rock and Charles City/Nashua-Plainfield/RRMR last week Thursday at home. W-SR Gold won the meet with a 227, one shot better than NH Red's 226. Kuehner and Schwickerath remained red hot in their marksmanship expertise with rounds of 48, which were the top individual scores at the meet alongside Charles City's Hunter Boehmer (48).

Cougars nip Chickasaws by just a stroke

NH's Ewert continues stellar play with career-low 37; TV's Bernhard runner-up medalist

By KELLY TERPSTRA
sports@nhtrib.com

Adam Ewert is feeling it. Now the key is to get his New Hampton teammates to come along for the ride. The Chickasaw senior remained on fire out on the links Tuesday night at a home triangular as he rolled to the medalist top spot with a career-low, one-over par 37 at the New Hampton Golf & Country Club. "It was steady the whole way," said Ewert. It wasn't quite enough for Brad Shatek's Chickasaws as they came up one stroke short of Sumner-Fredericksburg in the overall team score – 176 to 177. Area squad Turkey Valley was a respectable third with a 181 and saw sensational sophomore Nicholas Bernhard earn the runner-up medalist slot as he carded a 39. Ewert has now risen to the top spot on the leaderboard for three-straight meets as he was awarded with medalist distinction last Friday at a triangular at Crestwood. He carded a 39 in that road trek to Howard County and earlier in the week on Tuesday at home in a dual versus MFL MarMac, he teamed with Chickasaw sophomore teammate Charlie Kriener to share the No. 1 spot as each fired 39s.

That meet against the Bulldogs saw New Hampton shoot a season low 167, but NH fell to MFL (163) by four strokes. Waukon bested New Hampton by two strokes in Crestwood – 173-175. But the big story the past few weeks has been the dialed-in play of Ewert – whose only blemish on Tuesday was hole No. 4 (double bogey), where he hooked it left off the tee. He birdied both par fives and consistently put himself in a position to limit his strokes with his driver. "I was hitting fairways today," said Ewert. "That's one of the biggest things I want to focus on. If I'm able to hit the fairway that just gives me such a better opportunity to go out there and hit the green – make pars and birdies." Kriener finished with a 45 and struggled on hole No. 3, where the pin was in a precarious position on the green, close to the fringe. "His putting, he would say, in general is what held him back," said Shatek. "I know he had issues on one green that a number of people did, too." Ewert talked about the direction of the Chickasaw squad – which has three freshmen playing significant rounds in Evan Geerts (46), Lane Flattum (49) and Drew Kipp (49). "The biggest thing is getting those three freshmen experience," said Ewert. "As many meets as they can get in that will probably be the best for us." Bernhard, who helped lead Turkey Valley to its lowest nine-hole round (165) last month at home versus Postville in the post-COVID-19 era, talked about his play on the Chickasaws' home course. "I do like this course because if you hit the ball straight there's definitely opportunities for scoring. I felt like personally I could have struck the ball a little better today, but I mean if you hit the ball straight and your wedges are dialed in – this course gives you opportunities to go low," said Bernhard. Turkey Valley sophomore Brady Blong and junior Logan Busta each carded 43s. TV is led by Bernhard's father – first-year head coach Nick Bernhard. The elder Bernhard talked about what TV is working on to get better this spring. "We've been working real hard on our short game this year and I really think that short game is key to low scores," the TV head coach said. MFL MARMAC 163, NEW HAMPTON 167 Medalist - Adam Ewert, New Hampton; Charlie Kriener, New Hampton 39. New Hampton senior glad she picked up a gun

New Hampton’s Aleah Eichenberger lines up her shot during a trapshooting meet last month in Nashua.

Eichenberger has come a long way in a relatively short time when it comes to sport of trapshooting

By Kelly Terpstra
sports@nhtrib.com

Aleah Eichenberger is definitely a renaissance woman and no, that’s not hyperbole. She’s the real deal when it comes to getting involved and trying new things. Her resume is sparkling, but that hasn’t come without some swings and misses because any home-run hitter is gonna strike out from time to time. The key is to dust yourself off and get back in the proverbial batter’s box. So it goes without saying that when engaging in any particular endeavor that may be foreign to someone, there may be some frustration and failure. That just builds character and the motto: if at first you don’t succeed, try, try again, definitely applies in Eichenberger’s case. If you want to learn about getting involved with any extra-curricular activity or using your time wisely, Eichenberger is someone you might want to talk to. Her latest undertaking? That’s trapshooting and she’s excelling at a level most don’t do with her relative lack of experience in the sport. Eichenberger, a New Hampton senior that is currently taking college courses full-time at Northeast Iowa Community College (NICC) in Calmar in order to become a registered nurse, described her first go at trapshooting – in which team members on Jay

Chickasaws’ Porath set to take his bowling talents to Wartburg

By Kelly Terpstra

The superlatives and winning traits Jamison Porath brings to table are extensive. Even-keel, dedicated and loyal teammate, hard worker, skillful artist out on a bowling lane, etc., etc. But through all of it, it’s the

New Hampton senior’s ability to block out the negative and get the job done that might be the most impressive characteristic of his award-winning arsenal. That’s what champions do and one of the reasons Porath signed to compete for

Chickasaw girls break another school mark

New Hampton sets 18-hole team score record with a 325 on way to claiming title at home invitational

By Kelly Terpstra

The ceiling is pretty high for these Chickasaws – as it should be. That’s why striving to stay atop the leaderboard is a never-ending, non-stop quest. Even when one isn’t playing their “A game” on every hole, grinding out victories is probably the apropos phrase when it comes to golf. Complacency and resting on your laurels isn’t in a championship team’s vocabulary or its DNA for that matter. New Hampton girls golf coach Eric Olson explained when it comes to his Chickasaw squad’s record-breaking start to the season. “Each player kind of faced some adversity and they were able to rebound from it. Those are important things going forward as the competition gets tougher and tougher,” said Olson. “They’re able to rebound from those little setbacks and not just ruin the round. That’s building that resiliency that’s going to be something for down the road.” Olson made those comments after guiding his highly ranked

New Hampton Chickasaw girls golf team to three more wins on the season last week – the latter included a new school record 18-hole round of 325 shot on Thursday at home to win the NH Invite. The old school 18-hole record of 327 took place in 2019 during New Hampton’s state meet. The Chickasaws won a girls state golf championship for the first time in school history at Ames that year.

This fantastic finish at home comes off the heels of a 328 on Monday at Waverly, followed by a nine-hole score of 155 at home on Tuesday – four off the school record of 151 shot in the season opener at home versus Charles City. “It’s been an awesome start to the season – probably a little beyond what I expected to have happen to be honest,” said Olson, in his 15th season of guiding the NH girls golf program. “I knew we were going to be good, but not the level we’ve been playing at right here at this point.” Is New Hampton good? No doubt. The stats prove that out as the Chickasaws are listed as the second-best team in the entire state (all classes) when it comes to combined adjusted scoring average. New Hampton sports a 167.18 – Class 4A’s Ames is No. 1 with a 164.4. Can the Chickasaws get better? The answer to that query is leaning toward a yes as well
